The woolen manufacturers have been buying wool largely, and for reasons not publicly explained. It is evident that large orders have been taken by the leading mills, and at prices which they find satisfactory, and the rush of small mills to buy wool has made most of the market during the past week, although sales have declined about 40 per cent. compared with the previous week. But there is decidedly better demand for men's wear goods, and the makers look forward to a good season. The cotton manufacturers, heavily overloaded by excessive production, find no increase in demand, and no gain in prices. The boot and shoe manufacture shipped more cases from the East during two weeks of January than ever before, but it is receiving few new orders, although in brogans and women's light goods the orders are enough to run the factories for some time. Failures for past week have been 349 in the United States against 455 last year, and 45 in Canada against 71 last year.

ATTACKED JUDGE M'KENNA.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The Senate took up the nomination of Attorney-General McKenna to be a justice of the Supreme Court immediately upon going into executive session. Senator Allen, of Nebraska, took the floor and made a bitter speech against confirmation. The Senator also attacked the A. P. A., but declared his opposition was not based on this ground, but on the alleged incompetency of Judge McKenna. Senator Perkins, of California, also attacked the nomination.

Mr. Money, of Mississippi, says that, all things being equal he would invariably cast his vote for the man who is opposed by the A. P. A., and it is his opinion that the organization has helped, rather than hurt, Judge McKenna before the Senate, for the reason that sensible men hold that every one has a right to his religious opinions.

So it was made apparent after a few minutes' discussion that the nomination could not be disposed of. Action was postponed to another date.

New Political Party.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 15.—At the conference of the Populist leaders held here a new political party was born Thursday night. It was christened the People's party. It has severed all connections with the National Populistic convention and made all arrangements for administering its own state without the aid or advice of any outside party. The referendum system was recommended for use to the middle of the roaders in settling matters of national importance to the order. There was also a practical agreement among the delegates that a national presidential convention should be held this year. Forty States were represented at this meeting.

Changes in the Navy.

New York, Jan. 15.—Commodore John A. Howell, U. S. N., will start for the Mediterranean to-day on the steamer Werra, to assume charge of the American squadron of war vessels in European waters, relieving Rear-Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge, who will haul down his flag and come home to be retired from the active ranks of the navy. The cruiser San Francisco will be detached from the station and ordered home after nearly four years' absence soon after Commodore Howell hoists his flag on her. As commander-in-chief of the squadron, Commodore Howell will rank as rear-admiral and fly that flag of honor.

Behring Sea Awards.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The President has submitted to Congress the awards and report of the commission appointed under the terms of the treaty of 1896 to adjust the claims of these subjects for losses sustained through the seizure of their sealing vessels in Bearing Sea. The President recommends that the amount necessary to satisfy the award of the commissioners, $473,151.26, be appropriated.

Laws for Alaska.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The Attorney-General has sent to the Senate the draft of a bill providing a code of laws for Alaska. It was prepared by the Commission appointed last Spring to codify and revise the laws of the United States.

Delicate children! What a source of anxiety they are! The parents wish them hearty and strong, but they keep thin and pale.

To all these delicate children Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites comes with the best of news.

It brings rich blood, strong bones, healthy nerves, and sound digestion. It is growth and prosperity to them.

No matter how delicate the child, it is readily taken.

GEN. BOOTH ARRIVES.

Will Try to Win Ballington Booth Back to the Salvation Army.

New York, Jan. 15.—Among the passengers on the St. Paul, which arrived at this port this morning, was Gen. William Booth, head of the Salvation Army. He has publicly declared his intention of seeking a reconciliation with his son, Ballington Booth, who seceded from the Salvation Army to form the American Volunteers.

Ballington Booth's friends say that there is no possibility of the old general's being successful in his mission, as any attempt to win the younger Booth back to the ranks of the army will only reopen the old quarrel between the two men.

The trouble culminated in Ballington Booth's leaving the Salvation Army broke out in 1895. One of the causes was said to be that the members of the army displayed more enthusiasm over Ballington Booth than they did over his father when the latter was in this country.

GEN. BOOTH.

The old general also disliked, it was said, the prominence given to the United States flag at the army headquarters. Ballington was ordered to farewell and to report at London. He refused, and finally seceded, establishing the rival organization.

Gen. Booth will proceed to Canada, and, after inspecting the army there, he will start for a tour of the United States, extending to the Pacific coast. He is expected back to this city April 15, and will sail for England again on April 23.

In honor of General Booth's visit to America twelve new shelters for the homeless poor and three new rescue homes for women will be simultaneously opened at various points in the country.

The General, now in his sixty-ninth year, made his first journey to this country in 1886, holding 200 meetings within three months. Since his last visit in 1894 the army shows an increase of members, which is considered sufficient refutation of the charge that Ballington Booth's secession and the establishment of the Volunteers have weakened its standing.

Two thousand four hundred and thirty-eight is the present officers' roll, as against 1,862 in 1894. The colonization scheme, which is the pet project of this veteran of the sword of faith, will be pushed during his stay.

PAID FOR THREE MURDERS.

Before Being Hanged Lockley Made a Full Confession.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 15.—Archey Lockley, colored, a triple murderer, was hanged at King and Queen's Court House yesterday. There was a large crowd at the Court House, and the sheriff and his deputies had to produce pistols to prevent some of those present from forcing their way into the inclosure around the scaffold. Lockley showed great nerve to the last. The trap was sprung at 12 21 p. m., and death was instantaneous. Lockley made a full confession.

Lockley had been living for several years with Ellen Chapman, and on October 12 last went to her house, and a quarrel ensued, which ended in a fight. When the woman's nephew, George Lee, started for an officer, Lockley seized a gun and shot him, then shot at Charles Chapman, but missed him. He then shot Eddie Chapman, and when he saw the woman trying to make her escape shot her.

Lockley made his escape and got as far as Philadelphia, where he was arrested and brought back for trial.

Anti-Cigarette Bill at Albany.

Albany, Jan. 15.—A bill has been introduced in the Assembly to stop the manufacture and sale of cigarettes and attaches penalties for the infraction of the law. It was introduced by Assemblyman Hoffman, and provides that it shall be unlawful for any person or firm to sell or offer for sale or expose for sale or cause to be sold, made or manufactured in this State, cigarettes made of tobacco or any other substance and wrapped in paper. Violation carries with it a penalty of a fine of not more than $1,000 and imprisonment for not more than one year, or either or both, within the discretion of the court.

SPORTS

THE TIME TO LIGHT UP.

Sun Rises 7:24 a. m.
Sun Sets 4:58 p. m.
Bicycle lanterns must be lighted at 5:58 p. m.

WHIST.

The whist four of the Park Club went to Baltimore this morning to take another chance at the American Whist League Trophy. They will play the team of the Baltimore Whist Club at the rooms of the latter this afternoon and evening.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Juniors of the Park Club have challenged the regular team that is now rolling in the Central Journal Bowling League in a series of three games to be rolled on the club alleys some evening next week. The date of the game will probably be Wednesday.

WINTER SPORTS.

The hockey team of the Plainfield A. A. has arranged a game with a team from the Elizabeth Athletic Club, to be played at that city on the first day of good skating.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Foesters Install Officers.

At the regular meeting of Court Plainfield, No. 1144, Independent Order of Foresters, held last evening, the newly elected officers were installed by High Treasurer, W. T. Cox, of Elizabeth, assisted by Court Deputy, J. Bird. The work was performed in a very creditable manner, after which the members and visitors adjourned to the first floor of the Washington Hall where Eden Boice had prepared a bountiful repast for them.

New Building Projected.

The heirs of Robert Anderson are contemplating pulling down the present building and erecting a handsome four-story brick building on the east corner of Watchung avenue and Front street, four stores being on the ground floor, three on Front street and one on Watchung avenue. The other stories to be divided up into flats with all the most modern conveniences and thoroughly up-to-date for housekeeping.

Fell Down Stairs.

Mrs. Eliza Story, of West Third street, sustained a slight injury last evening at her home, by falling down the front stairs. In accordance with her usual custom, she was descending to the first floor for the purpose of having the evening paper read to her by a member of the family, and being aged she slipped and fell. Dr. Long was called, but aside from a few bruises, there was no serious injury.

Col. Waring Can't Come

The January public meeting of the Town Improvement Association of Plainfield and North Plainfield will be omitted, owing to the fact that Col. Waring, of New York, will be unable to be here to speak, as anticipated.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Daniel S. Pound was stricken with paralysis at his home, 1330 West Front street, last evening. A physician was hastily summoned and all the relief possible was given. The patient's condition is serious.

More Good Reading.

About seventy odd volumes have been given to the Public Library by Mrs. Ruth C. Leonard, of 111 East Ninth street. They will nearly all be placed in the circulating department.

TAXATION IN SOMERSET.

Some Interesting Statistics in Relation to Public Expenses.

Secretary Arthur P. Sutphen, of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture, has sent his annual report to the secretary of the State Board at Trenton. In it he gives some very interesting facts relating to taxation and expenses in the county. In 1694, he says, the tax levy for Somerset was four pounds, sixteen shillings and six pence, which was raised for "governmental purposes." The earliest record of taxing for county purposes was in the year 1797, when five hundred pounds was ordered to be raised by tax; in 1822, $3,000; in 1847, $10,000; in 1872, $70,000; in 1897, $75,000, together with an additional appropriation of $16,000 for county roads, making an appropriation of $91,000.

"We are safe in saying," continues the report, "that during the existence of the county more than one-third of the moneys raised for county purposes have been expended in building and repairing bridges. Previous to 1870 this county was free from debt (unless the loan known as the surplus revenue be called a debt.) Our debt at the last annual election was more than $75,000.

"This county is so situated with the Raritan river, the north and south branches, the Millstone, Passaic and Lamington rivers coursing through her territory, that it is impossible to build and repair our bridges at a less cost, for a number of years, at least.

"Our court expenses and lunacy bills have very materially increased during the past few years, so much so that the appropriation of $75,000 will be insufficient for the county expenditures during the fiscal year. To complete the county roads now contemplated, will cost the county probably not less than $60,000, which, with the money already borrowed for the completion of the roads, will incur a county debt close to $150,000, (not including the surplus revenue.) The question is, do the people of the county, the taxpayers, the farmers, want this debt? Are they ready for it? And that is just what this Board of Agriculture is organized for, to consider all these matters of vital interest to the farmer."

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—Special sale women's shoes, $1.19, at VanArsdale's.

—The Plainfield Mandolin and Guitar Club will meet at the residence of Mr. Kirkner, West Eighth street, Thursday, January 20th.

—Samuel B. Frank, a Christian Hebrew, of Newark, who is an interesting speaker, will address the young men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon. The Martin male quartette will sing a number of selections.

The Anti-Scalping Bill.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce has practically completed an anti-scalping bill, and it will probably be reported to the House after the next meeting of the Committee by its unanimous vote. The new measure is based upon the bill of last year, but is improved in the estimation of its friends. Penalties are provided for failure by a railroad company to redeem unused tickets. Penalties are also prescribed to be imposed upon a company found to be engaged in the transaction of business with unauthorized ticket brokers.

Local Banks Suggested.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Robert S. Taylor, of Indiana, a member of the Monetary Commission, was again before the House Banking and Currency Committee at yesterday's session. He referred to the inadequacy of the banking facilities in the South and West, and suggested that for the present this country must look mainly to independent, small, local banks for the relief which is needed, though he conbranch banks might have a more efceded that an extensive system of branch banks might have a more effective tendency to equalize rates of interest.

Two of a Train Crew Killed.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 15.—Scott Royer, a conductor on a Lehigh Valley Railroad freight train, was killed instantly at the South Plainfield station at 5 o'clock last night. Rover stepped out of the way of one train directly in front of another one backing on a switch. A brakeman on the same train was killed at Easton yesterday.

To Appoint W. J. Calhoun.

Washington, Jan. 15.—It is stated that the position of Interstate Commerce Commissioner had been offered to William J. Calhoun, of Danville, Ill., and that he would probably accept. Mr. Calhoun went to Cuba last Spring as the President's special commissioner.

Young Irving to Wed.

London, Jan. 15.—The Daily Mail this morning contains the formal announcement that Laurence Irving, son of Sir Henry Irving, is engaged to marry Miss Ethel Barrymore, the actress.

Miss Barrymore is a niece of John Drew, and he is now playing at the Lyceum Theatre, London, with Sir Henry Irving's company, in Laurence Irving's drama, "Peter the Great."

Forty-three Lives Were Lost.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 15.—The latest official death list shows a total of forty-three lives lost in the tornado of Tuesday night. Seventy others are injured, a large number seriously, and several are expected to die.

Death of a New Market Man.

Frank Gaskill, aged 49 years, a resident of New Market, died at his home yesterday after a long and tedious illness with consumption. Mr Gaskill was a blacksmith and for many years was employed by L. M French, of the borough. He was well known throughout this locality and he had a host of friends and acquaintances. Four children survive him, Misses Lillie and Millie Gaskill, Mrs. Charles Meeker and Mrs. Wm. Coriell. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house.

More Smoke Than Fire.

A quantity of smoke coming from E. E. Anthony's house, at the corner of Front street and Washington avenue, attracted the attention of L. J. Spicer last evening as he was passing the house. An investigation proved that the smoke came from a barrel of ashes in the cellar near the furnace, the contents of which were smoking. Mr. Spicer quickly extinguished the fire and the trouble soon came to an end. The family was much frightened as they thought the house was on fire. There was no damage.

Justice Newcorn's Court.

The case of Guttridge against Gray, in attachment, has been tried by Justice Newcorn and judgment rendered in full for the plaintiff. Execution has been issued in the case of Sharp against Richards. Summons were issued in the case of Newman against Leek, landlord and tenant.

A Duer Street Party.

Miss Emma Vetterlein, of Duer street, entertained a few friends last evening at her home. The evening was pleasantly passed in a social manner, and the serving of refreshments added to the enjoyment of the guests.

THE PARKS AGAIN WHIST CHAMPIONS.

The National Trophy Brought Back to Plainfield.

BALTIMORE CLUB EASILY BESTED.

The Baltimores Have Been Playing in Great Form and the Game Was Watched With Great Interest—Parks Played Carefully From the Start and Were Victors by the Score of 24 to 17.

After devious wanderings, the American Whist League trophy has returned to Plainfield. Saturday it was captured in Baltimore by the whist four of the Park Club, of this city, after a close contest with the Baltimore Whist Club, and brought back to this city. It was the fifteenth contest for the trophy.

It will be remembered that the Park Club captured the trophy from the New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, last November. Then the American Whist Club, of Boston, came to this city and played for the trophy. They won and carried the trophy home with them. The next challenger was the Philadelphia Whist Club, who won the cup in their turn. They succeeded in holding the trophy for several contests to be finally defeated by the Baltimore Whist Club. Now the Baltimores have been winning the last four matches until the Parks came along. Before the Parks came, the Baltimore team defeated the New Jersey Whist Club.

The match in Baltimore was a decidedly close one. The Baltimores have been playing in great form of late and counted on defeating the Jersey champions. The home team was somewhat handicapped by the loss of two of the regular players for part of the game. They do not give that as a reason for their defeat, however, but admit that they were fairly outplayed.

The Parks played a careful game from the start. At the end of the first round the Parks were two tricks in the lead, the score being 9 to 7. In the second round the Parks increased their lead by a few tricks. The last round was hard fought, but the Parks showed their superior ability and came out the winners, taking the game by 7 tricks, the score being 24 to 17.

The next match for the trophy will be played next Saturday, when the challengers will be the American Whist Club, of Boston. Only two more games are to be played in the east and then, no matter who holds the trophy at the time, it will go to the western section to be contested for.

INDICTMENTS IN UNION COUNTY.

True Bills for Murder Said to Have Been Found Against Manshanda and Roesel.

The Union County Grand Jury finished its labors Friday for the January term, with the investigation of the Summit murder case, and unless something new should occur that the jury would be forced to consider, it will be ready today to make its report to Judge VanSyckel.

The most serious matters the jury had to investigate were the Farmer Pitts murder and the atrocious assault at Rahway on Alfred Percy Jopson, the young Englishman employed as a waiter in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York.

Indictments for murder, it is said, have been found against George Manshanda and Louis Roesel, for the killing of Pitts.

Indictments for an assault on Jopson have been also found, it is said, against Frederic Tier, Wm. Drumpelmann and Percy DeStanley, all of Rahway, and it is rumored that Mabel DeStanley has been indicted as an accessory.

Jopson is still detained in the county jail as a witness at the expense of the county, and as his case was considered over a week ago by the Grand Jury, if no indictments had been found against his assailants he would have been discharged from custody when the Grand Jury finished investigating the matter.

To Devote His Time to Public Duties.

Surrogate-elect H. N. Spencer, of the borough, has decided to give up his store business on Somerset street when he takes his new position. Just what disposition will be made of the business he has not yet decided. He may lease the store to some outside party who may still continue the same line of business.

More Voices in the Choir.

The music at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, Sunday, was excellent. The heretofore very acceptable choir has been augmented by the addition of four cultivated voices, and the results are most satisfactory to the growing congregation.

PREACHED GOSPEL FROM HIS OLD PULPIT.

DR. KETCHAM GREETS OLD FRIENDS.

The Former Plainfield Pastor in the First Presbyterian Church—"Heaven" Was His Topic.

Yesterday morning and evening Rev. Dr. K. P. Ketcham, formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church, occupied his old pulpit at that church. It was a cordial reception and welcome that Dr. Ketcham received and his audience was well repaid, for they were given two excellent sermons. Both services were largely attended.

In the evening Dr. Ketcham preached about "Heaven." The speaker stated that Heaven is not very far off, and that there is an animating principle operating this world from the place above. Dr. Ketcham said that for money men will act insane on the floor of the Stock Exchange, but if a person put the same amount of enthusiasm into religion he is called a fanatic and is thought to be crazy. There are no agents, he said, that are standing in the market places offering a show of Heaven at cheap rates. It is not a cheap affair to get to Heaven. The Bible offers the only source of information of what is going on in the other world, and all must look to the Great Book for knowledge. There were many practical thoughts in the discourse that strengthened the belief of all in Heaven and in things eternal.

WANTS CHANCERY TO END HIS NUPTIAL VOW.

HENRY H. COREY ASKS FOR DIVORCE.

Has Been Separated From His Wife for Some Time—Under Arrest for Non-support Now.

A petition for divorce has been filed in the Court of Chancery at Trenton by Wm. Newcorn, solicitor for Henry H. Corey, of this city, against his wife, Alice V. Corey, on statutory grounds. The allegation sets forth that they were married at Croton, Conn., April 22d, 1882, and resided in Connecticut and Rhode Island until they moved to Plainfield in 1891. They first resided on East Front street, but moved to Maple avenue, North Plainfield, a year ago. They separated several months ago. Corey is now stopping at the Hotel Tuilleries and his wife is boarding on West Front street.

The co respondents mentioned in the bill are Wallace Vail, of this city, and Joseph Gavin, of the borough.

Senator Charles A. Reed is also counsel for the petitioner. City Judge DeMeza represents the defendant.

Saturday evening Corey was arrested as he was leaving Music Hall. The charge made against him was that of non-support of his wife brought by Overseer of the Poor Marx. He was released on bail furnished by William Newcorn. This morning he appeared before City Judge DeMeza and pleaded not guilty to the charge. His trial was set for Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. He was held under $200, which was renewed.

PARSON GIBSON ACTIVE.

His Friends Arranging to Organize a New Church For Him.

Rev. Phillip S Gibson, the deposed pastor of the Mt. Olive colored Baptist church, preached in Reform Hall yesterday morning and last evening. Large crowds were present at both services. Mr. Gibson also preached in the Fillmore Baptist church in the afternoon.

At the evening service in Reform Hall a notice was read to the effect that a meeting would be held there Wednesday evening by the friends of Pastor Gibson, for the purpose of organizing a new church, of which Mr. Gibson is to be the pastor.

FUNERAL OF WARREN MARSH.

Service Conducted by Rev. W. R. Richards—Beautiful Floral Offerings.

The funeral of Warren Marsh was held from his late residence, 340 Franklin place, Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards. During the services there were selections by a quartette composed of Mrs. F. T. Clawson, Mrs. Utter and Messrs. Gavett and Runyon. The floral offerings were very beautiful, completely covering the casket. The house was filled with the relatives and friends of the late Mr. Marsh. The interment was at Hillside Cemetery.

An Infant to be Baptized.

Next Sunday morning, at 11:30 o'clock, in the German Reformed church on Craig place, Emma Katy, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Becker, of Somerset street, will be paptized. Those who will stand up at the ceremony with the parents are Mrs. Emma Rymer, Mrs. Emma Miller and Mrs. Katy Walter, of Greater New York. Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the church, will officiate.

FARMERS' FEUD LIVES ON

MIDDLESEX MEN DISPUTE OVER USE OF A LANE.

Neighbors Intercede in Vain—They Try to Heal the Wounds, But the Foxes and Randolphs are Not on Good Terms.

An effort to settle the Fox-Randolph feud has failed. Each family swears that there shall never be a compromise.

Fox and Randolph are well-to-do farmers living near New Market, and owning farms that adjoin. Michael is the Christian name of Fox, and Azael is that of Randolph.

It is not an old feud. It all arose over the right to use a lane. The two farms were originally one. When the division was effected, years ago, part of one farm was so situated that it could be approached only by a lane leading through a field of the other. The lane is now on Fox's farm, and the trouble arose over the right of Randolph to use it.

The lane had been used by Randolph for years and no objection had ever been raised until one day when Randolph went to the old accustomed path he found a fence built across it. He tore down the fence. Fox, equally as prompt, built it up again. This tearing down and building up alternated for several days and finally the case found its way into the Court of Chancery.

The testimony advanced by Randolph was to the effect that the right to use the lane was preserved to the owners of his farm by the original separating deed, and that Fox, while owning the land, could not shut up the lane.

Fox insisted that the use of the lane had been simply by courtesy on his part and that there was no actual right for Randolph to use it. It was further brought out that Fox had not objected as long as Randolph and his family used the lane only at intervals, but that when Randolph's son fell in love he and his sweetheart made a regular lover's lane of it, and their constant spooning frightened the cattle who were grazing in the field and made it impossible to keep the stock fat.

The Court of Chancery confessed itself incapable of dealing with the question and it was taken before the Supreme Court on a civil suit for damages brought against Fox by Randolph for closing up the lane. The case was tried and nominal damages of six cents were allowed the plaintiff, a very satisfactory verdict, however, as it determined and established Randolph's right to use the lane. Since then the lane has been kept open, and so has the breach between these two Jersey tillers of the soil.

A self constituted committee of arbitration, composed of property owners and men friendly to the principals in the feud, called upon them and endeavored to effect a settlement and persuade the men to make up their differences. The committee presented the case with much eloquence, showed how more had been spent in lawyers' fees than would have bought the strip in dispute twice over, and similar reasoning of this kind was advanced to help along a reconciliation. It was all of no avail. The Fox-Randolph feud seems destined to make this part of Jersey as famous as the Hatfield-McCoy vendetta has made another State.

MR. WINFIELD BETTER.

The Prosecutor's Physician Now Has Hopes for His Recovery.

Charles H. Winfield, District Attorney of Hudson county, who on Saturday was reported to be dying, rallied yesterday and Dr. Dickinson now has hopes of his recovery.

Mr. Winfield has been in ill health for several years. He has been confined to his home since December 15th. He still retains his office, but it is doubtful if he will be able to appear in court again before April, when his term expires.

Had Their Pictures Taken.

A group, composed of the officers and members of the football eleven of the Plainfield Athletic Association, has been taken by Langhorne, the popular photographer. The players are in costume. There are seventeen in the group. The proofs will be seen at the office of the secretary of the Plainfield A. A., Thomas A. Cuming, at the salesroom of the Eldridge Bicycle Company, on Park avenue. Orders for pictures may be left with him.

Former Plainfielder Dead.

W. F. Bogartus, of New York, formerly of East Front street, died at his home in New York city last week after a short illness. He succumbed to an attack of pneumonia. His death came suddenly. He leaves two daughters who are well known in this city. The funeral was held from the house last Wednesday.

NOTABLE SUNDAY-SCHOOL WORKERS TO MEET IN THIS CITY.

Annual Convention of the International Association to Convene Tomorrow—The Names of Some Delegates to be Present.

The Sunday-school teachers of this city met at the Y. M. C. A. building Saturday evening and completed arrangements for the conference to be held in this city Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The names of about fifty of the delegates were received by the committee. Among them are: B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, who is at the head of the International Sunday-school Association, and chairman of the World's convention; Dr. George W. Bailey, president of the New Jersey State Association; Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, New Jersey State secretary; W. J. Semelroth, editor of The International Evangel, the organ of the International Association; W. B. Jacobs, Mary F. Huber and C. D. Meigs, State secretaries of Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana, respectively; Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, State secretary of Ohio, and superintendent of the model Sunday-schools of the country; Prof. H. M. Hamill, normal secretary of Illinois; Rev. L. D. Stultz, home department secretary of New Jersey; Alfred Day, of Ontario; Wm. Randolph, of St. Louis, and Rev. S. S. Eddy, of Syracuse, N. Y.

The noted primary workers are to be especially abundant: Israel P. Black, of Philadelphia, author of the latest book, "Practical Primary Plans;" Mrs. W. F. Crafts, the leader of all primary work. Butts F. Vella, of Boston; Mabel Hall, of Chicago; Mrs. J. W. Barnes, of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

While all the meetings of the conference will be of interest to all Sunday school workers, the evening meetings are expected to be especially profitable. Tuesday evening B. F. Jacobs is to speak; Wednesday evening Rev. S. S. Eddy and Alfred Day, and Thursday evening Prof. H. M Hamill, of Illinois.

It was thought best to change the place of meeting for the Wednesday evening meeting from the Y. M. C. A Hall to the First Methodist church, on West Front street, so that the large number who will attend may be accommodated.

The entertainment committee, of which George F. Brown is chairman, is to be in session at the Y. M. C. A. building Tuesday afternoon from 4 o'clock until the delegates are assigned. The headquarters of the convention will be at the Y. M. C. A. building, the association having tendered the use of the building during the time of the conference.

A NURSE MIGHT SAVE TWO LIVES.

An Aged Borough Couple Sick Without Receiving Proper Care.

A deserving case that is attracting the attention of charitable people is that of Mr. and Mrs. John Heubner, of 63 Harrison street, North Plainfield. Both are ill and confined to their beds and woefully in need of the care of kind and ministering hands to attend to their wants. Mr. Heubner is a carpenter by trade and a member of the Carpenters' Union and has received considerable financial aid from that organization. At present one or more members of the union sit up each night with the afflicted couple. The King's Daughters' nurse has visited them and helped to make them as comfortable as possible. Overseer of the Poor David Weaver has also contributed to their comfort by providing medical attendance and provisions. What the aged couple need most, however, is a nurse to be in constant attendance and give them the care that is necessary for the recovery of their good health. It is a deserving case and ought to be looked after.

DOG BITE DOESN'T HEAL.

Richard Baldwin Had the Wound Properly Cauterized at Last.

Richard Baldwin, of Plainfield avenue, was bitten by a favorite hound three weeks ago. The dog acted queerly and Baldwin was told that the animal was going mad. He called the dog and started to tie him when the animal turned and seized Baldwin's right hand in his fangs. The flesh was torn on the back of the hand and first finger.

Baldwin dressed the wound with some simple remedies and supposed that it would heal at once. It did not, however, but became worse. At last Baldwin consulted Dr. Probasco and had the wound cauterized and treated. That was ten days ago. The wound still does not heal and is very painful.

PIGEON CAUGHT 500 MILES OUT AT SEA.

ESCAPED FROM A WESTFIELD LOFT.

The Bird Was Imported From Belgium and Was Probably on its Way to its Old Home.

Wm. H. Winter, of Westfield, received word a few days ago from Captain A. D. Conover, of the schooner Three Marys, which is lying at Philadelphia, that a carrier pigeon bearing Winter's name and address had alighted upon the deck of the vessel when it was about 500 miles out in the Atlantic Ocean. The bird was easily caught and is now in possession of Captain Conover, who will return it to its owner.

The bird which made this remarkable journey was one of a pair of highly-bred homing pigeons of the Belgium variety which Winter imported from Europe about three months ago. The birds were kept caged, but Saturday, the 9th inst. the one in question managed to escape from the cage as the food was being put through the door. It arose high in the air, circled around several times and then flew directly off eastward. The capture of the bird 500 miles out in the Atlantic on the 11th, shows that it was attempting to return to its native home in Belgium.

When it landed upon the deck of the "Three Marys" it seemed somewhat exhausted and in want of food.

FATHER MURPHY MAY LEAVE ST. MARY'S.

PATERSON WANTS HIS SERVICES.

Father Smyth Intercedes With Bishop Wigger to Allow Him to Remain in Plainfield.

It is possible that Rev. Francis J. Murphy, assistant rector of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, of this city, will be transferred by Bishop Wigger to a church in Paterson.

Last Friday Father Murphy was notified by the Bishop that the latter had decided to transfer him to the post of first assistant rector of St. John's church, one of the most important in that city. Rev. Father McCormick, who now occupies that position, was to be given Father Murphy's place in St. Mary's church.

Although the charge was an advancement for Father Murphy, it was felt by his friends here that the labor connected with so important a charge would prove too great a tax upon his strength, which has never been great, and Rev. P. E. Smyth, the rector of the church, had an interview with the Bishop, and after laying the facts before him made a request that Father Murphy be allowed to remain in Plainfield.

As a result of the interview the Bishop countermanded his orders regarding the change and promised to give the matter a week's further consideration. He will endeavor to find another man fitted to take the place to which Father Murphy was assigned, and if this can be accomplished the latter will be allowed to remain in this city.

Father Murphy has been stationed in this city over four years, and is very popular among the congregation of St. Mary's.

THE SAENGERBUND'S FROLIC.

Germans Held Their Annual Carnival in Their Hall Last Night.

The members of the Gesang and Turn Verein, together with their wives and sweethearts, gathered in their hall on Somerset street last evening and enjoyed an annual carnival. The hall was decorated in a most amusing manner with comical pictures, while the head officers of the society were dressed in all sorts of queer styles, President Henry Haurand was in charge and made the opening address in which he welcomed all to the festive occasion. Charles Meyer took the part of the "Prince of Jesters," while the part of the "Princess of Carnival" was taken by Otto Kellar. Both men were attired in very comical costumes.

Music for the occasion was furnished by an organette and the singing sections of the society. During the evening refreshments were served, and it was late when the happy occasion broke up.

Editor Lane's Wife Attempts Suicide.

The many friends of Thomas Lane, editor of the Summit Record, were surprised this morning to read of the attempted suicide of his wife in the Hotel Wellington, Washington, early yesterday morning. She is a daughter of former Senator Blackburn, of Kentucky. No reason is assigned for the act. It is thought that Mrs. Lane will recover from the effects of the wound.

GIRL ACCOSTED IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

OFFENDER IS A SWARTHY ITALIAN.

Maggie Reed Stopped in Front of the Netherwood Hotel, But Terror Made Her Run Fast and She Escaped the Ruffian by Taking Refuge in the House of David Hand in that Neighborhood.

The people of Netherwood are much stirred up over the dastardly act of an Italian in attacking Miss Maggie Reed, the fifteen year-old daughter of John Reed, proprietor of the Netherwood brick yards.

The attack occurred at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon on the road which passes in front of the Netherwood Hotel. Miss Reed had been to the house of a neighbor, and was returning to her home, near the hotel. The girl had no thought of danger as the houses are numerous in that vicinity. As she was passing in front of the hotel lawn she saw the form of a man dodge behind one of the clumps of shrubbery that odorn the lawn.

When she passed the spot the man sprang forth and made an attempt to hold Miss Reed.

She tore herself from him, screaming, and ran. Her assailant followed, shouting to her in Italian.

The terror-stricken girl made her way to Berkeley avenue and reached the home of David Hand. The man followed her almost to the door, still muttering in Italian, and occasionally calling in English for her to stop.

Mr. Hand happened to be at home when the frightened girl burst through the door. She pointed out of doors and managed to tell the story of her pursuit.

Hand, who is a powerful man, rushed forth and gave chase to the Italian, who began to retreat after the girl entered the house. The fellow took to the woods and soon succeeded in eluding his purruer.

The girl was weak from fright and exhaustion, and it was some time before she was able to walk home, protected by an escort.

She was able to give a good description of her assailant, who was evidently a laboring man, being dressed in the overalls and jumper of a mechanic. He was short and dark, and was evidently an Italian. The description tallies closely with that of the man who made a similar attack on Miss Maggie Kennedy on Rockview avenue last Thursday evening, and both deeds are thought to have been the work of the same ruffian.

CITY SEWER WORK.

Stelle Avenue Connections Can be Made—Other Sewer Work.

The Stelle avenue sewer is now completed and ready for the house connections. The water will be turned on in a day or two, giving a little time in which to allow the cement to set.

It is the wish of the city officials to have the Watchung avenue sewer, between East Front street and the new bridge, laid as soon as possible, so as to allow the road to become settled for macadamizing in the spring. Contractor Christmas has promised to start work on Watchung avenue the first of next week, if the weather is anyways propitious, so as to finish it at once.

Christmas had a quantity of tile pipe that was not needed for the Stelle avenue extension, so he ordered it carted to Watchung avenue ready for work there. William Hand's trucks took it. Instead of piling it up in Watchung avenue, it was taken for some unknown reason to Somerset street Friday evening and heaped up in the gutter. Street Commissioner Gavett discovered the mistake and notified Christmas.

Saturday morning Captain Hand transferred the tile to the right street where it will remain until Contractor Christmas is ready to use it.

ALMOST A CENTENARIAN.

Mrs. Margaret TenEyck Passes Away in Her Ninety-Fifth Year.

Mrs. Margaret TenEyck, of 247 East Third street, died at her home at 6:30 this morning in the ninety-fifth year of her age, after a long tedious illness accompanied by the feebleness attendant with old age. Mrs. TenEyck lives with her daughter. She was a well-known resident of this city, where she has resided for many years. She was a model Christian woman and held membership in Trinity Reformed church. For a long time past she was unable to go out and was closely confined to the house. Of late her condition had been very low and her death was expected momentarily. The funeral services will be held Wednesday from the house and interment will be at Flemington.

WILD OVER KLONDIKE

The Greatest Rush the World Has Ever Known is at Hand.

LOTS OF WOMEN ARE GOING

A Quarter of a Million People Expected to Start for the Gold Regions in the Spring--A Fever That Has Spread All Over the Earth.

Pomona, Cal., Jan. 17.—The reopening of navigation in the Yukon River region next March and April is anxiously awaited by tens of thousand men on the Pacific coast, and by many more in the Eastern States. The rush of men and women to the Klondike gold fields in 1898 is likely to be the most extraordinary movement of men fortuneward in modern times. It has been compared to the stampede of Eastern people to the California gold fields in 1849 and 1850, but all the miners who came pouring into the new Eldorado in the first three years of mining here for the precious ores did not number more than 125,000. Several careful historians do not put the number at more than 100,000.

The emigration to the Klondike region from the Pacific coast alone will surely be more than 70,000, and 150,000 more people from the Eastern States, Canada, Europe, Australia, and South America are expected to swell the volume of travel to the Klondike to more than 220,000 souls. The rush of English, French and Americans to South Africa in the eighties had been cited for comparison. There were never more than 50,000 arrivals in the South African mining regions in any one year. The Australian gold excitement in 1859 started some 70,000 toward the Antipodes. The Comstock bonanza gold excitement in 1873 and '74 drew some 15,000 miners to Nevada.

The five transcontinental railroads have already contracted to sell to transportation agents in the Eastern cities tickets for carrying more than 45,000 people going to the Klondike before next June, and probably not one prospective Klondiker in five has yet been heard from by the railroad agents. The two principal steam navigation companies that operate between Seattle and San Francisco on the south and the Yukon River on the north have orders for the transportation of more than 20,000 travellers. The most conservative estimates by the passenger agents of the railroads to the Pacific coast put the number of people they will transport to the northward vessels at San Francisco, Seattle, Vancouver and Tacoma this year at not less than 215,000.

At the shipping towns hundreds of men are now employed day and night in fitting up vessels suitable for carrying people and provisions to the Yukon River from the time navigation opens until next September. Every vessel on the Pacific coast from Chili to British Columbia that can be bought and made serviceable for a sea voyage is in preparation for the Klondike business. A score or more of sea-going craft are now on the way from New York, Philadelphia and New England around the Horn to the Pacific coast to be ready for the grand rush to Alaska.

It is estimated that more than $3,000,000 is being put into shipping in California alone for the Klondike business. Several companies with millions of capital have been incorporated on this coast lately for handling the Klondike freight and passenger traffic, when the new mining country has settled down on an established basis.

The Eastern people can have little idea of how completely the Klondike fever has taken hold of nearly all men on the Pacific coast, particularly in California and Washington. In many localities in California the preparations for going to the Klondike next Spring are almost as general and earnest as they were in Eastern localities for men going to the war in the early sixties.

No Famine in the Yukon Basin.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 17.—General Merriam, at Vancouver Barracks, has received the report of Major J. H. Rucker, who was sent to Dyea by the War Department to ascertain the condition of affairs in the Yukon Basin. Major Rucker's report concludes as follows:

"First—While there is a shortage of stores in the Yukon Basin, a state of famine does not at present exist, nor is it likely to in the immediate future.

"Second—Large expeditions with quantities of supplies hauled on sledges by horses or reindeer could not proceed down the Yukon River further than the foot of Lake Labarge, 400 miles from Dawson.

"Third—Reindeer on such an expedition are no more serviceable than are mules or horses.

"Fourth—If Government assistance is conspicuously needed in the Yukon it will be when the stores now in the hands of the people are exhausted, which is not likely to be earlier than April or May."

Major Rucker recommends that if the Snow Locomotive Company, which has a contract with the Government, does not convey relief into the Yukon during February the Government pack trains with sledges, should carry them across the Chilkoot Pass and down the lakes and rivers to the foot of Lake Labarge during March, and there await the breaking up of the ice in the Yukon. The supplies could then be taken to Dawson by boats.

General Merriam has extended the time of starting the expedition to the middle of February, by which date the Snow locomotive people say they will be able to start their snow train into the interior.

Relief to Be Sent to Klondike.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Acting Secretary of War Meiklejohn emphatically denies the report from Portland, Ore., that the War Department has issued orders to postpone the departure of the Alaska relief expedition, which is to sail in the steamer Oregon from Portland on January 23. Mr. Meiklejohn says the relief expedition will go at the earliest possible moment. If the expedition is not sent on the steamer Oregon it is because better terms have been made by some other steamer.

Engineers Give In.

London, Jan. 17.—The Official Engineers' Joint Committee has informed the Employers' Federation of the withdrawal, on behalf of the men, of the eight-hour demand.

MURDERS OR DUTY!

Sheriff Martin and Deputies Must Answer for the Shooting of Miners.

Hazleton, Pa., Jan. 17.—Information has reached counsel for the defense here that the trial of Sheriff Martin and his deputies for the shooting of the riotous strikers at Lattimer on September 10 last would be called at Wilkesbarre next week Tuesday, January 25. Both on account of the social and business standing of many of the eighty deputies under indictment, and the questions of law and fact involved, the trial will be the most notable ever held in this State. The counsel on both sides are the most eminent that can be procured, and Judge Lynch, who will probably preside, has the reputation of being a very able jurist. Lawyer Troutman, of the defense, in speaking of the case to your correspondent, said:

"It is impossible to tell how long the trial will last. We have only a panel of sixty talesmen to draw from. Besides the challenges for cause we have twenty peremptory challenges, so you see the panel could be easily exhausted before a jury was found."

"In that case, what would be done?"

"We could go out among the spectators in the court room or anywhere else for jurors, until we found a jury."

Asked what he thought the outcome of the trial would be, Mr. Troutman replied:

"I do not see that it can possibly be anything but an acquittal. You see the version of the deputies of the affray has not as yet been heard, for by my advice they have kept their mouths shut.

"The questions of law involved are of great importance to the legal mind. Many will crop up that have not as yet been satisfactorily passed upon by any legal tribunal."

As Mr. Troutman is an old lawyer of great and varied experience, his most notable case probably being his conduct as prosecutor of several of the Molly Maguire trials, his opinion is entitled to considerable weight.

Some of the questions which will have to be passed upon are those involving the rights and powers of a sheriff in a strike, the rights of strikers to march about from place to place and an adjudication upon the question what does and what does not constitute a public highway.

The latter point is regarded as being perhaps the most important one. The strikers contend they were on a public highway when they were fired upon, and upon this point Judge Lynch laid considerable stress when charging the Grand Jury that indicted the deputies.

BENJAMIN BUTTERWORTH DEAD.

Thomasville, Ga., Jan. 17.—Major Benjamin Butterworth, Commissioner of Patents, who came here several weeks ago with a view to recruiting his health after having been taken seriously ill in Ohio, died at 3.15 p. m. yesterday. Mr. Butterworth's wife and children were at his side when he died. He had been suffering from pneumonia, but death was due directly uraemic convulsions.

By the death of Major Benjamin Butterworth one of the most conspicuous characters is removed from social and official life at the national capital. He was born in Warren County, Ohio, on October 22, 1839, of parents who were members of the Society of Friends. He studied law in Cincinnati and was admitted to the bar in that city.

In 1883 he was appointed Chief of the Patent Office by President Arthur. Although the greater portion of Major Butterworth's time during his latter years was spent at Washington, where he had built up a large law practice and owned much property, his appointments to political office have been credited to Ohio.

He was known throughout the United States as an able patent lawyer and a stanch Republican.

His first appearance at Washington was as a member of the Forty-sixth Congress from the First District of Ohio. He served during four more Congresses — Forty-seventh, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth and Fifty-first.

In September last a sensational and erroneous report was printed to the effect that Major Butterworth, while on a visit to Atlantic City, had been assaulted and robbed by thugs. At the time of the alleged assault the stalwart Ohioan was at Washington, and the publication of the rumor caused him great annoyance.

Mr. Gladstone on Strikes.

London, Jan. 17.—Mr. Gladstone continues well and cheerful at Cannes. An eminent person who was lunching recently with him asked Mr. Gladstone what was the greatest danger threatening Great Britain—was it France, Germany, Russia or America? "None of them," was the reply of the statesman; "the only danger I foresee is from the trades unions and their attendant strikes."

Profit in Football.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 17.—Playing football games on college grounds is a big success. Yale and Harvard made $13,000 apiece profit off their game at Cambridge, the total receipts being about $35,000. The figures for the Yale-Princeton game here show the total receipts were $28,396.77; the expenses, $4,231.35, leaving the net receipts $24,165.42. Each college will have $12,082.71 as its share for the game.

Bismarck's Health Improving.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—Prince Bismarck is steadily improving in health. He is again good humored and has expressed his approval of the seizure of Kiao-chau Bay in a letter to the grand dukes of Weimar and Mecklenburg.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

—Somerset place is being macadamized and otherwise put in good condition.

—This evening a regular communication of Trinity Commandery, No 17, K. T., will be held, and the Red Cross Degree will be conferred.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

There will be a meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club this evening.

—The Dorcas Circle of King's Daughters will hold its meeting this afternoon.

—H. C. McVoy, of Westervelt avenue, will commence the erection of his new house on Sandford avenue this week.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Mr. Hall, who formerly conducted a novelty store on Somerset street, has moved to the store formerly occupied by G. R. Musgrave on West Front street.

—Bert Pierce, of Scheuer's grocery store, who burned his hands so badly some time ago, is again able to use his hands. He has entirely recovered from the effects of the burns.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A meeting of the Women's Home Missionary Reading Circle of the First M. E. church will be held Thursday afternoon.

—Henry VanMiddlesworth, of the First Church of Christ Christian Endeavor Society, has been placed in charge of the music committee, and B. W. Hand is chairman of the prayer meeting committee.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

MORE FIGHT FOR HANNA.

Mayor McKisson Prepares Evidence to Contest the Senator's Seat.

Cleveland, Jan. 17.—It has been definitely settled that Robert E. McKisson will contest the election of Mark A. Hanna to the Senate. The contest will be made on the ground of fraud in the election, and the contention will be set up that several votes were purchased outright for Mr. Hanna.

Notice of this contest has to be filed within thirty days after the election takes place. The papers and evidence are now being compiled, and will be sent on to Washington within a few days.

Mr. McKisson will attempt to show that Mr. Hanna did not have enough legal votes to elect him, and that the only legally elected candidates is himself. The Senate is obliged to take notice of this matter. All the evidence that is being collected for the Grand Jury will be used before the Election Committee at Washington.

Senator Hanna Subpoenaed.

Columbus, Jan. 17.—Mayor McKisson, who was the combine candidate for United States Senator against Senator Hanna, has been here in conference with Mr. Kurtz. The combine's ambition is to push the bribery charges against Senator Hanna. The purpose of McKisson's visit was to confer with Kurtz and Allen O. Myers regarding the investigation, which will begin tomorrow.

Senator Hanna, Major Dick and S. D. Hollenbeck have been subpoenaed to be here at that time. Representative Otis, who says he received a bribe of $1,750 by H. H. Boyce, as Hanna's agent, says Boyce can have the money by calling on Tom Campbell, the Cincinnati lawyer, and by way of encouragement informs Mr. Boyce in a letter given to the public that he will be turned over to the police when he makes the demand.

In case Boyce does not ask for the return of the money, Otis says it will be given to charity. The friends of Senator Hanna say that they have nothing to fear from the investigation, but assert that a very close friend of Representative Snider, of Green County, representing the combine, made Snider a cash offer of $5,000 to vote with them. The investigation will go into all these charges.

ARMY OFFICER'S BIG STEAL.

Charged With Having Robbed the Government of $3,000,000

Washington, Jan. 17.—The officials of the War Department believe that the swindling operations of Captain Oberlin M. Carter as army engineer will aggregate nearly $3,000,000. Captain Carter is not only accused of having systematically robbed the Government while in charge of Government work at Savannah, but the municipal authorities of that city and certain contracting firms are also said to be among his victims.

It is the intention of the War Department, in the event of Captain Carter's conviction by the court-martial now in session in Savannah, to prosecute all those who are alleged to have assisted him in a conspiracy to defraud the Government. Upon the finding of the court-martial will depend legal proceedings against B. D. Greene, a former officer of the corps of engineers; John F. Gaynor, William P. Gaynor, Edward H. Gaynor and Anson M. Bangs.

The charges upon which Captain Carter is now undergoing trial only include instances of fraud wherein the prosecutors believe positive proof can be adduced. Many alleged offenses, covering the disappearance of large sums, have been nullified by the statute of limitations.

The charges of the Government constitute the most damaging arraignment ever brought against an officer of the army. The defendant is accused of embezzlement, false swearing, failure to account for funds, deception and false accounting.

Eight Men Were Killed.

Middleboro, Ky., Jan. 18.—The story of a bloody fight on Sandy Fork, in Leslie County, on last Wednesday, turns out to have been more extensive than reported. News received here is to the effect that no less than eight men were killed and four wounded mortally in the battle in the "Moonshine" saloon. Leslie County is in the wildest part of the Kentucky Mountains, where there are no railroads or telephones to spread intelligence.

A party of negroes, who were playing cards at what is called a blind tiger, got into a dispute concerning the way the game was progressing. Drunkenness added to the brutality of the fight that followed. Four men were killed then, and subsequently the fight was renewed by friends on both sides, until the mortality list reached eight. The feeling aroused gives rise to apprehension of more crime.

The $100 Counterfeits.

Washington, Jan. 17.—A member of the firm of Crane & Co., makers of the paper on which the Government notes are printed, visited the Treasury Department to examine the paper of the counterfeit $100 silver certificates recently discovered. After a careful scrutiny of several counterfeit notes he declined to say whether it had revealed any clue to the counterfeiters. Up to this date only eighteen of the counterfeit notes have been found. One of them, received from Cincinnati, differs from the other in the numbering, the number beginning with the figures 323 instead of 346.

WARSHIPS FOR CUBA

All Quiet in Havana, but Other Outbreaks are Feared.

GEN. LEE IS CONSERVATIVE

The Consul General Believes That the Presence of a Warship in Havana Might Incite Spaniards to Attack the American Residents.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Although the official news received from Havana is of a character to quiet apprehension the President, the State Department and Navy Department appreciate the gravity of the situation, and are prepared to hear at any moment of a concerted outbreak that will bring the Cuban trouble to a head.

Consul General Lee has kept the Foreign Office of the Government fully informed of what has been going on and of the condition of feeling in Havana, but, in the opinion of the officials, he has taken a course of extreme conservatism, in advising against the presence of a warship at Havana. The policy of the Consul General is due, it is believed, to his feeling that the arrival of an American cruiser or battleship would inflame the suppressed enmity toward the United States, and result in attacks on the lives and property of Americans. Until he is absolutely satisfied that the discordant elements cannot be controlled he will not call for the protection of a man-of-war.

At the first sign of a general uprising General Lee will cable the State Department a request for a ship, and he will get it with dispatch.

In a message received here, somewhat longer than most of his official bulletins, General Lee gave an explanation of the situation. While saying that everything was quiet, he explained that there was much excitement, which might culminate in serious disturbance at any time.

Opinion among those officials of the Administration who have knowledge of all the information in the possession of the State Department is practically unanimous that the rioters have not been suppressed. Some of them—in fact, the greater number—believe that Blanco is powerless to put down the turbulent spirits who are inciting to violence the loyalists of Havana. He is in a house divided against itself, with a common enemy at its doors, ready to take advantage of any serious clash.

Blanco has not even his own troops to depend on. Their officers sympathize with the demonstration against the autonomist government, and some of these very officers have been the leaders of the mobs that attacked the offices of the autonomist newspapers. How, then, it is argued can Blanco have any confidence in his ability to suppress such elements as these?

It is pointed out that no mention has been made in the press dispatches about the arrest of any Spanish officers. This was construed to mean that Blanco fears an uprising of the troops would follow such a course.

A Madrid dispatch says that the officers implicated in the Havana demonstrations would undoubtedly be court-martialed. That Blanco would willingly obey instructions to that effect from the home government there is some doubt expressed. Acquiescence would probably be followed by more mass-meetings of the officers and consequent rioting on a larger scale.

The Havana Volunteers, still chafing over Weyler's overthrow and hating autonomy to the core, would undoubtedly take part in the disorder as a body. "And if they do," said an official, "the end of Spain's rule in Cuba will be in sight."

It is now admitted in official circles that the battleship Maine and the cruiser Detroit are being held at Key West ready for departure for Havana. Only one of these vessels will be sent in the event of further trouble, and it was said at the Navy Department that it had not been determined which would be detailed for the duty.

Captain Charles D. Sigsbee, commanding the Maine, the senior officer at Key West, is conducting all telegraphic correspondence with the naval authorities, and will be given discretion if the presence of a warship in Cuban waters is deemed necessary by General Lee, to send either the Maine or the Detroit. It is likely that the cruiser would be selected.

All Quiet in Havana.

Havana, Jan. 17.—No "disagreeable incidents" occurred yesterday, and "complete calmness" exists. General Morroto, General Bernal and General Salcedo have arrived and are assisting General Blanco in maintaining order. Saturday, while Senor Marcos Garcia, Governor of Santa Clara, was attending a baseball match a hospital employee tried to shoot him. General Aguirre and his aid-de-camp frustrated the attempt.

Mrs. Lane Shot Herself.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Mrs. Lucille Lane, youngest daughter of ex-Senator Joe Blackburn, of Kentucky, shot herself in her rooms at the Wellington Hotel Saturday night. According to the statement given out by the family, the shooting was accidental. Both of Mrs. Lane's physicians refused to discuss the subject, even to the extent of saying whether or not the wound would prove fatal, but it is believed she probably will recover, although now suffering from shock.

WANT A NEW-FANGLED NAME.

Piscataway town is not a name that poets would juggle with in rhyme, but for the prosaic people of the community for which it serves as a designation in Middlesex county it serves very well. As a sample of New Jersey nomenclature it is quite eminent. But the people of Piscataway town are beginning to be filled with big ideas since the advent of the trolley in their midst, and now some are agitating the question of changing their town name to Cambridge. That's quite English, doncher know. There are those, however, who are willing to compromise and call it "Piscataqua." There is, of course, a rural tinge to Piscataway town, but for all that it is not so bad, and we are glad to observe that the latest advices state that the sentiment of the majority is not strongly in favor of a change for a new-fangled appelation.

The Federal Grand Jury to appear before Judge Kirkpatrick Tuesday in the United States District Court for New Jersey is the most noteworthy in many particulars ever drawn in this district. George J. Gould, of Lakewood, will lead the list of twenty-four in point of wealth. The jury will include one former United States Senator, one ex State Senator, four Mayors, many prominent politicians and two lawyers. Mayor Fisk, of this city, is a member of the Jury.

The Orange Journal is authority for the statement that Congressman Fowler will be a candidate for eleetion for another term in the lower house of the National Legislature.

THEATRICAL.

Ingenious complications that provide broad opportunities for comedy work are the essential feature of "A New Yorker," which was presented in Music Hall Saturday night before a large and fashionable audience that must have convinced Manager Edwards that his policy of playing the best attractions is a popular one. The attraction was headed by that well-known comedian, Robert Hilliard, who was supported by a cast equally as effective in their various characters as the star himself. "A New Yorker" is prolific with funny situations and spicy dialogue. Mr. Hilliard has a capital part in his character of "Dick Swift," once a man of the world and a bit too gay, but now married and settled down to a life of domesticity that is sadly upset at frequent intervals by the appearance of a young woman of saucy ways whom he had known in his bachelor days and still clings to him with hope of financial reward for not indulging in anecdotes of the past.

A complete freight train of fourteen cars, illuminated caboose and practical working engine, a magnificent scene of Niagara Falls by moonlight, with real mist, as seen from Suspension bridge, the flight of the Fast Mail which crosses the stage at the rate of seventy miles an hour and a reclistic steamboat race and explosion on the Mississippi, are among the most novel scenes and mechanical effects shown in Lincoln J. Carter's scenic production, "The Fast Mail," which appears at Stillman Music Hall next Wednesday evening.

One of the most notable engagements that Music Hall will ever have had comes February 1st, in the appearance of Mrs. Fiske in "Tess of 'de Ubbervilles," one of the principal successes of the New York season last year.

It Would Be Surprising

if, with our immense business, we did not handle the choice of the hundred odd makes of Pianos that are produced in America.

The seven best, in their different grades, that America produces—CHICKERINGS, GABLERS, HARDMANS, VOSES, STERLINGS, STANDARDS and HUNTINGTONS—are here.

There is absolutely no other as good as the firms named; there may be other makes that will equal the other six, but they will cost you from $75 to $150 more than we would ask for the same grade and quality.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

W. H. Cole and wife are entertaining company from out of town.

Lawyer Moffett, of Plainfield, was in the borough Saturday on business.

An entertainment is being planned to be held in the M. E. church at an early date.

Abner S. Coriell, of New Brunswick, has concluded the work of surveying North avenue for the trolley.

Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow evening and consider some important business.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council this evening to transact some matters of importance.

The members of the Building and Loan Association will meet this evening in special session to take some action regarding the first series.

Interesting services were held in all of the local churches yesterday, and at the Baptist church special services were held morning, afternoon and evening.

The Borough Council has about decided to widen North avenue at a point where it runs into the Bound Brook road. This is necessary for the laying of the trolley tracks.

Firman Gise has been making some excellent improvements about his place, one of which is the cleaning out of the gutters in the street on the side and in front of his property.

It is more than likely that Postmaster Coriell will be reimbursed for his loss of stamps last week. As yet the postal inspector has not put in an appearance, but he is expected this week.

It is now expected that the trolley will be running through the borough by early spring, as everything will be in readiness by the time the ordinance is adopted and the franchise is granted to commence work.

The funeral services of the late Frank Gaskill were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 from the house at Dunellen. The services were conducted by Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the Baptist church. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and the floral tributes were beautiful. Interment was at Samptown.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Mrs. A. Cook entertained her cousin, Miss Wagoner, of Madison, Sunday.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company holds its annual election of officers tonight.

Mrs. James S. Braker led the Christian Endeavor meeting in the Baptist church last evening.

Henry Keuhn is erecting a barn on the Baker property, on Westfield avenue, which he recently purchased.

The marriage of Miss Rose Bliss, a former teacher in the Scotch Plains Public School and Arlington Drake, of Glenside, will take place Wednesday at the bride's home in Cortlandt, N.Y.

An offering amounting to $27 was taken in the Baptist church Sunday morning for the relief of the starving Cubans. Miss Emma Clark and George L. Dunn were appointed a committee to receive money and clothing for the same cause in Scotch Plains, and Mrs. F. W. Westcott and George E. Hall were appointed in Fanwood.

The officers who have faithfully discharged their duties during the past year were unanimously re-elected at the annual meeting of the Scotch Plains Public Library Association: President, George R. Nicholl; vice-president, John Robison; treasurer, Dr. F. W. Westcott; recording secretary, Wm. Noble; corresponding secretary, E. G. Paff. The attendance for the year aggregated 2,749 and the number of books drawn 1,361.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Atlas Lodge, No. 125, F. and A. M., meets this evening.

Octavius Knight, of Elm street, has returned from a business trip to Washington, D. C.

Charles H. Day and son, Clifford, of Cranford, were the guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Sinclair.

Miss Cutler, of Cumberland Valley, Pa, sang very acceptably in the Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

Lulu, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Blackburn, of North avenue, is dangerously ill with peritonitis.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will hold its annual business meeting and election of officers in the church parlors this evening.

A series of four evangelistic meetings will be held in the Methodist church this week, beginning tomorrow evening. All are invited to attend.

The Immediate Aid Association of the Royal Arcanum will hold its annual business meeting and election of officers in Royal Arcanum Hall Thursday evening.

The trustees of the Westfield Public Library will hold a reception in the library rooms Thursday evening in celebration ot the twentieth anniversary of the library.

The funeral of Mrs. Harriet Terry, who died Wednesday, was held from her late home on South Broad street yesterday afternoon. Rev. Joseph Greaves officiated. Interment was in Fairview cemetery.

At the union services held in the Presbyterian church last evening Rev. James A. Francis, pastor of the Riverside Baptist church, of New York city, preached the sermon. A choir of forty voices led the singing, and the pastors of all the churches participated. Mr. Francis will preach in the Westfield Baptist church every evening this week except Thursday and Saturday.

At the trolley meeting held in Etta Hall last Friday night there were calls for Frank Bergen from many of the citizens who were desirous of hearing an explanation from him of his county trolley scheme. Mr. Bergen then stated that he would shortly hire a hall in Westfield and give a talk on the subject, illustrated by a stereopticon. The date of the meeting will soon be announced. A committee of citizens is also arranging for a citizens meeting on the trolley question, to which neither Mr. Bergen nor the representatives of the trolley company will be invited. This meeting will not be called until after the Bergen meeting.

NO HARMONY IN MT. OLIVE CHURCH.

Congregation Cannot Agree on Employment of Rev. Wm. Creemer.

At the meeting of the Mt Olive Baptist church yesterday a letter of recommendation for Rev. William Creemer was read from a church he was formerly connected with in New York. Rev. Mr. Creemer is the minister whom a portion of the congregation engaged to be the regular pastor, but whom another faction claim was illegally employed. At the meeting last night the question was asked if Rev. Mr. Creemer was satisfactory to the church membership, and it is said that a good portion of the congregation replied in the affirmative.

Spencer Conway, one of the oldest members and a mainstay of the society, says that tomorrow night a meeting will be held and the matter of the employment of the pastor will be considered. He insists that Rev. Mr. Creemer was engaged in contravention to the rules of the church, and says that some of the oldest members will never submit to the action. He stated that if Rev. Mr. Creemer persisted in remaining with the church, it would lose several of its best members.

A Large Funeral.

The funeral services over the remains of John J. Regan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Regan, of West Fourth street, took place at St. Mary's church yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The church was filled with those who came to show their sympathy for the bereaved family. The funeral cortege was a very long one. The pall-bearers were six boys from St. Mary's school. Appropriate floral tributes covered the casket. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way.

S. S. Swackhamer, of Summit avenue, spent Saturday in Trenton.

Mrs. Walter Wikoff, of Richmond street, is visiting relatives in Rahway.

Oscar Nightingale, of Sandford avenue, went to Easton today to visit friends.

Phillip Wells, of Harvard University, has been on a visit to his home on Washington avenue.

Miss Ida Yerkes, daughter of Rev. Dr. Yerkes, of Seventh street, is visiting friends in Pittsburg.

Miss Angie Kuhl, of Somerville, has been spending a few days with Miss Elsie Jobs, of Third place.

Raymond A. McGee, of Orchard avenue, Washington Park, has returned to his studies at Yale University.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Hardy, of Brooklyn, were the guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Williams, of Central avenue.

Mrs. Joseph Hummer, son Raymond and daughter Edna, of Syracuse, were guests Friday of Mrs. L. A. Hummer, of Somerset street.

Former Councilman Frost and wife, of Watchung avenue, will leave the city soon and will travel around the world for two years.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Lewis will return tomorrow from their wedding trip, and will take up their residence on Richmond street.

Charles Clark, formerly of the borough, but now of Providence, R. I., has been visiting borough relatives. He returned to Providence today.

Nathan R. Titsworth, of Madison avenue, has returned from a visit with friends at Geneva, N. Y. When he left that place yesterday it was snowing very hard.

Mrs. J. L. Hummer, of Syracuse, N. Y., who has been visiting in Plainfield, will leave for home next Thursday. Mrs. Hummer expects to go to Chicago in two or three weeks where she will reside in the future, as her husband has secured an excellent position in that place.

The Alumni of the New York University are arranging for a united banquet of the alumni of all the schools, lectures and clubs of the university to be held some time in February. Israel C. Pierson, of Watchung avenue, a Ph.D. class of '65 of the university, has been appointed one of the secretaries to arrange for the proposed banquet.

Fred S. Cutter, of Richmond street, who is employed at the New Amsterdam Bank, New York, has decided to take up his residence in New York for the balance of the winter. He and his family will leave the city in a short time, and their many friends will miss them greatly. Mr. Cutter has leased his house to Elliot Burr, of Webster place, who will take the house from April 1st.

A Kindling Wood Factory.

The Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company has sold the old Coddington mill and property on Somerset street to William Herman, of the borough, for $2,500, and the purchaser will convert the building into a kindling wood factory. This property was in the Coddington family for over forty years, and it was then sold to the above company. Sometime ago the house and blacksmith shop were sold to Bilyeau & Kliner, who still are in possession of it.

VARIEGATED MONEY

NEW BILLS WITH A COLOR FOR EACH DENOMINATION.

A Scheme to Prevent "Raising" by Counterfeiters, and Mistakes by Careless Men Invented by an Olean Merchant—Soon to be Put in Circulation.

New paper money, printed in different colors, will soon be in circulation. Some of the designs have already been prepared, and others are being executed at the Bureau of Engraving. All of them will undergo criticism and more or less alteration before final acceptance. President McKinley has expressed his approval of the idea in a general way, and Secretary Gage is anxious to issue the notes and certificates as quickly as possible. Being a banker himself, he fully appreciates the defects of the currency now in the hands of the people. It may be artistic, but the various denominations are not easily distinguishable from each other, and even the numerals on them are obscure and hard to make out. This makes counting troublesome, and a person has to look sharp if he would avoid giving a $5 note for a $1.

H. W. MARCUS.

Secretary Gage is of the opinion that every-day usefulness is of more importance in the currency of the nation than high art. Pretty pictures of recumbent ladies and naked boys are well enough in their way, but they cut no particular ice, so to speak, in connection with hard and vulgar cash. The most important point in a piece of paper money is that it shall be easily recognized. Its denomination must be apparent at a glance, and its kind also, whether treasury note, bank note or certificate. Of course, safety against counterfeiting is not to be lost sight of. It is believed that all of these requirements are met by the new designs. Anybody who has a handful of these bills will be able to separate them in an instant into their different classes, so as to count them offhand and without scrutiny. At the same time, the greater simplicity of their patterns will render them actually more difficult to imitate successfully. The very elaborateness of the notes now in circulation confuses the eye.

For illustrations, take the $1 bill. The designs for this denomination are already finished, and are very handsome. There are only two, one for the face and one for the back, because all $1 bills will have the same patterns, whether certificates, bank notes or treasury notes. When you see a bill with a big spread eagle in the middle of the face, you will recognize it as a $1, without even looking at the large numeral beneath. How, then, are you to understand what kind of a $1 bill it is? The answer is, simply by the color in which the big numeral of denomination, the treasury seal and the number of the bill are printed. If it is a treasury note, these will be in red; if a silver certificate, they will be in green; if a bank note, they will be in blue. There will be no other differences, except that each kind of bill will have its own legend. But people do not want to stop and read the legend in order to find out whether a bill is a bank note or a certificate. They do not have to do so, inasmuch as the color shows that.

The fiber paper is to be retained in the new currency. It is deemed an extra safeguard against counterfeiting, though criminals have found several ways of getting over the difficulty. One of these methods is to wash the ink from one dollar bills with chemicals and print the designs of higher denominations on the paper thus obtained. Another is to imitate the appearance of the fibers by printing blank paper with plates engraved with irregular curliqueues, rubbed over with red ink. The paper thus treated is then used for printing the counterfeit designs upon. As far back as 1869 the treasury printed its notes on paper which had a single band of fibers, instead of two bands as now. The single band was placed on the left of denominations under $20 and on the right hand end of higher denominations, the object being to prevent raising. The trouble was that people could hardly be educated up to the idea.

It is considered by the treasury experts that a bill is handsomer for not being engraved all over. That is the idea, at all events, which is to be carried out in the new money. They say that a few scattered designs, very elaborately executed in the highest style of art, are most difficult to counterfeit successfully. The notes of the Bank of England are astonishingly simple, having nothing on them but some rather plain lettering, the water marking of the paper being relied on chiefly as a protection against imitation. One of the queerest pieces of money in the world is an Irish note for £1. It has the words "One pound" printed across it in big letters.

A POPULAR MONOPOLIST.

Also a Single-Taxer; Likewise a Trolley King and a Democrat.

Tom L. Johnson, chief executive of the late Henry George's campaign, is perhaps the most interesting figure in our politics. An acquaintance characterized him as "The Great American Paradox." "Do as I say, not as I do," appears to sum up the man's whole life.

TOM. L. JOHNSON.

To understand some of the antithetical phases his career presents it is only necessary to show what he is and consider what he professes to believe. He is, in the first place, largely engaged in the steel-rail manufacturing business, which his business competitors say demands the highest protection from foreign importations, yet he is an uncompromising free trader. He gained the title of the "Trolley King" because he always buys out opposing lines, and thus secures a monopoly; yet he is a labor agitator, and in some of his speeches has bitterly arraigned monopolists. He owns much real estate; yet he is the most powerful supporter of Henry George's single-tax theories. He is a sound-money man, yet in the last Presidential campaign he was an enthusiastic supporter of Mr. Bryan. Last, he is a citizen of Ohio, but a resident of Brooklyn.

Mr. Johnson's friends deny that he is inconsistent. They say rather that it is the fault of society, not his. "He finds a certain state of things in society," one said the other day, "and believes another state would be better for humanity. He advocates this other state, but at the same time because of that he need not stand by and lose any opportunity that presents itself. And he generally doesn't."

Mr. Johnson's first name is "Tom," not "Thomas," as many suppose—Tom Loftin Johnson. He was born in Scott County, Ky., July 18, 1854, and at the christening the minister by mistake omitted the more formal appellation. He was educated in the public schools of Evansville, Ind., and when seventeen years old went into the office of the Central Passenger Railroad at Louisville, Ky. Every detail of the management of a railroad was mastered, and at eighteen years he invented a steel rail that is in use now. He was successively Secretary and Superintendent.

In 1876 Mr. Johnson started upon his street-railway career. With the money he made from his steel rails he purchased the Indianapolis Street Railway Company, and shortly after consolidated with the lines there. Three years later he bought the Brooklyn Street Railway of Cleveland, Ohio, and, following the plan adopted by him in Indianapolis, consolidated all the lines in that city. Here he first became known as the "Trolley King."

He now owns the elaborate trolley system, with Allentown, Pa., as a center, which has made a network of that section of the Keystone State. He and his brother "Al" purchased the controlling interest in the Nassau Electric Company of Brooklyn, made a five-cent fare to Coney Island, and now own interests in most of the lines there. In addition he has large holdings in Detroit, Chicago and Boston.

Mr. Johnson is also one of the largest steel-rail manufacturers in the country. In 1884 he established the Johnson Steel Company of Johnstown, Penn., which fought the Steel Trust, and thereafter erected a similar plant near Cleveland.

Henry George's book "Progress and Poverty" fell by chance in the busy man's way, and a reading of it impressed him deeply. Not wishing to trust to his own judgment as to the force of its arguments, he gave it to his lawyer with a request for an "impartial opinion." The lawyer was converted by the book, reported favorably, and from that hour Tom L. Johnson has been Henry George's most powerful ally. He has befriended the social reformer, and to-day they live across the street from each other at Fort Hamilton, and a private telephone runs from the library of the one to the library of the other.

Personally, Mr. Johnson is a man to inspire confidence. The test of his popularity was made in 1888, when he ran for Congress in a strong Republican district in Ohio and was defeated by a small majority, and in 1890, when he was elected. This victory was repeated in 1892, but he was defeated in 1894.

His Exception.

Barker—I claim that every woman has the right to wear any kind of clothes she likes. If she wants to appear upon the streets in bloomers, or even tights, that should be her privilege.

Dunning—Do you mean to tell me that you would extend this privilege to all women?

TAILOR-MADE GOWNS.

Severe English Styles Altered by Paris Taste.

[By special arrangements with the N. Y. Sun.]

Fashion declares itself from time to time, and the semi-annual revolution in dress comes without any regard for the expense it involves; but the tailor-made gown bobs up on the top wave of favor with every variation. To be sure, it is affected by the changes in fashion, but it has an established place among street costumes which no other kind of gown can fill. The severe English style which distinguished it some years ago has been wonderfully transformed by the artistic touch of the Parisian dressmakers, and now the French tailor gown, braided and trimmed without limit, rather has the lead, except for morning and traveling wear.

It is certainly the decorating and not so much the material that classifies the gown this season and makes it fashionable for every day wear or perfectly suitable for dressy occasions. Smooth-faced cloths are the favorite materials for the elaborate tailor gowns, as they are a good background for any trimming, but there is a great variety in the mixed fabrics, invisible checks, bayadere striped wool checks, which are made up into simple useful gowns with rows of machine stitching for the trimming.

Some trimming up the back of the skirts is one of the fads of fashion, and again we find five or seven straight rows of braid down the middle of the front, on either side, which turn and trim the skirt around the bottom.

The most elegant, as well as plain, cloth gowns are made of one material, except perhaps the sleeves, which are made of velvet in some lighter contrasting color or of silk embroidered in tiny sprays. The tailor gown with a street coat requires a waist of some sort, and when the cloth bodice is not desired, plain satin, matching the cloth in color, is used for a shirt waist or made up a little more dressy in blouse form with innumerable tucks going around. Black satin blouse waists are worn with any dark cloth skirt, and, if prettily made, there is a style about them far superior to the flowered silks so fashionable last season. A velvet blouse is lovely if you can afford the elegance; if not, there is a fine velveteen which answers every purpose.

A point in the new tailor coats is the plain satin lining usually matching the cloth in color. Figured and striped silks are no longer in fashion for this purpose.

There are tight-fitting short coats and blouse coats without end as to numbers, for they are already considered very commonplace by the best dressmakers. It is a style so easily copied in cheap materials that it naturally will be shortlived. Medium length coats and [illegible] coats to the knee are shown in [illegible] models.

MEMORY IN AGED PERSONS.

About seventy-five years ago, upon a rainy day, a small boy, who had reached the mature age of six, was sitting with his mamma and bemoaning absence of entertainment. Mamma wore on her finger a beautiful ring that was a family heirloom, and as she sewed patiently the jewel glittered on her white hand. The small boy regarded the bright bauble for some time in silence, and then sweetly requested mamma to take it off and let him play with it. It was a weak thing to do, perhaps, but she complied. I dare say there are mothers at the present day who can sympathize with her, for human nature is the same, though fashions change, and when the "dear child" looked up in her face pleadingly he looked with papa's eyes, and papa was dead. So he got the ring and lost it, as might have been expected. He always insisted that he had "put it away to keep," but he could never remember where.

The years went on. The gentle young mother went out into the great unknown to find the light of her life that shone in "papa's eyes," and the century and the boy, having been young together, grew old in company, too. Finally age began to tell on them; the century got troubled with a complaint designated "fin de seicle, and the boy lost his memory for the things of to-day, but became abnormally reminiscent in regard to the past. His thoughts often turned back to the young mother, long dead, and in the decline of life he had as clear a mental picture of her as his boyish eyes had ever seen. One evening, having pushed his spectacles on top of his head and hunted everywhere for them vainly, he sat musing before the fire, when suddenly a flood of light illuminated that dark corner of his memory where hung the picture of that small edition of himself losing or "putting away" the ring. He sprang to his feet with an excited cry: "The ring! The ring! I slipped it down the crack in the window casing. The one that looks out on the orchard!"

Upon investigation the ring was brought from its long hiding place, which was the exact spot the old man had described.—Buffalo Express.

NEW CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Horse Blood Mixed With Alcohol Used by a 'Frisco Doctor.

Dr. Fred W. D'Evelyn, head of St. Luke's hospital, San Francisco, has recently made public the result of fifteen years' experiments, by which he claims to have found a certain cure by inoculation of horse blood for drunkenness, as well as for transmission of hereditary taint of alcoholism. D'Evelyn began his investigations while a surgeon in the British army in Zululand, and he selected the horse as a clean animal with plenty of blood.

His cure is on the same line as Jenner's vaccination remedy, and he asserts it will not only kill the craving for drink, but it will relieve the children of a drunkard from hereditary taint, which he calls constitutional alcoholism. The substance which he obtains by injecting alcohol into the blood of a horse he cals equisine, and it is this he introduces into the human system. The doctor thoroughly introduces alcohol into a horse and then draws off the blood into a sterilized vessel, where it is mixed with chloral to influence the clot.

After settling twenty-four hours, it is subjected to a freezing process, then shaken for half an hour and decanted. The result is a slightly sticky, pale, straw colored fluid which he calls equisine. What vaccine has been to smallpox, equisine will be to hereditary or acquired alcoholism, he says.

Equisine is prepared in small plaques made by saturating bibulous paper with fluid and then baking it in a pot air chamber. The skin of the arm or leg of a patient is scarified and the plaque applied, moistened with boiled water. Twelve hours later the plaque is again moistened and applied, and is worn for five days. In adult cases of alcoholism, the plaque is applied once a week for eight or nine weeks. The doctor claims to have been successful in all cases where sedatives or narcotics were not used.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The Good Little Boy.

A little boy who had been blowing bubbles all the morning tired of play, and suddenly growing serious, said: "Read me that story about heaven; it's so gloriouth."

"I will," said the mother, "but first tell me, did you take the soap out of the water?"

"Oh, yeth, I'm pretty thure I did."

The mother read the description of the beautiful city, the streets of gold, the gates of pearl. He listened with delight, but when she came to the words, "No one can enter there who loveth or maketh a lie," bounding up, he said, "I guess I'll go and thee about that thoap."

A Novel Throne Room.

The famous German traveler, Otto Ehlers, tells about a singular Chinese potentate whom he visited in Laos States, while on his way from Siam to Tonquin. The prince leaves the cares of affairs chiefly to his wife. He has had his throne placed in the palace kitchen, so that he can receive visitors and watch the preparation of his meals at the same time. The subjects seem to be content with his manner of administration, and admire the Democratic spirit manifested in his choice of a throne room.—Ohio State Journal.

As to the best way to go to the Klondike, accounts differ, but a good many who have been there say the best way is to go slow.—Chicago News.

GEN. BOOTH AND SON MEET.

Little Doubt That Attempt at Reconciliation Has Failed.

New York, Jan. 17.—General William Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, and his son, Ballington Booth, commander of the Volunteers of America, met yesterday afternoon in the Windsor Hotel, in this city. But they were not reconciled.

After several days of negotiations, the leaders of the rival armies came face to face, and the only point on which they could agree was to attempt to suppress all information regarding what took place at the meeting.

The meeting was held in room No. 14. There were present only four persons—General Booth, Ballington Booth, the Rev. Cuthbert Hall, representing the Salvation Army interest, and the Rev. Josiah Strong, representing the Volunteers.

After about three-quarters of an hour the Rev. Mr. Strong and Dr. Hall gave out the following statement:

"General Booth and Commander Ballington Booth met in the Holland House in the presence of Josiah Strong and Dr. Cuthbert Hall on January 16, 1898. The interview was purely personal as between father and son.

"Nothing transpired calculated to lead to any union of the two movements.

"It was agreed that all public controversy in the press or otherwise between the two movements should, so far as possible, come to an end."

LOGAN CARLISLE DEAD.

He Was a Son of the Former Secretary of the Treasury.

New York, Jan. 17.—Logan Carlisle, son of former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at the residence of his father, No. 4 Washington Square, north, of heart disease, following an attack of acute dyspepsia. He was thirty-seven years of age, and was unmarried.

Logan Carlisle, both on his own account and that of his father, was a conspicuous figure in politics during the past ten years. He was connected with the Democratic National Committee in the campaigns of 1888 and 1892. For several years he acted as his father's secretary and became famous for his wonderful retentive memory. On one occasion he wrote from memory five columns of a speech delivered by his father.

In 1893, when John G. Carlisle was made Secretary of the Treasury, Logan Carlisle was appointed chief clerk of the Department. Political opponents criticised him severely on account of the removals of office-holders. He was an orator of considerable ability. For the past year he has been practicing law in this city with his father.

Great Strike Begins To-day.

Boston, Jan. 17.—The 80,000 or more skilled operatives employed in about seventy of the chief cotton mills of the New England States will to-day come under the sweeping order of the new wage scale, which curtails a reduction of 10 per cent. or a little over. This reduction will bring on in New Bedford, Mass., and Lewiston and Biddeford, Me., labor strikes, which may prove the beginning of an industrial battle greater in extent and more disastrous in effect than any in the previous history of cotton fabric making in the United States.

In New Bedford nine corporations represent twenty-two mills, with over represent twenty-two mills, with over 770,000 spindles, or 21,000 looms, giving means of livelihood to a little less than 10,000 persons. It is to that city the attention of the labor classes of the entire country will be drawn, and, while it is anticipated that peace will prevail, there is no telling what may come before the battle is ended.

Popular Election of Senators.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 17.—A bill has been introduced in the Virginia House of Delegates to permit the people to express a preference for United States Senator at the same time they vote for members of the Legislature. The bill is in line with the popular demand, and is an echo of the contest in the State Democratic Convention, when Congressman W. A. Jones offered a resolution with similar aims.

$8,000,000 in Gold at Dawson Now.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 17.—Ex-Sheriff Ira L. Fredenthal arrived here yesterday from Dawson City. He left there on December 2, making the trip to Dyea in thirty-two days. The journey was made without hardship, although the thermometer was often 72 degrees below zero. Fredenthal says there is $8,000,000 in gold dust stored at Dawson, and that this year's output will be $50,000,000.

Governor Griggs' Promotion Anticipated.

Newark, Jan. 17.—Colonel Henry E. Potter, of East Orange, has resigned from the staff of Governor John W. Griggs. The other members of the staff, it is said, will take the same action when the Governor retires shortly, to become Attorney-General, in order to give Foster Voorhees, who will be acting Governor, an opportunity to select a personal staff of his own.

Father of Commons Dead.

MURDERER CONFESSES

Clemmer Tells How He Shot Down Mrs. Kaiser in a Buggy.

HUSBAND PARTY TO CRIME

W. H. King Swears the Insurance Agent Confessed All to Him--The Murder the Result of a Conspiracy to Obtain Insurance on Victim's Life.

Norristown, Pa., Jan. 17.—After many months of mystery the murder of Mrs. Emma Kaiser, near this place, in October, 1896, is now placed at the door of James A. Clemmer, now in jail here, by W. H. King, of New York city, who has made affidavit that Clemmer confessed to him.

King, whose story has been in the hands of District Attorney Strassburger, was sent to New York secretly, in order, it is believed, that he might not be seen by reporters or by lawyers for Clemmer or the murdered woman's husband. Before a commissioner of deeds, on January 13, King made oath that Clemmer said to him:

"It is no use trying to deceive you any longer. I am almost ready to give myself up. I did it. I felt that Kaiser had not the nerve, and I found that I was correct. I shot her back of the ear and then fired at Kaiser to lead the officers to believe he had been attacked. I can rely on you, I feel sure."

King boarded with Clemmer before the latter's arrest, and will be the star witness at Clemmer's trial a few weeks hence. When a reward of $200 was offered for the arrest of Clemmer, King, it is alleged, went to Pennsylvania to obtain it by telling to the District Attorney what he swears Clemmer confessed to him. King's affidavit apparently corroborates evidence given at Clemmer's examination by Lizzie De Kalb.

The crime, according to the prosecutor, was the outcome of a plot to obtain insurance money. Clemmer was the agent who insured Mrs. Kaiser's life. Kaiser drove furiously into Norristown. He appeared greatly excited. He asked for aid in recovering the body of his wife, who, he said, had been shot by highwaymen, who had held him up and shot him in the arm. Citizens accompanied Kaiser to the scene of the attack. Puzzling circumstances were found, Kaiser's stories were contradictory. There was no trace of the robbers.

Then it was found that the woman's life was insured for $12,000, and that Kaiser was the beneficiary. He was arrested and charged with murder.

Lizzie De Kalb's Confession.

A man not unlike Clemmer in appearance had been seen near the scene of the murder. Talk of Clemmer and a "mysterious woman in black" was followed by the disappearance of the insurance man and Lizzie De Kalb, with whom he had lived, and who had been seen in his company on the day of the tragedy. The woman and Clemmer were arrested as a result, as is now believed, of information furnished by King.

Kaiser was found guilty of murder in the first degree in March last. Clemmer's preliminary hearing was in December last, and the chief witness was the DeKalb Woman. She swore she knew of no conspiracy to kill Mrs. Kaiser until after the crime.

Clemmer and she, she said, drove out of Norristown on a lonely road, where Kaiser was driving with his wife. She said Clemmer disguised himself and approached Kaiser's carriage. She heard a shot, and Clemmer came running back, jumped into the carriage with her and drove away. She saw blood on his hands. He washed them at a wayside stream.

Clemmer was held for murder and Lizzie De Kalb as an accessory. He it is probable, will be tried in March. She may be freed because of her confession.

MURDERED A CHILD.

The Body Found in a Creek Mutilated and Weighed Down With Stones.

Philadelphia, Jan. 17.—Samuel Henderson, aged fifteen, is suspected of having murdered little Percy Lockyer, five years old. Friday night Percy left his home in company with Henderson and has not been seen since. His parents notified the police, who obtained a confession from Henderson. The boy said that while he was whittling a stick in the woods Percy ran against the knife, which pierced his heart and caused his death. Henderson says that he threw the body in a creek nearby, and the police are looking for it. It is thought that the Lockyer boy angered Henderson and was stabbed in consequence.

The body of the little Lockyer boy was found yesterday in the bottom of "Reddies" Creek, Sixtieth and Catherine streets, and there seems little doubt in the minds of the police that young Henderson is guilty of the crime. He now is locked in a cell at Police Headquarters. The body of the child, when found, was weighted by two heavy stones, one about his neck and the other around his ankles. His skull was crushed in, and there was a knife thrust just above the heart and similar wounds on his breast, side and forehead, while on one side of his face was a long cut extending from below the eye to the chin.

Woe to Bad-Tempered Employees.

Washington, Jan. 17.—There is consternation among the employees of the Pension Department. Congress has cut down the bureau's appropriation for the coming year, and Pension Commissioner Evans says he will cut off 100 heads.

"I shall decapitate the incompetent and bad-tempered employees," said the commissioner. "Sweetness of temper is, in my estimation, even above expertness and efficiency. One cross clerk, one tale-bearing employee, one kicker, can stir up more trouble in the office than a thousand ordinary causes. It will behoove those in the Pension Department to mind their P's and Q's hereafter."

To Prevent a Coal Strike.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Nearly six hundred coal miners and operatives representing Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, meet in joint convention in Chicago to-day for the purpose of bringing about, if possible, the adoption of a wage scale and working agreement, in order to prevent a general strike next Summer.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasu e?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies sp: cial foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen'—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

PASSING COMMENT.

In a neighboring city some time ago a clergyman received an anonymous letter in which the writer complained of the inefficiency of the clergyman's wife. The letter was signed "A Friend." The following Sunday in his pulpit the clergyman referred to the receipt of the letter and the signature with this single comment: "The writer should have left out the letter R from the signature.

People who happened to be at the North Avenue station when the 10:26 train came in Saturday night, were considerably amused by the antics of a man who had boarded a train at Jersey City intending to get off at Greenville, and had fallen asleep and been carried to this city. After indulging in a tirade against the railroad and its officials he inquired whether he could conveniently walk to Greenville, and on being informed of the distance he purchased a ticket and boarded the 11:28 train east.

Mayor Silas D. Drake, of Lincoln, continues to bob up serenely at opportune occasions. Now he sees fit to challenge another famous man from Lincoln—the town out in the wooly State of Nebraska—to debate the currency problem. Of course it is easy for one to guess who the challenged man is. It is none other than William Jennings Bryan. Mayor Drake has quite a sense of humor. The Lincolnite will probably wait for the letter that never came from the Boy Orator in answer to his defi.

A peculiar circumstance in connection with the running of the trolley cars in this city is that they are run on time that is about two minutes faster than the city time. A number of people who have of late just missed a car for which they started brought the matter to light. The cars are run according to a clock in the carhouse, and for some unknown reason it is always two minutes ahead of city time. It seems to be the general opinion that the city time should be used, for the residents of the town know no other time and it is very inconvenient to be obliged to figure on the extra two minutes.

Prince, the black greyhound, who is well known about our streets, has taken a great delight in chasing crows whenever he sees them on the ground, and as he runs at them with such swiftness narrow escapes have been frequent. Friday, however, Prince's efforts were successful, and notwithstanding the crow had taken to his wings and was well under flight but flying low to the ground, a fair race took place, in which Prince proved the victor, and then by a tremendous leap the crow was brought to the ground. This wonderful dog is owned by Percy Ohl, of Park avenue.

BASKET BALL.

Everything is not going as smoothly among the girls of the Plainfield High School as might be wished. A lack of interest is now beginning to show among some of the Senior class. During the first few months of the excitement attendent on the introduction of the game, all of the girls were very anxious to play and there was great rivalry between them as to who was to play on the team. The Senior girls took the lead at the start. Then came the Christmas vacation and the practice was omitted for three weeks. Now, when Walter L. Long, coach of the Senior girls, has tried to get the candidates together for practice, he has discovered considerable lack of interest among the heretofore very determined candidates for the team. The girls have not attended practice and now the Senior team is sadly demoralized. The Junior class has been doing excellent work and is rapidly becoming experienced in the game. It was hoped that a game might be played very soon between the Seniors and Juniors, but the lack of interest among the Seniors has checked such plans. The girls of the Third class have not lost their interest and have been doing very well.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Wednesday evening there will be a bowling match on the Park Club alleys between the Seniors and Juniors. A good game is looked for.

Little Miss Roberts a Hostess

Last Saturday afternoon Helen Roberts, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, celebrated the anniversary of her birthday in a fitting an appropriate manner. The little miss invited several of her young friends and the time was pleasantly passed in playing games an having a jolly good time. "Uncle" Dan Roberts and Mrs. Roberts were present and thoroughly enjoyed the festivities with their granddaughter. The young hostess received many useful presents as reminders of the event.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS LIKE BASKET BALL.

THE SENIORS ORGANIZE A TEAM.

Now That the Novelty of the Game Has Worn Off the Interest in the Exercises is as Great.

After several months of experimental practice, basket ball has become a permanent fixture for the girls of the Plainfield High School. When the game was introduced into the school several months ago, it was a question as to whether the interest would continue after the novelty of the game wore off. At the close of the Christmas holidays there appeared a decided drop in the interest among the girls of the Senior class. It proved but temporary, however, and now the Seniors are as enthusiastic as the rest.

The Senior girls returned to their regular practice Saturday morning by organizing the first team of the class. Walter L. Long, captain of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team, has been coach of the team and has selected the two teams from the class. Saturday it was decided that there had been sufficient preliminary team practice and that the time had come for a regular team to get together and practice. Miss Constance Patton was chosen captain of the first Senior team. The other members of the team are the Misses Carolyn Campman, Clara Long, Ledie Loizeaux and Sarah Richards. The rest of the candidates in the class will form the second team, against which the first team will play. If any of the members of the second team should show superior ability to the members of the first team, a change will probably be made.

At the meeting of the team Saturday it was also decided to play with the lines which divide the floor into three sections and across which the different players are not supposed to go. The guards remain in one part, the centre in another, and the forwards in the third. It is considered that this method tends to prevent roughness. The Junior class team always play with the open floor. There promises to be a difference of opinion when the time comes for the two teams to meet.

LEFT HOSPITAL TO DIE AN HOUR LATER.

CHARLES SKIDMORE THE VICTIM.

He Was Assisting to Lift a Box Out of a Wagon When the Fatal Attack Came.

Within an hour from the time of his discharge at Muhlenberg Hospital Saturday afternoon, Charles Skidmore fell dead at the home of his employer, C. M. Dewey, of East Fifth street. The cause of his death was embolism.

Last September Charles Skidmore came to the New York office of Mr. Dewey and wanted a position and a home. He had been a sailor all his life and had saved nothing for a time of need. He had just been discharged from the St. Lukes hospital, New York, where he had had a portion of the intestine next to the stomach removed.

Mr. Dewey took him as a coachman and man of all work, but Skidmore was not able for some time to do any work. About four weeks ago he was sent to Muhlenberg Hospital.

Saturday afternoon Skidmore returned. He said that he had not wanted to leave until the next morning but the nurse thought he ought to go. He looked very pale and his body trembled.

He was assisting in the removal of a box from White's delivery wagon when he wavered. The next moment he fell to the ground. Restoratives were applied and Dr. Hedges summoned.

The man died at once. His relatives from Long Island have come to take charge of the remains.

Electric Light in Catacombs.

Pittsburg, Jan. 17.—The Westinghouse Electric Company has received a cablegram from its Rome representative announcing that he had secured the contract for lighting the catacombs of St. Callistus, St. Agnes, St. Cyraca, St. Demitilla, St. Priscilla and St. Bentianus. Some months ago the subterraenan burial ground of St. Callistus was lighted by electricity, and the effect was so satisfactory that the persons in charge decided to have electricity put in all the catacombs of the city. Six motors capable of supplying current for not less than 450 lamps will be placed in the six catacombs.

Trust Companies Indicted.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—The Grand Jury of the Sangammon circuit has indicted several of the companies forming the alleged Springfield Coal Trust. They are charged with conspiring to defraud. The companies formed the Springfield Coal Association, and advanced the price of coal fifty cents per ton, claiming that they were compelled to do so, because they had increased the wages of their employees. The advance in wages was seven and one-half cents per ton.

The Mint Test of Hard Times.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Director of the Mint Preston says that the extent of the hard times can be estimated pretty well by the amount of gold jewelry, plate and trinkets presented at the government mints to be melted up. During the period of extreme depression the value of the metal thus purchased by the Government reached high figures, but in the last year it has dwindled considerably.

THE DAILY PRESS.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., TUESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1898 TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

SALARIES OF CITY OFFICIALS FIXED.

There is Talk of Abolishing Three of the Positions.

ECONOMY SEEMS TO BE IN THE AIR.

The Pay of Police, Fire Department and Other Officials Settled for the Year by the Common Council—It Took Over Two Hours for the Committee of the Whole to Decide the Matters.

The first adjourned session of the City Council for 1898, held last evening, was, very unexpectedly, a long and tedious one. It did not appear to be generally known beforehand that the question of salaries would be considered, and it was while settling this matter that two hours and ten minutes were consumed in the ante room. Heretofore the salary matter has come up at the first meeting in February, but for some unknown reason this was changed this year. There was a full lobby, that is at the start, but by the time the Council returned from its recess there were only a few left to witness the closing ceremonies.

Mr. Hetfield was made chairman of the committee of the whole, and he reported after the recess. The offices of veterinary surgeon, treasurer, collector, city clerk, auditor and overseer of the poor were not considered as regards salaries, and the matter was laid over until the next meeting. The office of inspector of buildings is governed by an ordinance and the salary of this office was not touched, although it may be decided later to abolish the office, as was also the case of sergeant of police. The salary of $66 67 was fixed for the latter position last evening, but Messrs. Hetfield, Leifke and Van Herwerden voted against it and there are strong chances that this office may be abolished.

The other salaries fixed are as follows: Chief of police, $90 per month; roundsmen, $62 50 each per month; patrolmen, $60 each per month; chief of fire department, $100; first assistant, $600; second assistant, $100; Drivers Feiring, Daly and Townley, $55 per month; Drivers Ross, Breem, Bush and Bailey, $50 per month; engineer, $75 per year; street commissioner, $1 200 per year, with $300 extra for supervision of the sewer beds; city physician, $365 per year; city judge, $600 per year; corporation counsel, $1 000, including all services; janitor of Council rooms, $200 per year.

It may be decided also to abolish the office of auditor. This matter will be considered later. The $300 allowed the street commissioner will come from the appropriation and will cover the expense of looking after the sewer beds. Last year this work cost the city $600. The salaries were adopted unanimously with the exception of those mentioned above. Mr. Moffett was the only member of the Council absent.

According to laws governing second-class cities, Mr. Barrows offered a resolution that The Daily Press and Courier-News be selected as official papers for the city, providing the Mayor concur in the matter. President Baker appointed Messrs. Buckle, Homan and VanHerwerden as a special committee to confer with the Police Board regarding the selection of suitable places for a jail and city offices.

Residents of West Ninth street asked for a crosswalk on Arlington avenue across West Ninth street. Residents of South avenue petitioned for an extension of electric lights on their avenue. Both resolutions were referred to the proper committees. The bonds of Constables J. C Kirkner, George Rockafellow and Amos Moffett were received and filed.

Mr. VanHerwerden returned the bill of Patsy Christmas for sewer work, and offered a resolution providing for the drawing of $521.50 to pay for the extension of the sewers.

Mr. Barrows made and explanation regarding the condition of Watchung avenue between Front street and the brook, and spoke of the necessity of having the street macadamized, inasmuch as the new bridge is completed and the avenue is now being used and there is little prospect of the property owners doing the work at present. The Council voted to macadamize the avenue at an expense of $300.

Mr. Buckle offered several resolutions to the effect that special policemen may be removed without trial or charge; that where a policeman is ill for thirty days he be placed on half-pay till he recovers; that one policeman be added to the force, making seventeen in all; that the city physician be empowered to act as police surgeon. The first resolution was laid on the table, and the matter was referred to the Corporation Counsel for an opinion regarding its legality.

HE LEFT TOWN QUICK.

A Philadelphian Was a Bit Too Saucy and Landed in Jail.

"What is your name?" asked City Judge DeMeza of a robust character in a tattered suit who lined up before the bar in the City Court this morning.

"James, I mean John Farrell," was the reply. The Judge looked at Chief Grant and the Chief looked back at the Judge. It was strange indeed when a man forgot his own name. It rather prejudiced the Court against him. He told a moral little tale of how he was a boiler maker in Philadelphia. How he had lost his job and was now trying to work his way to Boston where a position awaited him. He had been peddling needles, pins and thread over in the borough. He had strolled down the tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad when he met Patrolman Vanderweg.

Now that policeman says that friend Farrell was not respectful in his replies, although the latter denies such a story. At any rate the officer locked him up. The Judge gave him nine minutes and sixty seconds in which to leave town. He waited not on the order of his going.

DUTCH LITERATURE.

Instructive Lecture Delivered Before Monday Afternoon Club.

Rev. Daniel VanPelt, D. D., of New York, gave a deeply-interesting lecture on "The Literature of the Dutch Language," before the Monday Afternoon Club at the Casino yesterday afternoon. Dr. VanPelt opened his lecture with a brief account of the origin of the Dutch language, pointing out some of its resemblances to the English language. He said that in Holland there was a continuous literature with no break from the earliest days of letters to the present time. He gave the names of many men and women, who in translating poems, essays, histories and romances have contributed to the store of Dutch literature. Prominent among these were Marnoch, Vondel, Anna Beinde, Jacob Cats, Da Costa, Juliana de Lannoy, Miss Wolff and Bilderdyk. Erasmus, Spinoza and Grotius were famous Dutch writers, but Dr. VanPelt's subject forbade his discoursing of them, as they wrote in the Latin language. The same object might apply to his mention of the modern romance writer, Maarten Maartens, the nom de plume of a Dutchman with forty five letters in his name, for Maarten Maartens writes in English so that he may address a larger circle of readers. Dr. VanPelt called attention to the fact that women were prominent among Dutch writers at an earlier period than in any other country.

Wagons in a Collision.

A road wagon, belonging to William Sharkey, and a buggy, belonging to a milkman from in the neighborhood of Dunellen, were the principal participants in a collision at the Dunellen terminus of the trolley Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The horse attached to the road wagon became frightened and ran toward Plainfield. The occupants of the wagon were thrown out. The milk cans and their contents in the buggy were scattered about the street. The runaway came to Plainfield and was caught at the corner of Park avenue and Front street by Roundsman Flynn and George Feiring. The horse and wagon were left at Cole's stable where the owner called for them.

Miss Titsworth Surprised.

Miss Edith Titsworth was given a surprise party at her home on Madison avenue Saturday evening. The affair was gotten up by Miss Mabelle Smith, assisted by Miss Evelyn Lewis. The conspirators kept their secret so well that Miss Titsworth knew nothing of their coming until they were within the house. About forty were present, and all managed to have an enjoyable time. Games were played and refreshments served.

Somerset County Teachers' Meeting.

A meeting of the Somerset County Teachers' Association will be held Saturday, January 22, 1898, at the public school building in Raritan The morning session opens at 10:30 o'clock. The programme is as follows: "Professional Ability," Hon. Charles J. Baxter, State Superintendent; "Life of Comenius," Miss G. Q. Genther; "Work of Comenius," Miss O. C. Bartolette; "Aims in Geography," William Vandersaal.

A Klondike Sociable.

An elaborate time is being planned by the Christian Endeavor Society of Marconnier chapel for this evening when the society will hold a Klondike sociable in the chapel. There will be a programme during the evening in which Captain Jack Crawford, the well-known story teller, will take part. There will be several novel features to the sociable.

PEOPLE HOLD THE POWER

THAT IS THE ESSENCE OF DEMOCRACY, SAYS PROF. SUMNER.

An Exposition of Popular Government Given in the University Extension Lecture by a Student of Economics.

Prof. W. G. Sumner, of Yale University, the well-known writer on historical and economic subjects, delivered the second of his series of six University Extension lectures in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening.

"What is Democracy?" was the subject of the lecture. He defined democracy as the doctrine of political equality and the policy of majority rule. The etymology of the word signifies a government in which the depository of power is in the hands of the people.

The doctrine that all men are equal is probably as big a falsehood as was ever put into language. If it is true, it is true everywhere, and applies to Chinamen and Hottentots. This line of reasoning shows the fallacy of the dogma. In practice we must make an exclusion of many persons. Democracy exists best inside of a caste.

Among the dangers of democracy are: First, Jacobinism, which is the absence of laws and a constitution to regulate democracy, and places every person who happens to be in the minority or unpopular at the mercy of the mob. The second danger is the idea of leveling, which is so prevalent among certain writers at the present day. The tendency of this class is to trample on everything that is nice, elegant and aristocratic. The one virtue of life in this theory is to become one of the common people. The idea put in practice means the steady degeneration of the individual and the community.

The third danger to which democracy is open is sansculiottism or the theory that there are some people who need indulgence. This theory is wrong With liberty should go responsibility. If a man's plans fail he should not be rescued from the result. There are many institutions now carried on to save men from themselves.

Populism is another danger to democracy which has lately sprung up. This is the arraying of those who have not against those who have. The masses who have little begin to ask themselves why since they are the majority they do not vote to have certain things and compel the rich to grant them.

Democracy in this country is inevitable from the conditions existing, and we could not avoid it if we would. The dangers accompanying democracy are not inconsiderable, and we have erected certain safeguards which are our institutions. These institutions are all undemocratic, but they act as checks to its dangers, and in them lies the safety of the country, not in its democracy.

The institutions which are so important and which we should cherish are the veto power of the President, the construction of the United States Senate, the Constitution and the power of the federal judiciary to declare laws unconstitutional.

GRAND JURY STILL IN SESSION.

No Indictments Handed Up Yesterday in the Union County Court.

The Union County Grand Jury did not make any report yesterday, as had been expected. The jury was supposed to have concluded its labors Friday, but this morning when it met to make its report, two new cases, one of an atrocious assault at Roselle, and the other that of John Ryan, a supposed crook, who tried a few nights ago to kill Officer Mulhearn with a coupling pin, were handed to the jury to act upon. It is doubtful now if the jury will be able to ask to be discharged before Wednesday.

A Host On His Birthday.

Pen P. Rogers, Jr., gave a dinner in honor of his thirteenth birthday at his home, 518 West Front street, last evening at 6:30 o'clock. Covers were laid for ten persons. After the dinner the guests enjoyed games. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Pen P. Rogers, Miss Georgiana Smith, Miss Anna Richards, Miss Eva Brown, Miss Anna Borsum, Masters Pen P. Rogers, Charles Robert, Wickham Corwin and Roward Lapsley.

Surprised on Her Birthday.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Edna Kennedy, of Madison avenue, was tendered a surprise party in honor of the celebration of her tenth birthday anniversary. The affair was arranged by the celebrant's parents, and it was a complete surprise. There were about twenty young people present and all enjoyed the hospitality of the young hostess.

Miss Grace Yerkes, daughter of Rev. Dr. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, is visiting friends in Newton Centre, Mass.

PHANTOM HIGHWAYMAN.

BANEFUL INFLUENCE OF RUM TOO MUCH FOR ALEXANDER NICHOLS.

He Saw a Vision of an Imaginary Robber—He Struck Out Wildly and Austin Gulick Got the Blow on His Nose.

Alexander Nichols was a stranger in Plainfield. He did not know the gentle ways of the inhabitants of this good city. Neither did he realize the baneful influence of too much Plainfield rum. He thought he saw a highwayman. He thought he heard him demand money or blood. He struck a blow in his defence. Now Austin Gulick happened to be in the neighborhood. He was standing by the fence when Nichols' vision of a highwayman appeared. Somehow Nichols' fist missed the phantom being and landed on the side of Gulick's nose That was the reason why both men appeared before City Judge DeMeza this morning.

Alexander Nichols was from Elizabethport. He obtained a job at the Potter Press Works and was laid off after several weeks' work. He went to High Bridge to look for work. He had just returned last evening. He went in to take a friendly glass with several of his friends. They were jovial men and the liquor flowed fast. The fumes mounted to Nichols' brain

One of Nichols' friends related his experience with a stranger who detained him in a dark corner and demanded his money. Nichols had some funds remaining He was warned to look out for the man. Perhaps he might lose it all.

At the saloon Nichols met Austin Gulick. They drank together. Gulick was the first to depart. Nichols and his friends followed. Then Nichols began to see visions of all sorts of desperate characters on every hand. Then he mistook Gulick for the phantom highwayman.

Now when Gulick found himself he was on the sidewalk. He proceeded to return the blow with interest. Then the men clinched. At this exciting moment Patrolman McCarty showed up. He had heard the conversation in which Nichols had demanded to know why Gulick hid behind a tree. He arrested both men and locked them up.

This morning they appeared in the City Court. The policeman laid the blame on Nichols. So did Gulick. Nichols told the story of his vision. He did not realize that Jersey "lightning" has been known to distort the eyesight. The Judge heard the stories. He decided that Nichols was guilty and fined him $10 with the promise of more for future exhibitions of second-sight. Sentence was suspended on Gulick.

WHAT TO DO WITH POOR CHILDREN.

The Question That is Perplexing the Councilmanic Alms Committee

The Plainfield poor and what is to be done with them was the principal subject of a joint meeting held Friday night by the alms committee of the Common Council and a committee from the Charity Organized Aid Association.

While no action was taken at the meeting, nor was any expected, there were some important questions to be discussed. The city has been boarding many of the charges about the city, paying rent for them. Now that the Industrial Home is in a condition to take care of the city's charges, male and female, it is the intention of the alms committee to move them to the home and board them about the city no longer. Some of these charges are widows with a family of small children. They do not want to take the children to the home, but still they must be cared for. Arrangements are trying to be made whereby they can be put out in good homes.

The Organized Aid Association has been working in conjunction with the alms committee, and it is the wish of both to continue. Another meeting will be held at a later date, at which plans will be formulated and some more definite action taken.

In the meantime, the poor of the city will probably be established at the home as soon as possible.

Methods of Evolution.

The second lecture by Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls church, will be given in the church Friday evening of this week under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the National Alliance of Unitarian and other Liberal Christian Women. The subject of Mr. Nickerson's lecture will be "Methods of Evolution."

Yearly Meeting Adjourned.

The yearly meeting of the Crescent Avenue church was to have been held last evening. A meeting was held, but it was decided to adjourn at once and postpone the election and the hearing of the reports until Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock.

THIRTY YEARS FOR TEMPERANCE.

Anniversary of Sons of Temperance Celebrated Appropriately Last Night.

The thirtieth anniversary of Howell Division, No. 97, Sons of Temperance, was celebrated last evening in Washington Hall in an appropriate manner In addition to a large attendance of the members and friends, there was also several visiting delegations from nearby towns.

After the opening devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. L. E. Livermore, W. B. Ayres, on behalf of the division, presented Rev. B. W. Hand with a badge in honor of the celebration of his birthday. Rev. Mr. Hand then made an address of welcome, which was followed with a vocal selection by the Americus Glee Club, of Metuchen. Following this there was an address by Grand Worthy Patriarch J V. McLeod, of Elizabeth, after which Beulah VanWinkle entertained the audience with a recitation The next number was an exhibition of a graphaphone by Robert Love, and selections on the concertina and organ by H. H. Jessup and Harry Jessup. This was followed with a recitation by Miss Alice Scribner, and a vocal solo by W. C Smith. Another interesting address was given by Grand Worthy Associate Compton, of Metuchen. The other numbers on the programme consisted of vocal solos by Mrs. Honeyman and Miss Try Mattox, and recitations by Miss Mattox and W R. Mattox. The last number was a selection by the Americus Glee Club, after which all present were invited to the banquet hall where supper was served.

TWO LAMPS EXPLODED.

The Residence of H. T. Smith Threatened With Destruction by Flames.

The explosion of a lamp on the dining table and the subsequent explosion of a hanging lamp above it threatened the residence of H. T. Smith, on Westervelt avenue, with destruction by fire last evening. Only the prompt action of those near the scene prevented a serious conflagration.

Mrs. H. T. Smith, her daughters, Mabelle and Elsie, and younger son, Clifford, were seated about the dining table when the lamp exploded without warning. The flames surrounded the other lamp and in a moment that also exploded. The burning oil set fire to the tablecloth and the rugs on the floor.

William W. Coriell, of Jackson avenue, was passing at the time and heard the screams that followed the explosion. With the assistance of Miss Mabelle Smith, he set to work to extinguish the flames with rugs. Miss Smith's hands were badly burned.

Miss Elsie Smith ran to the home of Assistant Chief Martin, near by, and sent in an alarm by telephone. She afterwards fainted.

The chemical engine and No. 2 hose cart responded to the still alarm, but the fire was about extinguished when they arrived. The damage amounted to $50, which was covered with insurance

SIPHON OF VICHY PUT OUT A FIRE.

Practical Use of a Bottle of Beverage in the Hands of John Powers.

A fire caused by the explosion of an oil lamp took place in the shoe repair shop of Josheph Sadosky, on Park avenue, opposite North avenue, at 9:20 o'clock last evening.

When the lamp exploded Sadosky caught it up and hurled it through the front window of the store.

The burning oil was scattered about the room and it looked as if a serious fire might result. Bystanders secured a key and attempted to send an alarm from fire box 13, but the mechanism of the box was out of order and the alarm never reached headquarters.

John P. Powers, one of the clerks in Armstrong's pharmacy, opposite the scene of the excitement, took in the situation, and catching up two siphons of vichy water ran across to the fire and extinguished the flames. The carbonic acid gas with which the siphons were charged acted as an effectual extinguisher. The damage amounted to only a few dollars.

The Butchers Dined.

The Retail Butchers' Protective Association held its annual dinner at the Hotel Tuileries, on West Front street, last evening. Covers were spread for about thirty, and an excellent course dinner was served. Late in the evening speeches were made concerning the best methods of accomplishing the protection of retail dealers. Several visitors were present from New York city.

Odd Fellows to Visit.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., have been invited to attend a meeting of the Somerville Lodge, I. O. O. F., Friday evening of this week. It is understood that a large delegation from the Plainfield lodge will accept the invitation.

LOCAL LEGISLATORS GET GOOD BERTHS

Committee Appointments Made in the Assembly Last Night.

ROGER MURRAY NICELY HONORED.

Assigned to Several Important Committees—Assemblyman VanDoren One of the Leaders—A Rahway Man Wanted for County Judge—Some Important Measures Already for Consideration.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, January 18th.—Governor Griggs this morning sent to the Senate the nomination of B. A. Vail, of Rahway, to be County Judge of Union county, to succeed Judge McCormick, and the name of Nicholas C. H. English, of Elizabeth, to be Prosecutor of the county to succeed Fred Marsh.

The nominations will be confirmed without a doubt.

The nomination of English for Prosecutor came as quite a surprise, inasmuch as he had been striving for the appointment of County Judge.

Mr. English is a well-known lawyer in Elizabeth, and though a stalwart Republican, he is not an active politician.

The nomination will give general fatisfaction to the county leaders of the G. O. P.

Trenton, January 18th.—In the apportionment of committees in the Assembly last night the legislators who will look after the interests of Plainfield—Roger Murray for the city side and James VanDoren for the borough—fared exceedingly well, and it will be no fault of Speaker Watkins if the Eldorado of the East does not figure conspicuously in the law-making processes during the session.

Mr. Murray was assigned to the committees on banks and insurance, riparian rights and education, and was honored with the chairmanship of the joint committee on the sinking fund. On the first-named committee the genial Roger will find himself perfectly at home, inasmuch as he is in the insurance business, and his knowledge of such affairs will doubtless serve the committee in good stead many times during the session. In view of the prominent agitation of the preservation of the Palisades and the fact that whatever is done in an official way in the Legislature towards that end will come under the direction of the riparian rights committee, the position may prove to be much more important then it seems at first thought.

Assemblyman VanDoren, of Somerset, is recognized this year as one of the Republican leaders, as his selection as chairman on banks and insurance, one of the most important positions in the House, shows He is also given second place on the railroads and canals committee and a place on the ways and means committee. Of the joint committees he is assigned to the State Prison committee.

The other Union county representatives are given good committee places, and so with Foster Voorhees as president of the Senate, and soon to be acting Governor, the bailiwick of which Plainfield is a very big part will not be of inocuous desuetude variety this session.

A large number of Plainfielders came down last night to witness the Legislature get down to real work.

A delegation waited upon the Governor last night in the interest of the candidacy of ex Senator B. A. Vail for the Union county judgeship. In the delegation were Frank Bergen, County Clerk Howard, Sheriff Kirk, Mayor Holmes, of Rahway, and County Collector E. M. Wood. The Governor told the visitors that it was his pleasure to serve in the Senate with Mr. Vail, and he thought him in every way qualified for the place. He promised to consider the matter carefully.

In the Senate the commission appointed to revise the jury laws presented a bill providing for a commission of two persons in each county to prepare lists of persons liable to jury duty. The State Board of Taxation reported a number of bills, one of which directs banks to retain the tax on their stock and distribute it among the taxing districts in which stockholders reside; another authorizes the State Board to remove assessors who wilfully violate the law in making assessments; another requires all banks to furnish the State Board with lists of stockholders, and the amount of their holdings; another bill provides for a poll tax of one dollar on every male over 21 years, and that all real and personal property must be assessed at its true value except National, State, county and municipal property used for public purposes, free schoolhouses, churches, librari-s

TALKING ON CURRENCY

Views of Secretary Gage and Ex-Secretary Fairchild.

THE THEORIES OF BANKING

How the Interest Rate Is Governed Here and in England and What the Significance of the 'Endless Chain' Is--Extent of Gold Shipments.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Secretary Gage and ex-Secretary Fairchild were before the House Committee on Banking and Currency yesterday to give their views as experts on the pending plans for currency reform. After considerable controversy as to how they were to be questioned, Chairman Walker made the interrogatories.

In response to questions by Mr. Walker, Mr. Gage said he had been in the banking business for forty years; for ten years was president of the First National Bank of Chicago, with a capital of $3,000,000 and loans and discounts of $16,000,000 to $20,000,000. He assented to Mr. Walker's question that he appeared as a banker and financier of long experience to aid the committee. The chairman asked if it was possible to use paper money and keep it at an equality with coin in purchasing power without the coin on hand. Mr. Gage answered that he thought not. Without the specie on hand there was a tendency to distrust, if not panic, and to demand for specie.

The Interest Rate.

Mr. Walker's questions took a wide range, going into the technicalities and theories of monetary science; the effect of a raise in interest, the diminishing of loans, etc. Mr. Gage and Mr. Fairchild alternated in giving their views, which in the main covered the general operation of banking and the conditions most conducive to profitable circulation. Mr. Gage said it would be impossible in this country to have a general rate of interest, as prevailed in England, where the Bank of England fixed the rate. Here it varied in the many States, under statutory law, and the banks of the country had never been able to coalesce on a ruling rate of interest. Mr. Fairchild, in turn, explained that the rate of the Bank of England was governed by the market rate, which compelled the establishment of the bank rate. To this extent London and New York were on the same basis, each interest rate being responsive to the market, and the law of supply and demand.

Further questions brought from Mr. Fairchild the statement that one of the effects of a raise in interest was to check the demand for gold, and this was the experience of the Bank of England.

Mr. Fowler asked if a 6 per cent. rate of interest would not almost invariably stop the flow of gold from this country. Mr. Fairchild thought it would, if the gold standard was in operation.

Mr. Gage responded to another extended question that confidence depended on the assurance of coin redemption.

The "Endless Chain."

Referring to the "endless chain" process, Mr. Gage said it was a figure of speech applying to all financial operations, where obligations came in and went out, in a circle. So long as the obligations were met, the operation was not a terrible thing, but was right and necessary. Mr. Fairchild assented to this, saying this circle by which redemption was accomplished was essential in banking, but that the evil lay in the fact that the Government had not the banking facilities to make this redemption absolutely regular and certain. Lacking these facilities, fear was inspired and the demands for gold increased.

Mr. Mitchell, of New York, called attention to the provision of the Gage bill for the accumulation of greenbacks in the Treasury for the purpose of preventing the "endless chain."

Mr. Gage said that, as applied to the Government, the endless chain was prejudicial because the demand liabilities of the Government were so great that theoretic provision of gold is inadequate to redeem promptly and to give confidence of prompt redemption, and that, said Mr. Gage, is a source of weakness.

Mr. Gage made a general statement of what he hoped to see ultimately accomplished as a permanent financial system. "It would be," said he, "a condition of affairs with national bank notes, more safe to the people without specific security therefor, wisely restricted by law so as to prevent such evils as might arise and with the entire elimination of the United States Government from paying its debts by giving other debts in payment."

"Why not accomplish this now?" asked Mr. Walker.

"Theoretically there is no reason why it should not be done now; practically there are many reasons. The predisposition of the people is in favor of government notes. I believe the economic loss to the people from this system, although unknown, outweighs the narrow advantage of the mere saving of interest secured by these Government notes. You cannot change the minds of the people. They are timid and suspicious of bank-note issues. They disbelieve that any one can uphold a system such as I have sketched without selfish and sordid motives. They fear it involves hazard and loss. They recall the period of wild-cat banks. It is desireable, therefore, to make the first step so simple as to show the people that it involves no dangers, so that in time the full development of the plan would be responsive to public sentiment."

The extent of gold shipments was gone into. Mr. Prince, of Illinois, brought out the point that since Mr. Gage had been in the Treasury the gold supply had increased from $155,000,000 to $162,000,000, notwithstanding the operations of the greenbacks.

Mrs Lane May Recover.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The physicians attending Mrs. Lucille Blackburn Lane, who was mysteriously shot in her apartments at the Wellington Saturday night, believe that she has an even chance of recovery. No effect has been made to find the bullet, and as the ball is a small one, it may be deemed unnecessary to risk the danger of an attempt to extract it. Ex-Senator J. C. S. Blackburn, her father, is at her bedside much of the time.

HANNA SWORN IN.

Large Crowd Witnesses the Ceremony in the Senate

Washington, Jan. 18.—In anticipation of an interesting session of the Senate yesterday, all of the legalities were well filled some time before the Senate convened. Mr. Hanna, who had just been elected Senator from Ohio, made his first appearance on the floor since his election. He was cordially greeted by his colleagues on both sides of the chamber. His coming to Washington was unexpected, as it had been announced that he would remain in Cleveland for several days to rest.

Chaplain Milburn, in his invocation, made touching references to the death of Major Benjamin Butterworth, Commissioner of Patents, and to that of Logan Carlisle, son of the late Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Foraker announced that the Legislature of Ohio had chosen Marcus Alonzo Hanna to be Senator from Ohio for the remainder of Mr. Sherman's term of six years, ending March 4, 1899. He presented Mr. Hanna's credentials and they were read. As there was no objection to the administration of the oath of office, Mr. Foraker escorted Mr. Hanna to the Vice-President's desk.

As the two Senators passed down the main aisle of the Senate, there was a murmur in the galleries, a craning of necks to get a good view of the two distinguished Ohioans. Mr. Hanna appeared to be in first-rate health. The oath of office was administered by the Vice-President and Mr. Hanna's response was distinctly audible to all. Many Senators hastened to extend their congratulations to Mr. Hanna after the administration of the oath.

Among the memorials presented were the remonstrances of 512 Roman Catholic societies of the United States, representing more than 50,000 members, offered by Mr. Murphy (N. Y.), against the enactment of the pending immigration bills.

IMMIGRATION BILL PASSED.

Newcomers Hereafter Must Be Able to Read or Write.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The Senate passed the Immigration bill yesterday afternoon—yeas, 45; nays, 28, Senators Kyle and Tillman voting with the Republicans in the affirmative and Senators Allen and Stewart in the negative.

The bill was called after Senator Wolcott's speech. Mr. Hoar spoke in favor of the bill. Because it was in reality a suffrage bill, he said, he would consent to give it his support until some other and better remedy for the evil of impure ballot should be found.

Mr. Spooner (Rep., Wis.), while disclaiming all tendency toward Know-nothingism, favored the bill in its general features, but regarded it as too harsh in its educational provisions.

Mr. Lodge, of Massachusetts, made a closing argument in the bill's favor. The debate closed at 3 o'clock.

The bill, as passed, provides that all immigrants, physically capable, and more than 16 years old, shall be able to read or write the English language or some other language; but a person not able to read or write, who is more than 50 years old, and is the parent or grandparent of a qualified immigrant more than 21 years old and capable of supporting such a parent or grandparent, may accompany the immigrant; or the parent or grandparent may be sent for and come to join the family of the child or grandchild more than 21 years old, qualified under the law; and a wife or minor child not able to write may accompany or be sent for and come to join the husband or parent who is qualified.

HAD AGREED TO DIE TOGETHER.

Husband Killed His Wife and Two Children Then Shot Himself.

New York, Jan. 18.—A terrible tragedy, the ruthless murder of a woman and her two children and the suicide of the perpetrator of the deed, the husband and father, was brought to light yesterday morning in a pecular and accidental manner. John Matthews, thirty-five years of age, literally hacked his wife and two children to death with a hatchet while they slept, and afterward committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. The tragedy was committed at 426 Columbus avenue, Manhattan, in a little bedroom in the rear of a small grocery store kept by Matthews.

The tragedy is supposed to have been enacted some time Saturday night. Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock a milkman, calling at the store to supply Matthews with milk, found the door locked securely and smelled gas at the door. He told a policeman, who broke in the door. In the bedroom on the floor lay a man with a bullet hole just above his mouth. In his hand was grasped a revolver. On the bed was a woman with her head almost hacked to pieces and on the other side of the room were two children lying on a bed with their heads horribly cut. On the counterpane was a hatchet.

Two letters found seem to show that there was an agreement between Matthews and his wife to commit suicide. All the details as to burial and disposition of effects were carefully arranged, and the many relatives and friends of the parties were addressed. Mrs. Matthews was a pretty and industrious woman, and was very much liked by her neighbors, and the children were said to be very handsome.

Big Glove Concern Fails.

New York, Jan. 18.—Maurice Wertheimer, Herman Steinberger and Jacob Steinberger, who carry on business under the name of Wertheimer & Co., at 610-614 Broadway, this city, and the Wertheimer Glove Manufacturing Company, at Johnstown, N. Y., manufacturers and importers of kid gloves, have assigned to Bruno Brothers, without preferences. Horwitz & Hershfield, attorneys for assignee, estimate the liabilities at $800,000 and the assets at about the same amount. The failure is attributed to dull trade, unseasonable weather and inability to obtain further bank accommodations. The firm has been in business about twenty years.

Debs Turned Down.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 18.—The United Labor League held an important meeting yesterday, at which a resolution to indorse Debs' Social Democracy scheme was turned down by an overwhelming majority. All the unions were well represented.

WOLCOTT ON SILVER

Addresses the Senate on Bimetallic Commission Work.

INDIA'S AWFUL CONDITION

Closing of the Mints There, He Says, Created Wide Dissatisfaction--The Famine Was of Money Rather Than Food--To Retire from Commission.

Washington, Jan. 18.—In the Senate yesterday Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, chairman of the Bimetallic Commission, made a speech upon the work of the commission. He was accorded the closest attention by his auditors, among whom were many members of the House.

Mr. Wolcott introduced his subject by saying that he was glad to make a statement respecting certain phases of the work of the recent Bimetallic Commission, but that in doing so he spoke unofficially "not committing his associates in the slightest degree either to his opinions or deductions." "Later in the session," he said, "we are certain to have ample discussion on the subject of silver, and, it will probably be acrid and bitter enough." In his remarks, he continued, he meant to avoid, as far as possible, anything which might give rise to controversy. Mr. Wolcott gave an account of the appointment of the commission, saying that all three of its members were bimetallists.

The Commission had, he said, in its six months' stay abroad visited only London and Paris, and he added that whatever measure of success or failure had been meted out to the Commission, "it had been hampered by no lack of authority or sanction or administrative support." Summing up the favorable conditions under which the Commission operated, Mr. Wolcott said:

"We have had a law broad and full in its power; we have been free to act under its provisions; our views have been identical and earnestly favoring an international agreement, and we have had the hearty support of our Ambassador at the Court of St. James. Further than this, from the day of our first entrance upon the fulfillment of our duties until now the President has extended to the mission his unswerving support in all its efforts to bring about an international agreement. There has been no moment that we have not known that back of our efforts was the earnest resire of the Chief Executive to carry out its integrity, the provisions of the platform of the Republican party, pledging it to every effort to bring about an international bimetallic agreement."

The failures of former international conferences, he said, made it evident that unless some prior understanding was arrived at with some of the commercial nations another failure would be the result of any international conference at this time, and as France, Germany and Great Britain had within a year made declarations favorable to silver it was decided to bring the subject to the attention of these various countries and naturally the first turn was made to France for many reasons, but above all because of Premier Meline's belief in bimetallism.

In France, he said, the question of bimetallism was regarded as strictly an international question, and it was agreed that France and the United States should unite in presenting the question to Great Britain. He contended for the importance of the preliminary understanding with France because of the large percapita circulation of that country. Had England even adhered to her assurances of the 17th of March, 1896," he said, "countries representing more than one-half of the total of Europe and the United States would have agreed, prior to a conference, that upon terms to be settled at such conference they would reopen their mints to the unlimited coinage of both gold and silver."

Mr. Wolcott then detailed at some length the joint negotiations on the part of the American Commissioners and the French Ambassador in England.

"To us," Mr. Wolcott continued, "the India situation is inexplicable. Millions of people, most of them extremely poor, have for years invested all their savings in silver. These accumulations a few years ago were worth a thousand millions of dollars and more. To-day they are worth less than half that sum. By the closing of the India mints and the artificial gold value given to silver, India is at a great disadvantage with the neighboring countries, the exports of which are stimulated by the higher premium on gold, and they are robbing India of much of her manufacturing and export trade. The present policy inflicts upon India, as well, the evils of an insufficient and steadily lessening currency, evils which the vicissitudes of that dependency during the past twelve months have served to emphasize.

"The world has heard much of the famine in India and of the great funds subscribed for its victims. It has not been, however, generally known that the famine was one of money, rather than food; that the contributions were chiefly forwarded to India in the form of money and not grain and that during the whole period of the famine, rice was abundant where men were starving, and its price was but a trifle over a cent a pound, less than the price of wheat in England. For all these evils we offered what we believed to be a remedy. Our offer was refused and the refusal must be considered as final until the failure of the experiment upon which the Indian Government has entered shall be demonstrated."

Mr. Wolcott summarized the present situation by saying that it is apparent that for the time being it is useless to count on any co-operation from Great Britain toward a bimetallic agreement, and that while France actively desires to see silver restored to its old position as a standard of value equally with gold, she insists that the problem is one which demands international action, and the co-operation to some extent of other leading commercial nations of the world.

"Questions of possible future negotiations between France, the United States and other countries, and the question of change of ratio, are for the moment held in abeyance. While we hope for continued joint action, France owes no further duty to us."

Mr. Wolcott then announced his intention to retire from the Commission.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Alfred Wilson, who has charge of the elevator in White's store, has gone to Baltimore to visit his relatives, whom he has not seen for fourteen years.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Augustus Saltzman, Jr., of Westervelt avenue, entertained company from out of town over Sunday.

Fred Leland, of Central avenue, who has been south for sometime past owing to his health, is much worse, and his father has telegraphed for him to come home.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Alice Coard, of New York, is spending a few days with Mrs. J. W. Johnson, of LaGrande avenue.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

DOLE'S COOL RECEPTION.

No Representative of Government to Welcome the Hawaiian President.

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—When President Dole, of Hawaii, landed from the steamship Peru yesterday he was not received with the ceremony befitting the ruler of a foreign country. The Peru had been held in quarantine all night. When she docked yesterday President Dole was greeted by the Hawaiian Consul and a few friends, but there were no representatives of the United States Government to formally welcome him.

The customs officials passed the baggage of the President and his family without inspection, and that was all the especial courtesy shown him. No salute was fired by any of the forts around the bay.

In an interview Mr. Dole said:

"I do not come to the United States to work for annexation. I am merely on a friendly visit to this country and its President. I expect to remain in San Francisco three or four days, when I will start for Washington and will there call upon President McKinley.

"It is thought by the Hawaiian Government that during the consideration of the annexation treaty I had better be in Washington and advise the Hawaiian Legation on certain matters. It is not my intention to make any argument or do any lobbying for annexation. Of course, if I am called upon by the United States Government to give information I will readily do so. I am also interested in the form of government to be adopted for Hawaii in case of annexation."

Spain Blocking Relief.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The State Department has taken official notice of complaints alleging that the Spanish officials in Cuba had been placing obstacles in the way of the free admission of food and other supplies sent to Cuba for the relief of the suffering.

While the officials believe that there is no solid foundation for these complaints, a cablegram has been sent to Consul-General Lee directing him to investigate their correctness and, if necessary, prevent any delays in the landing and admission of shipments of stores, if it be possible to do so.

Baltimore Wants to Name the Senator.

Annapolis, Jan. 18.—The Legislature will begin to-day to ballot for the election of a United States Senator to succeed Arthur P. Gorman. The candidates are Judge McComas, Congressman Sydney Mudd, Alexander Shaw and Thomas J. Shryock. The last named is State Treasurer. The Republicans have sixty-seven votes on joint ballot, eight more than are required to elect the Senator, there being 117 members in both houses.

Gen. Clay's Wife Leaves Him.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 18.—Dora Richardson Clay did not remain with her husband at Whitehall Sunday, but returned with her brother to her sister's home shortly after dark. The meeting between General Clay and his wife is said to have been arranged, and it is believed that both of them agreed to further separation. General Clay will pay his wife's board at the home of her brother-in-law, Roy Kelley, near Valley View.

Boy Murderer Held.

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—Samuel Henderson, the boy, fifteen years old, who is charged with the murder of Percy Lockyar, five years old, was committed to prison yesterday by Magistrate Jermon to await the action of the Coroner. There seems little doubt now that Henderson hacked the child to pieces and before life was extinct threw him in "Reddies" Creek and weighted him down with heavy stones.

Miss Cisneros's Father in New York.

New York, Jan. 18.—Augustin Cossio y Serrano, the father of Miss Cisneros, the young Cuban woman who escaped from a Spanish prison, where she had been incarcerated by Weyler's orders, arrived here yesterday from Havana on the steamship Saratoga. He was released from imprisonment by General Blanco on January 9 and has come to the United States to join his daughter, who is now in Washington.

Vessels to Carry Grain.

Philadelphia, Jan. 18.—Thirteen trans-Atlantic steamships have arrived in this harbor from all parts of the world, chartered to load here outward cargoes composed largely of cereals. It is estimated that these vessels will carry away 4,000,000 bushels of grain and 20,000 tons of general merchandise.

MURDER IN UNION COUNTY.

If George Manshanda tells the truth and the law takes its right course, Union county may at last have a hanging. If the swiftness of Jersey justice is obtained in this case, as it should, Sheriff Kirk will have the disagreeable duty of executing the murderer. But in these days of clever devices by lawyers one can never tell but what justice will be dilly-dallied with or even cheated, and if the alleged murderer of old man Pitts should be convicted he may yet enjoy life for two or three years, though it will be behind the prison bars.

GREATER PLAINFIELD.

For the last three years there has been spasmodic agitation of the consolidation of city and borough, but no one has ever been able to formulate a plan that will bring the majority of the two communities into harmony on the subject of a Greater Plainfield. Now that the Legislative season is at hand, and whatever is accomplished towards making one town out of the two must come from that body, it is opportune for the diplomatically endowed to assert their influence to bring about consolidation.

DEALERS IN HOT AND COLD STUFF.

Postmaster Hetfield and Arthur Gallup to Sell Coal and Ice.

A new firm to deal in ice and coal has just been formed by Postmaster John M. Hetfield and Arthur T. Gallup, of the Potter Press Works. This firm has leased the large ice house near Grant avenue, and through an arrangement made with a Lake Hopatcong Ice Company, they will be supplied with ice. Next summer the firm will erect a trestle near their ice house and build coal sheds so that by next fall they will be able to start the coal business.

It is the intention of the firm to open an office in this city at a convenient place. The firm will not do much in their new business until Mr. Hetfield's term expires at the postoffice, which will be next June. Mr. Gallup will resign his present position at the Potter Press Works.

NEIGHBORS CANNOT AGREE.

Freeholder John H. Tier Causes the Arrest of William C. Butler.

Freeholder John H. Tier appeared before Justice of the Peace Mosher last evening and preferred a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill against his neighbor, Wm. C. Butler.

Mr. Butler was released upon his own recognizance until this morning, when he appeared with his counsel, Nelson Runyon, and waived examination to appear before the Grand Jury. The bail was fixed at $500.

According to the story of Mr. Tier Butler came upon his property yesterday afternoon and when ordered to leave refused to do so. He then struck the plaintiff six blows on the head and shoulders with a heavy cane, using threatening language, it is alleged

THEATRICAL.

The attraction at Stillman Music Hall Wednesday evening will be Lincoln J. Carter's great scenic melodrama, "The Fast Mail." It has been one of the greatest successes known to the stage for years. It has a story of thrilling interest, and the scenic and other mechanical effects are said to be marvelous. There is a representation of an engine room on a Mississippi steamboat, with the furnaces under the boilers in active operation. A very realistic train of cars shoots across the stage, and the Niagara Falls scene is one of the most elaborate and daring things ever undertaken in the drama. It is described as a beautiful, vivid and accurate representation of that stupendous marvel of nature.

Mrs. Stephen Dayton, of Bernardsville, and Mrs. George W. Doty, of Union, spent yesterday with their brother, James H. Searing, of Madison avenue.

There will be union meetings this week Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the M. E. church.

The last quarterly conference will be held in the M. E. church next Friday evening. Presiding Elder G. W. Smith will be in charge.

In the case of Francisco against Johnson, Justice Storms, of New Market, has given a verdict of $200 for the plaintiff. The case will probably be appealed.

The new ten-ton stone cracker for Alvah Gray's stone crusher arrived last Saturday and it required all of yesterday to get the heavy thing from the railroad to the crusher. A large crowd of boroughites watched the proceedings with interest.

Postal Inspector Charles Lewis, of Jersey City, was in the borough yesterday and called on Postmaster Coriell regarding the recent robbery. Mr. Lewis secured all the necessary information and will report the case to the authorities at Washington.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The trolley franchise comes up for second reading tonight.

Mrs. F. A. Miller and daughter, Miss Cora, spent Monday with friends in Newark.

Albert McCauley, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is reported convalescent.

William B. Reynolds and family have rented the cottage owned by Mrs. Ross, on Park avenue.

The Fanwood Township Committee will meet this evening and the trolley franchise may be ordered to its third reading.

A dance will be held in the B. and E. rooms Wednesday evening. Horace Pangborn and John Radin are the committee in charge.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society of the Scotch Plains Baptist church will hold a meeting in the church parlors Friday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

A series of four evangelistic meetings will be held in the Westfield Methodist church this week, beginning tonight.

The society styling itself the G. G's. will hold a meeting this evening at the home of Miss Ada Sergeant, on the Boulevard.

Rev. James A. Francis, pastor of the Riverside Baptist church, of New York city, preached in the Westfield Baptist church last evening. He will preach there every evening this week except Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church will hold a meeting in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, and at 4 o'clock the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society will meet in the same rooms.

The newly-elected officers of the Ladies' Sewing Society of the Westfield Presbyterian church are: President, Mrs. William Gale; vice-president, Mrs. J. B. Harrison; treasurer, Mrs. I. R. Douglas; secretary, Miss Annie B. Miller.

The Social Club is making preparations for a progressive euchre party and a dance to be given in the club rooms next Monday evening. A children's entertainment is also being arranged for, the date of which will be announced shortly.

At the annual meeting of the L. V's. held at the residence of Miss Hilda Green, on the Boulevard, last Friday night, the following officers were elected: President, Robert Harden; vice president, Walter I. Neafie; secretary, William Lynde, and treasurer John McCormack.

The trustees of the Westfield Children's Country Home are arranging for an elaborate entertainment to be given for the benefit of the home in the Westfield Clubhouse auditorium next Tuesday evening. The entertainment will consist of a play entitled "A Capital Courtship," the scene of which is partly laid in Washington.

The trustees of the Fairview Cemetery Association held a special meeting in the association's rooms, on Broad street, and declared George H. embree elected a trustee in the place of B. J. Crosby, who was declared elected over Embree at the annual meeting held last week. A mistake was made by the tellers in the counting of the votes.

The merchants who have stores on Broad street, between Elm and Prospect streets, are making an effort to induce the trolley company now seeking a franchise, to run its line through that portion of Broad street, instead of branching off upon Elm street and North avenue. The block contains a majority of the stores in the town, and the merchants feel that they should have the trolley cars pass their doors.

The Epworth League of the Westfield Methodist church held its annual business meeting and election of officers in the church parlors last evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, P. R. G. Sjostrom; first vice-president, J. Davies; third vice-president, E. A. Brainerd; fourth vice-president, Miss M. Marsh; secretary, George R. Hanford; treasurer, Mrs. Embleton.

Lincoln Land Company.

Articles of incorporation for the Lincoln Land Company were filed at the Middlesex county clerk's office Friday. The company is formed for buying and selling land in every county of this State and elsewhere. The capital stock is $50,000, and the company commences business with $1,500 worth of stock subscribed as follows: Silas D. Drake, $500; Wm. W. Smalley, $200; Lewis C. Cook, $200; Charles E. Dunham, $100; Arthur G. Drake, $100; all of Bound Brook; Daniel Whitlock, New Brunswick, $200; Frederick Davey, Weston, $100. The stockholders have the option of buying their own stock and taking its own stock in payment of debts.

A Broken Trolley Wire.

The cars of the Plainfield Street Railway were delayed for half an hour this morning, owing to a broken trolley wire. As one of the cars was passing the carhouse on West Fourth street at 5:30 the trolley pole slipped from the wire and broke it. The cars on that line were immediately stopped. The work of repairing the break was begun at once and the cars were running again at 6 o'clock.

—The Exempt Firemen's Association will hold a regular meeting tomorrow evening.

Senator W. M. Johnston introduced a railroad commission bill similar to that of last year. It provides for a board of three persons to be appointed by the Governor, not more than two to be of the same political party. One must be a counsellor-of-law and another a civil engineer. Their term is to be five years and salary $5,000 a year. The board to have power to change grades and to decide all matters that are now decided by municipalities through which railroads pass The bill does not apply to street railways.

PASSING COMMENT.

The Wallace House has added to its valuable collection of relics a tire of a historic gig. Its history is as follows: At the time of Colonel Simcoe's raid, when he burned the Court House at Millstone, and the Dutch church at Finderne, Phebe Moore and Mariah Ditmars Voorhees were coming from New Brunswick to their home near Wood's Tavern in a two-wheeled gig or chaise, and when between Millstone and their home they were captured by the enemy, stripped of their clothing, excepting their underclothing, their groceries (purchased at New Brunswick), and their horse was taken from them, and the ladies left sitting in the gig in the road. A tire of one of the wheels of this gig has been presented to the Revolutionary Memorial Society by Isaac V. C. Wyckoff, of Hillsborough, whose wife is a descendant of one of the above named, Mrs. Mariah Ditmars Vooreees.—Somerset Democrat.

Francis B. Lee, of Trenton, contributes an interesting paper to the current number of the New Jersey Law Journal on the origin of Boards of Chosen Freeholders as existing in the counties of New Jersey. The creation of these bodies antedates the present State Constitution. In the earlier colonial days "freemen" and "freeholders" meant much the same thing. The former swore allegiance to the King, were admitted to cultivate the ground and became freeholders. Freeholders met annually to choose freeholders to represent them in their respective parishes and other divisions. When the county governments of East and West Jersey were organized the Board of Chosen Freeholders appears as the governing body. In 1683 the law of the land provided that a freeholder should hold title to fifty acres of land, ten of which must be under cultivation, or, in a borough, a house and three acres of land, or if he be a tenant fifty pounds value in stock of his own. The act of 1709, dividing the counties of the State, established clearly the office of Chosen Freeholder, and a later act of 1713 fixes more clearly the duties associated with the office.

EX-GOV. HOGG'S KISS.

If the members of the Texas Cotton Choppers' Association can manipulate the hoe like they can dispense genuine old-time hospitality they are what Col. Hogg is pleased to term blown daisies. They gave their first annual celebration recently. President Tipton delivered the opening address, welcoming all in the heartiest manner possible. The young ladies, he said, were welcome to the young men and everything else in the town.

At this juncture Colonel Hogg, who was the orator of the day and occupied a seat on the platform, made a swipe at a molasses haired baby which was standing near him. He kissed the baby on the head and it sounded like a Missouri mule pulling his foot out of the mud. The child glared at him and passed on, when the Hillsboro military band discoursed some excellent music Turning to the News corresponding Col. Hogg nonchalantly observed, that he loved the little kid angels like a pup did potlicker.

At the conclusion of Ex-Gov. Hogg's address Miss Burton presented him with a hand-painted hoe, and spoke a piece. In accepting the hoe the tempest-tossed executive spoke feelingly as follows:

"By this simple act you have placed me under still deeper obligations to you for many valued and appreciated kindnesses. The hoe is the first implement of commerce, the emblem of high civilization. The man who uses a hoe and lives by the sweat of his brow is too honest to steal, too industrious and independent to be a vag or a criminal. He is the man who makes and maintains good government. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for this assurance of your friendship and esteem," and the ex-Governor grabbed the young lady and kissed her full in the mouth, while the great crowd applauded wildly.—Galveston News.

WOULDN'T TRUST THE JONAHS.

Too Superstitious to Be Rescued With Another Wrecked Ship's Crew.

A remarkable story of coincidence and sailor superstition was told by the survivors of the John Carey on their arrival the other day at Auckland New Zealand. The John Carey, a trading brig, ran into dirty weather and sprung a leak, which at last forced the Captain and five others to take to the only boat left uninjured. They were picked up by the Ladybird, another trader, which next day went ashort a total wreck. Two days later a third trader, the Brightwell, hove in sight, and being signalled by the castaways, sent a boat to take them off. The John Carey's men were the first to embark, and, going through the surf, the Brightwell's boat was upset and the occupants were drawn on board half drowned. At this disaster the Ladybird's crew set up a cry of "Jonah.". The J. C.'s people, they said, had been twice wrecked, and to embark with them again was certain death. And so firm was their faith in the old superstitution that when the Brightwell sent a second boat they actually refused to be rescued, preferring to stay where they were and take their chance of another ship coming that way, to sailing in company with a crew of Jonahs! Accordingly the Brightwell sailed away with the six survivors, who must have experienced lively and varied emotions when, the very next day, a heavy sea broke on board, stove one of the boats, and carried away a portion of the bulwarks! However, the weather cleared, and the much-harassed and lucky-tormented John Careyites were eventually landed in safety at Auckland.—Sydney Bulletin.

SMASHING OLD CANNON.

A Peculiar Industry That Shakes the Schuylkill Valley.

Terrific detonations are heard down the Schuylkill Valley on nearly every week day, from morning until night In a secluded ravine near the Reading Railroad the Monocacy Blasting Company, is breaking up big guns with dynamite. It also smashes to pieces other huge castings, to be sold to scrap dealers. The noise of the explosions can be heard for miles. The company received two historic cannons. To be broken into pieces. They were brought from the Brooklyn Navy Yard on special cars and they weigh 96,470 and 95,625 pounds. The guns were used at the Vicksburg siege by Gen. Grant's forces, firing shots of 1,200 pounds.

The Government officials were loath to have the guns destroyed and offered them to a number of Grand Army posts, but the necessary arrangements could not be made to have them accepted. The company has broken up many defective cannon bought at gun works. It also smashes nearly all the condemned guns for the War and Navy departments. The dynamite is fired by electricity and a few men do the work—New York Sun.

Chinese Husbands Preferred in Hawaii.

There are in the United States 40,000 native-born citizens of Chinese parentage. In San Francisco there are 25,000 to 30,000 Chinese, and their children are entitled to the rights of citizenship. The school census shows 1,500 children less than 17 years of age of Chinese parentage, and this is probably a very incomplete census, owing to the difficulty of obtaining from the Chinese. In the Hawaiian Islands there are 21,000 Chinese. Many of the Hawaiian Chinese are married—most of them to Hawaiian women—and in this population of 56,0[illegible] there would be not less than 20,000 families, The children of the Hawaiian Chinese are half Hawaiian. The Hawaiian women prefer Chinese to Kanaka husbands.—The Augonaut.

VICTIM OF ANOTHER'S WEDDING.

This is the story of a grain of rice. It was small, unattractive and uncooked, and was one of a shower that was thrown after a newly wedded couple in the railroad station at Wilmington, Del., when they boarded a train bound for New York the other day.

The bridesmaids and ushers followed the newly made husband and wife to the station, secreting on the way the usual bags of rice and old shoes to throw after the unsuspecting couple. The bride and bridegroom took their seats in the Pullman car, and talked to the group of friends until the signal for the starting of the train was given. Then the bridesmaids and ushers hurried to the platform, and as the train moved slowly out of the station the fun began.

Rice fairly rained over the car. It fell on the roof in a shower; it peeked in through the open window upon the young couple, and it fell into the engineroom on the engineer. Just as the train moved away an extra hurricane fell on the platform of the car where the brakeman stood.

Of course every one laughed and the people brushed it out of their clothes, and tried to look as though they enjoyed it.

But a brakeman got several grains of the rice in his ears. He shook them out as he supposed, and thought no more about the matter until next day, when he noticed a sharp pain in his right ear. It became so keen towards night that he decided to go to a doctor next day. The doctor advised the patient to consult an ear specialist.

The specialist decided that a foreign substance had lodged in the ear. He syringed it with water and then with oil. He probed into the ear canal with little hooks of various sizes and shapes. All the time the brakeman was suffering more and more. He said that some insect was in his ear. He could hear it buzzing all the time.

Then the specialist called in another doctor, and they held a consultation. They decided to use a pair of forceps on the brakeman's ear. He said they could do anything they liked with him; anything to stop the pain and buzzing.

So they got a pair of the finest sort of forceps bent about to suit the delicate ear canal, and they reached gently into that ear and felt about until they found a small, hard substance. It was drawn out softly and carefully. It was a grain of rice. It had swelled slightly in the ear-prison.

The brakeman was mad, and made a complaint against the practice of rice-throwing. The trainmaster issued an order to the trainmen giving them special instructions to prevent rice-throwing within the station.—New York World.

Expurgatorius Index Indicates What May be Read by Catholics.

The faithful subjects of the Church of Rome are forbidden in the Index Expurgatorius to read twenty thousand books. These are the works of eight thousand authors. Everything that Renan wrote is condemned, but only the more profane, from a Roman Catholic standpoint, of Voltaine's works appear in the index. Taine's "History of English Literature" is under the ban, but his studies on the French Revolution are omitted from the list of prohibited books by the wish of Leo XIII. All of Cousin's works are condemned, but only four of Lemartine. For obvious reasons, Eugene's Sue's "Wandering Jew" and the "Mysteries of Paris" are both forbidden reading. The index contains a complete catalogue of the works of both the elder and younger Dumas, but only two of Victor Hugo's books are found in it—"Les Miserables" and "Notre Dame de Paris." There are two Zolas in the Index—one is the author of "Rome," the other is a theologian of the last century.—Boston Evening Transcript.

A Safe Course.

An excellent reply was that once made by a Yankee pilot to the owner of a Mississippi River steamboat.

The boat was at New Orleans, and the Yankee applied for the vacant post of pilot, saying that he thought he could give satisfaction, provided they were "lookin' for a man about his size and build."

"Your size and build will do well enough," said the owner, surveying the lank form and rugged face of the applicant with some amusement, "but do you know about the river, where the snags are, and so on?"

"Well, I'm pretty well acquainted with the river," drawled the Yankee, with his eyes fixed on a stick he was whittling, "but when you come to talkin' about the snags, I don't know exactly where they are, I must say."

"Don't know where the snags are!" said the boat-owner, in a tone of disgust; "then how do you expect to get a position as pilot on this river?"

"Well, sir," said the Yankee, raising a pair of keen eyes from his whittling and meeting his questioner's stern gaze with a whimsical smile. 'I may not know just where the snags are, but you can depend upon me knowin' where they ain't, and that's where I calculate to do my sailin'."

Looking for an Excuse.

Deacon Hasbeen (laying down his paper)—"I have just been reading that alcohol will remove grass stains from the most delicate fabric."

Mrs. Hasbeen (severely)—"There you go again, Jason, trying to find some excuse for tippling! Just remember that you have no grass stains in your stomach."

ABOUT THE CUBE FOOT.

How One Who is Not an Expert Arithmetician Can Find It.

To find the cube root of any given number of figures off-hand seems an almost impossible feat, but yet it is simple enough when one knows how to do it—so simple, indeed, that any bright boy can learn to do it in a few weeks.

First he must know exactly what a cube is—namely, that it is the result of multiplying one number by itself, and then multiplying the product by the original number. Thus, 3 multiplied by 3 equals 9, and 9 multiplied by 3, the original number, produces 27, which, consequently, is the cube of 3. The cube root of 27 is the original number 3, and to find the cube root is the reverse of finding the cube. The would-be adept at this art, should first study carefully the following figures:

7x7x7—343	8x8x8—512	9x9x9—729

A close study of these figures shows that 2 multiplied in this manner by itself results in 8, that 8 multiplied by itself has 2 as a final figure, that 3 multiplied by itself has 7 as a final figure, that 7 multiplied by itself has 3 as a final figure, and that 4, 5, 6 and 9 multiplied by themselves have their original figures as finals. Hence the "artist" knows that any sum given to him, then final figure of which is 8, must have 2 as a cube root; that if the final figure be 9, the cube root must be 9, and so on.

For example, give him the figures of 74,088, and he can at once tell that 42 is the cube root, for the reason that 74 has 4 as a cube root, as the cube of 4 is 64, while the cube of 5 is 125, much more than 74,and 088 has 2 as a cube root. Or give him a more difficult problem, as for example, the figures 324,369. Then he will see at a glance that 324 is more than 216, which is the cube root of 6, but is less than 343, the cube root of 7, therefore the cube root of these three figures is 6. In like manner the final figure is 369 being 9, it follows that the cube root of these three figures is 9, and thus the cube root of the six figures has been shown to be 69. Any one can test this method for himself, and a little practice is all that is needed to make one as deft in such jugglery of figures as the best "lightning calculator."

Of course, a skilled arithmetician could easily frame problems which could not be solved in this off-hand fashion, but such difficult tests are seldom offered by public audiences, and, as a rule, the "artists" are easily able to answer all the questions asked of them.—New York Herald.

NO PRISONS IN ICELAND.

Inhabitants So Honest that for 1,000 Years Only Two Thefts Recorded.

In Iceland there are no prisons, and the inhabitants are so honest in their habits that such defences to property as locks, bolts and bars are not required, nor are there any police on the island. Yet its history for 1,000 years records no more than two thefts. Of these two cases one was that of a native, who was detected after stealing several sheep, but as he had done so to supply his family, who were suffering for want of food, when he had broken his arm, provisions were furnished to them and work was found for him when able to do it, and meanwhile he was placed under medical care, but the stigma attached to his crime was considered sufficient punishment

The other theft was by a German, who stole seventeen sheep. But as he was in comfortable circumstances and the robbery was malicious, the sentence passed upon him was that he should sell all his property, restore the value of what he had stolen and then leave the country, or be executed, and he left at once.

But, though crime is rare in Iceland and its inhabitants are distinguished for honesty and purity of morals, there is, of course, provision for the administration of justice, which consists, first of all, in the Sheriff's courts; next, by appeals to the court of three judges at Reykjavik, the capital, and, lastly, in all criminal and most civil cases, to the Supreme Court at Copenhagen, the capital of Denmark, of which kingdom the island forms a part. The island of Panaris (one of the Lipari group) is equally fortunate in having neither prisons nor lawyers, and being absolutely destitute of both paupers and criminals.—Boston Transcripe.

Molasses as Fuel.

The lower grades of molasses have proved unsalable at any paying price, says the Ladies Home Journal. Many Louisiana planters dumped molasses into the bayous, until the authorities forbade it. It is now used as a fuel, being sprinkled by a machine over the bagasse, or the sugar cane from which the juice has been extracted. This, when put into the fire, burns with a strong heat. Its coal value is greater than its value for any other use, and over a hundred thousand tons were so used last year.

Gets Up Early to Pay His Taxes.

Monongalia county has a citizen, Haymond Griggs, whose ambition for many years has been to be the first to pay his taxes each year. One day recently the Assessor's books were finished and turned over, and Griggs appeared before breakfast the next morning to make payment, and was delighted to find himself once more the first man on deck. About three years ago, and for the first time in his life, he was beaten by a swifter taxpayer, and it almost broke his heart.—Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette.

Lively Times Here

—furniture of the best sort, stoves backed up with maker's and our warrant—carpets of every weave, every color—all are "bunched" into this most unique, most marvelous of January sales and offered to you at prices below first cost to us, in fact—not in mere "words." Newer, '98 lines are soon to drop upon us. This sale paves the way for them. The coming 7 days will outstrip last week's record—can't help doing so.

Yes—pay us 75c. a week if "cash is short."

Out of near 50 sorts of Bedroom Suits—full 75 per cent. are less than maker asks in car lots—"seeing is believing," to "see" for yourself—$11.75 to $150 are the "now" prices.

$1.38—plush seat, rattan rockers—still some left—it's a taste of this unmatched fancy chair stock. None to equal it in beauty and size and variedness.

Stoves and Ranges Must Go-Quick

There's not a cent of profit left at these "close-out rates." Loss, in money—lots of it—but we gain the space—and that's sorely needed in a very few days! Buy now—you'll pay as low as from $5.85 for ranges—or as little as $5.75 for heating stoves. And same with the oil and gasoline heaters. All chopped down from their old prices—which were already little. "The Portland Range" alone is not reduced—we can't get enough of them.

Carpets Join the Race

for quick selling, too. 'Twould ease your heart and help your purse to get a chance at any one of the thirty or forty varied weaves—all at special, honest, actual, reduction prices! As little as 29c. for heavy Ingrains, 65c. for Extra Super All-Wool Ingrains, 75c. for Double Extra Brussels, 79c. for velvets, 90c. for $1.35 Body Brussels, $1.25 Moquettes at 95c. Why, you can't match the like for miles and miles around. 'Tis New Jersey's great Carpet store.

Judge for Yourself

Which is Better, Try an Experiment or Profit By a Plainfield Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment.
Must be proven to be as represented.
Be successful at home or you doubt it.
The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof.
Merit.
But the indorsement of friends is.
Now, supposing you had a bad back.
A lame, weak or aching one.
Would you experiment on it?
You will read of many so-called cures.
But they come from faraway places.
It's different when the indorsement comes from home.
Easy to prove that it is so.
Home indorsement is the proof that backs every box of
Doan's Kidney Pills.
Read this case:

Mr. J. P. Kreitling, proprietor of barber shop and cigar store, living at No. 253 West Front street, says: "I had all kinds of pains in my back and loins for the last five or six years. Standing all day at a barber's chair aggravated the difficulty very much. If I stooped and remained in that position a short time it was hard to straighten up again, and if I attempted to lift anything heavy twinges caught me in the back. I used several different kind of plasters, but they did not relieve me. After reading several statements in my paper about Doan's Kidney Pills curing people similarily afflicted, I made up my mind to try a box and procured them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started using them, and after a short time was entirely relieved. Doan's Kidney Pills not only cured the pain, but they strengthened by back. My wife was troubled in a similar way, and was also cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. We both consider them a good medicine, and will gladly reccommend them to anyone suffering from symptoms of disordered kidneys."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

ALL QUIET AT HAVANA.

State Department Officials and Minister De Lome Think the Trouble Is Over.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The State Department officials and Senor Dupuy de Lome, the Spanish Minister, express the opinion that the trouble at Havana has blown over.

Senor De Lome has received a cable from Havana, saying: "Absolute tranquility. There is no fear it will be broken."

The State Department has given out a statement on the allegations that the Spanish officials in Cuba had been placing obstacles in the way of the free admission of food and other supplies sent for the relief of the suffering. While the officials believe that there is no solid foundation for these complaints, Consul-General Lee has been directed to investigate.

To Arrest Havana Editors.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 18.—The Military Judge has ordered the arrest of the editor of El Reconcentrado, Senor Ricardo Arnauto, for having attacked the army in his paper during the past few days.

The man who attempted to shoot Senor Marcos Garcia, Governor of Santa Clara, on Saturday, is a hospital employee named Picon. His attempt is said to be the result of a desire for revenge, owing to having been discharged. Senor Garcia was cheered as he returned from his residence.

RACE FOR KLONDIKE CLAIMS.

Keen Prospector Located His Mines While Mercury Stood 30 Below Zero.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 18.—With the thermometer 30 degrees below zero, a midnight race of over thirty-five miles of rough mountain country in the heart of the Klondike has earned for George Graham, a Shelton logger, the first prize of skating out overlooked and unregistered placer claims valued at $200,000.

Graham was at the Canadian Register's office on the afternoon of November 15, when a man rushed in and filed a claim on French Pere Creek, which adjoins the richest part of Eldorado. He had discovered that in the rush to stake the Klondike district five claims on French Pere Creek had been overlooked. Graham hastened to locate the others, having given the tip to three of his friends. They were followed in a wild race by two hundred other miners, but succeeded in getting on the coveted ground first.

Dawson City has received no regular mail since last August. Both American and Canadian miners there believe their respective governments have forgotten them so far as mail facilities are concerned. Many of the miners have paid $1 per letter to have mail brought out to relatives and friends. Generally this has been through to the Sound cities, though one or two parties report that some of this mail was discarded by the carriers, and is to be found scattered along the Upper Yukon and lakes.

MINERS TO SHARE PROFITS.

About 200,000 Coal Workers to Benefit by the New Trust.

New York, Jan. 18.—J. Pierpont Morgan, in carrying out his plans for the formation of a bituminous coal trust, proposes to share the profits of the new combination with the miners who dig out the coal. Each advance in coal prices is to carry with it an increase in the wages of the men. It is stated that 200,000 men will be affected by this plan, and the companies propose to enlist the miners, so that they will see it is to their personal interest to co-operate in the new arrangement

Mr. Morgan's plan is to restore the price of soft coal to a living basis in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Difference in the several coal districts will be adjusted at the general interstate organization meeting in Chicago this week.

He Delayed the Mail.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 18.—Alexander Hamlin, Sheriff of Miami County, who attached several passenger engines of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, at Paoli, Kan., last week, and chained them to the track to enforce the collection of a $6,000 judgment against the company, has been arrested by the United States authorities on the charge of delaying the mails. Hamlin was notified by the company that he was interfering with the mails, but he replied that he knew his business. General Attorney Sedgwick said the company offered to deposit sufficient money to cover the amount of the judgment, in a Paoli bank, if the Sheriff would release the engines. He refused to do so. He now has about $30,000 worth of the company's property tied up.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Silverite Will Be Elected.

Washington, Jan. 18.—A hustling campaign will be brought to an end by the election of officers of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee on to-morrow night. Senator Faulkner has said that he does not desire re-election as chairman. His successor will be an out and out silver man. Friends of the white metal are active and uncompromising. They comprise two-thirds of the committee. Some of the silverites say they did not receive proper campaign literature last year. The printing press during the coming campaign will be in their hands.

Big Colliery Disaster.

Berlin, Germany, Jan. 18.—A dispatch from Glewitz, Prussian Silesia, announces a terrible colliery disaster at Zaborze. The Koenigen-Luise colliery caught fire, and of the fifteen men brought to the surface seven died. It is feared that twenty-five others, whose escape was cut off, have perished.

BIG MILL STRIKE IS ON

Most Complete Shut Down in the History of the Cotton Mills.

SERIOUS TROUBLE FEARED

Some Slight Disorder, but No Serious Damage Done--Nearly All of the Operatives at Biddeford; Me., Also Go Out--A Short Fight Is Expected.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 18.—As briefly stated in these dispatches yesterday a shut-down, the most complete in the history of the cotton mills of New Bedford, began yesterday morning. Not a spindle was turning nor a loom in motion in the factories of the cloth corporations an hour after the usual time of beginning work. Between forty and fifty operatives went into Bristol mill and twenty-five or thirty into the Whitman, but aside from these no mill made any show of running, and these two soon shut down.

Nine corporations, operating eighteen mills, in which upward of 9,000 hands are employed, are involved in the strike. The cut-down is uniform all over the city, 10 per cent. The total pay-roll of these corporations is estimated at $70,000 weekly.

Both manufacturers and operatives seemed to be well prepared for the strike. Only at the Acushet Mill gates did any disturbance occur, and that did not prove serious. The crowd manifested its bitterness toward the mill officials, who, as they left the mill building to enter the office, were greeted with a shower of dirt and small stones. Some threw cobblestones, but no one was hit. The officials went into the office, and the watchman at the gate became a target for all who felt inclined to throw dirt and stones; but the fence sheltered him. In the midst of the fusilade Superintendent Knowles said to the crowd: "Don't throw such big ones, please," and they did not, but they hurled a quantity of frozen dirt and small stones at him, so that he retreated to the mill office quickly.

New Bedford appreciates fully the gravity of the situation. The city does not enjoy the distinction of being made the battle ground for all New England in the beginning of this great wage war. But the task has been forced upon the community, and here the strength of labor and capital will be first pitted.

It is believed by labor leaders the strike will be short, as they think the manufacturers will capitulate. No disorder is expected at least early in the strike. The unions have urged their members not to gather around the mills, and probably none but pickets will report there to-day. In this event the mills will be shut down and the corporations will declare a lackout.

Strike Begins at Biddford, Me.

Bridgeport, Me., Jan. 18.—A great labor war was inaugurated by the 3,500 textile workers in the Pepperell and Laconia cotton mills this morning. Mass meetings have been held by the operatives almost continually since yesterday to denounce reductions in wages. The web drawers and slashers unanimously voted to strike. The non-union men have organized and favor striking. The mule spinners also have voted to strike.

Trouble Feared at Woonsocket.

Woonsocket, R. I., Jan. 18.—The 2,300 persons employed in the Social, Globe and Nourse mills of the Social Manufacturing Company, and the Clinton Mill in this city went to work yesterday at a reduction of wages averaging, it is stated at the office of the mills, about 10 per cent. This cut has been accepted without any concerted movement toward a strike, but there are murmurings and protests in a number of instances, and fears are felt that trouble may yet arise.

CONSUL ASHBY DROWNED.

Colon Advices Say Six Other Men Were Lost With Him.

Colon, Colombia, Jan. 18.—A boating party, consisting of the United States Consul, Mr. W. W. Ashley, Dr. Hafeman, the German Consul; Master Mechanic Mott and four others, are supposed to have been drowned. The body of the boatman has already been recovered.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Consul General Gugdeon, at Panama, cabled the State Department announcing the drowning of William W. Ashby, United States Consul at Colon. No details were given. Ashby was appointed to office only a few months ago, and had been well known in this city and in Virginia as a newspaper man. He was connected with a Norfolk, Va., paper.

A press dispatch states that six others were drowned with him, but the State Department's cable contains no reference to the other persons in the boat with him.

THE ELDRIDGE BICYCLE.

Plainfield Riders Will Have the Advantage of Experience and Capital.

Some of the new ideas in their standard wheel are remarkable for their ingenuity, and the superior workmanship of the machine is readily apparent from a critical examination of its component parts. The models 1 and 2, (ladies' and gentlemen's) listing at $75, represent the highest type of the cycle builder's art, and possess a number of fine points in construction which can be found in no other wheel Many of these have been introduced by the Eldridge Company as a result of their experience in meeting the wants of the public. There are also models 3, 4, 5 and 6, listing at $50 and $35 respectively, guaranteed the best of their class. Also tandems of new and approved design at $125, and a racing machine at $85 which has attracted wide attention by its beauty of outline and great solidity. All these wheels are covered by a most liberal guarantee, and are thoroughly backed by the Eldridge Company's reputation and large capital.

In this connection it might be stated that the Eldridge Company has started out this season on altogether new and novel lines. Their past experience has taught them that it is utterly impossible to meet all the demand of the average customer with the usual factory output, but the ordinary agent has no choice in the matter and has to accept what his manufacturer gives him whether he likes it or not. The Eldridge Company decided they would in the future have something to say about the wheels they handled, and announced that hereafter they would control their own output. They then announced that they were in the market for several thousand wheels, to be built according to their specifications, and of the finest material and workmanship, regardless of cost. With one or two exceptions all the big manufacturers in the country bid for the contract, and the Eldridge Company were placed in a position to give their customers the pick of the factories of the land. Then every wheel must be passed upon by an expert before the Eldridge trade-mark is placed upon it as a stamp of superiority.

By paying cash for every wheel they accept the company has been enabled to place the prices of these wheels within the reach of all.

Manager Cuming reports that all the Eldridge stores have written an unprecedented number of orders for this time of year.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basket ball team will play its next game in Newark Friday evening against the Institutes. It is a return game to the Institute team. The Plainfield boys defeated them in this city a week ago.

The next basket ball game to be played in this city will be played Monday evening, when the famous team of the New Jersey Athletic Club, of Bayonne, will meet the local players of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. in the gymnasium of the latter. The New Jersey team has made a great reputation for itself by defeating everything in the vicinity. Now they bope to add Plainfield's scalp to their string.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Tomorrow evening the Lyceum bowling team will meet the Elizabethport team in this city in the first match game in the Diocesan Union tournament.

This evening on Ulrich's bowling alleys there will be a bowling match between the Knob Hill team and a team from the Central Bowling Club of New York. Mr. Ulrich is a member of the latter team and he has succeeded in getting them to come to Plainfield.

An interesting bowling contest took place last evening at the club house of the Catholic Club, on West Sixth street. The competing teams were the Catholic Club team and the T. A. B Society's team. After an exciting struggle the latter society won the last game, securing two games out of three.

They Were Sensitive.

The sensitiveness of the families of distinguished men as to the early occupations of their ancestors is somewhat remarkable. Recently an author was asked to write a brief history of the life of a man who had done some service to his state. Like Lincoln, this man had been a woodchopper—a fact to which his historian gave prominence.

"Don't say he was a 'woodchopper,'" said the spokesman of the family. "That will never do."

"What shall I say, then?" asked the author.

"Say—let me see now—just say that he was connected with the lumber business!"—Atlanta Constitution.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Lord Lytton, the novelist, left orders that a long needle be run through his heart before he was buried. His wish was carried out by his doctor.

It is almost impossible to go out of doors in Christiania without meeting Ibsen. The daily habit of this author is to go to the Grand Hotel, where he sits and smokes and reads and sips a "little glass" by the hour.

The family of Bismarck shows no signs of dying out. On the day recently when a new German ironclad was named the Prince Bismarck the ex-Chancellor's daughter-in-law, wife of Count Herbert, gave birth to a son. This makes two grandsons in his family. He has five granddaughters.

Claus Spreckles has bought a large tract of land in Monterey county, Cal., and leased it to the Salvation Army for the purpose of sugar beet culture, advancing money until the beet growers become self-supporting. Where they begin to make money they are to be encouraged to buy ten acres of ground apiece, on ten years' time, by installments. Mr. Spreckles agrees to buy their beets at good prices.

According to the Kansas City Journal, this is how Mrs. Lease went into politics: In 1890 the Farmers' Alliance sprang into existence and Mrs. Lease wanted her husband to join the movement and become a politician. But he declared that he was not of the stuff of which politicians are made, and suggested that she go into it herself and leave him in peace. "Mrs. Lease had never thought of entering politics, but she consented to try it. How, when and where to get the first speech off was the puzzle. Finally a neighbor, Dixon, was taken into the deal, and he arranged it so that Mrs. Lease could appear before the next Farmers' Alliance county convention and make a talk. She was there on the appointed day, and as soon as her name was mentioned she rose and made a bee-line to the stage. Her maiden speech, they say, was a stem-winder. She was the sensation of the hour, and before that campaign was over Mrs. Lease was the best-advertised politician in Kansas."

Woman Borgia to Die.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—The Governor-General has refused to interfere in the case of Mrs. Olive Adele Sternaman, the murderess of two husbands, and she will die on Thursday. The woman is one of the coldest-blooded murderesses in the annals of Canada. She killed her husbands in order to secure the insurance on their lives. They loved her passionately and each, as he was dying, from poison, passed away with words of love for her on his lips.

ANTS USED TO SEW WOUNDS.

The method of securing a wound, which is still prevalent among the Brazilian Indians, can be looked upon as at least strictly antiseptic.

The materials required for performing the operation are found handy almost any where in a Brazilian forest. These are a species of a very large ant, which has mandibles which can bite through almost any substance. The mouth is furnished with transversely movable jaws and does not possess a sting. A bite from one of these ants is perfectly harmless, and is followed by no swelling or other evil results.

The lower lip of the ant, instead of being a simple cover for the mouth, is developed into a strange jointed organ, which can be shot out much further than the upper lip or, when at rest, can be folded flat ofer the face and can be rapidly protruded or withdrawn. It is furnished at its extremity with a pair of forceps, and is able to grasp objects with the strength and firmness of a small pair of pincers. Nothing, unless cased in metal, can resist those jaws.

What the Brazilian Indian does when he receives a gash is this:—He catches some of these ants, and, holding them to the wound, which he has previously closed together, lets them bite. They fix their mandibles on each side of the wound, and then he pinches off the rest of the body, leaving the mandibles and jaws to close up the wound. A row of these ants' heads keep a wound together quite as effectively as the needle and thread of a surgeon, but the pain given to the victim of this rude style of surgery must be considerable.

Rude as this method may seem, however, it has its advantages in being strictly antiseptic and causing no evil after effects. The jaws of the ants are extracted with a pair of forceps after the wound has satisfactorily healed.—New York Herald.

A PROVIDENTIAL DELIVERY.

Thankful His Son Was Discovered and not Mixed with the Clay for a Chimney.

One of our exchanges had something to say recently about "Georgia Clay Eaters." Here is a story, however, which hasn't gone the rounds yet:

In a certain Georgia neighborhood a farmer had two boys who fairly flourished on red clay. All effort to break them of the habit proved futile, and they had been given over as hopeless cases.

One night one of them was missed from home, and search for him proved unavailing. His brother had left him in the clay bank, where he had burrowed a hole.

Late next morning a farmer went to that identical clay bank for material to build a chimney, and dug him out while loading his wagon.

That night, after giving the boy a good whipping, his father went to prayer meeting, and in delivering his experience said:

"I feel thankful to the Lord for the providence he showed my little clay-eatin' John this mornin', for Brother Jones was makin' of a chimbley, and he loaded John up with the other clay, an' ef it hadn't been fur providence, John might er been a part of that chimbley now-a-smokin', an' a-smokin', fur from his friends an' loved ones! I want a prayer er thanksgivin' ter be offered up in this here meetin' right now. Brother Johnson, will you lead us?"—Atlanta Constitution.

Byron a Hero of Greece.

With the faults and foibles of Byron Greece had nothin to do; she knew nothing of them; to her he was only "the great and noble." Crossing the Gulf of Salamis one day in a boat, with a rough mountain captain and his men, I pulled out a volume of Byron and was reading. The wind blowing open the leaves, the captain caught a glimpse of the portrait and recognized it. He begged to take the book, and looking for a moment, with melancholy, at the face of the noble lord, he kissed it and passed it to his men, who did the same saying: "Eeton megalos kai kalos" (he was great and noble)—From "Lord Byron in the Greek Revolution," by F. B. Sanborn in Scribner's.

It is strange to read that instead of the usual fruit and flower offerings to a hospital charity service, the congregation at the church of St. John, Streatham, were recently requested to send new laid eggs, and responded in a most generous manner, for no less than five thousand were distributed among various London hospitals.

AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE.

The Dog Saved the Man Who Had Been Kind to Him Instead of His Master.

There is an old saying that "the more you kick a dog the more he will love you," but there are exceptions to every rule.

Some years ago I was stationed at Devenport, says a writer in Cossell's Journal. A friend of mine (whom I will call Bates) owned a handsome retriever dog. The animal received more kicks than caresses from his master, and I was continually remonstrating with my friend on his cruelty to the dog; but his only answer to my entreaties to be kind to the animal was the usual one, "the more you kick him the more he will love you."

I was very kind to the dog, and my kindness was well rewarded, as the sequel will show.

One afternoon Bates and I engaged a boat for a row. Bates tried all he knew how to prevent his dog getting into the boat, but I eventually prevailed upon him to let the dog accompany us. On the return journey a fog came on and a passing steamer swamped us, with the result that our boat upset, and we were struggling in the water. We could not swim, and the steamer's crew could not see us, although they could hear our cries for help.

As I was sinking the dog grabbed me and pulled me to the upturned boat; but I could not get him to save his master, who was drowned.

When They Used to Tip the Cook.

In old times to dine with a nobleman cost more in tips to the servants than a club dinner. James Payn relates that Lord Poor, a well-named Irish peer, excused himself from dining with the Duke of Ormond upon the ground that he could not afford it. "If you will give me the guinea I have to pay your cook (fancy!) I will come as often as you choose to ask me," which was accordingly done. The duke, however, had not the pluck to stop the practice. Lord Taafe, a general officer in the Austrian service, did what he could. He always attended his guests to the door; when they put their hands into their pockets he said: "No, if you do give it, give it to me, for it was I who paid for your dinner." To Sir Timothy Waldo must be given the credit of putting an end to the monstrous practice. After dinner with the Duke of Newcastle he put a crown into the cook's hand—it was rejected. "I do not take silver, sir." "Very good; and I do not give gold." His courageous rejoinder "caught on," and the day of vails to cooks was over. —Argonaut.

BUNCOER'S WIFE SUED.

MRS. LUDLUM'S SERVANT GIRL WANTS A FULL MONTH'S SALARY.

The Wife of the Noted Crook Leaves Plainfield for Good, But Encounters the Law at the Instigation of a Servant

The link that has bound "Little Lou" Ludlum, the alleged bunco-steerer, to Plainfield, has been snapped. Ludlum is no longer a citizen of Plainfield in any sense of the word. Today the household goods of the Ludlum family are being moved in Wm. Hand's vans to a storage warehouse in New York. Mrs. Ludlum has left Plainfield and departed to the great metropolis, twenty-four miles away. As to the whereabouts of Ludlum himself there are many who would be glad to know, for that expert swindler has so far succeeded in baffling the efforts of detectives who are on his trail.

Like other mortals bunco-steerers are human and are apt to meet with the same troubles that bother the rest of mankind. While the existence of the Ludlums in Plainfield was a very quiet one, the startling intelligence of the character of the man made them the subject of endless talk. While the departure of Ludlum was talked of, his wife was the object of much curiousity. Under the circumstances, it was but natural that she should wish to leave the town. The quietness of her departure was somewhat marred, however, by trouble from an unexpected source.

Ten days ago, Alma Olsson entered the employ of Mrs. Ludlum as a domestic. She was engaged for a month and was to receive $14 for the month's service. All went well until several days ago when Mrs. Ludlum informed the girl that she would not need her services much longer as she intended to break up housekeeping and leave the city. Mrs. Ludlum thought that her domestic was only entitled to pay for the time that she had actually worked. The employe differed. She claimed to have given up two chances for positions elsewhere to remain with Mrs. Ludlum during the month and she therefore thought herself deserving of the full month's wages. There was a dispute. Mrs. Ludlum was obdurate and the servant departed yesterday without waiting for Mrs. Ludlum to discharge her.

Miss Olsson consulted McNabb & Clark. They straightway had a writ of attachment issued in Justice Nash's court and served immediately on the goods in the Ludlum house. It was known that Mrs. Ludlum intended moving today.

Before the writ was served Mr. McNabb called at the Ludlum residence with the intention of settling the matter before the legal proceedings were taken. He was met at the door by one of the neighbors who informed him that Mrs. Ludlum was not at home. He politely refused to leave his name. Then the writ was served and possession taken of the goods.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Ludlum called at the law offices of McNabb & Clark. She was very indignant over the fact of the serving of the writ. She explained that the household goods belonged to her sister, Mrs. Sabina Kerns, and that she had merely lived with Mrs. Kerns and was now taking care of the goods. She showed the receipts for rent showing that the house was rented by Mrs. Kerns. She told her story of the trouble with the domestic. She said that the move was very unexpected and she had had no idea of leaving Plainfield. She did not appear greatly worried, but treated the young lawyer very agreeably.

Mr. McNabb refused to accept anything but the full amount, which Mrs. Ludlum paid, at last. The writ was immediately quashed and all proceedings stopped. The furniture was moved this morning to New York.

The Social Sisters

The Sixteen Social Sisters' Whist Club were entertained last evening at the home of Miss Nellie Winckler. An enjoyable game was indulged in as usual. The first prize was awarded to Miss Sadie Holmes; the second to Miss Cora Young. Refreshments were served at a late hour, after which several piano solos were rendered by Miss Eva Wilkins and Miss Mabel Force. The evening's pleasure was concluded with a dance.

Says Her Husband Will Not Support Her.

Mrs. Libby Fulton, wife of Louis Fulton, has made application to Overseer of the Poor Marx for assistance, claiming that her husband will not support her. She formerly lived with him at the home of his parents, on West Fifth street. She claims that she was driven out of there. Fulton will be arrested on the charge of non-support. They have been married for four years.

—The Cecelia Club will meet in Vincent chapel, at the First Methodist church, tomorrow afternoon, instead of in the Y. M. C. A. building as usual.

MONEY FOR A MASONIC HOME.

Jerusalem Chapter Will Help to Build the Institution.

Last evening Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. and A. M., held an important communication and a large number of the members were present. After working the E. A. Degree on one candidate, the question of contributing money toward the erection of a Masonic Home in New Jersey was introduced. The matter was clearly explained to those present and as a result the lodge will give a large amount of money as its share in erecting the home. It was stated at the meeting that one lodge in Newark contributed $800 for the home, and this proved an incentive for the Plainfield members.

USED AN AXE IN ANGER.

A ROW IN "DUSKY FLATS" THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN MURDER.

Eva Jackson Attacked Mrs. Thompson Because the Latter Ordered the Dusky Belle to Stop Calling on Her Beau.

Miss Eva Jackson, the belle of "Dusky Flats," who has figured in many an escapade which caused her to be sought after by the police, was arraigned in Justice Mosher's court last evening to answer a more serious charge than has ever before been preferred against her.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, who lives in the tenement know as "Battle Row," on West Fourth street, was the complainant and the charge against Eva was one of assault with intent to kill.

Mrs. Thompson and Eva have been good friends most of the time. The latter has been accustomed to call upon a dusky Beau Brummel who lives in "Battle Row," and when she visited there it was her custom to stop and spend a little time with Mrs. Thompson also. Yesterday morning the landlord of the tenement notified Eva's male friend that her visits to the house must cease or he would be made to leave the premises. When the girl made her customary call early yesterday afternoon she first stopped into Mrs. Thompson's rooms.

"You can't come heah no mo' Eva," was the greeting she received.

Words followed and when Eva learned that she had been forbidden to visit the "Row" she became wild with anger. Mrs. Jackson tried to tease her.

"I'll done kill you," cried the girl, and catching up an axe from near the stove she raised it above her head and rushed at the other woman. Mrs. Thompson tried to break the force of the blow, but the blade of the weapon fell square upon her head.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Martha Washington Council Seat Their New Leaders.

Martha Washington Council, No. 23, D. of A., auxiliary to the Jr. O. U. A. M., held an interesting meeting in the S. of T. rooms last evening, at which there were members present from Newark, Elizabeth and Rahway. Among them were State Council Secretary J. R. Rollinson, of Rahway, and District Deputy State Councilor H. L. VanCamp, of Newark. After the regular routine business was transacted the recently-elected officers were installed for the ensuing term by District Deputy State Councilor VanCamp as follows: Councilor, F. G. Welsh; associate councilor, Miss Ratie Johnson; vice councilor, Mrs. Millie Bunn; associate vice councilor, Mrs Hannah Thompson; assistant recording secretary, G. S. Martin; conductor. Mrs. Mary Welsh; warden, Mrs. Mary Hoffman; inside sentinel, Mrs. Ellen Smith; outside sentinel, Mrs. Sarah J. Higgins; trustee, 18 months, Mrs. Sarah J. Higgins; junior past councilor, Mrs. Amanda McComas; associate junior past councilor, Mrs. Agnes Randolph.

Speeches for the good of the order were made by State Council Secretary Rollinson, District Deputy State Councilor VanCamp and others. Refreshments were served.

To Inspect Railroad Property.

Next Saturday afternoon Division Superintendent George Frecht, of the Central Railroad, will come to Plainfield in response to a request made by Councilman Barrows, and in company with Street Commission Gavett he will make an inspection of the company's property, with a view to making some needed improvements.

Board of Trade to Meet.

An important meeting of the Board of Trade will be held this evening in the Babcock building, and all citizens of this city and the borough are cordially invited to be present and interest themselves in the welfare of the two communities.

THE TROLLEY EXTENSION

HOW WILL THE COUNTY LINE GET INTO THE CENTRE OF THE CITY.

The Proposed Plan is to Go Through East Second Street, But the Question is, Can the Right of Way be Obtained

In the general excitement over the invasion of the trolley roads, Plainfield has taken little part. While most of the neighboring towns have been the scene of numerous skirmishes between the promoters of the different trolley schemes, Plainfield has been a spectator. Last week the fight over the new trolley system for Union county made its appearance here for the first time. Frank Bergen held a mass-meeting, at which he explained the plan by which he wants the county to build the trolley road and remain its owner. So far, the principal opponent of Mr. Bergen, the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway, has done nothing in Plainfield.

The fact of the matter is that Plainfield and Elizabeth have been educated in trolley matters. The people of both cities concede that, under certain restrictions, the trolley is a very good thing and an advantage to the city. The other towns along the line of the proposed route have never had any experience with a trolley road before, and they are bound to get all the enjoyment out of their first interview that is possible. They have not seen a practical illustration of the advantages and disadvantages of the trolley in their own town and they have been basing their objections on theory.

It seems probable that the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway will, in time, connect the two cities at the ends of the county. Their energies are now devoted to the towns along the route. Plainfield and Elizabeth will be merely asked to allow the present trolley companies to extend their lines.

The Plainfield Street Railway is controlled by practically the same capitalists that are interested in the county trolley line. So there will be but little trouble about the cars of the new company running over the line of the Plainfield company. The Elizabeth and Westfield company is planning to run its line to Scotch Plains and thence to Plainfield by the way of East Second street. There are two routes to reach the present line of the Plainfield railway that the trolley company would be willing to take. They suggest a direct line through Second street to Watchung avenue and there to connect with the present tracks, or a line through Second street to Richmond street, thence to East Third street and thence to Watchung avenue, connecting with the other line at the North Avenue station. The reason for the Third street line is that East Second street is very narrow between Church street and Watchung avenue and might better be given up for a wider thoroughfare.

The Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company claims to have secured all the necessary consents from Scotch Plains to Plainfield by the way of Second street, and also from Scotch Plains most of the way to Cranford. The permission from the property owners in Cranford is said to be still lacking.

Whether all these plans will come to naught, as would probably be the case should the Bergen scheme be carried, remains to be seen. At present it is of considerable interest to Plainfielders to watch the moves of the trolley company that is working to connect Plainfield with the county seat.

DONE IN HIS NAME.

King's Daughters Accomplished Much for Charity.

The King's Daughters Association, composed of members of Miss Linda Butler's Sunday-school class at the First Baptist church, met at the home of Miss Butler last evening and listened to a synopsis of the work accomplished during the past year. The association is a small one, but the members have succeeded in doing a great deal in mission work by making useful articles and distributing them where they were needed. After the business of the evening was transacted, the members enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess, who served delightful refreshments. The meeting was a very helpful one and the members start another year with bright hopes for success.

Officers to be Elected.

The regular meeting of the Christian and Missionary Alliance will be held in the rooms of the W. C. T. U., corner of Fourth street and Watchung avenue, Thursday, at 7:45. Rev. James Morris, State Superintendent of C. and M. A. work in New Jersey, with a special charge and mission in Passaic, will conduct the annual election of officers for the local branch, and address the meeting.

TAXING A CORPORATION

AN IMPORTANT MEASURE INTRODUCED BY SENATOR REED.

Telegraph Poles and Wires to be Accounted Personal Property and Taxed for Support of the Local Government.

There were only brief sessions of the House and Senate of the State Legislature yesterday, and only five bills were introduced in both Houses—four in the Senate and one in the Assembly. None of these measures were of any great importance, and both Houses adjourned until Monday evening, in order that the committees may have opportunity to get to business.

Among the Senate bills probably the most important is that introduced by Senator Reed, of Somerset, concerning the taxation of telegraph companies. It provides that in "every taxing district in this State all telegraph poles and wires found therein shall be considered and held, for the purpose of local taxation, to be personal property, and shall be assessed as such to the company or companies owning or operating the same. Whenever in any such taxing district the taxes assessed against any such telegraph company upon its poles and wires shall become delinquent and so remain for the space of thirty days, it shall be the duty of the collector of taxes for such district to cut down all such poles and sever such wires at the points where the same enter and leave his district, and after advertising such sale by notice printed at least once in at least one newspaper circulating in such taxing district, and posted in at least three public places therein at least two weeks, to sell such poles and wires, either separately or together, at public auction to the highest cash bidder, and out of the proceeds of such sale to retain a sufficient sum to pay the delinquent taxes and interest and costs thereon, including the cost of advertising, besides the sum of 50 cents for each pole cut down, to which he shall be entitled in addition to any other fees and costs allowed by law in cases of delinquent taxes on personal property; if any surplus remain after the payment of such taxes, interest, costs and charges, such surplus may be paid over to the company which owned such property upon its furnishing proper receipt therefor. The taxation authorized by section 1 of this act shall be in addition to any tax which now is or may hereafter be assessed against such company by the State Board of Assessors or any other State officer, by virtue of any other law, and the remedy provided in section 2, in case such taxes become delinquent, shall be in addition to any other remedies now or hereafter provided by law."

The Democratic Senators held a caucus yesterday morning to consider the appointment of Joseph Rice, who was named as a Democratic manager of the Trenton Hospital. A year ago they opposed his confirmation because he was a sound-money Democrat in the McKinley campaign. Senator Barber, of Warren county, renewed his opposition, but Senator Daly, of Hudson, who is the head of the Bryanites in the State, expressed regret that he had opposed Rice's confirmation last year, and induced Senator Barber to withdraw his opposition. Senator Daly is seeking the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Gov. Griggs said that next Tuesday would probably be the last day on which he would appear at Trenton as Governor. He thinks Attorney-General McKenna will be confirmed as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court Friday and that his own nomination to be Attorney-General will be sent to the Senate by President McKinley at once and be confirmed by next Monday. Next Tuesday evening the newspaper reporters and correspondents are to give a dinner to Gov. Griggs and President of the Senate Voorhees. The other guests will be only Senator Sewell, Speaker Watkins, President pro tem Skirm and Capt. Hobert Tuttle, the Governor's private secretary.

The special committee to investigate Hudson county held a meeting at noon and chose as chairman Mr. Gledhill, of Passaic, the Republican leader. Later the committee held a long conference with Gov. Griggs and obtained information upon which the Governor based his recommendation for an investigation. Messrs. Bradley and Squire of the committee were asked to wait upon William H. Corbin and request him to act as counsel to the committee, which will meet in Trenton Thursday afternoon to arrange the preliminaries of the inquiry.

Justice Nash's Court.

Justice Nash has issued summons in the case of Sutphen against Williams, returnable the 24th. The cases of Hymes against Trust and McClure against Eastman have been settled out of court.

CONVICTION MUST STAND.

Severity of Sentence Was the Reason Given for the Application

Supreme Court Judge VanSyckel yesterday heard argument in a city case on application of the defendant's counsel to set aside the judgment of the city court. Mr. Kiernan, of Elizabeth, appeared for the defendant, and the city was represented by Craig A. Marsh. The application was based on alleged defects in procedure and on the severity of the sentence, which had been a fine of $100 and imprisonment for a term of 59 days. Judge VanSyckel decided in favor of the city, and the application of the defendant's counsel was denied.

REV. GIBSON'S CHURCH.

IT WILL BE ORGANIZED TONIGHT AS CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.

A Lot to be Purchased in the West End and a Church Building Erected—Members Withdraw from Mt Olive.

This evening at Reform Hall there will be a meeting of the colored people who have left the Mt. Olive Baptist church, and a new church organization will be effected, to be known as the Calvary Baptist church. The meeting will be called at 8:15, and an able minister will deliver the organization sermon. At the meeting deacons will be selected to look after the new church, and Rev. P. S. Gibson will be called to the pastorate of the organization. There are already seventy-five persons who will compose the church and a large number will join after the organization is effected. As soon as possible a lot will be purchased in the West End and the work of erecting a new church will be started at once. It is the determination of those associated with the church to make it a success, and no stone will be left unturned to see that this is done.

Already several letters have been presented by persons who desire to be members of the Calvary Baptist church, and these letters will be presented tonight at the meeting. Rev. Mr. Gibson has secured from the State organizatian the assurance that the mode of procedure regarding the new organization is all right, so that nothing now stands in the way of those who are banded together for organization.

It was expected that there would be a lively time at the Mount Olive Baptist church last evening, but those who attended the meeting were disappointed, that is, so far as any sensational features were concerned. It was the regular Tuesday evening prayer meeting and nothing out of the ordinary occurred to mar the enjoyment of the services. No mention was made of the present trouble in the church regarding a pastor. Several persons present expressed a desire to have their letters so that they could join elsewhere, but Deacon Whindleton, who was in charge of the service, pacified the discontented ones by telling them to wait and not be too hasty.

It is quite likely that at the next business meeting of the church those persons so desiring will receive their letters and join the new church, of which Rev. P. S. Gibson will be the pastor.

It was agreed that at the previous business meeting the rules and regulations governing the church had not been strictly complied with, and it was stated that in the future more attention would be given to this important matter. Nothing was done regarding the acceptance of Rev. William Creamer, as pastor of the church, and another meeting will be held soon to take some action in this matter.

FATHER MURPHY MUST LEAVE.

The Popular Priest Transferred to Paterson by Bishop Wigger.

Rev. Francis J. Murphy, for several years assistant rector at St. Mary's church, today received his orders from Bishop Wigger transferring him to St. John's cathedral, in Paterson, where he will officiate as first assistant rector. Father McCormick, one of the present assistant rectors of St. John's parish, will come to Plainfield to fill the place caused by the transfer of Futher Murphy.

The announcement that Bishop Wigger had ordered Father Murphy's transfer was made in The Press Monday, but, as exclusively stated at the time, the Bishop was interceded with to permit Father Murphy to remain in Plainfield. He consented to give the matter further consideration and make an effort to select another priest for the Paterson church, and if he could do this he would permit Father Murphy to retain his present position.

The removal of Father Murphy from Plainfield will be a source of regret to the Catholics, but now that it is known that he must go, the members of the church are congratulating themselves that he is to be succeeded by Father McCormick.

FIELD WORKERS MEET.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION IN SESSION.

The Meetings Being Held in the Y. M. C. A. Building—Welcome to Delegates by Dr. Yerkes—Business Matters Today.

The opening session of the sixth annual conference of the International Sunday-School Field Workers' Association was held in the First Baptist church last evening. The church was well filled with an audience composed largely of Sunday-school workers.

The conference began with a devotional service lasting from 7:30 until 8 o'clock. Rev. D. J. Yerkes, D. D., pastor of the church, then delivered a greeting to the delegates on behalf of the city of Plainfield.

It was eminently fitting, he said, that a conference of Sunday school workers should be held in this city, because if the international lessons were not invented here they were at least first put into practice by Dr. Vincent, a Plainfield man. He extended the welcome of the city and hoped that the pleasant experience of past conferences would be repeated.

The welcome from the State Association was given by Dr. George W. Bailey, of Wenonah, the State president. New Jersey might not be at the head of the procession in Sunday-school work, he said, but she was far enough up to keep in step with the music.

Responses were made to the speeches of welcome by Mrs W. F. Crafts, of Washington, D. C., for the south; by George H. Archibald, of Montreal, Can., for the north; by Rev. E. P. St. John, of Springfield, Mass., for the east, and by W. J. Semelroth, of St. Louis, for the west.

All the speakers gave encouraging reports of the development of Sunday-school work in the field for which they responded.

The congregation then arose and sang "Blest be the tie that binds," and an offering was taken to be used in distributing over the country the printed reports of the present conference. During the taking of the offering Miss Harris, of the church choir, sang a pleasing solo.

The address of the evening was delivered by B. F. Jacobs, of Chicago, Ill., chairman of the International executive committee. He said that he was very anxious to give his hearers an adequate idea of the field of Sunday-school work. It is probable that none of us understand the importance of this branch of Christian work. Upon the success of it depends the safety of our Republic. Bible study is neglected everywhere except in the Sunday-school.

He described in detail how the work was being organized and carried on in the different states, and related personal experiences. The great foes which the Sunday-school workers must contend with are ignorance, selfishness and unbelief.

The conference was continued in the large hall of the Y. M. C. A., this morning. At 9 o'clock a Bible reading was given by W. J. Semelroth, of St. Louis, Mo. Alfred Day, of Deer Park Ont., the president of the association, delivered his annual address at 9:30 o'clock, and at 9:45 the annual report of the secretary and treasurer of the association was rendered by Miss Mary F. Huber, of Louisville, Ky. The financial report showed receipts for the year of $364 63 and disbursements of $262 18, leaving a balance of $102.45. The report described in detail the work done during the past year, including the distribution of the reports of the last conference held at Louisville, Ky., the dissemination of literature, the organization of district conferences. The International Standard of organization for Sunday-school work, which is by townships, counties, cities, towns, States and provinces, was presented for the consideration of the conference. The exchange of association papers was strongly urged. The report was referred to a committee, of which W. J. Semelroth, of St. Louis, was chairman.

An interesting conference on financial methods was next held.

An interesting feature of this part of the programme was a paper by Chas. D. Meigs, of Indianapolis, on International Rally Day. The idea prevails in too many minds, the report said, that rally day means money day and nothing more. The Sunday-school workers should be made to understand that the money end of rally day is the little end of it and the ingathering and upbuilding is the big end and bulk of it. The report urged that the conference pass a resolution requesting the international executive and lesson committee to provide fifty-one lessons instead of fifty-two for each year, and that said committees arrange for the annual international

FOR CURRENCY REFORM

Representative Johnson Says the House Will Pass a Bill.

ITS PROPOSED FEATURES

To Meet the Views of the Administration and Republicans Generally--Secretary Gage the Spokesman--Teller Resolution Reported to Committee on Finance.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Representative Johnson, of Indiana, a member of the Banking and Currency Committee, says that the Republican members of the committee will before long get together on a financial bill which could be put through the House. A measure is contemplated which will meet with the approval of the administration and of a majority of the Republicans in Congress, and a bill which has the approval of a majority of the Republicans will be expected to get the support of all. In considering the attitude of the administration the Secretary of the Treasury is regarded as the repreto represent the President, and it is has appeared before the committee with any antagonistic views, claiming to represent the Preseident, and it is assumed that the Secretary speaks for the administration.

The measure which Mr. Johnson says the committee will agree on is such as to indicate that the committee has no doubt of the desire of the Administration to maintain the present gold standard, notwithstanding the impression Mr. Wolcott appears to have that Mr. McKinley is being misrepresented by Mr. Gage. Mr. Johnson says that the measure finally agreed upon will comprise:

First—A reaffirmation of the present gold standard.

Second—The retirement of the demand obligations of the Government.

Third—The divorcing of the Treasury from the functions of a bank of issue.

Fourth—The substitution for retired demand obligations, to avoid a contraction of the currency, of a circulating medium of bank notes.

The members have no doubt that such a measure would meet with the approval of the President.

Secretary Gage's Hearing.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary Gage, in his capacity as a financial expert, proceeded yesterday with the currency hearing before the House Committee on Banking and Currency. Ex-Secretary Fairchild and Solicitor of the Treasury O'Connell also were present.

The early hours of the hearing were given to a discussion of the sufficiency of the bank guaranty on unsecured circulation, as provided by the various bills now before the committee. Chairman Walker, in a series of questions, sought to show that the guaranty required by the Gage bill and the Monetary Commission bill was too great, thus imposing an onerous burden on the banks, far beyond the losses which experience had shown would occur. Mr. Gage said that the safety fund in his bill was placed at a point which he regarded as safe, and if found too high it could be reduced.

Mr. Fairchild said it was felt that in a step of this character, it would be better to make the guaranty too great rather than too little.

Mr. Gage stated in this connection that he saw objections to the plan of imposing a mutual responsibility on all banks, as proposed in the Monetary Commission bill. It would be an unfortunate requirement, he felt, as it would operate to keep desirable banks from entering the system by imposing on them a responsibility for outside banks. The banker as a rule did not want to be responsible for losses other than his own. Whether the guaranty was to be by a 2 per cent. tax on banks, as he provided, or by a mutual guaranty from all banks, as the Commission provided, or some other adequate plan, Mr. Gage said he was willing to concede this detail, so long as there was some safe securety for the redemption of the bank notes.

Teller Resolution Reported.

Washington, Dec. 19.—The Senate Committee on Finance voted yesterday to report the Teller resolution declaring for the payment of national bonds in silver as well as gold. The vote stood 8 to 5. The resolution is practically the same as the Stanley Matthews resolution adopted some years ago. Those voting for the resolution were Messrs. Vest, Johns (Ark), White, Walthall, Turpie, Daniel, Democrats; Jones (Nevada, silver Republican), and Wolcott (Rep.)

Those opposed were Morrill, Allison, Aldrich, Platt (Conn.) and Burrows.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, was not present, but his vote was by his request recorded in favor of the resolution.

Mr. Platt (Conn.) and Mr. Morrill (Vermont) desired it understood that the report was not unanimous.

The vote in the committee was preceded by a discussion which was generally participated in. The Republicans contended that the resolution was useless, and would be devoid of results. They especially deprecated the agitation of the financial question at the present time, saying there was no effort, and likely to be none, to pass a general financial measure through the Senate committing the country more definitely to the gold standard.

To this the Democrats replied by citing the efforts of Secertary Gage and ex-Senator Edmunds to have Congress take up the question with a view to placing the country definitely upon a gold basis. They contended that it was the evident purpose of the Administration to secure legislation in the interest of the single standard whenever opportunity offered, and avowed their purpose of securing a declaration in favor of a double standard such as was proposed in the resolution, if possible to do so, in order to show that there had been no change in sentiment. If, they said, the business interests were to be injured by the agitation of the financial question at this time, the blame should be placed upon the Republican Administration, and not upon the Democrats.

When the Republican Senators were reminded that they had voted for the resolution when presented by Stanley Matthews, twenty years ago, they admitted such to be a fact, but said that conditions had changed. Senator Wolcott heartily supported the resolution, saying he would vote for it every time it came up.

A MILLION FROM KLONDIKE.

More Gold-Laden Adventurers From Alaska--There Will Be No Starvation.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 19.—Twenty-two persons arrived here from Dawson City on the steamer Corona, bringing with them a small amount of gold dust and drafts on the North American Trading and Transportation Company and the Alaska Commercial Company, amounting to between $900,000 and $1,000,000. In the party was one woman. She is the second woman to come from the gold fields this winter.

The amount of drafts brought down represents the proceeds of sales of claims to the Cudahy-Healy Yukon and Klondike Mining Company and private parties.

Men with dogs can make their way by hugging the shore, but no considerable quantity of supplies can be carried with dog teams. A roadway can be cut through these ridges, but it will require a large amount of money, and it is doubtful if the work could be completed before the ice moved out of the river in the Spring.

The proposed use of reindeer in this country is considered entirely impracticable. Heavy snowstorms have occurred this week on the Chilkoot Pass, and travel has been practically impossible for days at a time.

In reference to the food situation at Dawson, the new arrivals corroborate previous reports that while food is scarce, there will be no starvation. They consider that it will be impossible to get a relief expedition in at this season of the year. Relief expeditions can easily reach the foot of Lake Lebarge, but the trouble will begin when the Yukon River is reached. The Yukon is filled from shore to shore with great ice ridges from ten to twenty feet high, the ice being thrown up in great blocks and standing in all sorts of angles.

Confirms Mother Lode Discovery.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 19.—The news brought by the treasure-laden miners who arrived from the Klondike on the steamer Corona is important chiefly as confirmatory of the discovery of the great mother lode. Three men, Welch, Coffin and Burt, are authority for the statement that the original strike was made at the upper end of Claim No. 30, Eldorado, while two stringers, one No. 27 and another yet lower down, were subsequently located. The discovery is accepted as assurance of the permanence of the district as a rich gold mining field. The placer diggings also continue rich.

TO SUCCEED SENATOR GORMAN.

Ineffectual Ballot Taken in the Maryland Legislature.

State House, Annapolis, Md., Jan. 19.—The Maryland General Assembly began yesterday to ballot for a United States Senator to succeed Arthur Poe Gorman, whose term of office expires in March, 1899. The opening of the fight found the Republicans, who have a considerable majority in both houses, divided among themselves, eleven of the number, all delegates from Baltimore City, having persistently refused to go into a caucus on the Senatorial or any other question.

The situation was further complicatedp by rumors that William T. Malster, the newly elected Republican Mayor of Baltimore, would enter the contest, and that he expected to win by means of a coalition between the malcontents and the forty-seven Democrats in the House and Senate, which, if accomplished, would give him a bare majority. These conditions caused the outcome of the struggle to be greatly in doubt. The first ballot, therefore, was watched with interest, but it developed nothing.

The Senate cast its vote as follows: Judge Louis F. McComas, 9; Congressman Isaac A. Barber, 4; Thomas Parran, 2; John V. L. Findlay, 1; Gov. Lloyd Lowndes, 1; Major Alex Shaw, 1; A. P. Gorman (Dem.), 6; Judge Henry Page (Dem.) 1. Total, 25.

The House vote was: Judge McComas, 25; Thomas J. Shyrock, 3; Alex. Shaw, 11; J. V. L. Findlay, 1; Isaac A. Barber, 2; Milton G. Urner, 1; Thomas Parran, 1; J. C. Hulliken, 1; Arthur P. Gorman (Dem.), 36. No other ballot was taken. The fight will be resumed to-day in joint session.

Mrs. Nack Taken to Auburn.

New York, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Augusta Nack, the accomplice of Martin Thorn in the butchery of William Guldensuppe, was removed from the Queens County Jail to the State prison in Auburn this morning. She was in charge of Keeper Allen Tupper and Matron Alice E. O'Hara, of Auburn prison. The party left the Grand Central depot on the Empire express at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Nack was in good spirits and said she was anxious to begin her term of imprisonment, which she admitted, she richly deserved.

Mrs. Nack was sentenced to 15 years for her part in the murder of Guldensuppe, but her sentence will be less than 10 years, on account of reduction for good behavior. Mrs. Nack, who since she was sentenced had been packing up her personal effects was ready to go at any time. After the goods were taken away in a van a few days ago there remained nothing in the cell room of the murderess but some wearing apparel. She had on her bonnet and her wrap was on a chair waiting to start her trip. Mrs. Nack appeared anxious, and in some respects resembling a woman about to start on a shopping trip.

Will Stick to Potter.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—The delegates of the Pennsylvania Division of the League of American Wheelmen last night reaffirmed the action of the special committee which recently went to New York and entered into an agreement whereby Isaac B. Potter was to be supported for re-election, as president, in return for the support of T. J. Keenan, of Pittsburg, for vice-president. Last night's action was reached after a meeting which lasted more than four hours, by a vote of 64 to 36. The decision of the delegates was subsequently made unanimous.

Spinks Defeats Schaefer.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Spinks defeated Schaefer last night in the second game of the 18-inch balk line tournament. The score was 200 to 139. The "Wizard" evidently had mislaid his magic wand, for he was utterly unable to control the balls, missing shots that would have been easy for an amateur, overdrawing in the most flagrant manner, and in three instances failing to get the balls out of balk.

Canals Without Water
Are Like Blood Vessels Without Blood.
A half-filled canal is of little service to commerce and a steamboat navigates such a canal with great difficulty. So also with a human being when the blood vessels are only half filled with blood, or when the blood is pale and watery, the heart is at serious disadvantage. It also draws its own nourishment from this blood and so is doubly hampered if the blood is lacking in iron or Haemoglobin. If you haven't sufficient of this fuel you should take Capsuloids, a scientific preparation of pure iron extracted from fresh bullocks blood enclosed in little, soft gelatine globes which quickly melt in the stomach and the natural iron passes instantly into the blood.
Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price by The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 76 Fulton Street, New York.

TO WELCOME PRESIDENT DOLE.

To Be Received as the Guest of the United States Government.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Arrangements are being made for the entertainment of President Dole, of Hawaii, on a scale befitting his rank as the chief magistrate of a friendly nation. It has been decided that he shall be regarded as the nations' guest and that the Government shall bear the expense of his entertainment while in Washington.

The formal visit paid to President Dole by Gen. Shafer at San Francisco was not by directions from Washington, but it is said the call was required by army regulations.

President McKinley has decided to have the official tour of the Hawaiian President begin at Chicago, and at that point he will be met by the representatives of the President and of the United States Government. The latter would not have time to reach San Francisco before the departure of Mr. Dole for the East. The personal representative of the President will be Third Assistant Secretary of State Thomas W. Cridler, the army will be represented by Major H. O. S. Heistand, Assistant Adjutant-General, and the navy probably by Lieut-Commander T. S. Phelps, now in this city on leave of absence, the last-named being personally acquainted with the distinguished visitor and speaking the Kanaka language fluently.

The three representatives named will go to Chicago as soon as they receive notice of the probable arrival there of President Dole, and escort him to Washington. When he arrives here he will be quartered at the Arlington, where Li Hung Chang, Princess Eulalia and other national guests have been entertained, and his comfort will be closely looked after by the Government representatives.

At the Legation it is said that the reports regarding the reasons for the visit of the President are somewhat misleading. He is not in the country for the purpose of lobbying, as it were, for the annexation treaty, but merely for the purpose of giving needful advice to the Administration, and to the Senate, if desired. He will remain in the country until the treaty has been finally ratified or rejected by the Senate.

We Must Pay for Lynching.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President McKinley sent to the Senate a message with a report from the Secretary of State relating to the lynching in 1895 at Yreka, Cal., of Louis Morena, a Mexican citizen, and the demand of the Mexican Government for indemnity. The President says:

"Following the course adopted in the case of the lynching of the three Italians in Louisiana, in August, 1896, I have recommended the appropriation by Congress, out of humane considerations and without reference to the question of liability of the Government of the United States in the premises, of the sum of $2,000 to be paid by the Secretary of State to the Government of Mexico, to be distributed among the heirs of Louis Morena."

Noted Animal Painter Dead.

Boston, Jan. 19.—Scott Leighton, the well-known artist, died yesterday. He was taken ill with pneumonia three weeks ago and was committed to the McLean Asylum for treatment for insanity soon afterward. It was hoped that by takingthe matter in hand without delay his stay in the asylum would be of short duration, but unfavorable symptoms developed and death followed. Leighton's fame rested on his ability in animal portraiture.

Killed by a Millionaire.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 19.—Dr. Charles F. Simmons, a reputed millionaire, shot and killed Emil Davidson on the street yesterday. Simmons was arrested. He says he killed Davidson for a wrong done to his daughter. This is Simmons' third deadly affray in which he has been involved. Several years ago he stabbed a brother-in-law and also stabbed a bookkeeper some time ago.

Lady Sykes a Forger.

London, Jan. 19.—The trial of the suit brought by Jay, the money lender, to recover the value of two promissory notes alleged to have been signed by Sir Tatton Sykes and cashed by his wife, Lady Jessica Sykes, was ended yesterday. The jury brought in a verdict for the defendant, which implies that the signatures to the notes were forged by Lady Sykes.

Slayer Escapes Gallows.

Newark, N. J., Jan. 19.—For kicking his wife to death and hacking her body with a knife George Clark, of Belleville, was yesterday sentenced to twenty years in State Prison. Upon the slender thread of a little daughter's testimony would have hung the fate of the prisoner if he had been brought to trial for murder in the first degree.

A Clairvoyant's Ruse?

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 19.—Nothing developed yesterday tending to confirm the rumor that the steamer City of Seattle went aground on her trip to Alaska. It is believed that story was circulated in the interest of a clairvoyant, who predicted the loss of the ship.

Forty Dead in a Russian Mine.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—Forty persons were killed and eighteen injured by an explosion of gas in one of the mines of the Donetzaer Company, in the Taganrog district on the north shore of the Sea of Azov.

Three Killed in a Railroad Wreck.

Auburn, Cal., Jan. 19.—The westbound overland train jumped the track near Colfax last evening, wrecking the train badly. The engineer, fireman and one brakeman were killed.

The delicious flavor of H-O is not its chief merit. Primarily it is a health food.
HORNBY'S OATMEAL

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Patrick Casey, of West Fourth street, is slowly recovering from a severe sprain to his ankle.

Mrs. Charles Schermerhorn, of West Front street, is visiting her brother, Charles Winfield, of Jersey City, who is very ill.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Miss Mary Collier, of East Sixth street, is able to be out again after a slight illness.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues

—Fred Bowden, of Grant avenue, has secured a position with S. C. Baker, of West Fifth street.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Justice William Newcorn was called to Elizabeth on important business yesterday.

—The skating was good at Hyde's pond yesterday afternoon. There were very few there to enjoy it, however. The skating at Ohl's pond was poor and the few who went there left soon much disappointed.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—There will be a meeting of Iona Council, Degree of Pocohontas, this evening.

—The Plainfield Street Railway is improving the condition of West Fourth street, between Liberty street and Plainfield avenue, by the use of crushed stone.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

MILLS REMAIN CLOSED

No Attempt to Start Up Made at New Bedford.

FEELING WAS TOO INTENSE

Every Indication of a Long and Bitter Struggle at Biddeford, Me.—All Quiet at Lewiston—Weavers Return to Work at Fitchburg.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 19.—Not one of the cloth mills of the city made any attempt to run yesterday. The experiences of Monday, especially that of the incipient riot in the evening at the Bristol Mill, showed popular feeling to be so intense that it would be unwise to make any effort. Therefore, not an engine was started, even the Bristol being silent.

The thousands of operatives are very quiet, and everything seems to have settled down to a waiting battle.

The Situation at Biddeford.

Biddeford, Me., Jan. 19.—The strike situation here is unchanged. The Popperell, Laconia and York mills remain shut down, and there is every indication of a long struggle and lockout.

All Quiet at Lewiston.

Lewiston, Me., Jan. 19.—Everything was quiet at the Lewiston cotton mills yesterday. At the Androscoggin, the only mill where trouble exists, a crowd was gathered about the gates, but no violence was offered to those who passed through into the mill.

A few operatives in each department, except that of the spinners and back boys, went in to work. Small sections of the mill are running. The Androscoggin mills have shut down in all departments for an indefinite period.

Return to Work at Fitchburg

Fitchburg, Mass., Jan. 19.—The weavers of the Hockage cotton mill, who struck Monday returned to work yesterday. They decided to accept the reduction, which the managers state will not exceeed 6 per cent. The weavers when they left work yesterday, claimed that the proposed cut would be about 10 1-4 and 15 3-4 per cent.

Mill Owners to Send for Guards.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 19.—The mill owners are talking of importing private detectives to guard their plants and protect the non-union men whom they desire to employ. It is only talk as yet, but such action would cause trouble that might result very seriously. There has been little disorder as yet, but the fuel for riot is ready, and it simply needs a spark.

Fall River May Take Action.

Fall River, Jan. 19.—The King Philip Mills have decided to throw out their mules as rapidly as they can, and the work of removing them was begun yesterday. Some of the spinning frames that will take the places of the mules will be here in a few days. The reason given by the management for this change is that it is in the power of the mule spinners to tie up the mill when they please and for any cause they please. It is understood that in the event of serious trouble at the Stafford, Wampanoag or any other mill the mules will be thrown out there.

TO REPORT ANTI-SCALPING BILL.

Will Be in the Form of a Substitute Drawn by Mr. Sherman.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The House Committee on Commerce voted to report the Anti-Scalping bill in the form of a substitute, prepared by Mr. Sherman, of New York. The substitute follows the general lines of the original bill, with some additional features. It places a penalty on railroad officers who deal with scalpers. Heretofore the plan has been to hold the corporation liable, but the new provision extends the liability to officials, making them subject to a misdemeanor, fine or imprisonment on conviction. A new paragraph is inserted making it unlawful for general passenger agents to supply tickets to other than an authorized ticket agent.

Another provision requires that unused tickets shall be redeemed at any time within one year. Any company failing to redeem a ticket is made liable to a civil action to a penalty of $100 in excess of the redemption money on the ticket. Mr. Sherman will write the report and present it to-morrow.

These changes in the substitute bill were opposed by the railroads, but after several tie votes, Representative Hinrichsen, of Chicago, who proposed the amendments, threatened to kill the bill if they were not adopted, and so, finally, the committee yielded. They expect the bill to pass.

Many Made Homeless.

Washington, Jan. 19.—United States Minister Powell reported to the State Department from Port au Prince that American residents suffered very heavily from the recent fire there, which destroyed eight hundred homes, rendered homeless more than 2,000 persons and entailed a loss of more than a million dollars. Many of the largest American commercial houses were located in the burned section. The fire spread rapidly and got beyond control, owing to the lack of water and inadequate fire service.

Won't Reopen Seal Question.

London, Jan. 19.—Great Britain has again declined to reopen the sealing question. It seems that her previous refusal gave as the reason that while negotiations were pending between the United States and Canada, Great Britain could not reopen the matter. To this the United States replied that no negotiations were pending, and renewed the request. The foreign office, however, sends its regrets that the Government does not see its way to reopen the question.

Bill to Revive Penny Post System.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The House Committee on Post Offices has made a favorable report on the Sperry bill for rural free delivery. This project differs from the general rural free delivery proposition, in that it depends on the petitioning of one or more persons for each town, and the compensation of the carriers or collectors is to be derived from private agreements between them and the citizens served. It is like the old penny post system.

GREAT IS THE COMMUTER.

The New Jersey commuter is always recognized as a person of dignified mien, even if necessity does sometimes compel him to stride with more alacrity than grace to catch a train, but his importance to New York as a contributor to the commercial standing of the metropolis, is thus prominently set forth by the Newark News:

Has New York ever stopped to calculate what it loses every time a fog on the North River holds up the New Jersey commuter? This is really an important matter, although heretofore wholly overlooked, and the Bureau of Municipal Statistics should be set to work on it. The result of the inquiry is bound to add immensely to the glory of the New Jersey commuter. Say, as a starting point, that a morning fog holds up the North River ferries for twenty minutes. This means that the tens of thousands of New Jersey men and women are delayed that long in reaching their respective places of business. Therefore the marts of trade do not start up on time. The pulse of business does not throb. The wheels of industry do not revolve. Speculation slumbers on. The ticker is mute. The ocean moans against the shore, but navigation is locked up. The whole scheme of trade and commerce lies dormant till the commuter gets there. It is high time that some attempt was made to figure out just what this costs New York in dollars and cents. And when this is done the strongest argument of all will have been advanced why a bridge should be built at once over the North River.

MUST HAVE ADVERTISING.

In every town there are merchants of the cobwebbed variety who believe that advertising does not pay. Men of such stale opinion should take a lesson from the experience of the department stores of Denver, Col. A short time ago the proprietors of these stores combined together to compel the Denver newspapers to lower their advertising rates. The newspapers refused and a boycott was instituted by the department store proprietors. It is related that the fight stirred up the community greatly, the result being that the department stores were almost deserted by purchasers and the proprietors had to surrender or go out of business. They had plenty of bargains in their stores, but no way of inducing the people to come and inspect the goods. Last night the merchants announced that they were beaten and would make new contracts at old terms as soon as possible.

It is not likely that the Borough Council will hold a special meeting this month to make provisions for the appointment of G. F. Brown as collector of the borough for the unexpired time of Collector Spencer, as it will be only a short time before the regular February meeting.

BAND TO GIVE A DANCE.

The Funds to be Used in the Purchase of New Uniforms.

The first ball of the Queen City Band will be held in the Pierce Cycle Academy on the evening of Feb. 4th. Queen City Band is the newly-organized band which has occasioned so much favorable comment by the excellent music rendered each time it has appeared before the public, and its object in giving the ball is to raise sufficient money to buy uniforms and the effort is one which should be assisted by all lovers of music, for the obtaining of these uniforms is the first step toward the band concerts which the band promises for next summer. It might be well to state that the music at the ball will be by an orchestra of 12 pieces, all members of the band, each one of whom is recognized as a thorough musician.

Officers Take Their Chairs.

At the regular meeting of Old Glory Council, No. 62, D. of L., last evening, the newly-elected officers were installed by their past junior ex-councilor, Miss Lizzie Dunlap. They were as follows: Councilor, Mrs. Snyder; vice councilor, Mrs. Kettenering; junior ex-councilor, Mrs. Holstein; junior ex-associate councilor Mrs. Gano; associate councilor, Mrs. Haberle; associate vice-councilor, Mrs. Van Fleet; recording secretary, Mrs. Moore; financial secretary, Mrs. Walker; treasurer, Mr. Walker; inside guard, Mr. Shaeback; outside guard, Mr. Scribner; guide, Mrs. Heath.

Geo. Rogers, of West Front street, has returned from Rutherford.

CHALLENGE FOR A DEBATE.

Youthful Parliamentarians of This City and Somerville to Meet.

The youthful debaters of Plainfield are soon to try their skill against the future citizens of Somerville. Last evening at the meeting of the Plainfield Debating Society a challenge was received from the A. T. G. Society, of Somerville, an organization composed of young men from the Somerset county seat who are interested in discussion and debate, to meet the Plainfield club in a series of three debates. The challenge was favorably received by the members. No action was taken on the matter, but it will probably be accepted.

There was no programme at the meeting last evening. The programme for the next meeting was arranged, however. It was decided to have a mock trial of a civil case. The case will be that of Kenneth Anderson against David Wikoff. The lawyers for the plaintiff will be Linbarger and LaRue, and for the defendant, Nash and DeMeza.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Postmaster Coriell was in Plainfield yesterday on business.

William Walters has returned from a visit in Hunterdon county.

Miss Carrie Heyl is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Fern, of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Hamilton, of Westfield, has been visiting borough relatives.

Charles Graves, of Plainfield, was in the borough on business yesterday.

Justice Storms, of New Market, has been out of town looking after some business matters.

Mrs. John Tingley is much improved from a severe illness that has detained her at home.

George Richardson is able to return to business after a slight illness that detained him at home.

Constable Wyhuskey is still working on the recent postoffice robbery and is not inclined to give the matter up.

Fred Wilcox, the faithful carrier for The Daily Press, is confined to his home with an attack of the grip. His brother is now looking after his route.

The special meetings being held at the New Market Baptist church continue with unabated zeal and interest, and the results are most gratifying to those in charge.

The work of placing Alvah Gray's new stone cracker in position was started this afternoon. It will require several days to get the machinery in readiness for duty.

Robert Lowrie, of North avenue, will celebrate the anniversary of his eighty-third birthday Tuesday, February 1st, and the event will be appropriately remembered.

A union prayer service will be held this evening in the M. E. church, and Friday evening the last conference for the quarter will be held in the church. Presiding Elder Smith, of Plainfield, will have charge of the latter service.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The trolley franchise was passed on second reading last evening.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marsh yesterday afternoon.

Miss Hattie Brown has returned to Elizabeth after spending a week with friends in Fanwood.

SOUTH STIRLING.

The Stirling mills are now running on full time and taking on all new applicants that are competent, and new buildings are constantly going up.

The farmers are agitating the question how to best protect the farms from the depredations of hunters. The most of them are placing their land under the charge of some hunting society which agrees to pay all damages and prosecute trespassing, for the privilege of hunting on the premises. The past season has been a quiet one, but as the game laws are being changed the farmers all are interested.

Rev. James A. Francis, pastor of the Riverside Baptist church of New York city, preached in the Baptist church last evening. No services will be held in the edifice tonight.

The subject of the mid-week prayer meeting in the Westfield Congregational church tonight will be "Christian Service and its Rewards." Wm. J. Hamilton will lead.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Westfield Methodist church met in the church parlors this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society met in the same rooms at 4 o'clock.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Westfield Congregational church is preparing a missionary box of clothing and literature to send to one of the normal schools of the A. M. A. Packages may be left in the Sunday-school room this evening.

BASKET BALL WAR.

A. A. U. Will Fight All Unregistered Teams.

The first gun has been fired in the war between the A. A. U. and the unregistered basket ball teams, who protested and made a stand against the A. A. U. order requiring them to register and pay certain fees. The shot came from the A. A. U. and was in the form of an order from the registration committee for the disqualification of the members of the Bay Ridge A. C. basket ball team, and the Fourth Separate Company team, of Yonkers.

The specific offences charged are that the disqualified teams on New Year's Day played games of basket-ball without sanction from the union, and that they allowed unregistered athletes to compete as representing their teams. From this ruling the only appeal the disqualified men have is back to the A. A. U. The disqualification carries with it disqualification by the L. A. W., the Intercollegiate Association, the Interscholastic Association, the Y. M. C. A. and all other organizations identified with the A. A. U.

The fight has been pending since the A. A. U. first gave notice that the registration of basket ball players would be required, as in the case of hockey players and similar teams formed for athletic competition. Many of the basket ball teams yielded to the order at once and cancelled games arranged with teams which refused to submit. Those who defied the A. A. U. have been waiting to see what terms of discipline would be first used on the independent teams, but all have been shy of earning the punishment for themselves. The action of the committee recently indicates that the A. A. U. will enforce its orders. The result may be a speedy surrender by the unregistered, or it may be a big split in the A. A. U. The chances are that there will be no split, however.

THEATRICAL.

"Standing room only" will no doubt be the rule at every performance next week at Stillman Music Hall, for Payton's Big Comedy Company has been booked for an engagement of a solid week, opening Monday evening with "Woman Against Woman," a play which is justly popular with all lovers of high-class dramas. It will be given a magnificent scenic production, a car load of special effects and properties being carried by the company for the artistic mounting of its repertoire of plays. They will be presented in a manner which will compare favorably with the productions of high priced companies. Between acts each evening, there will be introduced pleasing singing and dancing specialties, and a series of war views thrown upon a large canvas by one of Edison's latest inventions. Prices during this engagement will be 10, 20 and 30 cents, no higher, and the motto of the Payton company—"nothing cheap but the prices"—will be strictly adhered to.

What promises to be the greatest attempt in the era of realism will be seen at Stillman Music Hall tonight, in the melodrama of Lincoln J. Carter's "Fast Mail." The play is famous throughout the country for the completeness and magnitude of its mechanical effects. The production is under the personal supervision of its author, Lincoln J. Carter. Special scenery is carried for the ten complete sets to be used in the play. In the second act a steamboat is shown with the boiler rooms and their intricate machinery, and the glowing furnaces. The boat is blown up by a tremendous explosion, and the wreck is seen going down in mid river. The great railway scene is another of the unprecedented achievements of their performance in the direction of realism.

PASSING COMMENT.

The Peters Cartridge Company, which is now repreeented in New York by T. H. Keller, 88 Chambers street, who resides in this city, has issued one of the handsomest calendars that has come into this office for many a year. It has a large lithograph in colors of a stag, wounded to death, making his last leap from the banks of the stream to the wooded hillside. "His Last Leap" is the title. On the back of the calendar is a very handy reference for sportsmen. It gives the game laws in brief for every State in the Union and for the different provinces in Canada.

An amusing story is now told by a clerk in Hall's pharmacy in connection with the arrest of George Spencer, alias Reed, the king of bunco steerers. Spencer, it seems, was a customer now and then at the drug store and the clerk, inclined to be pleasant and agreeable to all customers, said to the noted crook one day:

"Well, Mr. Spencer, how is business with you."

"Very good, thank you," replied the sauve bunco man.

The clerk verily believes that he can remember seeing Spencer's eye's twinkle in a merry manner after he had answered.

Red Men Danced.

An enjoyable dance was given in Washington Hall last evening by the Paughcaughpaughsinque Council, Degree of Pocohontas. Although the attendance was not as large as was hoped, a very pleasant evening was spent. Charles Delehaunt acted as floor manager. William Dagnall was in command at the box office. Judge V. W. Nash had charge of the soda water booth. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Leland, Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Devine. The music was by Naylor.

FOUND IN THE CATHEDRAL.

Not Only Lost Pocketbooks, but Babies Are Picked Up in the Pews.

It is customary for searchers to go about among the pews in St. Patrick's Cathedral, in New York, after each service, to pick up the articles that have been lost or forgotten. Scarcely a day passes that something of value is not turned over to the information bureau by the searchers, and there is always on display at this bureau an assortment of gloves, handkerchiefs, umbrellas, and books. The most notable 'finds' in this great church, however, are babies.

"There have been eighteen or twenty babies found here within my recollection," said Special Officer Rutledge at the cathedral the other day. "It is not an unusual thing to find one of them sleeping in a pew after everybody else has left the church. They are very young babies, as a rule, and are undoubtedly abandoned deliberately. I suppose that in most cases the parents are too poor to take care of the little ones, and leave them here because they don't know what else to do with them. Sometimes we take these deserted babies to the foundling asylum and sometimes to the police station. I do not recall an instance where the identity of any of these waifs has been discovered.

"A surprisingly large amount of money is found in this cathedral," continued Officer Rutledge. "Women who come here to meditate and pray frequently leave their purses on the kneeling benches. Only a few days ago a little girl found $75 in one of the chapels. She handed it to one of the church attendants, and it was restored to its owner. Pocketbooks are found scattered about the church after every big ceremony. A great variety of articles are picked up after the big crowds of Christians and Easter have departed.

"I am sorry to say that some of the women that come here are not honest. Occasionally we find one whose mission is evidently to pick up something. Such persons are watched very closely, and we try to keep them out of the church entirely. One day last week a woman who had been at her devotions at one of the side altars went away and left her pocketbook on the bench. A scrubwoman saw it and started to pick it up, but before she could get there a well-dressed woman, in a pew near by, left her seat and went into the altar and knelt on the pocketbook. The cleaner waited a reasonable length of time, and then asked the strange woman to kindly move to one side, which she did without saying a word. In that way the pocketbook, which contained considerable money, was recovered."

CURIOSITIES IN GLASS.

Made of Threads Spun as Delicate and Airy as the Finest Gauze.

When the story of Cinderella was first translated into our language and the slippers of vair, or fur, became slippers of verre, or glass, the translator would have been amazed to know that slippers of glass were not a fairy impossibility. But it is not a great while since in this country a patent was taken out upon glass slippers. That is really not extraordinary, since, in fact, the uses to which glass is now put are almost innumerable. There was exhibited, some years ago, a bonnet made of glass, with all its trimmings and furbelows, the flowers as natural as life, the ribbons with the luster of satin; and since then an actress added to her wardrobe the splendors of a dress woven all of spun glass. The glass thread is drawn out to a fineness that makes it perfectly pliable and elastic, it has no liability of breaking, and it can be almost as delicate, and as airy as the finest gauze, and can be given any color.

It is in curious contrast to this that another object has been made of glass—a coffin, whose inventor claims for it indestructibility. Of course, it is comparatively indestructible, but when we see the glass tear bottles in any collection of antiques, where decay has disintegrated the once pure white transparent glass and rendered it a mass of splendid color, one can imagine the incongruous appearance of that article after some dozen centuries, holding its dead wrapped now in a sheet of flame, and now as if in the sapphire of the heart of the sky.

Meanwhile the more modest of us may content ourselves with the imitations of gems, wonderful and not to be detected, that are now made of glass and with strings of the lovely Venetian beads where a glass bubble coated within by a solution of certain fish-scales has the many-tinted softness of the pearl, and all of its beauty, except the romance and poetry and pathos of the sea, which clings to the real thing. The poet, talking about the fairy tales of science, may well have had some of these simple wonders in his fancy, for while a bit of quartz is a simple and primitive substance, it is as great a wonder as some more important things that such flinty stuff can be transformed into something as light as the haze that floats in the air.—Harper's Bazar.

IN A MINE ABOUT TO EXPLODE.

Extinguished the Fuses When Almost Burned to the Powder.

John Kendall, who was recently the foreman of a mine at Rossland, B. C., lately underwent an experiment that has left him a physical wreck. His nerves were shattered and it will be months before he regains his former strength.

Kendall and four other men lighted the short fuses under eight charges of giant powder in the True Blue mine and then jumped into the basket to be hauled to the surface and out of harm's way. The basket raised a few feet and then stopped. Soon it began settling, and it looked as though the five men would be blown to atoms when the tremendous charges of powder were exploded. When the basket was within four feet of the bottom of the shaft the fuses could be heard sputtering, and the men knew that only a few seconds would elapse before the blasts were discharged.

Kendall jumped from the basket and began pulling the fuses from the primers, which were to explode the powder.

Kendall had extinguished five of the fuses nearest the bottom of the shaft when he heard the preliminary sputtering that betokened an immediate explosion several feet away. He stumbled towards them and fell, extinguishing his light. Then there was nothing but the spitting fire to guide him.

"Fortunately," he says in describing his actions, "the two shots had been put down close together. I was able to seize a fuse in either hand. Providence was with me again, for neither blast exploded as I drew the fuse from the primers. What happened after that I do not know of my own knowledge. A great darkness came over me. They say they found me doubled up at the bottom of the shaft, with the fuses of the last two holes clinched tightly in my hands."

It was afterwards discovered that the stopping of the ascending basket was due to the engineer's carelessness. He had forgotten to open the water-cocks in the cylinders, and, as a consequence the slide valves choked and would not act.—New York World.

Rich Men in Kansas.

There are no rich men, says William Allen White in the Atlantic, in these Kansas towns. The men who own a million dollars' worth of property number less than half a score in the whole State. Those who control half a million dollars' worth of property might ride together in a sleeping-car, with an upper berth or two to spare. Every town has its rich man, measured by a local standard, who is frequently a retired farmer turned banker, but not one in five of these is rated at $100,000. Yet each is the autocrat of his county if he cares to be. The mainspring that moves the town's daily machinery may be found in the back room of the bank. There it is decided whether or not the bonds shall be voted. There it is often determined whether there shall be eight or nine months of school. There the village chronicles are spread upon the great ledgers every day. The town banker supplies the money for every contest. If he is wise, he watches his little corner of the world as a spider watches from his web. The great trust which he keeps requires a knowledge of the details of the game that men are playing around him. Yet with all his power this town banker would be counted a poor man in the city. Seldom is his annual income as much as $10,000. But he lives in the best home in the town. The butcher saves his best cuts for him, the grocer puts aside his best vegetables, and the whole town waits to do his bidding.

A Bridge Kept in Repair by Mussels.

The byssus, or silky beard, by which the mussel moors itself to the stone, is a familiar object of our sea rocks. It is in its nature like the silk of the silk-worm and exudes in a glutinous thread from an organ at the base of the foot.

The following is an instance in which the mooring of the mussel was useful to effect a purpose which human skill could not accomplish. A large bridge, with twenty arches, in the town of Bideford, in Devonshire crosses the Torridge river near the spot of its junction with the Taw.

The tide flows so very rapidly here that it was found impossible to keep the bridge in repair by means of mortar. The corporation therefore keeps boats employed in bringing mussels to it, and the interstices of the bridge are filled by hand with these mussels.

It is supported from being driven away by the tide entirely by the strong threads which these mussels fix to the stone work, and by an act or grant it is a crime liable to transportation for any person to remove the mussels unless in Eggs in Molasses.

In Jamaica and other West India islands, they have a very curious way of preserving eggs fresh for a considerable time. A layer of eggs is placed at the bottom of a barrel, and ordinary black molasses is poured over in sufficient quantity to cover them. Then another layer is added, and more molasses, and so on till the barrel is full. The idea is that an egg can be kept good almost indefinitely if the air can be prevented penetrating the porous shell to the contents within. When the eggs have all been used, the molasses is given a fresh boil up and is thoroughly salable again. In Northern Russia the farmers use warm tallow in precisely the same way; but this is said to slightly affect the flavor of the eggs.

Lively Times Here

—furniture of the best sort, stoves backed up with maker's and our warrant—carpets of every weave, every color—all are "bunched" into this most unique, most marvelous of January sales and offered to you at prices below first cost to us, in fact—not in mere "words." Newer, '98 lines are soon to drop upon us. This sale paves the way for them. The coming 7 days will outstrip last week's record—can't help doing so.

Yes—pay us 75c. a week if "cash is short."

Out of near 50 sorts of Bedroom Suits—full 75 per cent. are less than maker asks in car lots—"seeing is believing," to "see" for yourself—$11.75 to $150 are the "now" prices.

$1.38—plush seat, rattan rockers—still some left—it's a taste of this unmatched fancy chair stock. None to equal it in beauty and size and variedness.

Stoves and Ranges Must Go=Quick

There's not a cent of profit left at these "close-out rates." Loss, in money—lots of it—but we gain the space—and that's sorely needed in a very few days! Buy now—you'll pay as low as from $5.85 for ranges—or as little as $5.75 for heating stoves. And same with the oil and gasoline heaters. All chopped down from their old prices—which were already little. "The Portland Range" alone is not reduced—we can't get enough of them.

Carpets Join the Race

for quick selling, too. 'Twould ease your heart and help your purse to get a chance at any one of the thirty or forty varied weaves—all at special, honest, actual, reduction prices! As little as 29c. for heavy Ingrains, 65c. for Extra Super All-Wool Ingrains, 75c. for Double Extra Brussels, 79c. for velvets, 90c. for $1.35 Body Brussels, $1.25 Moquettes at 95c. Why, you can't match the like for miles and miles around. 'Tis New Jersey's great Carpet store.

BOY CONFESSES MURDER.

Samuel Henderson Tells How He Hacked Young Lockyear to Pieces.

Philadelphia, Jan. 19.—"I killed Peter Lockyear," was the startling confession made yesterday by Samuel Henderson, the 15-year-old degenerate, who hacked young Lockyear to pieces. "What made me do it I cannot tell. I was always fond of reading stories of Jesse James and about those fellers in the West. Of course, my mother didn't know anything about this, because I always hid the books, and when she asked me if I ever read such things I told her no, and she believed me.

"Last Friday I was coming along the street, when I saw Percy Lockyear and Willie Anderson. I said: 'Hello, boys! Where are you going?' They told me they were out to play, so I said that if they would come to the woods I would cut them 'piggies.' You know what 'piggies' are. We use them to play a game with.

"I don't know how it was, but just then the thought came into my mind that my chance had come. Well, we got down to the woods, and I grabbed Percy, and he screamed. 'Oh, oh!' He said: 'Let me go!' I stabbed him, and he tried to wiggle out of my arms. My, but he seemed scared! It was as good as the Wild West.

"He made so much noise, and I was so excited to think that at last 'I had killed my man,' that I stabbed him again and again. I don't know how many times, but he bled a lot.

"After I had stabbed him, I thought to myself, 'the cops'll get on to me if they find his body.' This got me kinder scared, so I tied a handkerchief around his throat and dragged him to the stream. When I threw him in a whole lot of little bubbles came up.

"I looked at him for awhile, and then I said to myself: 'Sam, you have killed your man.' With that I thought I might want to find the body again, so I put the heavy stones on the back of his head and behind his knees. Then I knew his body would stay where I left it, and I went home."

During the whole of his narrative, thrilling as it was, from beginning to end, the boy remained cool and collected, and never once expressed regret for his cruel act. His only sorrow seemed to be that he had not killed the other boy as well.

CUBA IN THE HOUSE.

De Armond Offers an Amendment to Diplomatic Bill.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The House took up the Diplomatic and Consular bill yesterday afternoon, and as soon as the enacting clause was read Representative De Armond (Dem., Missouri), offered an amendment to recognize the belligerency of the Cubans.

Mr. Hitt, in charge of the bill, made the point of order that it was not germane, and Mr. De Armond then took the floor and delivered a speech in favor of his amendment.

Congressman Colson, of Kentucky, the only Republican representative from that State, during the debate on De Armond's belligerency amendment, aroused the House by his statement that action on Cuban belligerency was delayed too long. "I will vote to sustain the Chair this time, but I warn my Republican colleagues," he continued, most impressively, "that if the Committee on Foreign Affairs does not give us a chance to argue Cuban belligerency, I will join in the most revolutionary methods to secure an opportunity to express our sentiments."

At 4.15 Chairman Hitt, of the Foreign Affairs Committee, moved that the debate close, and the motion was carried —130 yeas, 112 nays.

Cuba Discussed in Cabinet.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Yesterday's session of the Cabinet was briefer than any time since President McKinley was inaugurated. The Cuban situation occupied a few minutes of attention only. Telegrams received from Consul-General Lee were read. They showed that the excitement had ended for the time being. No dispatch from Gen. Lee was received yesterday, and this was taken to mean that order continued in Havana.

Police Gazette's Publisher Arrested.

New York, Jan. 19.—Richard K. Fox, proprietor of the Police Gazette, and his manager, Robert W. Urban, were arrested yesterday afternoon at the instance of Anthony Comstock, upon a complaint charging them with having sent "an indecent paper through the mails." The paper complained of was the National Police Gazette and its "Living Picture Supplement." Fox and Urban were arraigned before Commissioner Shield, who held them under $2,500 bail each for preliminary examination. Mr. Fox said that the pictures objected to were simply reproductions of living pictures presented in theatres in this city.

Funeral of Commissioner Butterworth.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The remains of Commissioner Butterworth arrived in Washington from the South yesterday. Funeral services will be held in this city this afternoon, and among those who will attend will be President McKinley, who was a warm personal friend of the Commissioner, they having served together in the same regiment, and also later in the House of Representatives. The remains will ultimately be taken to Ohio, but for the present will rest in a vault at Oak Hill, Georgetown.

More Counterfeit Bills.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The Secret Service Bureau, Treasury Department, has received a number of the counterfeit ten dollar silver certificates put in circulation at Mobile, Ala., recently. The notes are of the series of 1891, with Hendricks' portrait. They are probably made by the photo-etching process, and are very poor imitations. Several men were arrested at Mobile, supposed to be connected with their manufacture and circulation.

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Will Blanco Resign?

Key West, Fla., Jan. 19.—It is stated in Havana that Gen. Blanco will soon resign, as the Government at Madrid is dissatisfied with his policy. Havana is still much alarmed, and all streets leading to the park have extra guards.

ENGLAND WILL FIGHT

The Government's Chinese Policy Generally Indorsed.

STATEMENT IS COMMENDED

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Struck a Popular Note When He Declared Great Britain Was Ready to Protect Her Rights in China at Cost of War.

London, Jan. 19.—The country generally is greatly pleased by the announcement made my the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, at Swansea, in which he echoed the previous declarations of the First Lord of the Treasury, Mr. A. J. Balfour, at Manchester, on the Indian policy of the Government and added that the ministers were determined, even at the cost of war, that the door of Chinese commerce should not be shut to Great Britain. This declaration is recognized as clearly defining the Government's position, and both the Liberal and Conservative newspapers commend the plain speaking.

The Globe says: "What we want in China is trade. We want to make a market for the commerce of the whole world. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's announcement of the determination of the Government is clear and resolute, and will tend to peace. It was a pity that other Cabinet Ministers have not spoken thus on other occasions. When the loan is definitely settled Russia, France and Germany will have to let us know whether they intend to acquiesce to the principles we have laid down, but they will have to be definitely asked to give a plain answer on the specific points which have been discussed. In carrying out the policy promulgated the Government will have the support of the people of this country, and also of two countries who, above all others, are eminently concerned. Both the United States and Japan recognize the wisdom and the benefits which are likely to be derived from ports free and open."

The St. James Gazette also believes that the "firm statement tends to peace."

The Pall Mall Gazette remarks: "The Government is determined that the Chinese door shall be kept open, even at the cost of war. These are grave words; but they would be more serious still if they did not represent a serious intention. It is the power that talks of war and then recoils from acting that gets embroiled."

SENATOR MORGAN SEES WAR.

Declares Hawaii Necessary to Our Peace --Some Power Will Get It.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Senator Morgan occupied the attention of the Senate during the entire time of the executive session yesterday in the presentation of his views on the subject of the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. This was the second installment of the Senator's speech, and, when he finished, a few minutes after 5 o'clock, he had not then reached the end.

He spoke for about three hours, and his speech was a general presentation of the importance of the islands to the United States. He dwelt especially upon the military importance of the islands, quoting General Schofield and Captain Mahan at length in support of his position that they were a natural outpost for the United States and necessary to the proper protection of our Western coast and of our general commerce in case of war.

Mr. Morgan predicted that if the United States did not take advantage of the present opportunity to acquire the islands there would be war between this country and some other Power within ten weeks. It was not, he said, within the bounds of possibility, in view of the present European competition for territory in Asia, that the Hawaiian Islands should be allowed to remain independent for a year's time after the United States should finally announce their determination not to make them a part of American territory.

In closing he said that failure to annex the islands meant inevitable bloodshed, and the responsibility for that bloodshed would rest upon the Senate of the United States for its failure to perform its duty at this critical hour in the history of the two countries.

New Jersey's Legislature Adjourns.

Trenton, Jan. 19.—The New Jersey House and Senate, after short sessions yesterday adjourned until next Monday night. The nominations made by the Governor last Tuesday were all confirmed. Gov. Griggs sent to the Senate the following nominations: President Judges of the Court of Common Pleas, Atlantic County, Allen B. Endicott; Union County, Benjamin A. Vail, Prosecutor of the Pleas; Atlantic County, Joseph E. P. Abbott; Union County, Nicholas C. J. English; Justice of the Reform School for Boys, Gervis Ely, of Lambertville.

Found Guilty of Murder.

Providence, Jan. 19.—Martin Mowry was guilty of murder in the first degree yesterday afternoon. He was charged with the murder of Mrs. Abbie P. Reynolds, who, with her husband, and adopted daughter, were killed at Burrville last Summer. Their house was set on fire and Mrs. Reynolds was found in an unconscious condition from blows on the head. The bodies of her husband and daughter were burned with the house.

To Investigate the Shaw Trial.

Camden, Jan. 19.—It is now deemed certain that the Grand Jury will inquire into the cause of the mistrial in the Shaw case. Although the Grand Jury men have not been called together, is is authoritatively stated that they will be summoned to meet the latter part of this week, probably Friday, for the purpose of taking up the investigation which, is is alleged, should result in the finding of an indictment.

Jersey's Fat Man Dead.

New York, Jan. 19.—Otto Meyer, Paterson's heaviest man, died yesterday morning at his home, No. 9 Pamrapo avenue. He weighed 470 pounds. He was troubled with enlargement of the heart and this caused his death. He was so large that the undertakers did not have an ice-box or a coffin large enough and one will be made. Mr. Meyer was twenty-nine years old.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Plainfield Catholic Club will roll its first game in the Diocesan Union at home tonight. The visiting team will be from the Y. M. C. L., of Elizabethport.

The Park Club bowling team will roll a series of three games with the Juniors of the club this evening. The Juniors are confident that they can show the older members how to roll a game or two on their own alleys.

Last evening the Central Bowling Club team from New York came to Plainfield and rolled a game with the Knob Hill team from this city. The match was rolled on Ulrich's alleys, East Second street, and it was an intensely interesting contest. The visitors were all a very gentlemanly set of men and they were well received by the home team. They won the contest by the score of 1,490 to 1,483. They only had seven pins to their credit, which won for them the honors. The home team were very anxious to win, but still they did not feel badly over their defeat on such a close score. A return match will be rolled on the alleys of the visitors on West Thirtieth street, New York, Thursday evening, Jan. 27th.

BASKET BALL.

A basket ball game will take place at the Newark Y. M. C. A. Friday night, between the basket ball teams of the Plainfield and Newark associations. Monday evening a game will be played in this city between the teams of Plainfield and Elizabeth.

There is no team in this part of Jersey that has made a greater record for itself during the part of the season that is already passed than the team from the Elizabeth Athletic Club. Some of the best athletes in that famous club have taken to the game and made a very strong combination. The Elizabeth Athletic Club team will meet the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. team in the latter's gymnasium on the evening of Monday next. The game will be one of the best of the season.

AROUND THE BASES.

Although it seems rather early in the season to talk baseball, the candidates for the baseball team of the Plainfield High School are already beginning their preliminary practice. The first practice was held last Friday afternoon at the Whittier School. The time was spent in throwing and catching the ball. The practice will be continued for the next two months. It will be of a very light character but sufficient to toughen up the hands of the players, and strengthen their muscles. Arthur W. Lederer is captain of the team and he will use every effort to make the team the strongest that has ever represented the High School. There are now nearly twenty candidates for the team.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

C. E. Teel, who has been identified with the sales department of the Hunter bicycle, at 310 Broadway under W. Fred Quimby, is now with T. H. Keller, at 88 Chambers street, the interests of the Peters Cartridge and the King Powder companies being his especial care.—Forest and Stream.

WHIST.

The Park Club four will play again for the trophy of the New Jersey Whist Association, this evening, against the team from the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club. The game will be played in the Park Clubhouse.

A KLONDYKE SOCIABLE.

Members of Marconnier Chapel Had a Pleasant Time Last Night.

Some of the pleasant excitements of the Kloudyke region were furnished for the edification of the good people of Marconnier chapel last evening. It was a Klondyke social, given by the C. E. Society of the chapel. The most prominent feature was the placer-mining that occupied one corner of the chapel. A heap of sand and rocks formed a novel sort of grab-bag from which the visitors were allowed, for the small sum of ten cents, to dig out one nugget, which consisted of some little trinket tied up in paper. This variety of mining proved very popular. Mrs. Eugene VanCourt and S. K. Swenck were in charge.

A refreshment table was under the charge of Mrs. W. R. Randolph and Mrs. Stover. The ice cream department was looked after by Eugene VanCourt. The waitresses were Miss Edith Wyckoff, Miss Effie Stover, Miss Fannie Stover, Miss Randolph and others.

Later in the evening the remaining cakes were auctioned off by Paul Zooble at good prices. The attendance was good.

Wagons Came Together

A collision took place last evening about 6 o'clock, on Front street in front of Music Hall, when a wagon, in which was seated Lawyer H O Hance, and another vehicle occupied by Lawyer Reuben Knox, both of the borough, came together. Mr. Knox's wagon was upset and he was thrown out. Fortunately he was not injured. Mr. Hance fared somewhat better, and made his escape without any trouble. The cause for the accident was that Mr. Hance attempted to turn around in the street, and seeing that he could not do so, he backed up and struck Mr. Knox's rig broadside.

The Skidmore Case.

In justice to those in charge of Muhlenberg Hospital, it is only fair to state that in the case of the late Chas. Skidmore, who died suddenly a few days ago, that he was not sent away from that institution, but on the contrary was very anxious to leave and go home. The superintendent and physician in charge were anxious that Skidmore should remain until he was perfectly well, but the man would not listen to them.

To Entertain Past Regents.

Regent Bromfield, of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, will entertain all the past regents of the council at dinner Thursday evening of next week, at his home on East Sixth street.

—W. L. Sharkey, of the borough, desires The Daily Press to state that he had nothing to do with the runaway of his horse last Sunday evening. He loaned the rig to a friend who was so unfortunate as to lose control of the horse.

THEIR CLAIM REDUCED.

PLAINTIFFS DEMANDED $115; ALLOWED $68 BY THE COURT.

The Dispute Was Between Pearson & Gayle and Isaac Lederer Over Amount of Money Alleged to be Due Them.

A suit in which plaintiffs and defendant are prominent Plainfield business men was tried before Judge Atwater in the District Court, at Elizabeth, yesterday. The case was that of Pearson & Gayle against Isaac Lederer. After taking the entire day for the trying of the case, judgment was rendered for the plaintiffs for the amount of $68. Reed & Coddington represented the plaintiffs, and William Newcorn the defendant.

The plaintiffs demanded $115, which included a balance due on the contract for the rebuilding of Lederer's store, which was partially destroyed by fire, and a charge of $55.55 for the appraisement of the loss by Mr. Pearson. It was alleged that Mr. Pearson was engaged by Mr. Lederer to appraise the loss at a rate of $10 a day and that it took him five days in which to do it. His expenses amounted to $5.55.

The plaintiffs had as witnesses to prove the reasonableness of his charge, John Lynch, of Newark, who represented the insurance companies at the Lederer fire and who testified that he received $102 out of the transaction. Mr. Frentz, of Scotch Plains, who was umpire at the appraisement, received $25 for one day's work. There were six witnesses in all for the plaintiffs.

For the defendant there were four witnesses, who testified to the fact that Mr. Pearson had, in their presence, in anticipation of receiving the contract for the repairs at the building, agreed to do the work of appraising for $10. They also testified that Mr. Pearson received the contract, although there were lower bidders. The defendant claimed that he had paid over $1,300 on the contract, which was not yet completed, and that he had been compelled to pay out some money to fix up for the omissions of the contractors. Mr. Lederer also stated that he had offered the sum of $59, which included the $10 for the appraisement, to Mr. Pearson before the suit, but it had been refused.

The Judge gave his decision at once. He complimented W. A. Coddington and William Newcorn, the attorneys, on the clean, clear and able manner in which the case had been tried. He stated that the preponderance of evidence submitted by the defendant as regards the appraisement had sufficiently satisfied his mind that the agreement had been made to have it done for $10. He therefore reduced the charge from $55.55 to $10 and also made allowance for a small charge called for in the contract that had not been carried out.

BOTH CLAIM THE GOODS.

Justice Mosher Called Upon to Settle a Dispute Between Colored People.

A battle royal was waged in Justice Mosher's court room yesterday afternoon between two colored women over the ownership of a number of linen sheets and pillow cases and a white skirt.

Mrs. John Taylor, a colored woman living at 313 Plainfield avenue, was the complainant in the case. She swore out a search warrant charging Mrs. Fannie Richardson and Mrs. Lottie Howland, who occupy apartments in the same house, with having goods belonging to her in their possession.

Constable George Rockafellow searched the premises and brought a number of articles to the court.

Mrs. John Elliot, the mother-in-law of Mrs. Taylor, also appeared as one of the complaining parties.

Each of the parties, when placed under oath, swore to the ownership of the goods, and attempted to prove it by various means. Mrs. Taylor, who is much shorter than Mrs. Howland tried the white skirt on to prove to the court that it was the right length for her. The other claimant was ordered to don it, and it proved too short. After a lengthy inquisition, the Justice made what seemed to him a proper division of the goods, giving them nearly all to the two complainants.

Three pairs of lace curtains, which were still missing, will be searched for, and all parties were ordered to appear before the Justice Thursday afternoon.

Says He Can Clear Himself.

Joseph Gavin, who was one of the co-respondents named in the Corey divorce papers, called at The Press office last night and stated that the charges against him in this connection were absolutely false. He admits knowing Mrs. Corey, but says that he was never in her company alone. He says he will be able to clear himself of the charge.

Mr. Dawson's Advancement.

The many friends of R. M. Dawson, recently local superintendent of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, will be pleased to hear of his further advancement by that company. Mr. Dawson is now one of the ten general agents of the company. He was in town today greeting old friends.

BITTEN BY A JEALOUS PET RAT.

Did Not Like Its Playmate to Give Cake to the Dog.

Three-years-old Violet Ricketts, who lives with her parent at 1525 Sumner street, Philadelphia, was taken to the Hahnemann Hospital the other afternoon suffering intense agony from a severe wound in her right hand, caused by the bite of a rat. The rodent which caused the child's injuries belongs to the next-door neighbor of the Ricketts, and was captured in a trap several years ago and tamed. It is in the habit of running about the neighborhood, and for a long time has been a frequent visitor at the Ricketts house.

The child and the rat became great friends. Yesterday afternoon the little girl was feeding it when a big dog belonging to her father came into the room, and she tossed the canine a bit of cake. The rat became angry and jumped at the baby, catching the little one's hand with its teeth. The child's cries brought her mother, who tried to set the dog on the rat, but the dog refused to interfere, as the pair had been long friends.

The rat then turned upon Mrs. Ricketts, who had a hard time to prevent it biting her. She finally threw a piece of wood at the little animal, and he ran through a small hole in the kitchen by which he had been accustomed to go and come to the adjoining house. The child was taken to the hospital, and the physicians found it necessary to take five stitches in the wound.—Philadelphia Record.

A SENSITIVE CONSCIENCE.

Which Needed to Be Linked with a Little Common Sense.

Augustus J. C. Hare, in "The Story of My Life," tells a story of an Oxford undergraduate whose morbid conscience made him an oddity. One day a man said to him: "How do you do, R.?" and he answered: "Quite well, thank you." The next day the man was astonished at receiving from R. the following note: "Dear Sir: I am sorry to tell you that I have been acting a deceptive part. When I told you yesterday that I was quite well I had really a headache; this has been upon my conscience ever since." The note amused the man, whose name was Burton, and he showed it to a friend, who, knowing R's weakness, said to him: "Oh, R., how could you act so wrongly as to call Mr. Burton 'dear sir,' thereby giving him the impression that you liked him, when you know that you dislike him extremely?" R. was sadly distressed, and a few days later Mr. Burton received the following: "Burton, I am sorry to trouble you again, but I have been shown that, under the mask of friendship, I have been for the second time deceiving you; by calling you 'dear sir' I may have led you to suppose I liked you, which I never did, and never can do. I am, Burton, yours," etc.

LIVING WITHOUT A BRAIN.

A Tortoise Existed Three Months Minus This Part of His Anatomy.

The way the common tortoise will cling to life is one of the most remarkable things in nature. At Cambridge, England, one lived for three months after the brain had been removed. The heart will continue to beat for fifty minutes after being cut out of the body.

There is a case on record of a tortoise being kept in a corner of an icehouse for twelve months. During all that time he slept, without once moving or eating.

At the end of it he was taken out, put in the warm sun, and in a few minutes was walking about quite happily. What's more, the fat around the muscles had not decreased in the slightest. The tortoise's blood is very much lower in temperature than that of almost any creature, except a snake or fish.—Golden Days.

HANGED BY HIS FRIENDS.

Unknowingly They Helped Their Companion to Commit Suicide.

At Ballarat a ruined gold miner once committed suicide in a dramatic manner. During the time of the gold rush a certain deserted claim was for years held sacred, and the tools strewn about the windlass were left to rust away untouched. A party of 'varsity men, old schoolfellows and of gentle birth, had sunk their shaft there and worked without success until their money was spent. One evening one of them at work at the bottom of the shaft shouted, "Haul up, boys, the time is come at last." They hauled up, and when it came to the top they found their comrade's lifeless body hanging from the chain. He had detached the bucket, tied a noose about his neck, fastened the noose to the chain and was hanged by his dearest friends. The party had been much liked and respected by the other miners, who would readily have subscribed 1,000 ounces of gold dust to give them a fresh start, but ere the dawn of the next day the whole party had disappeared, leaving their claim in the same state as it lay at the time of the tragedy.—Weekly Telegraph.

Married This Afternoon

The marriage of Miss Lizzie Dillon and Jeroloman Crowley, both of this city, was celebrated this afternoon at 2:30. Father Smyth, pastor of St. Mary's church, performed the ceremony.

Wm. A. Kline, of this city, went to Newark last evening to assist in the installation of nineteen candidates of Olympia Lodge, No. 9 colored Knights of Pythias. Tonight he will attend installation ceremonies at Frenchtown. The visits are made in the discharge of his duty as grand lecturer.

FIELD WORKERS DISCUSS STATISTICS AND ORGANIZATION.

International Conference Now Being Held is an Inspiring Gathering—Helpful Words by Sunday-school Workers

After a short devotional meeting was held Rev. E. Morris Fergusson, of Trenton, gave an address on the subject of gathering Sunday school statistics. He showed the difficulties that are in the way of securing full and accurate statistics, and made a number of recommendations concerning the best methods of securing the wished-for information from local Sunday-school officers. He called attention to the thorough organization in this State, which includes 308 subdivisions under the county secretaries. Each of these subdivisions is in charge of a local superintendent. In New Jersey twelve per cent. of the Sunday-schools are union schools, and at least an equal number are small denominational schools scattered in country districts. To many of these the annual visit of the township secretary with his request for a report of work, is practically the only contact these Sunday schools experience with the great outside world, and the schools prize the privilege highly. The committee on statistics, which consists of Mr. Fergusson, Charles L. Weaver, of Chicago, and W. B. Jacobs, of Chicago, will be reappointed, with two additional members.

A report on City Organization was rendered by Wm. Randolph, of St. Louis. The other members of the committee on this department of the work are Rev. Alexander Henry, of Philadelphia; L. T. Woodcock, of Chicago; Jerome F. Johnson, of Washington, and H. J. Heinz, of Pittsburg. The report gave the details of organization in all the larger cities except Pittsburg and Washington. The question of how to enlist the co-operation of city schools was also discussed, as well as the organizing of city districts, and union teachers' meetings.

The report praised highly the organization in the city of Brooklyn, which ought to inspire other cities to greater endeavor.

A conference on county organization, conducted by George H. Archibald, of Montreal, formed the concluding portion of the afternoon session. The leader illustrated the remarks upon a blackboard, showing the objects of the county organization, the agencies through which it works, the dangers to which it is subject, and the remedies.

The session of last evening was held in the First Methodist church. Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, O., vice president of the association, presided. After a song service lasting half an hour, Rev. S. S. Eddy, of Syracuse, N. Y., was introduced and delivered an address on the subject of the evening "Sunday-school Work for Sparsely Settled Sections."

He described the condition of the work in the mountainous districts and farming sections of New York State. In these districts isolation, indolence, ignorance and religious destitution have prevailed in spots to a woeful extent. The condition is improving, however. Railroads have pierced the wilderness and the present generation is better than the last.

The home department is a great aid to the work in all sections. County and town superintendents are appointed to carry on the home department work. In towns where there are no Protestant churches, this department has established Sunday-schools and maintained them.

The county Sunday-school associations are also doing much to advance the cause of Bible study in sparsely settled regions. Where the committee in charge of county work are diligent the State sends missionaries to evangelize the committees.

Alfred Day, of Deer Park, Ontario, president of the association, also gave an address on the same subject. He gave an interesting account of his experiences in Sunday-school field work in Canada, especially in his own province of Ontario, showing under what hardships and disadvantages the workers in that section are placed. Incidents showing how the seed is scattered by the wayside were related.

An offering for Sunday school work was taken, and Manager McLaine, of the National Evangel, of St. Louis, gave a short talk concerning arrangements for the World's Convention of Sunday-School Workers which is to be held in London next July.

The last address of the evening on "The Spiritual Side of Sundy-School Convention Work," was delivered by Rev. Aquila Lecas, of Sussex, New STRUCK UPON HIS HEAD.

WESTFIELD MAN HURT AT FANWOOD.

Elmer Love Thrown From His Seat in a Wagon by the Plunge of a Frightened Horse.

Elmer Love, of Westfield, was thrown from a wagon in Fanwood last evening and sustained injuries of a serious nature.

Love was driving through Fanwood on the county road at about 4:30 o'clock. When they reached a spot directly in front of the Fanwood club house the horse took fright and backed suddenly, throwing Love from his seat.

He struck upon his head. When picked up he was unconscious.

Dr. F. W. Westcott, near whose residence the accident occurred, was called, and after a hasty examination of the injuries he decided to have Love removed at once to Westfield. He was taken home and placed in the care of Westfield physicians.

When seen by a Daily Press reporter this morning Dr. Westcott stated that he could not tell exactly how serious Love's injuries were, as his examination had been a very hasty one. A fracture of the skull might have resulted from the fall. The injured man is the proprietor of a grocery store in Westfield.

HIS CHECKS CAME BACK.

CLARENCE R. DEMAREST IN BUSINESS DIFFICULTIES IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

It is Said That the Young Man Gave Out Checks That the Bank Would Not Pay—His Father Adjusting the Matters.

Henry M. Demarest, of 812 Park avenue, went to New Brunswick today to adjust the business difficulties of his son, Clarence R. Demarest, who has been conducting a drug store in that city.

He bought the business about three months ago, and has not succeeded in making it pay. Some days ago the New Brunswick Fredonian published a story to the effect that Demarest had disappeared and that a number of his checks had gone to protest.

The article alleged that Demarest recently purchased a suit of clothes from a local installment firm and gave a check in payment. The check, it was claimed, was found worthless. John J. Harkins, of New Brunswick, also had one of Demarest's checks, which was said to be valueless. Alderman Peter F. Daily cashed a check for the young man, and when he deposited it in the bank it was returned to him. A number of New York firms were said to be creditors of Demarest.

When a reporter of the Daily Press called at the house of Henry M. Demarest today he was informed that the family did not know where Clarence Demarest could be found. His difficulties in New Brunswick, it was said, were merely the result of bad business management, and would never have been allowed to occur if Demarest had notified his father of his difficulties. He is only twenty years of age, and is considered by his family too young to manage a business successfully. Demarest's father will assume charge of the business.

AN OLD VETERINARIAN DEAD.

Joseph R. Linbarger Passes Away After a Long Illness.

In the death of Joseph R. Linbarger, which occurred a few minutes after midnight last night, New Jersey loses one of its oldest veterinarians, and the borough a respected citizen. Mr. Linbarger had been sick for eight months, during which time he was confined to the house. He was seventy-three years of age. He died at his home at the corner of Somerset street and Hudson avenue.

Mr. Linbarger was born in Washington Valley and spent all of his days in this section, where he is well known. A portion of the time he lived in Bound Brook, but two years ago he moved to the borough. Besides his veterinary practice he also did considerable auctioneering, and was considered very adept at the business.

Besides a widow, he leaves five sons and one daughter. The sons are David L., of Elizabeth, John A., of this city, Silas C., of San Jose, Ill., Norman and Walter C. The daughter is Mrs. C. B. Waldron, of Martinville.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Studied the Sunday-school Lesson.

The weekly prayer service held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening was largely attended and very interesting. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards was in charge and the subject of the meeting was the Sunday-school lesson for next Sunday. The pastor spoke briefly on the subject and a number present made short addresses, which were very helpful.

WEDDED LAST EVENING.

SEELY-VAN BUSKIRK NUPTIALS CELEBRATED IN A PLEASANT WAY.

The Ceremony Performed at the Home of Rev. W. C. Snodgrass and Followed by a Reception at the Home of Bride.

A pretty wedding was that of last evening when Miss Etta Van Buskirk, of Orchard place, was united in marriage to S. M. Seely, of Woodbridge. The wedding took place at 7 o'clock at the home of Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, who performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a traveling gown of military blue cloth trimmed with white satin and lace, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. The bridemaid, Miss Emma Wikoff, of LaGrande avenue, was gowned in a dress of dark cloth trimmed with lace and ribbon. The best man was S. B. Brewster, of Woodbridge, an intimate acquaintance of the groom.

Following the marriage the bridal party was taken to the home of the bride on Orchard place, where an informal reception was held. There were about fifty relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties present from Orange, Elizabeth, Woodbridge, Newark and Plainfield.

During the evening a wedding supper was served, and after the bride and groom had received the hearty congratulations of their friends, they departed for Woodbridge, where they will reside. The groom is the owner of a prosperous drug business at the latter place. The bride has, until recently, been a valued employe of Woodhull & Martin, of Front street. Mr. and Mrs Seeley were the recipients of costly and useful presents from their many relatives and friends, who wish them long life, success and happiness.

As the bridal party passed through the city in a coach people were much amused to see a large placard on the coach on which was printed: "We are going to get married." It was placed on the coach when the groom and his best man left Woodbridge for Plainfield, and no one thought to remove it afterwards.

MRS. J. K. MYERS' RECEPTIONS.

They Were Thronged by Plainfield's Best Society People.

The receptions of Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers at her home, 139 East Seventh street, held on the afternoons of Tuesday and yesterday, were delightful social affairs, and largely attended by numbers af Plainfield's most charming people. The artistic home was beautifully decorated with roses and many flowers, pink and white being the prevailing colors, and yellow and white in the dining room. Mrs. Myers was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Charles Stillman, and Miss Langworthy, of New York. Others who assisted at the receptions in entertaining, presiding at tables and serving guests, were Mesdames William Stillman, Charles McCutchen, F. H. Andrews, Howard Tracy, J. Doull Miller, Charles E. Brooks, Pliny Fisk, Charles E. Wadsworth, of New York, and the Misses Mary Tweedy, Daisy Shepard, Mabel Pierson, Elaine Massett, Fuller, Higgins.

NEW CHURCH ORGANIZED.

Rev P S. Gibson Pastor of Another Flock of Colored Baptists.

Plainfield has a new church, known as the Calvary colored Baptist church, which was formally organized last night by the friends of Rev. Philip S. Gibson.

The meeting was held in Reform Hall on West Second street. Rev. J. A. Harris, of Orange, was introduced and preached a sermon, taking as his subject, "Christ, the Foundation Stone."

The following officers were elected: Deacons, Hampton Probasco, Fernando Brown, Patrick Reed and Benjamin Heywood: ushers, Wilson Smith, Edward Wilson, Pine Yetman and Christopher C. Maden; secretary, Philip Johnson, and assistant secretary, John Perkins.

The pastor of the new church will be Rev. Philip S. Gibson, in whose interest the movement was started. The first regular service of the new church will be held Sunday morning, at which time it is thought that twenty-five more members will unite.

No Great Expense.

The alms committee of the City Council states that no great amount of money will be expended this year in placing a heating apparatus in the City Industrial Home, as they do not think the expenditure a wise one at this time in the year. The committee paid a visit to the home last Tuesday to see how the work is progressing.

NOW IN WHIST FINALS.

PARK CLUB TEAM ADD ANOTHER VICTORY TO THEIR LIST.

Up to Last Night the Plainfield Big Four Were Tied With the Elizabeth Team for Central Division Leadership.

Thanks to hard won victory of last night, the whist four of the Park Club is now in the finals for the trophy of the New Jersey Whist Association. The game last night was a decisive one in more ways than one. The opponents of the Parks were the players from the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club who tied the Parks at the time for the leadership of this division.

It will be remembered that when the New Jersey Whist Association put up the new trophy, it was decided that the contest for it should be on new lines. The clubs in the association were then divided into three divisions, the Jersey Central Division, which was composed of the Park Club and other clubs along the line of the Jersey Central Railroad, the Delaware, Lackawana and Western Division and the Erie Division. Each club met the other clubs once at home and once at the home of their opponents.

The game here last night was the last in the Jersey Central division. The Parks had won five and lost two, so had the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club. The game of last evening was the deciding one. The Parks were represented by their regular team. Messrs. Edson, Hemphill, Brown and Roberts composed the team from Elizabeth. The game was well played, but it was apparent as the game progressed that the visitors were outclassed. The Parks began to gain slowly but surely by careful, steady playing. The Elizabeth team made a great fight for the game, but it was in vain. The Parks finally won out by a lead of eight tricks. The final score was 16 to 8.

The visitors expressed themselves as being completely satisfied, and were only glad that if they were to be defeated that it should be the Parks who should win.

The Parks are now victors in the Jersey Central Division and will meet the winners in the other divisions. The New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, won in the D. L. and W. Division while the Passaic Club carried off the honors in the Erie section. The three clubs will now play a short series of games, one at home and one abroad, with each of the other teams. The winner of the games will then be awarded the trophy for the year.

DESCENDANT OF COLONIAL FAMILY.

J. H. Kenyon Died This Morning—A Student of Mechanical Engineering.

At his home on Kensington avenue, this morning, occurred the death of one of Plainfield's old and respected citizens, J. H. Kenyon, after a long and severe illness. The deceased was a resident of this city for over thirty years. He was a descendant of an old colonial family, and for over two hundred years his ancestors have been of sterling worth both in church and State. Mr. Kenyon's great grandfather fought under Gen. Washington and patriotism has passed down to the later generation.

Mr. Kenyon, although dignified and reserved, has always been prompt and sympathetic in all that promoted the welfare of this city as well as the Nation. He spent his life in the study of science and mechanical engineering. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss. His sons are D. P. Kenyon, of Lexington, Ky.; W. H. Kenyon, of Buffalo, N. Y.; and his daughter, Mrs. John Ulrich, of Carlton avenue, this city.

The funeral services will be held from the house, 425 Kensington avenue, Saturday afternoon next at 1:15 o'clock.

AN ARTISTIC ENTERTAINMENT.

Talented People to Perform for Benefit of Trinity Reformed Church.

The social and literary circles of this city will be glad to learn that a musical and artistic entertainment will be provided on the evening of Febrbary 3d, in which Prof. J. Ludwig Conde, the violinist, will appear, assisted by the talented Mrs. Edmund V. Waldorf, an artiste of Delsartian expression and "emotive gestures." Miss Mary Adelaide Luckey, a pupil of the New York School of Expression, will give choice selections and lend her attractive grace to the occasion. The programme will include poetic tone pictures from Tennyson's Dream of Fair Women, and character sketches from Dickens. It is needless to add that success is predicted for Mrs. Waldorf and her "coterie" of skilled assistants.

This entertainment will be given in Y. M. C. A. Hall for the benefit of Trinity Reformed church furnishing fund.

ONE VICTORY FOR JUNIORS.

HOT BOWLING AT THE PARK CLUB

In the Second Game the Seniors Easily Distanced Their Young Competitors in Every Way.

The Juniors of the Park Club satisfied themselves last evening by defeating the regular bowling team of the club by one pin, rolling the highest score of the evening. The regular team, or Seniors, as they were called, won the other two games of the series by indifferent scores. The games were rolled on the club alleys before a small but choice audience.

The Juniors took the lead at the start in the first game and almost ran away from the older bowlers. The latter braced up toward the end and came within one pin of winning. "Doc" Thiers was the last to bowl and he did not realize the small margin that separated the teams so he made no effort to secure his last three pins. The Juniors were jubilant.

The next game proved an easy thing for the veterans and they completely distanced the Juniors. F. H. Ball rolled the high score for the month, 230, in the game. Both teams bowled in the third game. The Juniors went to pieces most outrageously at the start but managed to pick up and keep within distance of the Seniors. The Seniors won by 36 pins in a quiet finish.

The individual scores were as follows:

SENIORS.	1st game.	2d game.	3d game.

$30,000 FOR A CHURCH.

THAT IS WHAT THE CRESCENT AVENUE PRESBYTERIANS CONTRIBUTE.

Annual Financial Report Presented by Treasurer Arnold Last Night—New Board of Trustees Chosen for the Year

Last evening after the regular mid week prayer meeting was held at the Crescent Avenue church a congregational meeting was held for the purpose of electing seven trustees and hearing the annual report of Treasurer, W. F. Arnold. Owing to the disagreeable weather there was not a very large attendance of the members.

The election of trustees resulted as follows: Charles Place, J. W. Murray, I. W. Rushmore, George A. Strong, Charles J. Fisk, J. K. Myers and W. F. Arnold. After the election the board met and organized by selecting Charles Place as president, and William F. Arnold treasurer and secretary.

The report of Treasurer Arnold showed the receipts of the church to be $12,772.10; disbursements, $13,500.66, making a cash deficiency for the year of $728.47. From April 1 to December 31, 1897, there has been received from the various chapels connected with the church, $5,643.90; disbursements, $4,423.69. The balance of $1,220.21 will be devoted to the running expenses of the chapels for the balance of the year to April 1, 1898. The receipts from pew rentals for the past year amounted to $12,700.

There is in all about $30,000 that passes through the hands of Treasurer Arnold during a single year, and he makes it his business to see that all contributions and appropriations are collected and placed in the treasury. The members of the church are very well pleased with the financial showing for the past year, and Mr. Arnold has been highly complimented for his efficiency and excellent work.

TOO MANY CONSTABLES.

Judge VanSyckel Tells the Sheriff of Union Some Must Be Dropped.

Judge VanSyckel in the Union County Court at Elizabeth yesterday told the sheriff that there were too many constables at court and that he would have to reduce the number in the interest of economy. There are eighteen on duty, while the number prescribed by law is ten.

Sheriff Kirk appointed ten himself. Judge McCormick appointed five and Prosecutor Marsh three. Eight will now have to go in compliance with Judge VanSyckl's instructions to the sheriff. The eighteen constables are on the anxious seat as to which shall lose his official head. The sheriff will begin the decapitation today.

John Neighbor's Case.

The case of John Neighbor, the former letter carrier of this city who is charged with robbing the United States mails, was taken up by the federal grand jury at Trenton yesterday.

FOR WELFARE OF CITY.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF THE NEW BOARD OF TRADE.

The consolidation of city and borough, municipal ownership of the water works, and doing away with trading stamps were among the important questions that interested a large attendance of members at the first regular monthly meeting of the new Board of Trade last evening. The meeting was held in the old Board of Trade rooms, which were not large enough to accomodate the crowd that turned out to the meeting. The president, F. C. Lounsbury, presided.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk was the first to speak. He brought up the question of the city becoming the owner of the water plant. The city paid $5,000 a year, he said, to the water company, which would pay the interest on the bonds should the city purchase the plant, while the income from the consumers would pay for the plant inside of fifteen years.

Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, of the borough, spoke. He said that the borough of North Plainfield had a very favorable contract with the water company at present, but when it expired, which would be in a year or so, he feared that the borough would not be able to obtain such satisfactory terms. There were other remarks of a similar nature. The matter was referred to a special committee of three, which will be appointed by the president.

The matter of the present insurance rates in Plainfield was brought up by Mayor Fisk. He said that Plainfield had been rated with cities having a volunteer fire department while Plainfield really had a paid department that was the equal of any city of its size. All the money that had been spent, he said, to give better fire protection was not considered. He thought that the rates ought to be lowered. The committee on insurance was given the matter in hand with instructions to investigate and then treat with the insurance companies toward the lowering of the rates. Other speakers agreed with the ideas of the Mayor.

Former Mayor Hegeman told that he had received several communications from a concern that wished to locate in the east, and he inquired as to what inducements the Board of Trade could offer. President Lounsbury stated that a tract of land three and a-half acres in extent along the railroad would be given to any locating concern. Mr. Hegeman thought that would be sufficient and that the concern could be persuaded to come to Plainfield. The committee on manufactures was instructed to look into the matter.

The Board was also informed that E. M. French was in communication with another concern that was undecided whether to locate in Plainfield or Newark. The same committee was instructed to confer and assist Mr. French.

Councilman L. B. Woolston, of the Borough, brought up the question of consolidation. He said that he had been wondering what interest North Plainfield would have if Plainfield should buy the water works. He thought that the borough should have its share. And while they were about it he thought that the question of consolidation should be taken up. He had been informed by the Borough Counsel that the consolidation could be formed without changing the county lines. The taxes could be collected, the city tax going to the city and the county tax going to the separate counties. It would be after the fashion of the consolidation of Greater New York.

The idea seemed to find general favor and it was followed by a motion that the Mayors of Plainfield and North Plainfield each appoint a committee of three prominent citizens from their side of the brook, and that they meet with a committee of four from the Board of Trade and take up the matter of consolidation and push it.

Secretary Harry C. Runyon called the attention of the meeting to the trading stamps. He declared that over $60,0000 went out of the city annually for stamps. It was finally decided that the committee on legislation should confer with committees from the Newark, Trenton and Camden Boards of Trade and try to introduce a bill to stop it.

After general discussion, the meeting adjourned.

—The members of the Thursday Evening Euchre Club will be entertained this evening at the home of Miss Etta Neuman, of East Front street.

CUBA IN HOUSE AGAIN

Democrats Try to Bring Up a Belligerency Resolution.

RULED OUT BY SPEAKER

The House Sustains Him on a Party Vote --The Struggle Renewed Over the Diplomatic Bill--Excitement Was at Boiling Point.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Democrats attempted to bring the Cuban question before the House again yesterday. As soon as the journal was read, Representative Brucker, of Michigan, arose and offered as a privileged question a resolution recognizing the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents. He asked that the resolution be read, but Speaker Reed would not allow it.

Representative Bailey then asked that the resolution be reported to the House, but Mr. Hitt objected. The speaker decided that it was not a privileged question, whereupon Mr. Brucker appealed and the Speaker was sustained by 107 ayes to 94 nays on a rising vote.

The ayes and nays were called for and resulted in again sustaining Mr. Reed, 168 to 126.

The House then, on Mr. Hitt's motion, went into committee of the whole, and resumed consideration of the Diplomatic and Consular Appropriation bill. As the first paragraph was read the struggle was renewed.

Mr. Williams (Dem., Mass.), offered an amendment to direct the President to appoint three commissioners to proceed to Cuba, and if possible negotiate a treaty of peace, amity and commerce with the Republic of Cuba, and appropriating $15,000 for defraying the expenses of the commissioners. It was ruled out of order.

Immediately afterward Mr. Lewis (Dem., Wash.) offered another amendment providing that to emphasize the fact that a state of war existed in Cuba, the Consul-General of the United States at Havana be withdrawn and the Government of Spain be notified of a suspension of diplomatic relations at that point.

Mr. Hitt quickly raised a point of order, which Mr. Hepburn, in the chair, sustained.

"I appeal from the decision of the chair," said Mr. Lewis.

"And I make the point that the appeal is dilatory," exclaimed Mr. Dalzell (Rep., Pa.)

"The chair sustains the point of order," declared Mr. Hepburn, who directed the clerk to proceed with the reading.

"Can it be possible that we have reached the point where this side of the House cannot appeal from the decision of the chair?" he called.

Mr. Hepburn directed Mr. Terry to take his seat, and the clerk droned on with the reading.

Mr. Lewis found a parliamentary way of discussing his amendment, however, by moving a pro forma amendment to strike out the last word.

Mr. Lewis then drew a parallel between his amendment and one offered by Mr. Hepburn in the last Congress instructing the President to dismiss the representative of Turkey at this capital as a means of emphasizing disapproval of Turkey's conduct during the Armenian atrocities. On that occasion, he showed by the record, Mr. McCreary (Dem., Ky.) had made the point of order that the amendment was not germane, and had been overruled by the chair.

Mr. Hitt said that his point was that the amendment was new legislation. He did not contend that it was not germane.

Mr. Sulzer of New York offered an amendment directing the President to notify the Spanish Government that unless the present condition of affairs in Cuba was terminated within thirty days the United States would recognze the belligerent rights of the Cubans and enforce that recognition with arms. This went the way of all other similar amendments, on a point of order.

Mr. Sulzer inquired of Mr. Hitt how long the committee over which he presided proposed to smother the Cuban resolutions. Mr. Hitt did not deign to reply and Sulzer subsided.

Mr. Hitt opened the debate with a brief review of the action of Congress and the Administration upon the Cuban question.

When the present occupant of the Executive chair came into office, Mr. Hitt said, he at once demanded the release or trial of American citizens held in prison. All that he asked and more was accorded, and not a single American citizen for some weeks now has been in confinement.

Again he demanded that the outrageous warfare practiced against the Cubans should cease and the ferocious Weyler was recalled, the dreadful policy of concentration was reversed, and a general sent to Cuba to conduct the war in accordance with the principles recognized by civilized nations.

Further, it was suggested by the President to the Spanish Government that the despairing condition in Cuba should be ended by granting to the people a form of self-government. Pursuant to that suggestion the Sagasta Government had inaugurated a scheme of autonomy for the island similar to that which for thirty-five years Canada had enjoyed in its relations with Great Britain.

This brief review, Mr. Hitt said, gave assurance that whatever had been done or had not been done in the past, the present Administration was a friend of Cuba and earnestly desired its best welfare. President McKinley had said it was not wise to press for or demand the recognition of the belligerent right of Cuba.

Mr. Dinsmore of Arkansas, leader of the minority of the Committee of Foreign Affairs, made a most conservative speech opening the debate for his side of the House. He deprecated hasty action, because there were certain economic questions which could scarcely be settled if this country were plunged into war.

"Yet no American should hesitate to protect the honor of his country," said he. "The time has come for action in the Cuban situation. The Government should recognize the belligerent rights of the Cubans."

In attacking the remarks of Mr. Hitt, Mr. Dinsmore wondered what a change had come over the Administration and Congress on the recognition of belligerent rights. Only a few years ago the Republicans passed a belligerency resolution. Belligerency then meant a great deal, why not now. He quoted from remarks made by Mr. Hitt at that time. During the reading of these remarks Mr. Hitt left the hall.

An agreement was reached to close general debate on the bill at 4 o'clock to-day, unless sooner finished, a vote to be taken then on the proposition to recommit the bill, that to be the only yea and nay vote taken.

Civil Service Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 20.—When the investigation of the Civil Service law by the Senate Committee was resumed yesterday, Chief Clerk E. D. Bailey, of the Chief Examiner's office, Civil Service Commission, advised a general reclassification of Government offices. The present grouping he described as accidental, based on salaries, while he believed it should be of great advantage in preparing examinations for applicants.

Asked as to the extension of the Civil Service classified list, by the order of May 6, 1886, he said that it brought in 31,000 additional positions. The largest number of offices brought in by a single order before that was 7,600, by President Harrison, 7,000 by President Cleveland being the next in number.

The Currency Reform Hearings.

Washington Jan. 20.—Secretary Gage did not go on with his hearing before the House Committee on Banking and Currency yesterday, owing to a slight cold. Ex-Secretary Fairchild was heard further on various currency features, the general purpose being to develop the probable effect of the proposd currency legislation. Gen. Warper, president of the Bimetallic Association, wsa present, accompanied by Representative Hartman and several other silver leaders.

The Day in The House.

Washington, Jan. 20.—When the House convened yesterday Mr. Linney (Rep., N. C.), from the Committee on Elections No. 1, reported that Mr. G. L. Comer, who filed a contest against Henry G. Clayton from the Third Alabama District, had abandoned his contest. A resolution was adopted declarng Mr. Clayton entitled to the seat.

Mr. Grout (Rep., Vt.) reported the District of Columbia appropriation bill.

Mr. Lacy (Rep., Iowa) asked unanimous consnt for the consideration of a bill to extend the homestead laws to the Territory of Alaska and to grant a right of way to any railroad company organized under the laws of any State.

Mr. Lacey explained that several application had been made by companies projecting roads into Canada, and the committee had decided to report this general bill.

Mr. Simpson said the bill was too important to consider by unanimous consent, and he objected.

The Senate Proceedings.

Washington, Jan.20.—In the Senate yesterday a bill authorizing the Attorney-General, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of War to compromise and adjust certain claims of the United States against the State of Tennessee aganst hte United States, was passed.

A joint resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to make a survey of a ship canal from the lower part of Lake Michigan to the Wabash river was offered by Mr. Turpie (Ind.) and referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Who Is Governor of Georgia?

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 20.—Residents of the State desire to learn who is their Governor. Nobody seems to know. Public business is at a standstill. Gov. Atkinson is in Mexico. The State Constitution says that in case of the "death, resignation or disability" of the Governor, the President of the Senate should act as Chief Executive. Many lawyers contend that Atkinson's absence canstitutes disability, and they urge President Berner of the Senate to take the office. Gov. Atkinson's friends contend that he has not died, resigned or been disabled. They hold the fort. The Governor may be asked to settle the question.

Dillon's Call to Arms.

Dubin, Jan. 20.—At a meeting of the Dilonite members of the House of Commons here a resolutoin was adopted urging upon all Irsh factions abroad a "tolerant commemoration of the events of 1798." The meeting called upon the Government to alleviate the potato distress in the south and west of Ireland, approved the introduction of a local government bill for Ireland, demanded relief for Irish agriculturists similar to that granted the English agriculturist, and finally, requested Mr. Dillon to communicate with Mr. John Redmond with a view to concentrate action in Parliament.

Women Don't Vote in Ohio.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 20.—President Hugh Buckley of the Cleveland Board of Elections announces that woman suffrage in Ohio is a faiure, and that if he were a member of the Legislature he would work for the repeal of the present law allowing women to vote. 'Experience in Ohio," says Mr. Buckley, "proves that women are taking no interest in voting. At the last Spring election we were compelled to provide 200,000 ballots and new registration books, and yet only 400 women registered and only 228 voted. The expense of these votes was about $7,000."

Yukon Expedition Starts Feb. 1.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 20.—It is now proposed to start the Government Yukon relief expedition from here on the steamer George W. Elder, which sails from Skaguay on Feb. 1. Major Jacobs, of Vancouver Barracks, has engaged transportation on the Elder for 86 men, 200 tons of supplies and 30 mules.

More Troops to Alaska.

Washington, Jan. 20.—General Miles says that the developments in Alaska will soon necessitate an increase in the army. "There are 15,000 Indians in Alaska," said he, "and as soon as the gold fields are further developed it will require at least two regiments of soldiers to keep them in order."

THE PLOT WAS NIPPED

Gen. Blanco's Enemies Aim to Overthrow Him.

READY TO SEIZE HAVANA

And Deport the Captain General--The Conspiracy Discovered by the Chief of Police and Checked by Prompt Action --Situation is Very Grave.

Havana, Jan. 20, via Key West.—Havana is in tremendous excitement caused by the news of a formidable conspiracy among the volunteers to overthrow Gen. Blanco. The conspiracy was discovered by the Chief of Police.

The plotters intended to start an armed revolt by the 20,000 volunteers now in Havana and to compel Gen. Blanco to leave the island as they did Captain-General Don Domingo Dulce in 1869. A simultaneous assault was to be made on the forts surrounding Havana, especially on La Cabana, and the troops now stationed at the strategetical points of the city were to be overpowered and compelled to surrender. The success of the conspiracy was nearly assured by the complicity of many officers of the army, the sympathy of the Spanish regular infantry, and of the military police, with the volunteers and the rioters of the past week.

As soon as the news reached the Palace Gen. Blanco summoned a council of the staff officers. Gens. Arolas, Solado, Gonzales Parrado, Marsto and Col. Paglieri advised the Governor-General to assume an energetic attitude and punish severely the colonels of the battalions of volunteers if they were found to be guilty.

The news spread rapidly in town that Senor Calderon, Lieut-Colonel of the Fifth Battalion of Volunteers, was at the head of the military conspiracy.

Gen. Blanco summoned to his palace all the colonels of the volunteers in Havana. Not a single one failed to be present. A stormy scene ensued. Blanco upbraided them severely, saying that it was hard to believe that "patriotic Spaniards wearing the honorable uniform of the Spanish army" desired to raise disturbances against the Government of Spain at the most critical period for the Spanish cause in Cuba. He also threatened them, as the representative of the Crown and the Commander-in-Chief of the army, with severe punishment for the crime of treason.

The Governor-General's words greatly impressed the colonels. The Count of Diana, a well-known Spanish irreconcilable and the oldest among the colonels, was selected by them to reply. He said that the Loyalist Spaniards in Cuba, who had devoted their whole lives to preserve the sovereignty of Spain in the island, were not satisfied with the new regime.

Here Blanco interrupted him in a thunderous voice, saying that he would not permit the least reflection on the Government by colonels under his command and subject to military discipline. The Count of Diana then yielded and protested against what he said was a calumny on the volunteers. He avowed that the volunteers are most loyal to their Queen and their flag. Blanco made all the other colonels one by one ratify these final words of the Count of Diana.

The opinion here is that the situation is very grave. If the conspiracy of the volunteers has been averted by Gen. Blanco's opportune interference, it is not the less certain that their hatred against autonomy is growing, and as the regular army is in a state of great discontent and demoralization, a serious military outbreak is to be expected at any moment.

W. J. Bryan a Witness.

Jacksonville, Ill., Jan. 20.—William Jennings Bryan appeared as a witness in a murder trial here yesterday. He caused a great stir when he took the stand and testified that C. L. Draper had previous to the commission of the offense for which he is on trial had borne a good reputation. Mr. Bryan said he was four years in the same law office with Draper and found him an honest man. Draper, when caught stealing real estate abstracts from the office of Charles Hastings, stabbed and killed Hastings. The defense is insanity.

Gladstone Not Critically Ill.

London, Jan. 20.—"There is not the slightest ground for alarm," said Mrs. Henry Gladstone, a daughter-in-law of the Grand Old Man, to a correspondent at Whitehall Court. "Mr. Gladstone is suffering again from acute neuralgia in the right side of his face and head, causing loss of sleep, but beyond the fact that any illness in one so old is serious in a measure, there is no cause for anxiety." Mrs. Gladstone spoke sincerely, being more surprised than disquieted by the alarming story published in some evening papers that Mr. Gladstone's condition was critical.

The Right of Suffrage.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Representative Stone, of Pennsylvania, has introduced in the Senate an amendment to the Constitution of the United States which provided that no State shall grant the right of suffrage to any person not a citizen of the United State-

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

—Monday evening, January 31st, the board of governors of the Muhlenberg Hospital will meet in regular session.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Henry J. Angerbauer will be given a birthday social at Washington Hall, West Second street, next Wednesday night.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Last Tuesday evening Rev. W. C. O'Donnell received the last degree in John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues

SWINDLER STRAIGHT ESCAPES JAIL.

He Cuts the Bars of His Cell With Saws His Wife Smuggled.

New York, Jan. 20.—Henry W. Straight, the alleged swindler, who was arrested in Jersey City on Thursday, escaped from the city prison there yesterday by sawing one of the bars of a window. The police were immediately notified and are guarding every outlet from the city.

Straight's escape by sawing through the bars and getting away, hatless and in shirt sleeves, by daylight, through a crowded part of Jersey City, is one of the most sensational and daring jail deliveries that ever took place. Straight sawed through the bars of his cell, bent them inward and crawled through the opening, whence he jumped to the ground.

Straight's wife was arrested at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, charged with complicity in the escape. She admitted she had smuggled three saws into the jail and given them to Straight. When told that her husband had escaped and that she was under arrest for aiding him, she exclaimed: "Thank God he's got away! I am perfectly willing to stay in jail in his place."

Mrs. Straight is liable to a term of five years for assisting in her husband's escape. A man is also believed to have been an accomplice.

As stated in recent dispatches, Straight is said to have carpatches. Straight is said to have carried on his operations by means of forged bills of lading, and to have swindled merchants in New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; Baltimore, Md., and other places. His plan, it is said, was to purchase oats or hay in one city and order them delivered in another. Then, so the police say, he would go to the bank to which the bill of lading was sent, and, after inspecting it, would forge another bill, on which he would secure cash.

THE PRESIDENT IS ANXIOUS.

Leaders Tell Him That Action Can't Be Longer Staved Off.

Washington, Jan. 20.—President McKinley conferred yesterday with Republican House leaders on the House's narrow escape Tuesday from being forced to act on the Morgan belligerency resolution brought to the front by Mr. De Armond. Chairman Hitt of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, and other members talked the matter over with the President. They admitted the force of Cuban sentiment in the House, and told the President that it was doubtful if action could be much longer staved off. The President is worried over the situation, and State Department officials, who insist that war with Spain will immediately follow the adoption of the Morgan resolution, are urging House members to stand firm.

Minister De Lome is also much concerned over the conditions in the House, and he called on Secretary Day yesterday to ascertain whether there was any danger of early action. The members will follow their advantage and push the issue at every opportunity.

Democratic Representatives are determined that, come what may in the matter of rulings, they will force the belligerency question to greater lengths.

Coal Operators Organize.

Pittsburg, Jan. 20.—Pittsburg and Cincinnati coal operators and dealers have formed a large organization to be called the Citizens' Coal and Coke Company, with Alexander McDonald, the President of the Standard Oil Company, as President, to control all the shipments to the Cincinnati market, which includes thirteen monster coal elevators there. Half of these will be closed down and the entire business will be conducted at the others. John H. Jones, of Pittsburg, who is largely interested, says it is not proposed to raise the price of coal. The permanent Board of Directors will be elected next Week.

Is Poisoning an Accident?

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 20.—Some time ago Dr. Jeannie C. McClother took poison, by mistake, for medicine, at Kansas City, and died. He had an accident insurance policy for $5,000 in the Provident Mutual Accident Company, of Philadelphia. His widow brought suit to collect $5,000, but it was decided against her on the ground that death from poison was an accident not within the meaning of the word in the policy. She has now taken recourse to the Court of Appeals to reverse the decision.

Eager to See Luetgert.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Anxiety to hear the closing proceedings in the trial of Adolph L. Luetgert for the murder of his wife resulted in a free fight in and around Judge Gary's courtroom yesterday, in which the two bailiffs standing guard at the door were badly mauled and several spectators vigorously clubbed.

Canada's Borgia Gets a New Trial.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Olive Sternaman, who was to have been hanged to-day, has been granted a new tral. She has been in jail here since Nov. 20, 1897, under sentence of death for having poisoned her husband.

JAIL WARDENSHIP.

It is said that Charles Dodd, formerly Chief of Police of this city, has the inside of the track in the race for the appointment of warden of the Union county jail, which will be made by the Board of Freeholders in a short time. Though a veteran, Warden Blore will be unable to take advantage of the veterans' rights act in retaining the position owing to the term of the appointee being for a specified time. If Mr. Dodd secures the appointment his extensive experience in dealing with those who become enmeshed in the law will make him a capable man for the place.

A FITTING PLACE TO MEET.

During the last two years Plainfield has been the meeting place of many notable conventions of religious workers. With the commodious quarters for accommodating large assemblies, the well-known hospitality of the townspeople, and the dominant religious spirit maintained so earnestly, it is no wonder that church workers choose this place to gather for conference, report and betterment in their various lines of endeavor.

MR. CORBIN TOO BUSY.

An effort has been made to obtain the services of William H. Corbin, of Elizabeth, as counsel for the legislative committee appointed to investigate the alleged official rottenness of Hudson county, but yesterday Mr. Corbin absolutely refused to take up the work. He said that his regular business occupied so much of his time that he could not give the committee work proper attention.

THEATRICAL.

A representative of The Press in a talk with Manager Edwards asked for information concerning the Payton Big Comedy Company which is the attraction for all next week at Music Hall. He was profuse in his praise for the excellence of the company, and the artistic merit of the productions given by them. "The magnificent manner in which the Payton Company's repertoire of plays are produced, was a revelation to me," he said, "especially in view of the fact that popular prices are charged. The costumes are handsome, the scenery and stage settings splendid, and the cast excellent. I feel no hesitancy in saying that the Payton comedy is the strongest repertoire company appearing this season at popular prices." Payton's Big Company opens here next week in the excellent drama, "Woman Against Woman." "Baby June," the wonderful child actress, is certain to captivate the ladies at the first performance.

It seems to matter not what the performance may be, whether it is the waltz tempo of Strauss, the melodious rythm of "Il Trovatore," the romantic fervor of "The Fencing Master" or the rollicking strains of the "Lily of Killarney," the Castle Square Opera Company, at the American Theatre, New York, makes each production with surpassing fidelity and uniform excellence. "Opera in English" is the biggest success of the current season. New York may well feel proud of the company now singing at the American Theatre. It is a worthy peer on the operatic stage to Augustus Haly's finely balanced dramatic organization. Intelligence and ambition are the chief characterizations of the very large number of principals. The splendid singing chorus of the company has won its way beyond all criticism. The "Lily of Killarney," Sir Julius Benedict's romantic Irish opera, is doing a splendid business this week. It shows anew the remarkable versatility of the organization. The "Colleen Bawn," as the opera is perhaps best known, is being interpreted in such a manner as to awaken fresh interest in the heart of the multitudinous admirers.

Pictorially, Mrs. Fiske's "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," aptly describes several scenes in the novel; but the finest scenic effect is the final picture, where "Tess" and "Angel Clare" are discovered in the Druidical ruin. This is described as a noteworthy example of stage art.

PLANS OF TROLLEY MEN

COMBINATION OF VARIOUS STREET RAILWAYS IN THE STATE.

A Veritable Network of Tracks Will Be Under the Control of Capitalists—Jersey Coast Points to be Touched.

It is admitted without reserve by different men deeply interested in street railroads hereabouts, that the merging of the trolley lines in Northern New Jersey is but a question of days. The entering wedge to this stupendous deal was, as told in The Press, the combination of the Newark and South Orange and the New Jersey Street Railway companies.

This was such a decided step in the direction of a general consolidation of trolley interests that there was but slight hesitation on the part of men connected with the corporations above mentioned and the Consolidation Traction Company in saying that the latter concern would be joined with the others as soon as certain plans, now underway, could be executed.

The amalgamated lines will, in all probability, be known as the North Jersey Traction Company, but this point is yet to be decided upon. With the exception of a short break on Springfield avenue, in the village of Irvington, there is a continuous line of tracks, diverging from Newark at the junction of South Orange and Sprinfield avenues, to South Orange, to Springfield avenue, Maplewood and down Springfield avenue to the starting point in Newark. Lines and branches extend to the Jersey City ferry of the Pennsylvania road, by two routes; to Elizabeth, Orange and West Orange, Bloomfield, Montclair, Nutley, Passaic and Paterson, Belleville, Harrison, Kearny and Arlington, and to various points by connecting branches in Newark and other places named.

By this it will be seen a veritable network of tracks will be under the control of one concern.

Bernard M. Shanley, it is intimated, will be chosen president of the amalgamated concern and his work will be confined chiefly to developing the suburban lines, while to others will be left the task of managing the city divisions.

Judge Krueger, Edward H. Radel and others interested in the Brunswick Traction Company, are so closely identified with the Newark companies that it is said to be only a question of time when the lines in Middlesex, Somerset and other counties will become part of the North Jersey's possessions. Points along the Jersey coast will then be in touch by trolley with Newark and Jersey City.

By extending the old Suburban Company's tracks from their present terminus at Tremont street, Orange, along Valley street to South Orange, the lines of the Newark and South Orange concern can be tapped and the D. L and W. road can be paralleled from points in Hudson county to the southern extremity of Essex county, as it is conceded that the tracks on Springfield avenue will be extended through Millburn and Summit as soon as practicable.

Isaac Smalley, of East Front street, has returned from a successful fishing trip.

Miss Susie W. Laing, of Washington, D. C., is visiting relatives in the borough.

Mrs. E. M. Oliver, of Hempstead, L. I., is visiting Mrs. E. M. Ransom, of East Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smalley, of East Orange, spent yesterday with Mr. Smalley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smalley, of East Front street.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Welsh, of South avenue, will celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding Wednesday evening, February 2d.

THE HIGHER LIFE.

"Oh, no!" said fair Miss Carrie,
"I shall never, never marry,
For I have a steeiclad bosom and a dessicated heart.
So to Love I bid defiance,
Cast my lot with men of science,
And devote my life entirely to philosophy and art."

"Darwin, Spencer, Kant and Plato
I shall read to find the way to Reach the estoeric whichness of the metaphysic why;
And with Schopenhauer and Homer
And the Rubiyat of Omar
All too swiftly I shall find the precious moments slipping by!"

But in spite of her intention
I but think it right to mention
She has given Kant and Plato and the rest of them the shake,
For this lofty-minded creature
Wed an Anabaptist preacher
And she spends her days in darning socks and frying tough old steak!

—Ellis Parker Butler.

MILLIE AND MOLLIE.

"I've come to ask you for the hand of your daughter," said young Bromley, stumbling to the seat offered him by the girl's father.

"Which one?" asked old Dimmock, the coal merchant, laying down the newspaper which he had been reading, and eyeing the young man curiously.

"Sometimes I think it is Mollie, and again I am sure it is Millie," replied young Bromley, genuinely perplexed.

The old coal merchant looked sympathetic.

"You can't have both," said he, after an awkward pause.

"They're splendid girls, good enough for anybody!" exclaimed the young man.

"Well, I rather think!" said the old man, proudly.

"I could be happy with either of them," went on young Bromley.

"I'm disposed to think," observed old Dimmock, "that you have been happy with both of them."

"So they've told me more than once," said Bromley, with the pleasant light of recollection in his eyes.

"Well, can't you make up your mind which girl you want to marry?"

The old coal merchant looked at the young man with the fresh color and the loyal blue eyes as if he would like to have him for a son-in-law.

Young Bromley did not answer for a moment, and then he said, slowly,—

"Which do you think sounds the better—'Millie Bromley' or 'Mollie Bromley?' Sometimes I've looked at it in that way."

"I don't think there's much to choose," returned the old coal merchant, weighing the question with every desire to be fair.

"You know," continued the young man, "there have been times when I've gone to bed perfectly charmed with the name 'Millie Bromley,' and in the morning 'Mollie Bromley' has caught my fancy. Millie, Mollie; Mollie, Millie—it's an awful puzzle."

"Of course, you've proposed to one of the girls?" inquired their father.

"Oh, yes, indeed," said young Bromley.

"Then that is the girl you want to marry," exclaimed the old man, triumphantly. "Why, it's simple enough after all. You've taken quite a load off my mind. Which one is it?"

"It was Millie—I think," answered young Bromley, hesitatingly.

"Think! Don't you know?"

The young man flushed and looked reproachfully at the coal merchant.

"Mr. Dimmock," said he, "I'll put it to you as man to man: Which is Millie and which is Mollie?"

"Don't cross-examine me, sir," rejoined the old man. "If you want to marry one of the girls, it's your business to find out."

"Heaven knows," cried young Bromley in anguish. "I want to marry either Millie or Mollie and have her all to myself. It's trying enough for a fellow to be over head and ears in love with one girl, but when there are two of them, it's more than flesh and blood can stand."

"There, there, my boy," said the coal merchant, soothingly, "don't take on so. Either girl is your with my blessing, but I want to keep one for myself. Let me see if I can help you."

And going to the open French window he called,—

"Millie, Mollie! Mollie Millie!"

"Yes, papa, we're coming," sounded two sweet, well-bred voices from the shrubbery.

There was a tripping of light feet along the stone walk under the grape vine, and Millie and Mollie bloomed into the room.

"How do you do, Mr. Bromley," they said together, with the same intonation and the same merry glint in their eyes.

Millie had auburn hair and brown eyes; so had Mollie. Millie had a Cupid's bow of a mouth, little teeth like pearls, and a dimple, and so had Mollie. Millie's arms, as seen through her muslin sleeves, were round and white; so were Mollie's.

From the waist to tips of their little feet the figures of Millie and Mollie were the same line for line, and both were dressed in white muslin with lilac bows behind their white necks and lilac sashes at their waists, lilac stockings without a wrinkle, and each wore white satin shoes. Their hair was loose over their fair brows and was braided down their backs, of just the same length, and tied at the end with lilac ribbons. Millie tied Mollie's bows and Mollie tied Millie's.

"Well, papa?"

"Young Bromley tells me," began old Mr. Dimmock, after he had taken draughts of their fresh young beauty by looking first at one end then at the other, and then dwelling upon the features of both with one eye sweep, "that he proposed to you last night.'

"Oh, not to both, you know, Mr. Dimmock," interjected young Bromley.

"He asked me to be his wife," said Millie, demurely.

"He told me that he couldn't live without me," said Mollie, mischievously

"How is this?" said the old man, turning to young Bromley with a severe look.

The young man blushed furiously and lifted his hands in protest.

"I'm sure," he stammered, "one of you is mistaken. I asked you, Millie, to be my wife in the summer house—and—and—I kissed you. That was before supper, and later in the evening, when we sat on the front steps, I said that I couldn't live without you and that we must get married."

"Before we go any further," interrupted the old coal merchant, "which is Millie and which is Mollie. When your dear mother was alive she could tell the difference sometimes, but I don't know to this day."

"Oh, how dull you are, papa!" said the girls in duet.

"I think that is Millie on the right," spoke up young Bromley.

"Why, Mr. Bromley," said she, "I am Mollie."

"Very good now let's get on," said their father, "where were we? Oh, yes, young Bromley says that he asked you to be his wife, Millie, and declared he couldn't do without you."

"I beg your pardon, papa," said Mollie, he told me that he couldn't live without me."

"Well let's get our bearings, continued the old coal merchant. "Bromley, you asked Millie to marry you down in the summer house, and you kissed her! That's correct, isn't it?"

"There's no doubt about that, sir," said Bromley, eagerly.

"And after supper when you sat together on the stoop you told Mollie that you couldn't live without her?"

"That I deny, sir. Oh, I beg your pardon, Mollie, you needn't look so angry. I meant no offence."

"Did you kiss Mollie?" went on the old man, relentlessly.

"No, sir. I—"

"Yes, you did, Mr. Bromley," flared up Mollie.

"I admit," said the young man, struggling with his emotions, "that I kissed her when I said I could not live without her, but it wasn't Mollie."

"Oh, Mollie!" said Millie, "how could you?"

"Now, Millie, do be reasonable," said Mollie.

Old Mr. Dimmock looked mystified.

"It seems to me," he said, with a show of impatience, "that if I were in love with one of those girls I could tell the difference between them. So far as I can make out, young man, you have asked Millie to be your wife, and have tried to make Mollie believe that you could not live without her. Now, to any one who does not know Millie and Mollie your conduct would appear to be perfidious. Of course, as between you and Mollie, I must believe Mollie, for the girl certainly knows whether you kissed her."

The old man eyed both his daughters hard. Millie was biting her nether lip and so was Mollie, but Mollie was trying to keep from laughing.

Old Mr. Dimmock had an idea.

"I would like to clear up this thing to your satisfaction, and my own, Bromley," said he. "Let me ask you whether Mollie kissed you when you told her you could not live without her?"

The young man got very red in the face.

"You mean Millie, of course," he replied, with embarrassment. "Perhaps she wouldn't mind my saying that she did kiss me in the summer house. But she didn't kiss me on the stoop. I kissed her."

"How is that, Millie, Mollie?" asked their father.

"Papa," said Mollie, decidedly. "I could not keep Mr. Bromley from kissing me, but I assure you I didn't kiss him."

Mollie looked her father straight in the eye and then she shot an indignant shaft at Bromley.

Millie hung her head and her face was as red as a poppy.

"I think," said the old man, dryly, "that it's plain I'll keep Mollie, and we'll have that marriage before you make another mistake, young man."

The Catholics.

The proselyting influences of the Catholic church, says a writer, are felt in places where other denominations have never been heard of. I have been in lumber camps in the deep woods of Maine and Canada, and seen the priest going his rounds, converting and making collections. No matter how small the pay nor how great the discomforts of life, the lumberman gives his mite willingly. At the Falls of the Montmorenci is a big lumber mill, where many hands are employed. On pay day I saw a priest go to the cashier's office and receive dozens of small envelopes, signing his name for each in a large book. Afterward the men were paid off. The proprietor informed me that each laborer gave so much a week out of his wages, and the priest was authorized to collect it in that way. I learned that this is the custom all over Canada.—New York Press.

A QUEEN OF THE SEA.

MAGNIFICENT EQUIPMENT OF THE KAISER WILHELM DER GROSSE.

She Cost in the Neighborhood of $35,000,000, Can Carry Nearly Five Thousand Tons of Coal and Her Crew Consists of About Four Hundred and Fifty Men.

When the dimensions of the North German Lloyd's new liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse became known to the public, long before she started on her first voyage across the ocean, all persons who had followed the development of modern ocean transportation looked for her arrival with great interest, and much speculation was indulged in as to what time she would make and how a ship which was as long as three and a quarter city blocks, with a tonnage of fourteen thousand and a displacement of twenty thousand tons, would ride the autumn seas. Her builders and owners made many promises as to the great ship's speed and her steadiness. These promises have all been fully realized.

A new ship, fresh from the hands of the builder, with everything about it new and neat is always attractive, but the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, being larger than any vessel ever launched, except the Great Eastern, and having broken the record for speed on her first trip, became doubly interesting.

But when it is known that this gigantic floating palace was built at a cost of about $3,500,000, and that its constructors had orders to produce a ship as nearly perfect as possible, one need not wonder at the result. The capacity of the vessel may be judged by the fact that she can carry about five thousand tons of coal in her bunkers, although she needs less than one-half that amount on a trip. Her working crew consists of about four hundred and fifty men, of whom seventeen are engineers, eighteen are oilers, seventy-five coal passers, ninety stokers. The vessel is lighted by electricity throughout, there being sixteen hundred incandescent lights of twenty-five candle-power each.

The first cabin passengers have the middle of the vessel for themselves, the after part being the second cabin and forward the steerage. Each division is arranged so that it does not interfere with the others. The visitor on board the vessel finds himself confronted at every turn with something to admire, but the feature which to the casual observer is the most striking is the great dining-room with accommodations for three hundred and fifty persons, and the smaller dining-rooms with which it connects. This room is reached by the main staircase. Soft carpets cover the floor, easy chairs are fixed about the tables, and the entire room is decorated in light colors. The small dining-rooms are at each end of the great saloon. They are four in number, and bear the names Bismarck, Moltke, Auguste and Luise. Each room is decorated differently, and each contains a life-size portrait of the person for whom it was named, besides other pictures and appropriate decorations.

Ample provision has been made for those who travel second class, and so temptingly have these quarters been arranged that many people will take advantage of the opportunity to save the difference in the price of tickets. The beautiful cabins, the promenade deck 400 feet long, the luxurious bathrooms, cold storage rooms, the pictures, burnished glass and metal and the great sweep of deck with its four smokestacks as one views the vessel from the bridge, all make a decided impression on the visitor, but he can form no adequate idea of the magnitude of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse unless he explores the lower regions. She is 43 feet deep and divided by sixteen strong traverse bulkheads, all extending to the upper deck, and by one longitudinal bulkhead in the engine room into eighteen water-tight compartments, so that even with three compartments filled with water the vessel would not sink. There are four groups of boilers, each placed in a separate water-tight compartment, so that in case of collision the vessel would never be without steam to work her main engines and pumps. A double bottom extends over the whole length of the vessel, and this is divided into twenty-two subdivisions.

A Musical Mousetrap.

Acting upon the idea that mice are very sensitive to music a Belgian manufacturer has substituted a musical mousetrap for the common trap. Instead of baiting the apparatus with a bit of cheese or lard the inventor has hidden in a double bottom a small music box, which plays automatically various popular airs of the country. The mice he insists, are drawn irresistibly toward the music box, and in order to hear better they step into the trap and find themselves prisoners!

Hester—Heavenly! I enjoyed the waltzes in particular.

AN ELEPHANT'S FOOT.

The Circumference Proved to Be Nearly Half the Animal's Height.

Any one who has even glanced at the foot of an elephant must be aware that it is a ponderous piece of anatomy, but its actual size is best illustrated by an anecdote.

Two men in the Central Park Zoo of New York were speaking on this subject, and one of them thought the circumference of the foot must measure at least four feet.

His friend laughed at this, but the younger man, after a second time guaging the size, insisted that his guess was correct.

"Nonsense — quite impossible!" exclaimed his friend.

And then, as the younger man still claimed that he was right, they laid a wager and referred the matter to the keeper.

"What is the circumference of the fore foot of that big elephant?" they asked.

"The circumference of an elephant's foot is very nearly half the animal's height," replied the keeper.

"Will you be so good as to measure it?" asked the amazed visitor.

And the keeper got a long cord and went in beside the monster, Bazzle, who stands eight feet, five inches in height.

"Of course I measure while the animal is standing squarely on all fours," he said. "If I were to take the foot up from the floor, it would not be quite so large; a small part of that size is caused by the spreading out of the soft matter of the foot by the pressure of the animal's own weight."

He drew the cord around the monster foot, held it up, and measured it with a tape line. The figures showed four feet, two inches.

The man who had lost the bet paid it, with the remark that he did not think he was paying too dearly for that curious bit of knowledge.—Golden Days.

EFFACED THE MOON.

A Story Which Many Persons Will Believe Quite Characteristic.

The story told about President Lincoln obtaining the dismissal of a client who was under arrest for burglary, and in danger of conviction because the prosecuting witness said he identified him in the moonlight, by producing an almanac to prove the moon did not shine that night, was not the first time the idea was worked to perfection.

John Philpot Curran, the famous lawyer, had a client who was identified under the same circumstances. The prosecuting witness saw the prisoner leaving a house that had just been entered by burglars on a moonlight night. Curran produced 13 almanacs, 12 of which he handed to the jury and one to the judge. The almanacs showed the moon was not visible on the night in question.

The prisoner was dismissed. After the trial Curran's client asked what his fee was.

"Twenty pounds," said the attorney.

"Isn't that pretty steep?" queried the client.

"No," said Curran. "I get only £2 of that; the other £18 goes to the fellol I got to print those almanacs with the moon left out."—Chicago Journal.

POISONED BY SWALLOWING SPIDERS

Some remarkable cases of internal poisoning from the bites of spiders, accidentally swallowed, have been reported recently in Kentucky. A Methodist minister, the Rev Silas Spurrier, swallowed a small spider which had been concealed in an apple dumpling. The inflammation from the bites of the concealed enemy rapidly increased and the patient died before relief could be given. The case has attracted especial attention from the rumor that a woman had purposely placed the spider in the dumpling. When investigations were made it was found that the person suspected had left the country. A woman in Frankfort named Mrs. Pardie also swallowed a black water spider by accident recently. The poison from the bites spread itself through her system until her head and face were badly swollen. She finally recovered.—New York Tribune.

The President's Flag.

It has been the custom for many years to denote the President's presence in the city by flying from the White House the American flag. When the President was out of the city the flag was taken down. The President's own flag is never used except when he goes on board a naval vessel. The President's flag is about the size of the regulation ensign. The body of the flag is blue. In the centre is an eagle, exactly like that on a half dollar. The eagle is embroidered in white. The arrows and olive branch are worked in similar material, and the stars are arranged above the bird. The shield on the breast of the eagle is worked in red, thus giving the national colors—red, white, and blue—and forming a beautiful flag.—St Louis Globe Journal.

He Was Excused.

"You wish to be relieved from jury duty," said a Judge quoted by "The Green Bag," "but you haven't given a good reason." "It is to save money for the people," replied the unwilling talesman. "I have dyspepsia, Judge, and I never agree with anybody. If I go on this jury there will be a disagreement, and the county will have to go to the expense of a new trial." "Excused," said the Judge.

It's different when the indorsement comes from home.
Easy to prove that it is so.
Home indorsement is the proof that backs every box of
Doan's Kidney Pills.
Read this case:

Mr. J. P. Kreitling, proprietor of barber shop and cigar store, living at No. 253 West Front street, says: "I had all kinds of pains in my back and loins for the last five or six years. Standing all day at a barber's chair aggravated the difficulty very much. If I stooped and remained in that position a short time it was hard to straighten up again, and if I attempted to lift anything heavy twinges caught me in the back. I used several different kind of plasters, but they did not relieve me. After reading several statements in my paper about Doan's Kidney Pills curing people similarly afflicted, I made up my mind to try a box and procured them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I started using them, and after a short time was entirely relieved. Doan's Kidney Pills not only cured the pain, but they strengthened by back. My wife was troubled in a similar way, and was also cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. We both consider them a good medicine, and will gladly reccommend them to anyone suffering from symptoms of disordered kidneys."

WHAT ENGLAND ASKS

Commercial Advantages for Guaranteeing Chinese Loan.

THE OBJECTION OF RUSSIA

Latter Country Does Not Want the Port of Talien-Wan Opened--Neither Power Willing to Yield in the Matter--England Wants to Build Railroads.

Pekin, China, Jan. 20.—The Tsung-li-Yamen (the Chinese Foreign Office) has had another conference on the subject of the loan, which it is desired to obtain of England. Besides the right to extend the Burmah Railroad through Yun-Nan Province (the most southwestern province of China), Great Britain asks the right to build railroads through the province of Sze-Schuan (north of Yun-Nan), and a third treaty port is demanded, the identity of which, no doubt, is Siang-Yin, which Japan proposed to open at the time of the Shimonesek negotiations.

Siang-Yin is just south of Tung-Ting Lake, in the province of Hu-Nan. This take is an inland sheet of water, situated about 500 miles up the Yang-tse-Kiang River, and about 400 miles from the coast. It will thus be seen that if Great Britain succeeds in prevailing upon China to open the port of Siang-Yin, she will have a fine trade route into the very heart of China and into its most anti-foreign province. Further, if Great Britain persists in insisting that the Yang-tse-Kiang provinces be not handed over to a foreign power, and establishes herself on the island of Chusan, which commands the entrance of the Yang-tse-Kiang River, she will have permanently opened to trade the very best portion of the Chinese Empire.

The proposed opening of the port of Talien-Wan (on the Liao-Tung peninsula, and north of Port Arthur, a position which would command the railroad connecting Port Arthur with the north and Manchuria) continues to be the chief difficulty, Russia desiring to keep the whole of Manchuria for herself. Neither power is willing to yield on this point, and the question is no longer a commercial one.

British Ships at Kiao Chou.

London, Eng., Jan. 20.—The British Admiralty has just issued a list of the whereabouts of the warships of Great Britain in the far East. It shows that the first-class twin-screw armored cruiser Undaunted and the twin-screw sloop Algerine are at Kiao Chou Bay.

The Japanese Policy.

Yokohama, Japan, Jan. 20.—The British battleship Centurion, flagship of the British squadron in Chinese waters, has arrived at Nagasaki. The organ of the Government reproaches Russia, Germany and France with following a selfish policy in the Far East, and adds: "Japan will avoid alliances, but she is prepared to act vigorously, if necessary for the maintenance of peace."

What China Will Grant.

London, Jan. 20.—A dispatch from Pekin says China is ready to open three new treaty ports and to agree to an extension of railway into Yun-Nan Province, but declines to consent to the exclusion of other powers than England from the Yang-Tse-Kiang Valley.

British Navy Strong Enough.

London, Jan. 20.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking at Bristol last evening, ridiculed the notion of providing granaries, as has been suggested in some quarters. He said he was convinced the British navy was strong enough to hold its own and in any war England would have many friends ready to supply corn.

In closing his speech, the Chancellor of the Exchequer announced that China had approached England for assistance to pay the Japanese indemnity, and that the negotiations were still pending. The newspaper statement on the subject he characterized as inaccurate and incomplete. The Government was not ashamed of these negotiations, and believed the country would approve them. He could see no reason why foreign powers should object; but if the negotiations failed, Great Britain would take her stand on existing treaty rights.

Shot Himself in a Broadway Hotel.

New York, Jan. 20.—Henry W. Mudge of Glen Cove, Long Island, killed himself in the Continental Hotel at 20th street and Broadway. A bullet from a big-calibred revolver ploughed its way through the right side of Mudge's head, and though he was alive when found, he was so far gone that the rapid work of physicians was of no avail. He left no word indicating a reason for taking his life. Mudge was 40 years old, for many years a resident of Glen Cove, where he had a wife and son, 15 years old.

Gov. Griggs Will Resign Next Tuesday.

Trenton, Jan. 20.—Governor Griggs has gone to Washington. All arrangements have been made for his resigning next Tuesday and for Senator Foster M. Voorhees taking the oath of office as Acting Governor. The Governor expects to say good-by then to his friends and end his administration. The newspaper men will give a dinner at the close of the day to the new Attorney-General and Acting Governor Voorhees, at 5 o'clock on Tuesday next, on which occasion the Governor will deliver his valedictory.

No Change in Maryland Contest.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 20.—The first ballot in the Legislature for United States Senator yesterday resulted as follows: McComas, 36; Shaw, 11; Shryock, 2; Milliken, 2; Barber, 6; Urner, 1; Gorman, 46; Findlay, 2; Parlan, 6; Lowndes, 1. Total, 113. Necessary to choice, 57. Absent, 4. There were but few changes in the ballot from that of Tuesday. It being apparent that no result could be reached, the joint convention was adjourned until to-day.

To Go to Klondike by Balloon.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—C. W. Vosmer is planning to go to the Klondike by balloon. He proposes to use the big balloon made for the Chicago World's Fair.

DOUBLE MURDER IN CONNECTICUT.

Jealous Husband Killed His Wife and His Mother-in-Law.

New Haven, Jan. 20.—Edward A. Duff shot and killed his wife and his mother-in-law last night, then wounded John Reilly and tried to shoot one of the policemen who arrested him. The deliberate brutality of the murders so infuriated the neighbors of his victims that loud and earnest threats of lynching were made.

Duff is about forty-five years old. He married a daughter of Mrs. Mary Maher, and two children were born to them. Always jealous and suspicious, Duff made his wife's life so miserable that she left him, and, taking her children, went to live with her mother on Green street.

Just before 6 o'clock last evening Duff went to his mother-in-law's house and urged his wife to return to him, promising to behave himself. Mrs. Duff objected on account of her children having bad colds.

Infuriated, Duff began to swear at his wife. "Are you going to do what I tell you, or will I have to kill you," he yelled.

The woman, frightened, ran out of the room and out of the house. Duff, wild with rage, pursued her, pulling from his pocket as he ran a revolver. The street was crowded. Mrs. Duff, glancing over her shoulder, shrieked for help, but women who saw the chase rushed away, and no man dared to interfere.

Approaching his wife, Duff fired at her. The bullet struck her in the back, and as she stumbled forward the murderer fired again and again struck her.

Leaving her writhing on the ground Duff turned and ran back to the house. As he ran his wife died. Mrs. Maher, who was seventy years old, made a feeble attempt to hold the front door against his impetuous rush. As he threw open the door the old woman staggered back, recovered herself and ran upstairs in the apartments where John Reilly lives.

Duff, cursing, pursued her. Reilly tried to tackle him. Duff fired at Reilly and the bullet made a superficial wound in Reilly's neck. As the man fell, Duff grabbed Mrs. Maher, threw her on the bed, put his pistol to her chin and pulled the trigger. The bullet shattered her jaw, and passed out of the back of her head.

Again Duff shot her through her left shoulder and yet again, smashing the bones in her left elbow. Then he ran out. The old woman tottered into the kitchen of Reilly's apartments and was washing away the blood that poured from her mouth when she reeled and fell dead.

The patrol wagon was summoned, and when it arrived the policeman jumped from the wagon and ran at Duff, who waited for them. He thrust his pistol against one of the officer's body and pulled the trigger. The cartridge missed fire. The three policemen jumped on Duff, who fought furiously, threw him and handcuffed him. They then threw him into the patrol wagon and carted him to Police Headquarters.

THE COTTON MILLS STRIKE.

Everything Is Quiet--Basis of Payment to Be Made the Strikers.

Boston, Jan. 20.—News from the New England cotton manufacturing centres, New Bedford, Biddeford and Lewiston, where strikes are in progress, is to the effect that everything is quiet, no movement of any sort having been made either by the manufacturers or by employees. Secertary Hart of the New Bedford Union says he looks for no particular change for at least two weeks, and it is thought unlikely that the situation in the smaller places will be altered until action is taken in New Bedford.

The Spinners' Union has decided upon the basis of payment to be made to the strikers while idle. Union members will each be allowed $4 a week and 25 cents extra for every child in his family under 13 years of age. Doffers will get $2.50 per week, and joiners $3. Strike pay will begin on Saturday, Jan. 29.

Mrs. Harriet Pickering, a woman of 33, is the recognized leader of the 4,000 women strikers. She will preside at a mass meeting of women to be held at the weavers' headquarters to-day.

President Dole's Reception in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Arrangements are being rapidly completed for the reception and entertainment of President Dole, of Hawaii, who is expected to arrive in Chicago Saturday morning on the Chicago & Northwestern overland limited train. Gen. Brooks, commander at Fort Sheridan, will, it is said, receive orders to have the United States troops of that garrison meet Mr. Dole upon his arrival in Chicago and act as escort to the hotel. A guard of honor with a complement of staff officers will also be detailed to wait on the Hawaiian President, while in the city and to escort him to the train on Sunday.

San Francisco, Jan. 20.—President Dole, of Hawaii, yesterday visited the Presidio and reviewed the troops. Then he inspected the batteries and fortifications and returned to the city, where Mayor Phelan and a delegation of citizens escorted him to the Pacific Union Club, where he was entertained at breakfast.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way.

Mrs. Andrew Cox, of Liberty street, has recovered from her illness.

Lulu Vail, of Elmwood place, is detained at home by a slight illness.

Mrs. W. W. Williams, of Madison avenue, has returned after a visit to Monroe, Pa.

Julius Williams, of Elmwood place, left the city yesterday on a western business trip.

Mrs. Frank H. Smith, of Madison avenue, has returned from a visit at Westerley, R. I.

Rev. L. D. Stultz, of Westville, is a guest at the home of F. C. Langhorne, of Putnam avenue.

Mrs. I. P. Allen, of Jackson avenue, has returned from New Brunswick, where she has been visiting her sister, Mrs. I. P. Cavalier.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, of West Front street, are rejoicing over the advent of a bouncing girl. The little one arrived on Tuesday last.

CHAMPION SHOT THERE.

Jack Brewer Participated in Events of Somerville Gun Club.

A large number of prominent shooters gathered at Somerville yesterday afternoon and participated in several events of great interest. Jack Brewer, the champion trap shooter of the country, was numbered among the sportsmen, and he took part in some of the contests.

The first event was between W. Terry, of Plainfield, and Louis Hilderbrandt, of Lebanon, at 25 birds for $25 Terry won the match, and Hilderbrandt immediately challenged Terry to another similar match, with the understanding that the first scores made were to be a continuation of the scores made in the second match. The final scores made were Terry, 34, Hilderbrandt, 23.

The next number was a sweepstake match of five birds each. Two sweep stakes were shot.

The last event was a match between Hilderbrandt and "Jack" Brewer at 25 birds a side. Brewer allowed his opponent ten birds and then beat him by a score of 24 to 21.

WANT THE NEW DEPOT.

Petition to the Central Railroad Being Circulated in Town.

The following petition is being circulated for signatures in the city and borough:

To the Central Railroad of New Jersey:

Gentlemen—We, the undersigned, residents and property owners of the city of Plainfield and borough of North Plainfield hereby petition you to make a much needed improvement in the city at the North Avenue depot by erecting a new depot on the site of the old freighthouse, thereby removing the present source of danger to all passengers of your road. And we would farther suggest that the present eye-sore known as Rushmore & Co.'s lumber yard and mill be removed, thereby making a pleasant and much needed approach to this proposed south depot

This we think would be to the mutual advantage of both the city and your road. Hoping that you will see the advisibility of this much needed change and act upon the same at an early date, as our city and borough have outgrown the present accomodations which your road affords, we are,

Very truly yours.

Copies of the petition can be seen at Hall's, Randolph's and Moy's pharmacies where signatures may be added.

Acted as a Bridesmaid.

Miss Gertrude Baker, of West Seventh street, was one of the six bridesmaids at the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Sumner Barbour, eldest daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Henry M Barbour to Mr. Hutchinson Southgate, a son of the late Bishop Southgate. The marriage took place at noon yesterday in the church of the Beloved Disciple, East Eighty-ninth street, New York. The bride's father, who is rector of the church, and the bridegroom's uncle, the Rev. Dr. William S. Southgate, of Annapolis, Md., officiated at the ceremony, which was followed by a reception at the rectory which adjoins the church.

Justice Moffett's Court.

The case of Jefferson against Cole, on contract, which was to have been tried in Justice Moffett's court yesterday, was postponed one week.

A summons was issued in the case of Macley against Coverly, on contract. The case will be tried next Monday.

Lively Interest In The Council.

Already the new members of the City Council are evidencing a lively interest in municipal affairs and they take hold of the various branches, to which they have been assigned, in a way that is most gratifying to their constituents.

Justice Was Away.

Justice Mosher was in Somerville no business today, and the case of Mrs. John Taylor against Mrs. Lottie Howland, to try the right of property, went over until next Thursday.

FAREWELL TO FATHER MURPHY.

Members of St. Mary's Bid Goodbye to a Popular Priest.

An informal farewell reception was tendered to Father Murphy at the Plainfield Catholic Clubhouse last evening by the members of the club and and their friends. There were about two hundred persons present, and all joined in extending to Father Murphy their best wishes for his success in his new field of labor, Paterson. Father Murphy regretted very much that he was obliged to say good bye to so many of his friends whom he had learned to like so well. The reception was very informal and no programme was presented by those in charge. The reception lasted for a considerable time, and when those present retired they carried with them many pleasant recollections of Father Murphy's good work among them,

Boys Club Elect Officers.

The Boys' Club held its annual election of officers last night. The following persons were chosen to fill the various positions: President, Clarence Pope; vice-president, Wilbur Bentliff; secretary, Charles Peterson; treasurer, John Berry. At the close of the meeting the members presented Olaf Saugstad, the superintendent, with a hand some silver manicure set as a proof of their appreciation of his efforts in behalf of the club.

LAFAYETTE, THE COURTIER.

The Simple Manner with Which the Geo Washington's Mother Received Him.

Many chaming stories have been told by old ladies who were in their prime when Lafayette made his second visit to America, of the gallant Frenchman's courtesy.

On the day of his public reception in Virginia he rode in an open carriage without his hat, exposed to the rays of a brilliant sun, bowing to the crowds always ready to greet him. There was some apprehension that sunstroke might be the penalty of his politeness; but the marquis was an old soldier. Before leaving home he had put a damp towell into his capacious wig, and protected by his helmet, he could indulge his French politeness with impunity. French and American revolutions and Austrian dungeons had taught him the art of self-preservation.

The most charming story is of earlier date—his visit to the mother of Washington. He found her in the garden, raking together dried weeds and sticks, preparatory to a bonfire, arrayed in a linsey skirt, sack and broad-brimmed hat tied over the plaited border of her cap.

The hostess met the situation with the composure of a duchess. Dropping her rake, she took between her bare palms the hand the nobleman extended as he bowed before her, and said:

"Ah, marquis! You have come to see an old woman! I can make you welcome without changing my dress. I am glad to see you. I have often heard my son George, speak of you. But come in."

Preceding him into her living-room, she placed herself opposite him, erect as a girl of eighteen, never touching the tall, straight back of her chair, whilst she listened to the praises of her son poured forth by the eloquent Frenchman.

Then she mixed with her own hands a cooling drink and offered it to the general with a plate of home-made ginger-cakes. The man of the world accepted the beverage as simply and gracefully as it was tendered, pronouncing it delicious and arose to go. Would she give him her blessing?

She looked up to heaven, folded her hands and prayed that God would grant him "safety, happiness, prosperity and peace."—Youth's Companion.

Launching of the Japanese Cruiser.

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—It is nearly twenty years since any warship was built in this country for a foreign power. The christening of the Japanese cruiser Kasagi at the Cramps' shipyard to-day is therefore a matter of national interest. On the last day of December, 1896, the contract was signed that called for a vessel to be equal in material and workmanship to corresponding ships in the American Navy; the Cramps say that not only has the letter of the contract been carried out, but that, in general efficiency, the boat is superior to the Minneapolis and the Columbia, the United States cruisers with which she is supposed to rank.

SAVED BY THEIR WHEELBARROWS.

Floated on Them Until the Water Subsided and Then Wheeled Them Back.

"Speaking about storms," said Capt. William Dunbar Jenkins of the Aransas Pas Harbor Company, "one hears all sorts of stories about the cyclones which have from time to time ravaged the Gulf coast. It was in 1886 that a very severe storm blew in the vicinity of Rockport, and it was during the blow that several miles of the sand and shell embankment reared by Col. Uriah Lott, the builder of the San Antonio and Aransas Pass road, was washed into the bay. Col. Lott employed a large number of Mexicans, and many of these poor fellows were camped on the embankment. When morning dawned, after the cyclone, scores of them were missing and it was thought drowned.

"As a matter of fact and considerable surprise, not a single Mexican lost his life. For days afterward they could be seen coming across the sand marsh, each man wheeling his wheelbarrow. When the men realized that they were doomed to risk a watery grave, every son-of-a-gun of them grasped his wheelbarrow and floated away in it. The barrows all grounded as the water subsided, and the Mexicans made for the coast, and in the direction of what remained of the embankment. Work was not again resumed on the roadbed, but large sections of the work are still noticeable along the bay coast."—New Orleans Times Democrat.

Siberia's Snow Flowers.

Travelers in Siberia tell of the wonderful flower that grows there, and which blooms only in January, when the winter is at its height. The blossom has something of the characteristics of a "morning-glory," lasting only a single day. The flower, when it opens, is star-shaped, its petals of the same length as the leaves, and about half an inch in width. On the third day the extremities of the anthers, which are five in number, show minute, glistening specks, veritable vegetable diamonds, about the size of a pin's head—these are the seed of the flower. A Russian nobleman named Anthoskoff took a number of the seeds to St. Petersburg. They were placed in a pot of snow and frozen earth. On the coldest day of the following January the miraculous flower burst through its icy covering and displayed its beauties to the wondering scientists. The plant has been very appropriately named "the snow flower."

Too Many Rules.

The teacher who gives her pupils "simple rules" outside of the authorities for determining questions which confront them, and particularly grammatical questions, is apt to find that her rules disastrously fail to fit all cases.

One time the county superintendent of schools was questioning the pupils of a country school. He wrote on the blackboard the sentence, "The fly has wings," and asked a class what part of speech each word was. They passed the "the" without serious trouble.

"What part of speech is 'fly?'" asked the superintendent.

"Adverb," shouted all the class in unison.

"What! 'Fly' an adverb?"

"Yessir!" shouted the children with great positiveness.

"What makes you think it is an adverb?"

"'Cause teacher told us that all words that end in 'ly' are adverbs!"—Youth's Companion.

Much Sweeter Than Sugar.

The newly discovered chemical substance, sugarine, or benzol-sulfinid, is likely to have an important influence upon commerce in several directions. Unlike saccharine, which never became very popular, sugarine contains none of the obnoxious para acid. It is a chemically pure substance, 600 times as sweet as sugar, and yet obtainable at one-twelfth the cost.

VICTOR EMMANUEL AS A HUSBAND

Strange Relations with His Wife of the "Re Galantuome"—A Double Life.

A curious account of Victor Emmanuel's married life, taken from the Autobiography of Gen. Morozzo della Rocca, who died recently as Senior-General in the Italian army, is printed by the London Daily News.

"The wedding took place in April, 1842, and magnificent festivals were instituted on the occasion by Charles Albert. The incomparable kindness and sweetness of Marie Adelaide did a great deal to soften the manners of the court. As soon as he had made the acquaintance of his wife Victor Emmanuel loved her ardently, and the affection he bore her continued tender until the end. But she could not fill the life of her husband, who was entirely deprived of mental occupation, for Carlo Alberto never permitted his children to share in the least in state affairs. So Victor Emmanuel still kept his bachelor habits, and after his marriage had still more liberty than before. He created a life of his own to recompense himself for the monotony of that imposed upon him in the royal palace. He hunted and shot in the mountains and in the marshes, undertook lengthy rides and walks, and was away from home not only all the morning, but very often during entire days. In the palace Victor Emanuel was the Crown Prince, a loving husband, a respectful son; no sooner away from the house than his natural instincts and repressed tastes burst out violently, and he became a species of mousquetaire of the sixteenth century, of whom he had the physical type and wore a similar costume. But he had nothing of the rudeness of manners and vulgar passions given by Dumas to his heroes Though Victor Emmanuel was by no means proud or haughty, but rather familiar with the persons in his service, he was most jealous of his personal dignity and would not have compromised it in the least degree. His heart—and this is true, though it may appear strange—was entirely devoted to Maria Adelaide. He entertained for her a respectful and passionate admiration, placed in her unbounded confidence, and his tenderness toward her was such that he had none to spare for other people, not even for the woman who during many years was the companion of his life, the mother of his children, and to whom, finally, he was united in a morganatic marriage. He reserved for Maria Adelaide the best of himself without pretending to be other than he was. He had no secrets from her, and only avoided giving her details which might have proved inconvenient for her chaste ears. Maria Adelaide, however, knew a great deal which she not only condoned but justified, a mystery of supreme indulgence and kindness which is not easy to understand or even imagine by any one who was not, like myself, placed between the double existences of Victor Emmanuel—that in the palace and that without. The only person who had the right of condemning him abstained from doing so, and I dare to say that she did well."

PRIMARY ORGANIZATION.

DISCUSSED YESTERDAY AT FIELD WORKERS' CONVENTION.

Closing Session Held Last Evening in the First Presbyterian Church—Address on Educational Work of Association.

The sixth annual conference of the International Sunday-school Field Workers' Association, was continued in this city yesterday afternoon with an interesting session held in the Y. M. C. A. building. The session was opened at 2 o'clock with a devotional service led by Israel J. Black, of Philadelphia. Marion Lawrence, of Toledo, O., vice-president of the association, followed with an interesting paper on "House to House Visitation." It contained many valuable suggestions concerning the interdenominational work of visiting from house to house. The work includes the collection of complete statistics concerning the religious condition of each family visited. The committee to which the secretary-treasurer's report had been referred reported back to the conference and its recommendations with a few amendments were adopted.

At 3:15 o'clock the subject of primary organization was taken up. A message from the central committee of the International Primary Union was delivered by Mrs. W. F. Crafts, of Washington, D. C. She thanked the conference for giving her the opportunity to speak, saying that such co-operation between two departments of the International work is greatly to be desired, as much good will surely result from it. Israel P. Black, of Philadelphia, gave an illustrated talk showing the distribution of the 227 primary unions in the United States. New Jersey is near the front of the column with twenty primary unions and an effective corps of workers.

An account of the methods of State Primary Organization in Missouri was given by Miss Anna Johnson Semelroth, of St. Louis.

The discussion was continued by an explanation of the nature of the State Primary Council. The council of this state was explained by Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, of Trenton, who defended the policy of not employing a paid secretary for primary work, which has been the course adopted by this State. The speaker also recommended the plan of having the unit of organization by primary unions instead of by counties.

The details of organization in Pennsylvania were presented by Mrs. J. W. Barnes. That State differs from New Jersey in employing a paid State primary secretary and having a division of the State field by counties.

Miss Bertha F. Vella, of Boston, continued the discussion of primary methods, giving a brief account of the growth of the work done by the primary unions. At first the purpose was merely to give the teachers an opportunity to study the lesson, but since that time the work has been enlarged to include normal study and other branches.

The evening session, which was the closing one of the conference, was held in the First Presbyterian church. It began with a song and prayer service lasting half an hour.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Prof. H. M. Hamill, of Jacksonville, Ill., on "The Educational Possibilities of Association Work."

The work of the association, he said, has multiplied the Sunday-schools by inspiring a feeling of fellowship and friendly rivalry among workers in various sections. It has popularized Bible study. The first purpose of the Sunday-school is evangelistic. The educational purpose is only secondary.

In the improvement of the standards of teaching in Sunday-schools we should have regard for the average schools, not for those of the highest class. The greatest improvements have been made in primary methods.

Concerning the study of the Bible, the speaker said that the student of the Word of God was not exempt from the ordinary labor connected with acquisition of knowledge. The Word itself is inspired, but not the student, except as he is a true and diligent student. Among the agencies through which the educational work of the association is done are the International, State and local conventions, and the religious and secular newspapers.

The choir sang an anthem and an offering to forward the work of the association was taken. A number of brief farewell addresses followed, and the conference was ended.

The next conference of the association will be held in Atlanta, Ga., in April, 1900.

—Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will go to Dunellen this evening to pay a fraternal visit to the lodge at that place. The Hungarian band will give a concert.

EIGHT CONSTABLES REMOVED.

Sheriff of Union County Complies With the Order of Justice VanSyckel.

Sheriff Kirk, of Union county, yesterday in pursuance to the mandate of Justice VanSyckel, took the official heads off of eight out of the eighteen special constables in attendance on the sessions of the County Court.

The first man to be decapitated was James J. Carry, Democrat, who for twenty-four years has been regularly appointed as a court officer. Then came Oliver Conlon, Democrat, who has been sergeant-at-arms of the District Court for years, and is the treasurer of the Union County Democratic Club. Commodore William H. Sault, Republican, and war veteran, was the next one. Henry Smith, a one-armed Democrat, also had to walk the plank, as did John R. Hargin, a zealous Prohibitionist. Michael Boyle, one of Comptroller Carlton's deputy tax collectors, who is classified by his associates as a Mugwump, fared no better than the others. William Cook, an Elizabeth Democrat, and Peter Mersel, a Springfield Republican, completed the list of the victims.

Sheriff Kirk retained all the constables that had been appointed by him. Of those removed, three had been put on by Prosecutor Marsh and five by Judge McCormick.

The Grand Jury will not be ready now to make its report to the Court before next Monday.

Dog Got in His Way.

While Morris Dumont, of East Seventh street, was riding his wheel along West Front street, near Randolph's pharmacy, Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, a large dog ran across his path. A collision resulted and Dumont was thrown from his wheel directly in the path of an advancing trolley car. The car was just stopped in time to avoid an accident. Dumont's wheel suffered a little by the fall while he was badly bruised by falling on the rails of the trolley line.

Ten Signed the Pledge.

A goodly number of people gathered at Reform Hall last evening and listened to a well arranged programme. There were remarks by President Smith, Mr. Armstrong, John Sayres, M. F. Marcley, J. Q. Miles and Mr. Lloyd, and recitations were given by Miss Bertha Clum, Miss Jessup and W. R. Mattox. There were also concertino duets by Messrs. Jessup. Each number was well given and the audience was appreciative. At the close of the entertainment ten signers were secured for the pledge.

Shattered the Knee Bone

The friends of Augustus Saltzman, of Westervelt avenue, will sympathize with him in his recent misfortune. A few days ago he was standing on the edge of the bath-tub in his house when his feet slipped and he suddenly fell to the floor. In falling he struck his knee against the corner of the tub and severely shattered the knee bone. Mr. Saltzman will now be confined to the house for several weeks. Dr. Fritts is in attendance.

Rev. B. W. Hand Surprised

A complete birthday surprise was tendered Rev. B W. Hand, of 1045 West Seventh street, last evening. Friends from this city, South Plainfield, North Plainfield, Evona and Dunellen, to the number of fifty, were present. A handsome rocking chair was given him. Mr. VanMiddlesworth made the presentation speech which Mr. Hand responded to very feelingly. Afterwards refreshments were served.

Demand for Good Roads.

F. A. Dunham, C. E., has just returned from Springfield, Mass., where he attended the annual meeting of the Connecticut Valley Highway Association, of which he is an honorary member. He reports that the State of Massachusetts has built many miles of first-class macadam roads during the past year, and that the popular demand is for work of the same kind

Women Musicians to Appear

Monday evening, January 31st, there will be an entertainment given in the Mt. Pleasant schoolhouse, at which time the Ladies' Orchestra of this city will appear and give some of their best selections. The Ladies' Banjo and Guitar Club will also give several selections. Other numbers on the programme will be furnished by New York talent.

Monroe Avenue Sociability.

Two entertainments are being planned at the Monroe Avenue church. The first, which will take place the 27th, will be an acquaintance sociable given by the officers of the church. February 4th the Ladies' Aid Society of the church will give an entertainment.

Prosecutor Marsh Very Ill.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Marsh, of Elizabeth, is lying very ill at his home on Elizabeth avenue. He has now been sick a week and is confined to his bed.

JERSEY'S GOOD ROADS.

CHOSEN FOR EXPERIMENT IN FREE RURAL POSTAL DELIVERY.

Road Commissioner Budd's Report Declares That Great Work Is Going On Under the Good Roads Law—No Opposition.

The New Jersey State Road Improvement Association has selected a route from Riverton to Cinnaminson, Moorestown, Stanwick, Bridgeboro, Riverside and back to Riverton, on which the postoffice department will try the experiment of a free delivery system in rural districts. The designation was made at the request of the department, and New Jersey was selected because the State is recognized as in the lead in improved roads.

The annual report of Road Commissioner Henry I. Budd for the year ending Oct. 31, 1897, shows that under the law of 1895 there were 66½ miles of improved roads built in the State, for which the State will contribute $100,000 and the counties and property owners will pay about $200,000. Specifications have been prepared for about 96 miles to be built this year, but to complete the work the State appropriation must be increased to $300 000, and this the Road Improvement Association recommends to the Legislature and has appointed a committee to secure an amendment of the law increasing the appropriation.

Burlington county leads in the extent of improved roads, having 61½ miles, or more than one-fourth of the total, and it is in this county that the rural mail delivery system is to be tried. Middlesex county has 37 miles; Mercer, 28; Camden, 27; Atlantic, 22½; Gloucester, 19½; Essex, 17; Monmouth, 8¾; Somerset, 6½; Morris, 6½; Passaic, 4½, and Salem, 2⅝ miles Most of the roads are built of macadam, but in South Jersey gravel has been used.

Commissioner Budd says the average cost per mile has been reduced fully one-third, some roads having been built at from $3,000 to $4,000 a mile in neighborhoods where they have been costing from $6,000 to $9,000 per mile, and the wearing ability will be as great and in some cases greater. Opposition to the law has changed to enthusiasm in its favor, the Commissioner reports, and more roads are being applied for than can be built in many years under the present State appropriation.

Nearly all the larger cities and towns have macadamized roads from their centres to the farming districts. Union, Essex, Morris and Passaic have built many miles of road under the county law. The farmers have found by experience that the increased taxes sit lightly upon them and are a small expense compared with the saving made by the more easy transportation of their produce to market and the inducement it offers to city people to locate in the country.

GIVEN IN MEMORY OF SON.

MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL GETS $250.

Councilman Barrows Contributed the Money—A Little Fellow's Request Before He Passed Away.

Councilman Elliot T. Barrows has given $250 to Muhlenberg Hospital and named a bed in the institution in memory of his son, Elliot Cobb Barrows, who died last November.

The day before his death the boy asked that one of his boats (a favorite toy) be sent to the hospital that a sick boy who was there might have something to play with. His request was complied with and the boat has been added to the toys at the hospital to give happiness to the children there from time to time.

The treasurer of Muhlenberg Hospital has received the following Hospital Sunday collections:

Grace church	$ 49.61
All Souls church	33.42
Congregational church	15.36
First Baptist church Sunday-school	24.99
Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church	130.05
Total	$253.43

Will it be Presiding Elder Ruth?

When the Newark Conference meets at East Orange, March 30th, the most important appointment in the gift of the bishop will be that of presiding elder of Jersey City district to succeed Rev. J. B. Faulks. It is rumored that Rev. W. H. Ruth is the probable candidate. This will be good news to the friends of the Westfield pastor, whose ministerial work of a quarter of a century has well fitted him for the position as head of the principal district in the conference.—Westfield Leader.

Annual Meeting of Local Union.

The executive committee of the Local Union Christian Endeavor held a meeting last evening and discussed plans for holding the annual meeting of the union. Nothing definite was decided upon and another meeting will be held soon to set the date. A nominating committee was appointed last evening by President Anthony, and the committee will make a report at a future meeting.

THE WIFE WAS DECEIVED

MRS. GEORGE SPENCER THOUGHT HER HUSBAND AN HONEST MAN.

She Was Terribly Shocked When She Learned That He Was the King of Bunco Men—How She Married Him

"If anyone deserves sympathy it is I."

Such is the pathetic sentiment expressed by the wife of the king of bunco-steerers known to Plainfielders as Mrs. George Spencer. Immediately after the arrest of the noted criminal, Mrs. Spencer declined to be interviewed concerning her husband, or, in fact, to talk about their domestic affairs in any way. As time has passed, however, and the sudden shock of her husband's ignoble downfall has worn off, the reticent mood of Mrs. Spencer has been slightly dispelled and to a few friends she has confided her troubles and told something of her life with the man whom she had faithfully believed to be engaged in an avocation that was perfectly in accord with the demands of respectable society.

According to the story of Mrs. Spencer, her husband is a veritable Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde—away from home a scheming, suave crook dealing in gold bricks, three-card monte tricks, etc., for the purpose of parting credulous and miserly old farmers from their hard-earned cash; at home, a loving, model husband, assuming to be a commercial drummer taking a short rest from his duties, and indulging his wife in all the things that both money and his own amiable nature could contribute to make her life happy.

It was four years ago at Long Branch. Spencer was there enjoying the sea breezes and the gay life of the ocean resort. The now Mrs. Spencer was spending also a season there, of comely face, pretty figure and affable manner Casually, a mutual friend introduced them one day. They fell into each other's company frequently and finally Spencer became a suitor for the young woman's heart and hand. They were married and Mrs Spencer declares that they lived happily till the fateful day this month when Spencer fell into the meshes of the law.

Mrs. Spencer says that her husband always told her that he was a commercial traveler for a liquor firm, and to carry out the deception successfully he sent home a sample case of liquors whenever he came in off the road, saying that it was needless to return the samples to the house for which he traveled. He was a high liver, always flush with money, never a quibbler over the price of an article—obtaining in his personality always the requisites to denote a prosperous and eminently respectable man of business.

When he was arrested in Lowell, Mass., after buncoeing an old farmer out of several thousand dollars, and gave $18,000 cash bail, and then made himself non est, he pacified his wife by telling her that the arrest was caused by his becoming involved in a quarrel and assaulting a man.

The last Saturday that Spencer spent in Plainfield, leaving for Philadelphia with the detectives hot on his trail, he perpetrated his first mean treatment of Mrs. Spencer. The latter had something over $40 in her possession and he took this sum—probably impelled to do so by the close quarters he was rapidly getting into with the law. Then followed his arrest in Philadelphia and the terrible disclosure to Mrs. Spencer.

Her spirit crushed, her faithfulness rebuked, conscious of unenviable notoriety incident to the disclosures, Mrs. Spencer allowed her sorrow to give way to tears and for several days she was in the deepest distress and mourning. Maintaining an elaborate home, Mrs. Spencer found that in a few days she was greatly in need of money, but where was it to come from? Her husband branded a criminal, writhing in the toils of the law, and seeking only to extricate himself from the predicament that his crookedness had led him into, was as to her in this plight as if he had never lived.

Then came the pressing demands of the merchants to whom the Spencers were debtors. They wanted their money. Without the necessary funds Mrs. Spencer could but put them off and promise liquidation in the future. In view of the heretofore ready settlement of all debts, the change Mrs. Spencer was compelled to undergo was adding humiliation to her already large load of grief. For days to those who saw her she was the picture of despair. One of her colored servants was sympathetically touched and from her scant savings in the bank she drew out $8 and loaned it to Mrs. Spencer for some imperative expenditures. Paltry sum it might seem to some, but to the girl earning not more than that in two weeks or over it represented a tribute to the respect and

PASTOR AND WIFE GREETED.

Reception Given to Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Downey in the Borough.

Yesterday afternoon, Mrs. John Clapp, of Mercer avenue, gave a delightful reception to her friends and neighbors in North Plainfield to meet Rev. and Mrs. William Montgomery Downey. Mr. Downey is rector of the Church of the Redeemer, recently settled in the parish. In spite of the inclement weather a large number of guests were present. Mrs. Clapp was assisted in receiving by her daughter, Miss Clapp, her sisters, the Misses Loyd, and the wives of the church vestrymen and warden, Mesdames Phillips, Alexander, Dupee, A. E. Faber, Jr., and Mrs. Townsend. Mrs. Dupee and Mrs. Matthews presided at the tables. The assistants in the dining room were the young girls of the Sunday-school and church guild, the Misses Audsley, Howard, Phillips, Barlow, Curtis, Faber, Perkins, Hegeman, Waring, Miss Hammond from Newton Centre and Miss Dennison from New Haven. The church wardens, vestrymen and a number of other gentlemen were present. The floral decorations were pink carnations, harmonizing with the tints of pink shaded lamps.

HE WAS TOO REBELLIOUS.

Refused to be Escorted Home by a Borough Marshal.

Chief Marshal Wilson found J. H French, of 10 Willow avenue, early last evening in a state of intoxication on Craig place. The officer summoned a carriage from Roberts' livery stable and had the man taken to his home. When the residence was reached Mr. French assumed a rebellious attitude and refused to be escorted to the house. Chief Wilson then took Mr. French to the borough lockup, where he was detained until this morning. When arraigned before Recorder Thomas he was very penitent, and the Recorder let him go after he paid a fine of $20.

FROST PREVENTS WORK.

Not the Former Councilman, but Winter's Hardened Ally.

There is little for the street committee of the Common Council to do until the frost gets out of the ground At present all the committee can do is to authorize such necessary repairs as they find needed. A meeting of the committee was held last evening, but little more was done than talk over the plans for the coming spring.

The street committee is to hold a consultation with Superintendent Frecht, of the Jersey Central Railroad, with reference to the erection of the new station in this city and the conversion of the old freighthouse yards into a park.

To Try Right of Property.

Justice Mosher has issued a venire for a jury to try the right of property between Alice Cory and Vincent Frazee. Frazee attached some property supposed to belong to the plaintiff's husband, for a debt, and she makes a claim of ownership. The case will be tried next Tuesday morning. The attachment suit is set for trial this afternoon.

The case of Zimmerman against Claassen, on contract, which was to have been tried in Justice Mosher's court today was adjourned one week.

Charged With Non-Support.

Louis Fulton was arrested yesterday afternoon by Roundsman Flynn on the charge of non support of his wife. The complaint was preferred by Overseer-of-the-Poor Marx, to whom Mrs. Fulton applied. Fulton was haled before City Judge DeMeza and held in $200 bail for his appearance Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Geo. Harris went as bondsman and Fulton was released from custody.

Dance and Reception.

The Scandinavian Society of this city gave its annual reception and dance in Saengerbund Hall last evening. The attendance was large and the programme included some excellent singing by the members of the society and of the Saengerbunds. The latter society was present by invitation. The music for the dancing was furnished by O'Reilly's orchestra.

Discussed Gymnasium Work.

The gymnasium leaders' corps held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last evening to discuss plans for the spring. A social committee, of which J. A. Stafford was made chairman, was elected to attend to the reception of new members, and a committee was also appointed to arrange for an exhibition of athletics

Free Lecture.

Rev. W. C. Snodgrass will deliver a free lecture this evening in Vincent chapel. Subject "The Heroism of Youth." Everybody invited. The lecture will be under the auspices of the literary department of the Epworth League.

HE WANTED "STAMPS."

A RATHER UNIQUE REQUEST HEARD IN CITY COURT TODAY.

Milton Barnes Admitted Being Drunk and Disorderly, but When Fined He Made a Demand for Trade Inducers.

A young man went into Frank Linke's wholesale liquor store on West Front street last evening and wanted to order a dozen bottles of beer. He said that he would take half the number on account. Mrs. Linke was suspicious that all was not right and refused to allow the beer to go. Then the young man walked out.

Now it happened that on the counter there were two quart bottles of whiskey. After the young man had departed, Mrs. Linke noticed that one bottle was missing. She notified the police. Sergeant Kiely happened to find the young man soon after. The missing bottle was found in his pocket. The Sergeant says that the young man was drunk at the time. He arrested the young man and locked him up.

This morning the offender was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza. He was Milton Barnes, who has been employed at the Pond Tool Works. He lives in the West End with his wife and children. Barnes pleaded guilty to the charges of being drunk and disorderly. A warrant had already been sworn out in Justice Newcorn's court on the charge of petty larceny. It was decided to let the matter rest in the hands of the city magistrate.

After hearing the story of the trouble at Linke's the City Judge pronounced sentence.

"Ten dollars," said the Judge. The prisoner signified his intention of paying the fine. He still waited before the Judge.

"What's the matter?" asked the Judge.

"I'm waiting for trading stamps," came the reply.

The Judge was, at first, for doubling the fine, but he afterwards relented.

SENATE LODGE INSTALL.

Knights of Honor Seat Their New Officers for the Year.

Senate Lodge, No. 3542, K. of H., received seven new applications and initiated two last night. The grand lodge officers, assisted by District Deputy Julius Hancock, installed the following elected officers for the ensuing year: Past dictator, Thaddeus C Smith; dictator, Benj. R. Western; vice-dictator, J. H. VanMiddlesworth; assistant dictator, William D. Williams; reporter, R. A. Frey; financial reporter, John H. Doane; treasurer, Edwin G. Smith; chaplain, Thomas R. Western; guardian, Richard Warneck; guide, James R. Phillips; trustees, William D. Williams, J. H. VanMiddlesworth, James R. Phillips.

The lodge will have an entertainment February 17th.

STATE PRIMARY UNION MEET.

New Jersey Sunday-school Workers Gather in This City.

The State Primary Council of the New Jersey Sunday school Association held its annual meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building today. The morning session opened at 9:30 o'clock, Mrs J. W. Barnes, of Newark, presiding. Fifteen members were present, representing thirteen primary unions. Reports were received from the secretary, Mrs. T. H. Skillman, and the treasurer, Miss Nettie Beeching. Mrs Alonzo Pettit, of Elizabeth, was elected president for the ensuing year.

TEST OF FIRE ALARM.

It Will be Made Tomorrow Morning at 10 O'clock.

Don't be alarmed tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock when you hear the fire alarm. It will not be a fire but only a test of mechanism. The whistle did not work exactly satisfactorily at the last fire and Chief Doane is very anxious not to have any hitch in that direction. With that end in view the mechanism has been adjusted and will be tested tomorrow morning. One round will be sent in from boxes 12, 13 and 14.

Away for a Quarter of a Century

After an absence of twenty-five years, Clinton Gulick returned to this city last night and was the guest of his old friend, C. H. Schermerhorn, of the Babcock building. He was astonished at the wonderful changes that have been made during his absence of a quarter of a century. After residing on North avenue, Mr. Gulick lived successively in Ohio, Minnesota and at last Vermont, where he still makes his home. His two daughters are still living, one is married and resides in Minnesota and the other lives with her parents in Vermont.

Former Councilman William A. Westphal is in New Brunswick on business today.

MORE TALK ON CUBA

The House Continues the Debate, Champ Clark Speaking First.

MAKES A FIERCE SPEECH

He Scores Our Foreign Policy, Which, He Says, Is Feeble and Cowardly---An Alleged Understanding With the Spanish Minister of Great Importance.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The House yesterday resumed the Cuban discussion. Then general debate on the Diplomatic and Consular bill being open, the time was divided between the sides and the Democrats at once began on Cuba again. Champ Clark was the first speaker.

He said in part: "If Spain does not bring the war to speedy conclusion the United States ought to expel her from the Western Hemisphere. There can be no doubt as to what has been our traditional foreign policy. There ought to be no question as to our foreign policy in the future. Tersely and bluntly stated, it is this—and it ought to be enforced with iron hand—that we intend, at all hazards and at whatever cost, to thoroughly dominate the western world.

"In these days of McHannaism our policy is so feeble, so changing, so cowardly that even old decrepid Spain insults our flags, maltreats our citizens and searches our ships with perfect impunity, and President McKinley, instead of sending warships to protect our honor and teach the impotent dons a lesson they will never forget, passes a hat around and invites the American people to contribute alms for starving and dying Cubans.

"The Monroe Doctrine has grown with our growth, strengthening with our strength, increased with our territory. It is high time that we served plain and emphatic notice on all kings, emperors, princes and potentates that the navy of the trans-atlantic powers shall not be used as collection bureaus for questionable debts, as was done a year or two ago at Corinto and as was done at Hayti.

"The Cuban case is this: For three years the insurgents have fought with a courage and suffered with a fortitude that have challenged the admiration of the world—save and except the McKinley administration. Three or four hundred thousand people—some of the papers say six hundred thousand—have died, men, women and children, as much martyrs in the cause of liberty as was Warren or any hero who died that we might be free—and yet the McKinley administration lifts not its finger to stay the slaughter and can think of nothing more effective for their relief than to pose as the big beggerman.

"To every suggestion that we should re-enter upon a vigorous foreign policy, which will thoroughly protect American citizens and American interests in every part of the habitable globe, we are met with the hysterical shriek that we are advocating war. It is not true, but suppose it were. There are some things worse than war—deplorable as war unquestionably is—and one of them is to play the cry-baby act until we are despised of all nations and cindreds and tongues.

"My Republican friends," Mr. Clark said, in conclusion, "I invite you to lay aside the weight that is holding you down, assert your rights, come out on the side of eternal justice and human liberty, thereby demonstrating that you are worthy of the high vocation wherein you are called. We Democrats and Populists stand here ready to remove from America her great reproach. We on this side will contribute one hundred and fifty-two votes. If only twenty-seven Republicans will break the yoke, defy their taskmasters and join us in this noble work, before the sun sets this day we will send the glad tidings ringing around the world that Cuba is free! Free, thank God, by the act of the American Congress."

At 1 o'clock the vote on the Consular bill was begun. It was first taken on the Democratic proposition to recommit and return an amendment recognizing Cuba, and when this was defeated the bill was passed.

A sharp disagreement between Mr. Bailey, of Texas, and Speaker Reed followed over an argument said to have been made on the motion to recommit.

Mr. Bailey said that it had been made and the Speaker said is had not. This question of veracity threatened trouble for a minute, when the trouble was ended by a vote on Mr. Hitt's motion to lay Bailey's appeal on the table—181 to 114, so the Speaker was sustained. The bill was then passed and the House adjourned.

SILVER RULES THE SENATE.

Teller Resolution Taken Up by a Vote of 41 to 25.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Senator Vest moved to take up the Teller silver resolution in the Senate yesterday and Senator Lodge moved an executive session. The latter motion was voted down, 27 to 39. The silver men voted solidly so, and were aided by several Western Republicans and Quay, of Pennsylvania.

The Teller resolution was then taken up by a vote of 41 to 25.

This vote was a more decided showing of the strength of the silver men and indicates that they are able to dictate on all matters of financial legislation.

The resolution provides that "all bonds of the United States, isssued or authorized to be issued under the said acts of Congress, hereinbefore recited, are payable, principal and interest, at the option of the Government of the United States, in silver dollars of the coinage of the United ver dollars of the coinage of the United States, containing 412½ grains each of standard silver; and that to restore to its coinage such silver coins as a legal tender in payment of said bonds, principal and interest, is not in violation of the public faith, nor in derogation of the rights of the public creditor."

Mr. Vest addressed the Senate in support of the resolution. He reminded the Senate that the twenty years had elapsed since these concurrent resolutions were first put on the statute books, but there was reason now in reiterating the declarations contained in them if they were originally correct and proper. They were not repudiation and were not dishonest.

The administration had thrust the issue upon the Senate; and Senators were either required to keep silent and by silence to give assent to the recent declaration of the Secretary of the Treasury, indorsed by the President of the United States, or else to reaffirm the Stanley Mathews resolution, which had been passed in the Senate by a vote of more than two to one, and in the House by an enormous majority, the present President of the United States being then a member of the House and voting for it.

The country, Mr. Vest declared had come to a crucial point. There were but two alternatives before the Senate. The one was the single gold standard, which was sought to be pressed by the administration, and the other was to make the last and overwhelming contest in favor of true bimetallism and the use of both gold and silver as standard money of redemption.

Meaning of the Vote.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The vote in the Senate by which the Teller resolution was taken up was in effect a vote of a want of confidence in Secretary Gages' declaration in favor of "the single gold standard." The showing for silver was such a shock to the gold men that on a subsequent motion of Senator Vest to set aside the census bill and make the Teller resolution the unfinished business, until it is disposed of, the gold men did not insist upon a roll call.

The silver Senators say that yesterday's vote marks an epoch in the development of sentiment on the money question. It indicates that in all plans for currency reform, any bill which reaffirms the gold standard will meet an insurmountable obstacle in the Senate.

The impressive feature of the short but decisive battle was the confessed helplessness of the gold men. They sat gloomily in their seats and offered no opposition while the silver Senators carried everything before them.

The Currency Reform Hearing.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The currency hearing before the House Committee on Banking and Currency was continued yesterday. Ex-Secretary Fairchild appeared in the morning, with the understanding that Secretary Gage would resume in the afternoon. The inquiries of Mr. Fairchild were along the line of developing the degree of success with which the monetary commission bill could be put into practical operation.

Considerable feeling has been aroused by the determination of the committee, on a party vote, not to hear President Warner, of the Bimetallic Union, and Chairman Towne, of the Silver Republican National Committee, and assume these gentemen prepare a bill and assume responsibility for it. Mr. Cox, the senior member of the minority, says this action is equivalent to declining to hear the silver representatives under any circumstances, as they do not wish to appear as the advocates of any currency or banking bill, but to resist such a measure if on gold lines.

Secretary Gage appeared again for examination, but turned questioner and put Chairman Walker through a long series of interrogations. He asked if Mr. Walker did not aim in his bill substantially to relieve the Government from a current redemption of present liabilities, United States legal tender and Treasury notes, and from responsibility for maintaining the parity of silver and gold, putting the responsibilities on the banks.

The hearing on the currency bills was finally brought to a close in the afternoon, and the committee will meet again on Wednesday to decide which of the four bills before it is to form the basis of the currency measure to be reported. These are known as the Monetary Commission, Gage, Walker and Fowler bills.

An Amendment to the Treaty.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Senator Bacon in the executive session of the Senate offered an amendment to the Hawaiian treaty providing for the submission of the treaty to a popuar vote of the citizens of Hawaii, and making its acceptance by this Government depend upon its acceptance by the Hawaiian people. The terms of the amendment exclude Japanese and Chinese from participation in the proposed election.

It is not believed that the amendment will be accepted by the friends of the treaty.

Dingley Talks on the Cotton Strike.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Mr. Dingley (Rep., Me.) took the floor in the House late yesterday afternoon to reply to some of the remarks made during the course of the debate relative to the wage reductions in the cotton industry during the past few months. He said the depression in the cotton industry was offset by improvement in other lines. He admitted the depression in the cotton industry was unfortunate but the cause was exceptional.

RELIEF TRAIN READY.

Expedition to Alaska Will Consist of Eighty-seven Officers and Men.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 21.—The Government Alaska relief expedition, under the immediate charge of General Merriam, Commander of the Department of the Columbia, is fully equipped to leave here on Feb. 1 by the steamer George W. Elder. The personnel of the expedition consists of a total of eighty-seven officers and men as follows:

Captain George Ruhlin, in charge of transportation and quartermaster of the expedition; Captain D. L. Brainerd, commissary of subsistence, in charge of distribution of supplies; Captain B. Eldridge, Fourteenth Infantry, in charge of escort, with Lieutenant E. W. Clark, Fourteenth Infantry, his subordinate; First Lieutenant Guy H. Preston, Ninth Cavalry, in charge of the pack train, with First Lieutenant I. A. Ryan, Ninth Cavalry, his assistant; and Lieutenant F. M. Kemp assistant surgeon. There are 101 mules and nine horses in the pack train.

McCoy Posts a Forfeit of $5,000.

New York, Jan. 12.—Charles ("Kid") McCoy deposited with Richard K. Fox yesterday afternoon $5,000 forfeit to fight either Corbett or Fitzsimmons for the heavy-weight championship of the world. He declared that he meant business in the matter, and substantiated his argument by the deposit.

IS MR. HOLMES ALIVE?

Chicago Springs a New Sensation About the Multi-Murderer.

REMARKABLE STATEMENT

Windy City Man Tells the Windy Story Quite Seriously---Body Resembling Holmes Substituted at the Hanging--Now Growing Coffee in South America.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—H. H. Holmes was never hanged. On the contrary, he is to-day alive and well, growing coffee at San Parinarimbo, Paraguay, South America.

This is the extraordinary statement made in the Inter Ocean by Robert Lattimer, a resident of Englewood, and a man who having been intimately acquainted with Holmes, and a frequent visitor at the "Castle," was at one time reported in the long list of the multi-murderer's alleged victims.

The story of Holmes' alleged escape from death, as Lattimer tells it, is as sensational as any of the events connected with the career of this extraordinary criminal. According to the story told by Lattimer a body strongly resembling that of Holmes in height, weight and general appearance was smuggled into the jail at Philadelphia and placed under the scaffold. When Holmes mounted the death machine, so the story goes, all was in readiness for the substitution and when the murderer had concluded his speech the trap was lowered. Holmes disappeared, the body was hoisted up and the noose placed about the dead substitute's neck. Then the huge weight which is used in Pennsylvania executions was released and the body of the unknown man shot into the air, instead of descending, as is customary in other States. Persons executed in Pennsylvania, according to Lattimer's story, are not shot through the trap, but are suddenly jerked off the platform, although a trap is always built in the scaffold.

Within two hours of the hanging an undertaker's wagon containing a casket drove out of the prison yard. That casket was supposed to contain the body of Homes; instead, it is alleged, it contained Holmes living. The horses were dashed into a run, and quick time was made to Mount Moriah Cemetery, where the casket, instead of being entombed, was deposited in the vault. The body was smuggled from the prison at night and taken to the cemetery, where it was placed in a casket from which the living Holmes had been released some hours previous.

Before midnight Holmes, his face cleanly shaven and in new and elegant clothing, was camly seated in a New York hotel, reading of his supposed execution. A few days later, Lattimer's story goes, under an assumed name, Holmes was on his way to Paraguay.

It is further alleged that, after having made his arrangements to reside permanently in South America, he sent to the United States for at least one, and perhaps two, of his alleged victims, through whose disappearance he had profited, and that he is now living with them.

Holmes Hanged in Spite of Yarn.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—Ex-Sheriff Clement, who officiated at the execution of H. H. Holmes, laughed when his attention was called to the story from Toledo that the man of many murders was not executed, but is now alive and running a coffee plantation in South America. Mr. Clements said he saw the trap sprung and was quite sure that the person who was launched into eternity was none other than Holmes. The substitution which the Toledo romancer declares took place, could hardly have been made without being discovered by some of the spectators, among whom was a goodly number of newspaper men, who are not in the habit of going into a trance on such occasions.

KILLED BY A FIST BLOW.

Fight of Two Young Men in a Disorderly House Ends Fatally.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 21.—Arthur Adams and John McWilliams, Jr., friends and both members of respected families, quarrelled in a disorderly house yesterday, and Adams was killed by a blow from McWilliams' fist, which landed full on the jugular.

Adams was a frail, delicate young man of twenty-three. McWilliams is a year older. He is a son of John McWilliams, a manufacturer of jeweller's tools and Collector of the Port of Providence during President Cleveland's first Administration.

The young men quarrelled about a seventeen-year-old girl, Alice Hazlewood, who a year ago figured in a "Seeley dinner" in the room of a rich Brown University student, which resulted in several young men suddenly leaving town and the detention for some months of Miss Hazlewood in the reform school.

McWilliams' friends failed to furnish $5,000 bonds for his appearance January 28, and he was remanded to [Cran]ston jail.

Shaw May Drag His Friends Down.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 21.—Camden County's Grand Jury will begin to-day an inquiry into the charges of embracery made against the friends and counsel of Eli Shaw, whose trial was postponed recently by the mutual consent of counsel pending an investigation.

The inquiry will go deeper than many persons anticipated. Prosecutor Jenkins and Justice Garrison probably will go before the jury.

It is said that the charges of embracery will be sustained and that the Attorney-General has no less than six affidavits, the makers of which cannot go back upon their sworn statements, and that upon the testimony of these six witnesses startling indictments will be found.

Embezzler Foster Extradited.

Paris, Jan. 21.—The technical impediment in the way of the extradition of William R. Foster, Jr., who is under arrest on the charge of stealing $193,000 belonging to the Gratuity Fund of the New York Produce Exchange, have been removed, and his extratition has been formally granted.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Miss Ethel Marsh, of Harlem, has returned after a visit with Miss Fannie Western, of Washington avenue.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Former Mayor and Mrs. Alex. Gilbert, of Central avenue, have returned after a short trip.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Miss Mary Howe Miller, of La-Grande avenue, has returned after visiting out-of-town friends.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Edward White, of Myrtle avenue, entertained a few friends at dinner Wednesday evening.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: 'The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues

HIT WITH A SANDBAG.

Salvation Army Lassie Assaulted by a Former Lieutenant.

New York, Jan. 21.—Captain Annie Livingston Hughes, an assistant secretary to Commander Ballington Booth of the American Volunteers, is lying in a critical condition at her home at Orange, N. J., as the result of a murderous assault made upon her on January 13. Ehrich A. Prisman, an ex-convict, who until January 12 was a lieutenant in the Volunteers, is under arrest in this city and held to await extradition papers from the Jersey authorities.

Prisman's assault upon Captain Hughes was a mistake upon his part, as he undoubtedly, if he made the attempt, intended to kill Captain Hughes' sister, Major Jennie Hughes, the private secretary of Mrs. Ballington Booth. His reasons for assaulting Major Hughes were two—first, she had refused to accept his attentions, and, second, she had him dismissed from the service.

Major Hughes and her mother were before the Essex County Grand Jury yesterday, and a true bill will be returned against Prisman to-day charging him with felonious assault in the first degree. It has been practically established that the weapon which he used in his assault upon Captain Hughes was a sandbag made by a prisoner in Sing Sing and presented to Mrs. Ballington Booth to show that when he was set at liberty he had no further use for such weapons.

The assault upon Captain Hughes was particularly brutal, and that she was not killed outright was due, according to the physicians who attended her, to the manner in which she wore her hair.

BIG FIND OF BAD MONEY.

New York, Jan. 21.—Walter Nash of the West Hoboken police yesterday found $92,600 worth of counterfeit money in the vacant house at 542 Ann street. It was all in bogus $100 notes on the Bank of Montreal. The house was the one formerly occupied by William Brockway and his confederates, Abbie L. Smith and William E. Wagner. They were arrested in August, 1895, charged with counterfeiting. Brockway was indicted separately for having in his possession counterfeit plates of $500 United States gold certificates and $100 notes of the Bank of Montreal, and fibre.

He will long be remembered as one of the most skilful forgers and counterfeiters known in this country. He was arrested in 1880 for forging United States bonds to the amount of $204,000. But sentence was suspended because he gave vauable information. He was arrested again in 1883 and served five years for forging a railroad bond. He is now serving a ten years' sentence in the State Prison at Trenton, having been found guilty of the charges which led to his arrrest in 1895. At the time of the arrest, Secret Service Agent Bagg was convinced that all the counterfeit money had not been found, and he made an ineffectual search for it. Nash had been searching for the counterfeits for several weeks. H went from cellar to attic, and in the attic his persistency was rewarded. His attention was called yesterday to some loose bricks on the floor, and in the hole which they left he came across the money which had so long been hunted for. The United States Treasury Department has been notified, and the Secret Service men will take charge of the counterfeits and try to find the plate.

Oppose Senator Quay's Man.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Wanamaker fight against Senator Quay in Philadelphia has been carried into the White House. Twenty men representing a business men's league of Philadelphia visited President McKinley yesterday to protest against the appointment of State Senator Thomas to be Collector of Customs.

They represented to the President that the appointment of Mr. Thomas would be objectionable to a large number of business men who have transactions with the port. Instead of Thomas, who has been indorsed by Senators Quay and Penrose, the delegation wished to have Major Hancock, a Wanamaker man, appointed Collector. The President promised to consider the question thoroughly before making an appointment.

Jack the Ripper Again.

London, Jan. 21.—The mutilated body of a woman was found yesterday in the rear of a church in Shoreditch. The body was inclosed in a sack, and both legs were missing. The police have no clew to the identity of the dead woman or the circumstances of her death, and the East End is in a great commotion over the resemblance of the case to the many murders committed by the mysterious Jack the Ripper.

A GOOD PLAN.

When it was suggested in these columns Tuesday that now was an appropriate time for same diplomatically endowed citizen to propose a harmonizing plan for the accomplishment of a Greater Plainfield, we little expected that serious steps would be taken at the meeting of the Board of Trade the following night. If the efforts of the influential officials of the borough and the city can be engaged in this direction much more can be accomplished than by spasmodic and scattered agitation of the subject. If the consolidation matter is given a semi-official stamp of approval by the appointment of joint committees, as suggested at the Board of Trade meeting, to work towards one municipality, then the Legislature can be influenced with greater promptitude and ease than if the plan is simply advocated by individuals.

SCHOOL TAXES.

Senator Reed has launched his tax bill for the relief of counties which are paying more school tax into the State treasury than they are receiving. As he seems to be in thorough accord with the State Board of Education and the State Board of Taxation, the bill is liable to become a law, unless some unexpected snag is struck. When once it is upon the statute books, it will be Somerset's prerogative to find out whether Ocean and Cumberland counties are paying taxes on fairly assessed valuations. This is an exceedingly important matter to the citizens of this county.—Unionist-Gazette.

ROGER MURRAY'S DESTINY.

The Newark Advertiser's Trenton correspondent contributes the following bit of Legislative gossip:

Roger Franklin Murray seems destined to reflect much honor on Union county. Mr. Murray is a young man who is willing, even anxious, to learn and who watches things with marked attention. Up to date he has had very little to say, even in the caucuses of his fellow Republicans, but those who know him say that he has been quietly "sawing wood" for future use and that he will be heard from after he has become accustomed to the harness.

MARRIED QUIETLY.

Wilbur Henderson Takes a Somerville Belle for His Wife.

A very quiet marriage was celebrated yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Etta Connett, of Somerville, became the wife of Wilbur Henderson, an employe of J. Fred MacDonald's grocery store. The wedding took place at the home of Rev. J. O. McKelvey, Grandview avenue, who performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left the city immediately after the wedding and they will enjoy a short honeymoon. They will return to Plainfield next Monday and will reside on Watchung avenue in the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Mason.

Euchre the Attraction.

A charming evening was spent at the home of Miss Etta Neuman, of East Fifth street, last evening by the members of the Thursday Evening Euchre Club. As usual, euchre was the principal attraction of the evening. Miss May E. MacLaughlin and Mrs. Will M. Tier were the lucky winners of the first and second prizes. Benjamin LaVere and Theodore Mantz won the first and second prizes for the men. After the game was concluded an informal musical programme was rendered. It proved very enjoyable.

A Turkey Supper.

Next Tuesday a turkey supper will be given in the W. C. T. U. rooms under the auspices of the union. Supper will be served from 6 to 10 p. m. A meeting of the committee in charge was held yesterday afternoon when all arrangements for the supper were completed.

At the next meeting of William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., there will be initiation, and other important business will be transacted.

Firman Gise has improved the appearance of his property very much by cleaning out the gutters. Heretofore no one knew there was a gutter there.

The evangelistic services have been concluded at the New Market Baptist church. They were a source of much help and profit to the large number of people that attended them.

It is understood that Bert Harold, of Plainfield, will soon be the organist at the Presbyterian church. His many friends in the borough will be pleased to see him secure the position.

Tonight the fourth quarterly conference will be held in the M. E. church, with Presiding Elder G. W. Smith, of Plainfield, in charge. The meeting will be one of importance.

Everything is now ready for the adoption of the trolley ordinance on its final reading and when the matter comes up at the first meeting of the Council next month it is expected that there will not be a dissenting vote.

Evangelist Saunders, of Milton, Wis., has succeeded in helping the people of New Market to become interested in spiritual matters. Since he came to New Market to hold special meetings the people have been thoroughly aroused and the local churches have been blessed wonderfully.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. J. S. Braker will lead the prayer meeting in the Baptist church tonight.

Prof. H. M. Hamill, of Jacksonville, Ill., will deliver an address in the Scotch Plains Baptist church Sunday evening.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Deike, of Grove street, is the guest of out-of town friends.

Mrs. P. B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, is quite ill at her home.

Lawyer Frecht, of Somerville, was in Plainfield yesterday on business.

Fred Ross, of Park place, is entertaining company from out of town.

J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, called on friends in Plainfield today.

Mrs. H. M. Stockton, of Central avenue, is visiting Philadelphia relatives.

A. D. Thompson is in Philadelphia today on business. He will return this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Coddington, of Newark, will spend tomorrow with relatives in Plainfield.

Miss Priscilla Beatrice Emmons, of Prospect place, is the guest of relatives in New Brunswick.

John Michael, of Greeley, Cal., was the guest yesterday of his brother in-law, W. Sherwood, of Arlington avenue.

Mrs. Walter Wikoff, of Richmond street, has returned home after a two weeks' visit with her relatives in Rahway.

Miss Edna Briggs has accepted a position in the phonograph department at the Bard Cycle Company's store on North avenue.

Mrs. J. D. James, of 22 Sycamore avenue, Washington Park, is convalescing from an attack of appendicitis, which necessitated a surgical operation Sunday last by the family physician, Dr. Endicott.

Nate Titsworth has returned from his trip and his genial presence is in evidence at the Bard Cycle Company's store. Nate remarks that "our friend" who poses in the Cycle Company's window, does not seem to have changed much since he left.

PASSING COMMENT.

It may be interesting to many Plainfielders to know that Frank LaPorte, mail distributer at the postoffice, handles every day about five thousand letters which he also stamps. He handles all of the outgoing mail and is such an expert at the business that it is rarely that he makes a mistake. In order for him to accomplish his work he is required to put in from ten to twelve hours a day.

THEATRICAL.

Manager Edwards announces as the attraction for all next week, at Music Hall, Payton's Big Comedy Company, in a brilliant repertoire of comedies and dramas. The company does not carry a brass band for out-of-door concerts, preferring to rest its claim for patronage upon merit alone. The company is composed of capable players, who give a production equal to that of most of the high-priced and more pretentious organizations. Everything carried by the company is new and up-to-date. The opening play for next Monday evening will be "Woman Against Woman." Ladies' tickets for Monday evening can be had at Music Hall box office.

It Will be Surrogate Spencer.

Tuesday of next week, January 25th, Surrogate-elect Henry Newton Spencer will take possession of the office now occupied by Colonel Abram T. Huff. Mr. Spencer will still continue to reside in North Plainfield for the present, but will probably become a citizen of Somerville before many months. Surrogate Huff will have a desk in the office for a time, while he is finishing up his business. In the spring he purposes retiring to the farm of his son, Tunis Huff, in Hillsborough township. Mrs. VanNortwick, who has been a copyist for Colonel Huff, will continue in the same position under the new Surrogate.

confidence in Mrs. Spencer that was an oasis of happiness in the desert of the unfortunate woman's ill luck.

A few days ago Mrs. Spencer went to Boston, whether to see her erring husband now incarcerated in a Massachusetts prison it is impossible to say. Her home on Carlton avenue is still maintained and in the care of servants, and Mrs. Spencer is profuse in her declarations of honesty and ignorance of her husband's true practices until disclosed publicly. It is probable that she will go to live with her parents, who are said to be wealthy.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The T. A. B. Society is planning to give a fair in T. A. B. Hall, February 14th.

—VanArsdale carries a large variety of good school shoes at lowest cash prices.

—The regular business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will be held this evening in the church parlors.

—The new fire-alarm boxes ordered by the City Council will be placed in position today. One will be placed at the corner of Front street and Rock avenue.

—Austin Compton, of the borough, was fined $2 this morning by Recorder Thomas, for leaving his horse untied. The violator paid his fine without any hesitancy.

—The new Stillman building on West Front street and Madison avenue is nearly completed. The contractors have been unusually favored by the mild weather this winter.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text—Ye are the light of the World Matt. v: 14. Jan. 23, 1898.

1. "And seeing the multitudes He went up into a mountain, and when He was set His disciples came unto Him." It would be most instructive to gather together all the mountain scenes and incidents of Scripture, and contrast them with those of the plains. In connection with this lesson one might glance forward to the mountain scenes in the life of Christ, the mount of prayer, the mount of transfiguration, the mount of the ascension.

2. "And He opened His mouth and taught them, saying. "It seems to me very plain that He taught His disciples these things and that this is a sermon for those who have received Him and are willing to be His disciples. All who truly receive Him are saved, but to be a disciple one must be willing to be given up wholly to Him, to be taught by Him, and to be an apostle one must be willing to go anywhere for Him. There are few among the saved who by word and deed proclaim Jesus Lord to the glory of God the Father (Phil. ii., 11). Do you?

3. "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." In Jas. ii., 5, we read of the poor in this world rich in faith and heirs of the kingdom. In Zeph. iii., 12, we read of an afflicted and poor people who trust in the Lord. But it is not their poverty, but their faith, that unites them to Christ. Our Lord speaks of the poor and contrite spirit that trembles at His Word; the broken and contrite heart that is acceptable to Him (Isa. lvii., 15; lxvi., 2; Ps. li., 17).

4. "Blessed are they that mourn, for they shall be comforted." If we consider the kingdom and the glory of the King, yet to be manifested, and then see Him as the Teacher sitting here in humiliation uttering these words, we shall be greatly helped in our meditation thereon. Of all the sorrowful people that ever lived on earth He was pre-eminently the man of sorrows and acquainted with grief (Isa. liii., 3), and yet He is the Father of mercies and God of all comfort (II. Cor. i., 3), who comfort us even here, that we may comfort others while we wait for the fullness of comfort at His coming (I. Thess., iv., 18).

5. "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth." His glory shall be the fullness of the whole earth, all the kingdoms of the world shall be His and ours with Him (Isa. vi., 3, margin; Rev. xi., 15; John xvii., 22, Rom. viii., 17, 18). None on earth, not even Moses, meekest of men of his time (Num. xii., 3), was ever as meek as Him, who said I am meek and lowly in heart. Since the earth is ours we can afford to let others have it just now if necessary and be miscalled and misunderstood for so doing.

6. "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled." We must still keep before us the kingdom when the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord and the King who is righteousness itself, the Lord our righteousness, the righteous Lord, who loveth righteousness (Jer. xxiii., 6; Ps. xi., 7). Of course there is in each case a present application while waiting for the kingdom, and every disciple may daily be filled with the Spirit.

7. "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." Part of His name is the Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious (Ex. xxxiv., 6). He delights to exercise mercy or loving kindness (Jer. ix., 23, 24), and the earth shall yet be filled with it, but now He longs to find those who will be the bearers of it to others. Wherever any one is willing to show mercy to others, they shall obtain freely an abundance of it to pass on. It is a great mistake to desire anything just for one's own use. Our Lord never lived unto Himself, but having all things in Him, if we are willing to be channels of blessing to others He will see that the channel is filled.

8. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God." He alone was truly pure in heart, and He was God. When we see Him we see God. Some day we shall see Him and be like Him, even as to our bodies (I. John iii., 2; Phil. iii., 21). Now we are to behold Him in the glass of His word (II. Cor. iii., 18), and in proportion as we do we shall be changed into His image, so that others seeing Him in us shall want to know Him.

9. "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God." As God is the God of Peace and the Lord Jesus the Prince of Peace, we are acting very much like children of God when we carry peace everywhere. When the kingdom comes, there will be peace on earth, war no more. As those to whom the kingdom belongs we are to carry samples of it in our daily life—love, joy, peace for all. We are children of God by faith in Christ Jesus (Gal. iii., 26), and there is no other way to become a child of God. But being such we are to manifest it and yield so fully to God that He may do all He desires to through us to carry peace through Christ to all people.

10. "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." The world will not tolerate this kind of life any more than it tolerated John the Baptist or the Lord Jesus. In the eyes of the world, even the religious world this life of the kingdom, with its lowliness, sorrow for sin, meekness, righteousness, mercy, purity and peace, is simply ridiculous, fanatical, not fit for the times; may do well enough for old people and little children, but men and women who are men and women indeed (in their own estimation) will not put up with it, or even suffer it to be taught if they can help it.

11. "Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for My sake." In other words if, for Christ's sake, you are lied about (see margin), misrepresented, slandered, falsely accused, things said about you without a particle of foundation, you are a blessed person, for you are thus privileged to have intimate and wondrous fellowship with your Lord.

12. "Rejoice and be exceeding glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you." Fellowship with the prophets and with Christ and with God Himself—do we rejoice in this opportunity, or are we content to murmur at these things when they come to us and say, "How unjust how unreasonable, how strange! We will not stand it!"

Lively Times Here

—furniture of the best sort, stoves backed up with maker's and our warrant—carpets of every weave, every color—all are "bunched" into this most unique, most marvelous of January sales and offered to you at prices below first cost to us, in fact—not in mere "words." Newer, '98 lines are soon to drop upon us. This sale paves the way for them. The coming 7 days will outstrip last week's record—can't help doing so.

Yes—pay us 75c. a week if "cash is short."

Out of near 50 sorts of Bedroom Suits—full 75 per cent. are less than maker asks in car lots—"seeing is believing," to "see" for yourself—$11.75 to $150 are the "now" prices.

$1.38—plush seat, rattan rockers—still some left—it's a taste of this unmatched fancy chair stock. None to equal it in beauty and size and variedness.

Stoves and Ranges Must Go—Quick

There's not a cent of profit left at these "close-out rates." Loss, in money—lots of it—but we gain the space—and that's sorely needed in a very few days! Buy now—you'll pay as low as from $5.85 for ranges—or as little as $5.75 for heating stoves. And same with the oil and gasoline heaters. All chopped down from their old prices—which were already little. "The Portland Range" alone is not reduced—we can't get enough of them.

Carpets Join the Race

for quick selling, too. 'Twould ease your heart and help your purse to get a chance at any one of the thirty or forty varied weaves—all at special, honest, actual, reduction prices! As little as 29c. for heavy Ingrains, 65c. for Extra Super All-Wool Ingrains, 75c. for Double Extra Brussels, 79c. for velvets, 90c. for $1.35 Body Brussels, $1.25 Moquettes at 95c. Why, you can't match the like for miles and miles around. 'Tis New Jersey's great Carpet store.

ENGLAND'S WAR MOVE

British Fleet on Esquimault Ordered to Sail for China.

PHEASANT PUTS TO SEA

The Imperial to Follow To-Morrow--All the Others Ordered in Readiness, but Not Likely to Be Called For---To Transform the Empress Into a Fighter.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 21.—Orders have been received at Esquimault, by Rear Admiral Palliser, from the Admiralty, instructing him to have every vessel in his fleet ready to start for China on forty-eight hours' notice.

Immediately all was bustle around the dockyards, the crews of the different vessels being busily engaged rushing coal and provisions on board.

Then came an order for Her Majesty's ship Pheasant to start on her trip across the Pacific yesterday, she being nearer ready than the others. Later instructions were received for H. M. S. Imperial, the flagship of the squadron, to proceed to the scene of activity. She will start to-morrow. It is not known whether or not Admiral Palliser will accompany her.

It is not likely, unless the conditions in the Orient reach a climax, that the other vessels at present here will be ordered there. The Icarius is only a small vessel and the Phaeton and Leander, having just completed a long voyage, are in need of some repairs. In fact, the Leander is already in the dry dock and the Phaeton is to follow her.

It is not known just where H. M. S. Amphion is at present, but she has probably completed her work at Cocos Island, and is coming north, being under orders to report at Esquimault. The torpedo boat Destroyer will remain at Esquimault.

The next order was one to have the armament of the Empress boats ready to be shipped on short notice.

To Add to Her Navy.

London, Jan. 21.—The Central News says that the Government has decided, in view of the Chinese situation, to increase the personnel of the navy by 5,000 men, and 2,000 additional stokers will also be engaged within the current quarter, besides a large number of engine room artificers.

THREE FIGHTS PENDING.

Choynski, Jackson, Ryan and Jeffries Training in California.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—The sports of San Francisco will witness, probably within the next two months, a series of contests between three pairs of heavy-weight boxers, which may determine who is really the coming champion. The Choynski and Tut Ryan tewnty-round contest, which will take place under the auspices of the Empire Athletic Club, is booked for the evening of February 11, at Mechanics' Pavilion.

Peter Jackson is training faithfully across the bay in Alameda for anything that may turn up in the way of a match. Peter is tolerably confident of meeting Maher in the near future. At any rate Jackson has taken time by the forelock and to the surprise of his admirers he is training faithfully and will assuredly be in the pink of condition when he is called upon to give an account of himself. Jeffries is also at work in Alameda for his prospective match with Tom Sharkey.

Japanese Cruiser Launched.

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—The Japanese cruiser Kasagi was successfully launched yesterday afternoon. Instead of the traditional breaking of a bottle of champagne in the christening ceremony, two white doves were released by the sponsor, Miss Long, daughter of the Secretary of the Navy. The Kasagi is the most important ship ever built in the United States for a foreign country and is the first foreign warship launched in America since the Russian warship Zobica, in 1878. The custom of releasing white doves at the launching of a Japanese cruiser has its origin in history, but more in fable. Ever since Japan had a navy the custom has been in vogue, and the release of the two young birds is to symbolize the happy fruition of a great endeavor accomplished through the intercession of white winged peace.

The Deadlock Continues.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 21.—The first ballot for the United States Senatorship yesterday resulted as follows: McComas 40, Shaw 18, Shryock 2, Gorman 47, Parran 3, Mullikin 2, Findlay 2. Total 114. Necessary to choice, 58; absent, 3.

The second ballot resulted: McComas 40, Shaw 1, Shryock 2, Gorman 47, Parran 3, Findlay 2, Mullikin 2, Barber 17.

The third ballot was: McComas 40, Shaw 18, Gorman 47, Findlay 2, Parran 3, Mullikin 2, Shryock 2. Total, 114. After taking the third ballot the joint convention adjourned.

Banquet for President Dole.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The programme for the reception and entertainment of President Dole, of Hawaii, has not yet been arranged. Major Heistand for the War Department and Lieut. Phelps for the Navy are in conference on the subject, and will have the matter settled before President Dole's arrival, so far as can be without consulting him. One feature has been settled upon, which will be a dinner given by the President in the visitor's honor.

Strike Situation Unchanged.

Boston, Jan. 21.—The morning of the fifth day of the strike of cotton textile operatives in several New England cities brought out nothing new to either side, unless possibly it was a more deeply settled feeling of determination on the part of the strikers to wait for the manufacturers to yield.

Employment for a Thousand.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Four hundred thousand dollars are to be expended at once by the Illinois Steel Company in the erection of a slab mill at South Chicago, in addition to the mammoth plant already maintained by the company. This will insure employment to at least 1,000 more men than are now on the company's pay-rolls.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

SPORTS

WHIST.

Speaking of the game between the Parks and the Baltimores, in which the Plainfielders won the National championship, the Evening Post says:

In this winning of the trophy the Park team has done nothing more than was expected of the aggregation, by those who are best capable of judging. The match against American early in the season was felt by no one to be indicative of their whist ability, and although Park was entirely unsportsmanlike to make any such plea, the whist consensus of opinion held at that time was that Park had had an unusual run of bad luck. In the match of last Saturday that ground can hardly be taken, even by the stanchest admirer that the holders have, for a glance at the score will show that if Park gained four and five tricks at a time Baltimore also made two gains of three each. On Park's big hands the challengers simply outplayed their opponents, and that is all there is about it. It has been noted during the winter that a defeated team sometimes has had the bad taste to talk about the many "icicles" that they gave away during a match, when if the "cold tricks" they so feelingly referred to could only be traced to their true source it would be seen that it is generally a case of it might have been different if as much had been known about the deal before it was played as was found out afterward.

AROUND THE BASES.

The Elizabeth Athletic Club is talking of putting a baseball team on the field during the coming season to compete with neighboring athletic clubs.

Westfield and Cranford are both going to have a baseball nine on the field this coming year. The great rivalry between the two towns last year has led the promoters of the sport to make special efforts to have good teams in the field.

Plainfield will be represented on the diamond this year, as last, by a Crescent Baseball Club. It will be under the same management as last year but the team will be greatly strengthened. Several of the same players who were on the nine last year will be found there in 1898 but many changes will be made that will strengthen the team greatly.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The Bard Cycle Co. have received the 1898 Humbers.

Thomas A. Cuming, of Putnam avenue, was out on his new Eldridge racer Wednesday afternoon.

The Eldridge Bicycle Company received a shipment of eleven wheels this week, the last of which were received yesterday.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company has received a shipment of a hundred of last year's model Crescents that are to be sold at unheard of prices.

While the Crescent Wheelmen are not yet dead, they may be considered dormant. It is really too bad that a city the size of Plainfield cannot liberally support a good bicycle club.

Bicycle skates are fast coming into popular use in large cities and in other sections where good roads prevail. The Bard Cycle Co. have placed them on sale and they are attracting considerable attention.

With all the talk about cheap bicycles, it is noticeable that careful buyers are ready to admit that the Humber is fully worth the $100 it costs. The Bard Cycle Company received the Humber models yesterday and have already booked two orders for them.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

A bowling contest took place on the alleys of the Catholic club Wednesday night between the Catholic Club team and a team from the Young Men's Catholic League, of Elizabeth. The latter team came off victorious, winning two out of three games.

The Y. M. C. A. bowling team of this city went to Westfield last night and bowled a series of three games with the Westfield Junior bowling team. The home team won the first two games and lost the last. The totals were 684-678, 750 684, 615 734. Another series will be rolled on the Y. M. C. A. alleys in Westfield next Thursday night.

GOSSIP FROM THE GRIDIRON.

The proofs of the photographs of the Plainfield Athletic Association football team are now on exhibition at the store of the Eldridge Bicycle Company with the manager, Thomas A. Cuming, secretary of the association. Orders for copies of the picture may be left with him.

CLEVELAND BUYS A FARM.

He Will Stock It With Game Birds and Maintain a Shooting Preserve.

Ex-President Cleveland has purchased from Capt. Foster W. VanKirk an eighty five-acre tract of land adjoining the Captain's Rosedale farm, about two miles west of Princeton. Mr. Cleveland, it is said, will make a game preserve of the tract and stock it with quail, pheasants, partridges, and other game birds for the pleasure of himself and his friends.

The neighboring farmers will join him in protecting the birds. This makes three game preserves in that section. The largest is that of Pierre Lorillard at Jobstown, Burlington county, which is stocked principally with pheasants and English hares. It is several hundred acres in extent and adjoins the pine lands of Burlington county. Just east of Trenton Col. A. R. Kuser, of the Governor's staff, has a large farm, which he usually stocks with quail for the pleasure of his friends the following autumn.

Entertained at Luncheon.

The officers of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs were entertained at luncheon yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue, after which a reception was given to the members of the Monday Afternoon Club by Mrs. Hall. The affair was a delightful one and largely attended by both State and local women of prominence.

Supper and Reception.

The primary Sunday-school workers held a reception in the Y. M. C. A. parlors from 5 until 6 o'clock last evening, and then enjoyed a supper in the small hall, previous to attending the closing session of the Field Workers' convention.

Died at the Hospital.

Mrs. Thornton Langford, wife of the sexton of Bethel chapel, died at the hospital this afternoon, where she had gone to have an operation performed.

—A new storage warehouse is being erected at the rear of the Jackson building for the use of J. A. Gavett and Garret Q. Packer.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. Frank Mandeville, of Brooklyn, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Huff, of Coddington avenue.

James Scott, of this city, went to Merchantville last night and assisted in the organization of a new lodge of colored Knights of Pythias.

Mrs. M. F. Marcley, of New street, who received an injury to her hip some weeks ago, is now much improved. The report that her hip was fractured is untrue, the injury being nothing more serious than a sprain.

—Monday evening, January 31st, the board of governors of the Muhlenberg Hospital will meet in regular session.

—Goodwill Lodge, No 8, colored Knights of Pythias, initiated four new members at its meeting Wednesday night. Grand Deputy G. Gardner and Grand Prelate G. W. Gaines, of Newark, were present and made speeches. A collation was served.

PREPARING FOR THE RUSH.

Additional Steamship Accommodation for Passengers to the Klondike.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—The local transportation companies are preparing to accommodate the rush to the Klondike. The Pacific Coast Steamship Company has arranged a schedule that will give a five-day steamship service between San Francisco and Alaskan ports. The company expects to handle at least 10,000 passengers out of this city next month, and during the entire season the total tonnage in this port is calculated to accommodate 50,000 persons.

About June 1 steamers will be placed on the run between this city and St. Michaels. The Alaska Commercial Company will run the steamers St. Paul, Dora, Bertha and Portland, with an average carrying capacity of 300 persons each. These vessels will connect with the river steamers upon the breaking up of the ice and not less than two trips a month will be made from here.

The Pacific Steam Whaling Company will run steamers to Cook's Inlet, and Alaska. These means of getting to the gold fields will be greatly augmented when the vessels now in course of construction are completed.

Advance in Rates.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 21.—The expected advance in rates to Alaska has been announced. The several transportation companies who control nearly all the business have agreed on an increase of $10 to the passenger rate between Puget Sound points and Dyea and Skaguay, and a proportionate increase to Juneau and other southeastern Alaska points.

The new rate to Dyea and Skaguay, which goes into effect at once, is: First class, $50; second class, $35. The rate of freight is advanced from $10 to $13 per ton.

Straight Still at Liberty.

New York, Jan. 21.—Henry W. Straight, the alleged swindler, who escaped from the Jersey City prison, has not yet been caught. Mrs. Blanche Straight, his wife, who admitted that she furnished the saws with which the bars were cut, taking them to her husband in the false bottom of a basket containing food, is still in jail, and will remain there unless she can furnish $5,000 bail, to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Warships for Japan.

London, Jan. 21.—It is reported that Japan has purchased the Brazilian cruiser Abren, now building on the Tyne, for £370,000, and has also bought the Brazilian ironclads Deodoro and Floriano, which are in course of construction in France. Emmissaries of the Spanish Government have been in London trying to arrange for the purchase of these vessels, but it is understood that they were unable to raise the necessary money.

How One Physician Vaccinates.

Dr. John B. Read, an old practitioner of fifty years' experience made public recently his formula for vaccination which he says he has never known to fail. The process is simple. Take a fine needle or thread with silk or cotton thread, and moisten about one-fourth of an inch of the thread with vaccine matter or virus; then draw the needle through the skin until that portion of the thread containing the virus is passed under the skin. Dr. Read says the idea originated with him in his early practice and has never been made public before.—Nashville Banner.

Getting too Near Home.

A Yorkshire Socialist, explaining to a friend the principles of socialism, remarked that all possessions should be shared equally.

"If you had two horses," said the friend, "would you give me one?"

"Of course," replied the Socialist.

"And if you had two cows, would you do the same?"

"Of course I should."

"Well, supposing now," said the friend slowly, "you had two pigs, would you give me one of them?"

"Eh! tha's gettin' ower near home," said the other slyly; "tha knaws I've got two pigs."—Answers.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION TO GIVE A CONCERT.

A Manager of the Baseball Team Chosen—Provisions Made for the Revision of High School Athletic Records.

With preparations for the benefit entertainment and a baseball club, the members of the Plainfield High School Association found plenty to do at the monthly meeting of the association held at the High School yesterday afternoon. Carroll L. Runyon, the president, presided. There was a large attendance of members.

The report of the entertainment committee was to the effect that the committee recommended that an entertainment could be successfully held. It was decided to hold the entertainment and President Runyon appointed a committee, composed of William A. DeLong, Jr., chairman, Rhey T. Snodgrass and William A. Fisher, which was given power. The entertainment will be held in Y. M. C. A. Hall on the evening of Lincoln's Birthday, Saturday, February 12th.

The interest in baseball has been large from the beginning of the year. The number of candidates is surprisingly large. The election of a manager to take charge of the team came up at the meeting. As the team will probably be the strongest that has ever represented the High School, there was much interest taken in the selection of a manager. Claude Edwards was elected to the office.

The advisory board made several suggestions regarding by laws for the revision of the records of the association. The recommendations were adopted unanimously. They provided that the records in standard athletic events should be made in sanctioned meets or at a record trial. The record trial should be made in the presence of three timers or measurers and of the witnesses, one of which was to be a member of the advisory board or its representative. The applications for records are to be submitted to the advisory board for their approval.

The standard athletic events are to be the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, one mile run, 220 yard low hurdle, one third-mile walk, putting the shot, throwing the hammer, throwing the discuss, pole vault, running high jump, running broad jump, standing broad jump.

It was provided that the bicycle records be of two kinds, competition and against time. The competition records are to be made from a standing start in sanction events. The records against time are to be made from a flying start, with or without pacemakers. The bicycle events of the association were selected to be the one-third-mile, the one mile and the two-mile.

Carroll L. Runyon was made a committee of one to confer with the advisory board and revise the list of records to conform with the new by-laws.

Going South for His Health.

E. Herbert Bonnell, of East Fifth street, sailed yesterday by the Savannah Line to visit Florida and subsequently California and the southwest. Mr. Bonnell is employed as a receiving teller at the Garfield National Bank. He has been ill and has been compelled to make the trip for his health. He was ordered by the cashier at the bank to take a year off if necessary to fully restore his health. His salary will continue as usual. He has for a traveling campanion a wealthy young physician who has a place in Florida and is trying to overcome ill health.

Minstrel Thatcher's Roadhouse.

Everybody knows George Thatcher. His great success in minstrelsy was largely owing to the fact that he studied the wishes of the people and catered to them. The people want a resort conducted on absolutely first-class principles and now the well known minstrel is going to cater to that want. The Maples, on the hill at Fanwood, which he has now opened, will be run to suit the most fastidious. It will be under the direct supervision of the proprietor, who knows what he wants and intends to have it.

To Install Officers.

The Saengerbund Society will hold its annual installation of officers in Saengerbund Hall next Tuesday evening. The installation will be followed by a supper and dance. Prof. Eichorn, the singing master of the society, will have completed one year of service at that date, and the affair will be designed to mark this anniversary also.

Scribe Elderton Missed.

The omnipresent scribe of the News, M. F Elderton, is now missed from his accustomed haunts. He is enjoying a two weeks' vacation in the sunny south. His place is filled by Harry Milligan, who has now turned his energies to journalism.

CAN'T AGREE ON THE PRICE.

A DISPUTE ABOUT WATER RATES.

Westfield Only Wants to Pay the Same as Plainfield But Water Company Say Nay.

The contention of Mayor Fisk and others of this city that the business of supplying water to municipalities has grown to be a very profitable business in this section seems to have had its effect on neighboring places and to have developed possibilities of serious disagreements between townships and the company supplying the water.

The latest development of the feeling of dissatisfaction has appeared in Westfield, in the form of a dispute between the Township Committee and the Union Water Company over the yearly rental price of fire hydrants.

The township authorities claim that the present price of $25 a hydrant is too high, and point to this city for an example, where the price paid is only $15 a year. Several communications have passed between the township and the officers of the water company, but the town's contract for fire hydrants, which expired January 1st, has not been renewed. The company remains firm in its resolve to maintain its former rental price, claiming that even at $25 the company reaps no profit.

The township points to Plainfield and refuses to give more than $15.

In the meantime the contract has expired, and if the company so desires it can shut off the 28 fire hydrants in the township.

This would be a serious matter, as it would deprive the property of all fire protection. Town Committeeman Harden, who is leading in the fight against the company, says that the shutting off of the water would be a good thing, as it would lead to the construction of a water plant under town ownership.

TO MEET AT TRENTON.

Bishop McFaul Selects State Capital for the Hibernian Reunion.

Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, has decided that the National Convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians shall be held at Trenton and commence Monday, June 27th, 1898. The Bishop said:

"It has been urged that certain American cities are replete with Revolutionary memories, and that this entitles them to consideration in making a selection. Gentlemen, I most willingly concede the force of this argument.

"It will, indeed, be a glorious day when Irish and Irish-Americans, meeting here in America on soil rendered sacred in Revolutionary days by the blood of our fathers, will lovingly entwine the memories of the heroic deeds of Erin and America—deeds crimsoned with their hearts' blood and performed for 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.' Therefore, I feel that Providence guided the steps of your honorable committees, seeking for union, to New Jersey. For here are the historic battle fields of Princeton, Monmouth and Trenton.

"I love, indeed, to think that New Jersey was among the first of the sturdy colonies to raise the standard of independence."

RICHARD ELLIOTT DEAD.

Stricken With Pneumonia and Couldn't Survive the Attack.

Richard Ozro Elliott, aged 45 years, son of the late Richard Elliott, of the borough, died last evening at his home, on West Eighth street, after a short illness with pneumonia. Mr. Elliott was born on Pearl street, and lived in this locality all his life. His father was a blacksmith, and many years ago had a shop on Somerset street. Mr. Elliott was a carpenter by trade and always worked at it when able. His wife died a few years ago. Three children, two boys and one girl, survive him. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

The funeral services will be held from the house, West Eight street, Tuesday afternoon next at 2 o'clock.

Silver Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Auten, of Roycefield, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary last evening and in honor of the event there were about sixty relatives and friends present, and included among them were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Garretson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Garretson, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Mcintyre, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip MacIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gayle, all of this city.

Home From the South.

Fred Leland, of Central avenue, arrived in Plainfield yesterday afternoon at 3:12 from the south, where he has been for several weeks on account of his health. While in the south Mr. Leland gained ten pounds, but a cold snap lasting for several days resulted in his loss of twelve pounds. He feels very much the effect of the journey home, but today his condition is fairly good.

METHODS OF EVOLUTION

INTERESTING LECTURE BY REV. A. C. NICKERSON.

Great Antiquity of the Human Race Was Shown—Immortality of the Soul—Lecture Given in Unitarian Church.

The third lecture in the series on Evolution was delivered by Rev. A. C Nickerson, in All Souls church, on Park avenue, last evening, under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the National Alliance of Unitarian Women. Mrs. Florence Howe Hall presided and made a few introductory remarks.

The subject of the lecture was "Methods of Evolution" It was a continuation of the one on organic evolution delivered a month ago. In that lecture the over-population of the world by Nature was described. The struggle for existence, which controls the over fecundity, was enlarged upon and illustrations were given of variations in plants and animals showing the processes of evolution.

In this lecture the variations and consequent developments of life on the globe, beginning with the earth itself, and the nebular hypothesis, were illustrated by the geologic story, with quotations from Sir Charles Lyell, and the testimony of archeologists, with Sir John Lubbock for leader.

Traces of man, his life, his weapons, his physical structure were found far back in pre-historic times.

A study of rudiments and of embryology led to the declaration of the similarity of the physical structure of man and the apes, and to an assertion of the general unity of type underlying all vertebrates.

The difference between the lowest and the highest man was declared to be far greater than the difference between the lowest man and the gorilla

Since 1789 there has been greater changes in human life than for ten centuries preceding.

Physical life was spoken of as the greatest development of life on the globe. The spirit of man, with its social and moral capacities, is believed to have acquired the property of immortality. The lengthening of infancy, as treated by Fiske and by Drummond, was referred to, and the development of the cerebrum was shown to be the inaugurator of a new kind of evolution.

After some words as to the spiritually fittest to survive, the lecture concluded with some interesting illustrations of adaptation in nature.

The next lecture of the series will treat of "Social Evolution."

FREEHOLDERS FAILED TO CAUCUS.

Union County Jail Wardenship Not Settled—Louis Miller's Banquet.

The caucus which it was intended should be held by the Republicans in the Board of Freeholders on the jail wardenship Thursday afternoon did not take place, owing to the inclement weather, which prevented the members representing the country districts and Plainfield from reaching Elizabeth. The caucus now, it is said, will not be held until after the next meeting of the board. J. Martin Roll, of Springfield, has the calling of the caucus. Warden Blore, Democrat, has consulted counsel in the matter, and it is said will make a fight under the Veteran act to retain the position.

New History of Union County.

The new "History of Union County," which has been in preparation for two or three years, has been completed. It has been delayed some on account of the death of Hon. F. W. Ricord, of Newark, under whose editorship it was principally compiled. Besides the history of the county and the cities and towns within it, there are many biographies and life-like steel and half-tone likenesses of many leading citizens. Among the contributors are: Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, Mrs. Mary N. Putnam, Dr. Henry R. Cannon and Warren R. Dix, of Elizabeth; Lewis S. Hyer, of Rahway; Rev. N. D. Cadwell, of Westfield; A. M. Cory, of New Providence; Miss Julia Littell and J. W. Clift, of Summit; Charles E. Buell and Rev. A. H. Lewis, D. D., of Plainfield; W. P. Tuttle and P. C. McChesney, of Springfield.

Sunday school Workers to Meet.

A meeting of superintendants, pastors and Sunday-school workers of Union county is to be held in the Third Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, Monday evening at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Union County Sunday-school Association and the Elizabeth Sunday school Union. Prof. Hamill, of Illinois, the leading international field worker of the United States, will deliver an address. Rev. E. M. Fergusson, the secretary of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association, and Rev. J. S. Braker, president of the Union County Sunday-school Association, will speak.

THE HEROISM OF YOUTH

REV. DR. SNODGRASS TOLD OF THE PERILS TO MEET.

The Many Dangers That Lie in the Path of Young People Offer Opportunity for the Exhibition of Heroism.

"Heroism of Youth" was the title of a very pleasing lecture delivered in Vincent chapel last evening by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Epworth League and was free. It was well attended. It was preceded by a soprano solo by Miss Templin and followed by another solo by Miss Templin.

While humorous in many places, the lecture was filled with many interesting statements. Dr. Snodgrass opened by designating peril as a condition and a test for heroism. His theory was that heroes are not born; nature furnishes the raw material, but man makes the character. He defined heroism as a contempt of danger, not from lack of knowledge, but from just cause. As one of the all important factors of heroism, he spoke at length of the perils of youth.

The first peril noted was hunger. He explained how an uncared for home drove fathers and sons to the saloon and free lunch counter. The hunger for society was similar and caused men to go to resorts where they would not go had they the society that they craved at home. The intellectual hunger was the reason for the countless questions of the small boy. It also led him to read the thrilling yellow-covered literature.

Imitation was pointed out as another peril that was apt to make people ridiculous and often lead them to do wrong. It led to the many foolish expenditures of those who tried to do as their more wealthy neighbors did and thus lived beyond their means. Dr. Snodgrass characterized the installment store as an abominable institution offering innumerable temptations of this nature.

Power was mentioned as a temptation of youth. False moral standards were noted as another. Questions were applied from the wrong standpoint, the speaker explained. Instead of asking if it was right to do anything, many now wonder if it would be wrong to do it. What is done, should be done with the aim of seeking strength and the building up of the character.

The dangers of a little knowledge were noted, also the ideas of those who believed that they lived but to be amused or served.

In conclusion he declared that while life was a dangerous thing it was a glorious thing and offered great opportunities for being heroes in meeting all these perils successfully.

HIS FOOT CRUSHED.

A P. and R. R. R. Flagman Hurt While Coupling Cars.

Henry M. Rapp, aged 32 years, married, and a resident of Philadelphia, employed as a flagman on a P. and R. freight train, met with a painful accident this morning at 2 o'clock, while coupling two freight cars on the Port Reading crossing near Bound Brook. The wheels of one car passed over his foot and crushed it severely. The cries of the injured man attracted the attention of his fellow-workmen who immediately ran to his assistance. Rapp was carried to the Bound Brook station and later brought to Muhlenberg Hospital where he received proper treatment. The physicians in charge have not determined yet whether Rapp will be compelled to lose his foot and leg. He suffers intense pain and the foot is in a very bad condition.

Delinquent Taxpayers Heard.

The Martin Act Commissioners held a meeting Thursday evening. They heard what some of the delinquent payers of the Watchung avenue assessment had to say. The matter will be revised by the commissioners. Another meeting will be held Thursday evening. Those who are not summoned before the commissioners on that date can probable rest in peace without fear of being called to appear before them.

Mrs. Smith to Recite.

Mrs. Frank J. Smith has consented to recite at the concert to be given at the Park Avenue Baptist church Thursday evening, January 27th. This fact, with the names of the other artists who are well-known here, promises to make this a very fine entertainment.

Singing Class.

Miss Anna O. Marsh will start a class in vocal sight reading for both men and women, Tuesday evening, January 25th, at 8:15, at Menzel's Music Studio, 322 West Front street. Lovers of music are urged to join.

MAPLE TREE SAVED HIS LIFE.

ALMOST RODE DOWN A ROCKY SLOPE.

John Burnett Caught in the Wheel of a Runaway Wagon and Had a Narrow Escape.

One stout maple tree was all that stood between John Burnett and a terrible ride down a rocky slope Thursday afternoon. The cause of it all was the breaking of a whiffletree pin.

Burnett lives on a farm beyond the Dugway road, a mile from Washingtonville. He was taking a load of grain home from New Market in a large farm wagon drawn by a stout team of horses. The steepest part of the hill on the Dugway road had been reached when the whiffletree pin broke. The horses were released with the whiffletrees and pole. The wagon began to run backwards. Burnett clung to the reins and was pulled from his seat. He fell into the wheel. In some manner he became entangled in the wheel and was carried back with the wagon.

The heavy load soon increased the speed of the backing wagon. Burnett was unable to liberate himself from his dangerous position. On one side of the road is a steep bank that leads down to a little mountain stream. The slope is full of rocks and trees. The wagon began to incline in that direction. Burnett saw the danger but could not change the course of the wagon, The wagon approached the edge.

As Burnett expected to be hurled down the embankment there came a crash. The wagon landed squarely against a large maple tree that stopped its career suddenly. The rear of the wagon was broken by the force of the blow. Burnett crawled out of his precarious position to find that the horses had run away. The wagon had gone backward about fifty feet.

The runaway horses went to the Burnett farm, where Edward Burnett, a brother of John Burnett, found them. He saw that there had been trouble and hurried back along the road with the horses. He found his brother sitting against the providential tree. The damage was repaired so that the wagon could be taken to the barn.

John Burnett escaped from his adventure badly bruised and cut about the legs. His clothes were almost torn from his back. He was also generally bruised and shaken up.

DIDN'T EXPECT GUESTS.

A Pleasant Surprise Party Tendered to Robert VanNest.

A pleasant surprise was tendered to Robert VanNest, of Duer street, last evening. The evening was passed in playing games, and banjo solos by Irving DeHart.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. William H. Combs, Mr. and Mrs W. D. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. L. C. VanNest, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Vermeule, Mrs. Ramsom, Mrs. R. Pope, Mrs. Waldron, Mrs. George Pope and children, Mrs. Charles VanNest and children, Mrs. George VanNest and children, Edith Finney, Nellie Vermeule, Jennie DeCamp, Eva Doeringer, Minnie French, Stella Brooks, Bella VanNest, Jessie VanNest, Jessie Stites, Jennie Everett, Clara King, Clara Southard, Carrie Pangborn, Robert VanNest, Louis VanNest, Fred Voorhees, Walter Layton, Franklin Stites, Will Stites, Louis Stites, Will VanNest, Irving DeHart, Joe Finney and Fred Conroy.

AN OLD RESIDENT DEAD.

Jonathan Doty Succumbs to a Complication of Diseases.

The death of Jonathan Doty, one of Plainfield's oldest and most respected citizens, occurred this morning after a long and very painful illness. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Edward Mosher, of Elmwood place, where he had been living for several years. He formerly resided on West Seventh street. He was by trade a carpenter and worked at it for a number of years. For several years past Mr. Doty was a great sufferer from a complication of diseases, and of late his health declined rapidly. He was a member of the First M. E. church, and was a faithful Christian, regularly attending the services of the church when able.

Scarlet Fever Proves Fatal.

Mary M. Messler, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Messler, died at the home of the parents in Scotch Plains yesterday of scarlet fever. This is the first case of the disease that has terminated in Scotch Plains this winter. Interment was made today in the Baptist cemetery at Scotch Plains.

Case Was Postponed.

The attachment suit of Frazee against Cory, which was to have been tried in Justice Mosher's court yesterday afternoon, was postponed one week.

DUER STREET OPENING.

A CHERISHED IMPROVEMENT LIKELY TO BE CONSUMMATED.

J. C. Dyer, the Objecting Property Owner, Agrees to Favorable Terms and an Effort Will be Made to Raise the Money.

Negotiations are now being made which will probably result in Madison avenue in this city and Duer street in the borough being made one continuous thoroughfare across Green brook, and thus consummate an improvement that has long been a cherished object among the enterprising citizens of both sides of the brook

The objector who has prevented this improvement heretofore has been J. C. Dyer, who owns the property on Craig place necessary to acquire in order to make the opening on the borough side. Now Mr. Dyer's opposition has changed so far that he has agreed to sell the property at a sum which it is expected will allow the purchase. Through the efforts of Mayor Wilson and Councilman Woolston Mr. Dyer has agreed to dispose of the property for $4,000, though that was the sum the appraisers once put on the lot and which the owner refused to accept and was upheld in his contention in the legal proceedings taken.

That amount does not inlcude the house standing on the lot. If the sale is made the structure will probably be moved to the rear and put on a lot so as to face the new portion of the street when opened.

Of the $4,000 purchase price, it is calculated that half the sum can be raised by private subscriptions from property owners who would be benefitted by the opening. Some time ago Wm. M Stillman offered to subscribe $500 towards the improvement, and now he has raised the offer to $1,000. This would leave only $1,000 to be raised from other property holders, and it is expected that there will be no trouble in raising this sum The remaining $2,000 would be contributed by the borough.

It is probable that next week a subscription paper for this purpose will be circulated among the interested people, and it has been suggested that John Vetterlein would be a good man to secure the subscriptions and collect the money, his services to be paid for by Mr. Dyer.

A NEW SIDEWALK.

North Plainfield Citizens Won't Have to Wade Through Mud Anymore.

Pedestrians, who have chanced during wet weather or soon after to pass along the portion of Somerst street that passes through the Gap to Washingtonville, have found a particularly muddy section of the road. The pedestrian had to wade through mud and mire for a distance of about 300 yards. This particular unfortunate section of road lies between the stone-crusher of John Y. Wilson, at Wetumpka Falls, and the old Coddington mill.

Some time ago Mr. Wilson, who lives in New Market, thought that a change ought to be made. He made an offer in consequence to the North Plainfield Township Committee to furnish the crushed stone for a sidewalk, free of chprge, if the Committee would go to the expense of having it made. The Township Committee did not view it in the same light as Mr. Wilson and refused his offer. The good people of Washingtonville continued to wade through mud and water when they walked to Plainfield.

After personally enjoying a trip through the mud, Mr. Wilson offered to furnish the stone and share the expense of laying it. Still the Township Committee remained obdurate, and still the pedestrians had to search their vocabularies to find words to express their opinion of the condition of the road.

During the recent spell of wet weather, the portion of road in question became a veritable bog through which the pedestrians had to wade. All his offers having been unavailing, Mr. Wilson set his own men and wagons at work yesterday making the sidewalk of crushed stone. It will be 300 yards long.

Engagement Announced.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Louis Edward Eaton, of East Fifth street, and Miss Bessie Vera Cushing, of Brooklyn. Miss Cushing is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. William Hand, of Park avenue, this city. Mr. Eaton is associated with the Sabbath Recorder Publishing House, in this city.

His Horse Untied.

Albert Littell, of this city, was caught unawares in the borough last evening by leaving his horse untied. Marshal Wise promptly arrested Mr. Littell and escorted him to the office of Recorder Thomas, who heard the case and imposed a fine of $2. Mr. Littell paid his fine without any complaint.

THE FIGHT ON SILVER

Senate to Vote on Teller Resolution on Thursday Next.

ITS REAL SIGNIFICANCE

Intended to Put the Western Men on Record and Prevent Them from Voting for a House Currency Reform Measure ---Senator Quay Explains.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Although Senator Vest's motion to take up the Teller silver resolution was adopted by a large majority, the Senate decided yesterday to take a vote on the resolution next Thursday, and it is probable some of the Western Republicans will make speeches. While the Republicans know it is useless to prolong the debate on the subject, they wished to postpone a vote in order to give the Western Senators time to fully understand the situation. It is stated by a prominent Western Republican Senator that when the vote is taken a number of the Senators from that section who voted for its consideration will vote against the final passage of the resolution.

The real intent of the action Thursday was to put on record the Western Republicans so as to prevent them from voting for any bill which may come from the House, be it Secretary Gage's measure or that of the Monetary Commission. It was stated at the meeting of the Senate Finance Committee when the resolution was adopted by the silver men that they had been challenged by Secretary Gage and that they intended to show him beforehand that the Senate would not allow any such bill as he proposed ta pass. Senators Teller, Stewart and Vest further stated that they would put the Western Republicans in such a position as to make it impossible for them to support any administration bill. Although the vote has a political significance in regard to the coming Congressional elections, the passage of the resolution by the Senate will have no force, because it cannot get through the House.

The resolution itself is a concurrent one and does not have to be signed by the President. The Stanley Matthews resolution which was passed in 1887 was also a concurrent resolution, and amounted only to an expression of opinion by Congress. It had no force of law.

At the opening of the Senate's session yesterday Senator Quay said that he had noticed in morning newspapers that he had voted for the consideration of the Teller resolution because the Senator from Missouri (Mr. Vest) had asked him to do so. This, Mr. Quay said, was not true in any sense, as he had not conferred with the Missouri Senator about it. He had voted as he had, said he, because he thought the present consideration of the resolution would benefit the country and the Republican party.

After some routine business Mr. Lodge (Mass.) moved that the Senate go into executive session. "Before that motion is put," said Mr. Vest, "Mr. President, I desire to make a brief statement. I gave notice Thursday that the resolution reported by the Finance Committee, would be further considered to-day, but Senators opposed to that resolution have said to me that their personal convenience requires that the resolution shall not be pressed at this time. They have suggested to me that we permit the resolution to go over until next Tuesday, and that it be taken up at the conclusion of the morning business that day for discussion, and that a vote upon it and upon any amendment that may be offered thereto be taken at 4 o'clock next Wednesday. I wish to say that this arrangement is agreeable to me and, so far as I know to my colleagues on this side of the chamber.

Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, said that he had no objection to the proposed arrangement if he could have an opportunity to address the Senate on the resolution to-day or on Monday, and he promised that he would not make a very lengthy speech.

Mr. Allsion (Iowa) had no objection to the arrangement suggested by the Senator from Missouri (Vest), but suggested that it was likely an amendment might be offered late in the debate which would cause some discussion, and suggested more time before voting.

Mr. Turpie, of Indiana, suggested Thursday before adjournment as the time for the vote, and Mr. Vest assented.

It was finally agreed upon that the Senate should meet to-day; that Mr. Stewart should make his speech immediately after the morning hour; that the resolution should be taken up on Tuesday, and that the vote on the resolution and all pending amendments should be taken before adjournment on Thursday.

Then the Senate at 1 P. M. went into executive session, and, according to previous agreement, took up the nomination of Attorney-General McKenna to be an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

The Insurance Tax Bill.

Washington, Jan., 22.—Ever since Senator Platt, of Connecticut, introduced in the Senate by request the bill to relieve the insurance companies of a tax by different States, the Senators from all over the country have been besieged with letters and telegrams opposing its passage. Senator Platt has been assailed on al sides. He explains that he introduced the bill, as distinctly stated, only by request. The bill was sent to committee, and Senator Platt says that he does not intend to urge its consideration. It can, therefore, be stated that the bill will not be pressed, and will not even be reported to the Senate.

New Pension Office Rules.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Commissioner Evans, of the Pension Office, has in preparation a new set of regulations governing the practice of attorneys and the adjudication of claims. An effort will be made to simplify to some extent the methods now in vogue in adjudicating claims ,but without lessening the requirements imposed upon pensioners to show cause why their claims should be allowed.

After living eleven days with a broken neck, a sailor died in Port Townsend, Wash.

THE DANGER OVER CUBA

Apprehension as to Continued Agitation in Congress--Washington's Defenses.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The fact is too apparent to be disputed, that the administration and the leaders in Congress who are trying to hold to a conservative course are rendered apprehensive by the persistent effort to agitate the Cuban question in Congress. The discussion in the House has contributed to the danger of the situation. Between hot-headed Spaniards in Cuba and impatient patriots in Congress, there is a possibility of such friction as might cause a blaze.

Every effort of the administration is being directed toward pacification, but the difficulties are great, and danger is always present to a greater or less degree. Republicans who have obeyed the decree of party policy, are still grumbling and expressing their impatience to get a chance to show their sentiment by a direct vote. This, and the resentment that may be expected from the Spanish on account of the utterances on the floor of the House, contribute to the complications and render it necessary that proper military precautions should be taken. A rumor was started yesterday, and afterward denied, that the President was going to send a special message to Congress asking for the appropriation of a million dollars for the transportation of troops in case of necessity.

The denial disposes of this story ,but it is true that Gen. Miles has called the attention of members of the House Military Committee to the defenseless condition of Washington on account of the lack of powder and projectiles or the money to buy them for forts Monroe, Foote and Washington, which guard the approach to Washington by the Potomac. He has told them that these forts can afford no defense in the absence of ammunition.

This warning may, however, apply to general conditions and not to the present crisis. This defenseless state of the capital would naturally be a matter of concern to the general of the army and the existence of a possibility of trouble, however remote, might be availed of to give point to his arguments in favor of a suitable appropriation.

DEMOCRATS ORGANIZE.

Selection of Senator White as Chairman Pleases the Silver Men.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The selection of Senator White, of California, as the Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, is pleasing to most of the silver men. There was considerable opposition manifest to the California Senator earlier in the day, before the committee met, on the ground that his silver views were not strong enough. This opposition came principally from the Southern members. The selection is, however, generally looked upon as an excellent one, as the Senator is fully equipped to make an aggressive campaign for members of the lower House.

The opinion among Democrats in Congress is that the campaign to be fought this year will be begun early in the doubtful States, and particular attention will be made to those districts which returned Republican members at the last Congressional election by only small pluralities.

So far the Republicans have apparently done nothing in the way of organizing for the campaign, but members of that party say that the Republicans will have a splendid organization for the work. They will not admit that there is any possibility of the Democrats capturing the next House but they all agree that hard work will be requisite in order to repeat the victory won in 1896 for the cause of "sound money."

Seven Sailors Drowned.

London, Jan. 22.—The small Leith steamer Herbert has foundered off Gun's Island, County Down, Ireland. Seven men were drowned and the captain alone was rescued. The captain says the crew took to the boats. His boat capsized, but four men, himself among them, held to the keel. Gradually the others dropped off exhausted. He was rescued, after being seventeen hours in the water in a heavy gale. There has been no sign of the other boat.

Named by the President.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The President has sent the following nominations of postmasters to the Senate:

New Jersey—James J. Rusling, Hackettstown; Charles S. Robison, Princeton; Charles H. Richman, Woodstown.

New York—Michael Gleason, Carthage; William A. Boyd, Mamaroneck; Stott Mills, Warwick; David Sands Smith, Worcester.

Gold Notes in India.

Calcutta, Jan. 22.—The bill introduced by Sir James Westland, the finance minister of the council, on January 14, providing for the issue of currency notes in India against gold, has been adopted, with the condition that the Secretary of State be given the option of paying gold into the treasury, provided India pays an equal sum into the Currency Department here. The bill has already relieved the stringency of the money market.

Strike Situation Unchanged.

Boston, Jan. 22.—Reports from the various New England points at which strikes are in progress among the cotton mill operatives show little change. The assertion made in dispatches from Biddeford to the effect that the Pepperell and Laconia mills would be opened Monday morning to admit operatives who are willing to work under the 10 per cent. cut down, is positively denied by the agent of those corporations.

Governor Pingree for President.

La Porte, Ind., Jan. 22.—An effort is being made throughout the State for the organization of clubs to boom Hazen S. Pingree, Governor of Michigan, for the Populist nomination for President. Large and enthusiastic clubs are being organized, and the movement is extending to other States.

Blizzard in Colorado.

Colorado Springs, Jan.22.—A blizzard is sweeping over the State. It is very cold, and a high wind is piling the snow in great drifts . The storm is very severe in the Cripple Creek mining district, and the wagon roads are impassable.

M'KENNA IS CONFIRMED

Senate Indorses His Nomination to the Supreme Bench.

ALLEN ALONE PROTESTS

President Attorney-General Steps Into the Vacancy Despite Protests--- McKenna Bitterly Attacked by Senator Allen--Objection to Longstreet's Confirmation.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The Senate yesterday afternoon confirmed the nomination of Joseph McKenna for the Supreme Bench.

The Senate devoted its principal attention in executive session to the nomination of Mr. McKenna. When the doors were closed the Hawaiian treaty was laid aside in order to afford opportunity to consider the Attorney-General's nomination and other nominations.

An effort was made to secure the confirmation of the nomination of Gen. Longstreet to be Commissioner of Railroads, but Senator Vest made objection.

The nomination of Attorney-General McKenna was then taken up and Senator Allen immediately took the floor in continuance of his attack upon the Attorney-General.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE M'KENNA.

Senator Allen had before him the charges filed with the Committee on Judiciary, which he read. These comprised many letters, some resolutions, and the protest of lawyers and judges of the Pacific Coast, charging that Mr. McKenna was unfitted for the high office of Supreme Court Justice on the ground of a want of legal attainments. He commented upon these documents, and was interrupted by Senator Perkins of California, who read a published defense of Mr. McKenna, giving statistics to show that he had not, as Judge of the California Federal Court, been more frequently reversed by superior tribunals than had other judges of the same rank.

Mr. Allen spoke for about three hours. He said he was convinced of Mr. McKenna's unfitness for the office. He did not insist upon a roll call when the result was taken and the vote was overwhelmingly favorable to confirmation.

No Hearse Big Enough for Body.

Philadelphia, Jan. 22.—The most remarkable funeral ever seen here took place yesterday from the home of the late Joseph Handler, who weighed 525 pounds. A special coffin had to be built. In order to get it out of the house the jambs on each side of the front door were knocked out. Ten men lifted the body into the coffin and fourten men carried the coffin to a dray. There was no hearse in Philadelphia big enough for the occasion. A truck was used in taking the casket to the altar in church. Handley was fifty years of age. He died of fatty degeneration of the heart. He was so large that he could barely squeeeze through the door of his house.

Silver Men Elated.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The silver men in the House were elated yesterday over their victory in securing a vote to concur in a Senate amendment to the Urgent Deficiency bill. This amendment strikes from the bill the provision requiring the depositors of bullion at Government assay offices to pay the cost of transportation to the mints.

The following Republicans joined with the Democrats and Populists: Barthold, Beach, Broderick, Hager, Ellis, Joy, Linney, Lovering, Low, McCall, Mahany, Miner, Morris, Olmstead, Peary, Pearson Shannon, W. A. Smith and Spalding.

Glut in Labor Market in Skaguay.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 22.—There is at present a glut in the labor market at Juneau, Dyea and Skaguay. More workingmen than there are jobs for have gone to those towns, with the result that wages are coming down and many men are now eating up their supplies and earning nothing. When a good fall of snow comes followed by a freeze, the situation will be changed, for then transportation of supplies over Chilcoot and White passes will commence in earnest, and every man now there can get work.

To Succeed Butterworth.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The Cabinet yesterday talked of several impending appointments among them a successor to Mr. Butterworth, Commissioner of Patents. It is said the position will be filled in a few days. It is believed that the place will go to a New England man. There are two candidates —A. P. Greeley, the assistant commissioner, who was acting commissioner during the illness of Mr. Butterworth, and Nathaniel T. Frothingham, of Massachusetts, who was the assistant commissioner under Mr. Simonds.

Wife Slayer Merry to Hang.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Degeneracy is not a defense for crime. So said the jury in the Merry murder trial, which ended yesterday in a verdict of death. The prisoner's attorney argued that Merry was degenerate, a victim of criminal environment, and was entitled to an acquittal on these grounds.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Samuel Boss, of Central avenue, will leave for the south in a few days.

Mrs. P. B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, is very much improved from her severe illness.

Mr. Doty, of Elmwood place, who has been seriously ill, has been given up by the physician in charge.

Alfred E. Pearsall, editor of the Westfield Standard, has been chosen for the eleventh time as a delegate to the International Press Club, which is soon to be held in New Orleans.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church is arranging for a special meeting for the evening of Sunday after next.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A missionary meeting will be held in the Congregational church tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The Independent Fife and Drum Corps held a meeting for practice last evening.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

W. H. Griffin, of East Front street, is entertaining his sister and her daughter from Philadelphia.

George Eckhardt, of this city, will leave the city Monday for an extensive trip through the south. He will be absent some time.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. Higgins, of Liberty street, has returned from an out-of-town visit with friends.

It is not a remedy put up by any Tom, Dick or Harry; it is compounded by expert pharmacists. Ely Bros. offer a 10 cent trial size. Ask your druggist. Full size Cream Balm 50 cents. We mail it. ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y. City.

Since 1861 I have been a great sufferer from catarrh. I tried Ely's Cream Balm and to all appearances am cured. Terrible headaches from which I had long suffered are gone —W. J. Hitchcock, late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.

If your children are well but not robust, they need Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil.

We are constantly in receipt of reports from parents who give their children the emulsion every fall for a month or two. It keeps them well and strong all winter. It prevents their taking cold.

Your doctor will confirm this.

The oil combined with the hypophosphites is a splendid food tonic.

50c. and $1.00, all druggists.

TO WELCOME MR. DOLE.

The Official Commission Goes to Chicago---Programme of His Reception.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The special commission appointed to proceed to Chicago to receive President Dole, of Hawaii, consisting of Assistant Secretary of State Thomas W. Cridler, Major Heist, of the army, and Commander Phelps, of the navy, left last night and will meet the nation's guest in Chicago on Sunday.

Owing to the fact that the President is going to New York on Thursday to attend the banquet of the Manufacturers' Association at the Waldorf, President Dole will leave Chicago on Tuesday and arrive in Washington Wednesday morning, and the ceremonies of greeting him and escorting him with military honors to the Arlington will therefore take place during the day time and not at night, as was the case when the Infant Eulalie was received.

It was thought at one time that President Dole would be taken to New York and wait there until the President returned to Washington, but it has been decided definitely to cut short the visit at Chicago so that Mr. Dole can arrive here on Wednesday and be received by President McKinley before the latter leaves for New York.

A question of etiquette was also decided, and that was, who should pay the first call. It has been decided that as soon as President Dole arrives he will formally call on President McKinley at the White House, and within an hour President McKinley will return the call at the Arlington. In deciding this matter the precedent set by the incoming and outgoing Presidents was considered.

As the President leaves on Thursday for New York, the entertainment at the Executive Mansion tendered to President Dole will not take place until President McKinley's return.

TWO TRAINS CRASH TOGETHER.

Firemen on Both Trains Killed and Several Passengers Badly Injured.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 22—The Florida special vestibule train which left New York at noon Thursday collided near Charleston yesterday with a local passenger train on the Atlantic coast line.

The two engines were demolished and the firemen on both trains were killed. Several members of the crew were more or less injured, and at least three of them will die. The passengers from the East were given a severe shaking, though none of them are seriously injured.

The collision was caused by a confusion of orders. No. 31 had the right of way, but was late, and the local train had orders to take the siding, if it could be made by 7.19. The point was reached at 7.17, but the special was a few minutes ahead of time, and the two trains came together. Both locomotives were smashed, but only two cars were damaged. A relief train was sent at once, and the injured brought to this city.

Sold His Daughters to Satisfy Debts.

Toledo, O., Jan. 22.—At Kelley's Island Joseph Folk sold his two daughters for $100, giving them in lieu of money each to satisfy a debt of $50. A year ago Folk left his home in Poland to seek his fortune in America. At Kelley's Island he found work. Then his wife died. His young daughters were in want. He borrowed $50 from both Peter Mille and Joseph Hidock to pay their passage across the ocean. They arrived and when the money came due Folk could not pay it. The men pressed him. Finally the old man said he could never pay it, but to satisfy the debt he would give one of his daughters to each as a wife, and this proposition was accepted.

Sweeping Blanco Off His Feet.

Washington, Jan. 22.—Advices from Havana are to the effect that Captain-General Blanco must join with the rebellious army or return to Spain. The mutinous officers are having everything their own way. None of the ringleaders of the recent attack on the newspaper offices has been punished. It seems to be the best opinion in Havana that Blanco will yield to the demands of the army, but he has no authority to abandon the plan for autonomy.

Horrible Crime in France.

Paris, Jan. 22.—Three youths assaulted a servant girl near Severac le Chateau and then laid her unconscious on the railway track in front of an approaching train. Both her legs were severed. Her screams brought assistance. All three perpetrators of the outrage are under arrest.

Rumor of Garcia's Death.

Havana, Jan. 22.—Although nothing appears to be known on the subject at Spanish headquarters, persistent rumors are in circulation to the effect that General Calixto Garcia, the famous insurgent leader, was killed in the last engagement in which he took part against the Spanish troops.

Fifteen Miners Killed.

Brussels, Jan. 22.—While a cage containing fifteen miners was being hoisted in the shaft of the Bonne Esperance mine at Wasnes, in Hainaut, the cable broke and the occupants of the cage were dashed to pieces.

THE READY ROLLINSON.

No matter how the political winds shift, Editor Rollinson, of the Rahway Advocate, always seems to be a candidate for some official plum. The Rahway journalist was slated to be Acting Governor Voorhees' private secretary and in consequence thereof had retired from the race for appointment as postmaster. Howard Tuttle, Governor Griggs' private secretary, however, has decided to remain in Trenton as the chief executive's secretary under the Voorhees regime, and Mr. Rollinson. not the least disconcerted, has re-entered the race for the postmastership. It is asserted that the newspaper man stands a good chance to capture the appointment.

MAINTAIN A LIVE INTEREST.

The Press has always contended that a live Board of Trade would be an admirable thing for the commercial and industrial progress of Plainfield, and it is pleasing to observe that the new organization of business men is of the aggressive spirit necessary for results. They have interested just the right set of men and if the interest does not flag with age, an era of unexpected enterprise for Plainfield may be expected. Even now Plainfield is not a slow town in a business way, but still, as in all things, there is plenty room for improvement.

STUPID JOURNALISM.

Alfred E. Pearsall, editor of the Westfield Standard, and E. J. Whitehead, president of the Standard Publishing Company, seem to be at variance over the conduct of the editorial end of the paper, and in recent issues the readers of the journal have been surfeited with a lot of silly statements between the two in the form of personal letters being published. To flourish such differences before the public is stupid, but apparently in harmony with other hodge-podge ideas finding a place in the Standard columns.

A PLUM FOR CARSON.

The appointmet of Collector of Customs at Perth Amboy, under President McKinley, carrying with it perquisites of about $5,000 per year, will go to Robert Carson, of New Brunswick. Carson's good luck was assured yesterday by Senator Sewell and Congressman Howell agreeing to send the New Brunswick man's name to the President for nomination to the Senate. There has been a bitter contest for this place between Carson and A. Milton Edgar, another power in Middlesex G. O. P. circles.

FOOLED BY A SPECTACLE FAKIR.

Uses Chloroform on the Patients, Then Swindles or Robs Them.

A thief in the guise of a spectacle peddler has succeeded in robbing a number of residents in Hunterdon county near Baptisttown, a few miles from Flemington, out of a snug sum of money.

Among other women he visited Miss Sarah Hiner, aged sixty years, at Baptisttown. He insisted that he examine her eyes for glasses. Miss Hiner objected, but the fellow began an alleged examination, talking continually, and assuring her that she would go blind within a year unless she wore glasses.

Miss Hiner soon felt herself sinking into unconsciousness, and shortly became insensible. When she regained consciousness a few hours afterward the house had been ransacked. Every cent of money she had about the place, about $100, had been stolen.

The thief used chloroform in accomplishing the robbery. At other places the fellow injected something into the woman's eyes which bewildered them. While in this confusion they paid the swindler amounts ranging from $30 to $50, and some gave him all the money they had.

The fellow escaped with about $1,000. There is no clue.

In the Scotch Plains Baptist church tomorrow evening at 7:45 Prof. Hamill, who so excellently addressed the audience in the Presbyterian church, of Plainfield, last Thursday evening, will speak. Since the death of Mr. Reynolds, who was the foremost field worker of the International Sunday-school Association, the laurels of being the chiefest has fallen upon the brow of Prof. Hamill. He is a magnetic speaker, well acquainted with the subject matter of Sunday-school organization and development. This has been the first opportunity that the people of the east have had in hearing Prof. Hamill, and so far public sentiment has yielded him a deserved approval. He will address the congregation in Scotch Plains on the subect of "The World-wide Influence of Sunday-schools." The presence of Prof. Hamill in the Scotch Plains church is a courtesy extended to Rev. Mr. Braker, who is president of the Union County Sunday-school Association. The Protestant Episcopal and Methodist Episcopal congregations have ben invited to attend this meeting.

PETITION FOR A CROSS-LINE—PICTON INCLUDED.

Westfield Township Committee Asked to Impose Novel Conditions on the Trolley Company—Other Imporant Work

The Westfield Township Committee held a meeting last night, but the most important matter, the consideration of the trolley ordinance, was postponed.

The amendment in the route, permitting the company to cross the Central Railroad at Garwood and continue to the Cranford line on South avenue, was passed to its second reading.

A petition was received from the merchants doing business on Broad street, between Central avenue and Prospect street, asking the Township Committee to compel the trolley company to run through that section of Broad street and to run a cross line from Mountainside through Westfield to Picton.

Several communications were received urging the Committee to grant the franchise to the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company. Engineer H.C. VanEmburgh presented the claim of Contractor H. C. N. Johnston for the curbing of Broad street. The claim will be paid in full. H. A. Lynde presented a bill for $12 for fowls destroyed by unknown dogs. The claim was laid over until a future meeting. Township Counsel Frank Bergen sent word that the claim of John F. Dorvall for $500 for damages to his horses and carriages, caused by the poor condition of the roads, ought not to be paid. A number of bills were ordered paid and the township treasurer was authorized to discount a note for $1,000 to meet a note for that amount falling due February 4th.

The Advance Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles MacDougall, on Ross place last evening. The subject was the life and writings of Charles Dickens. At the roll call the members responded with quotations from the books of Dickens. A paper on the life of the author, prepared by Miss Grace N. Harned, was read, and Miss Estelle Clark and Rev. N. W. Cadwell read selections from several of Dickens' stories.

Central Council, No. 131, Jr. O. U. A. M., is arranging for a benefit entertainment to be given next week for W. H. Ward, one of its members, who is dangerously ill with consumption.

The exhibition of Columbia graphophones at the Bard Cycle Company's store, on Elm street, is attracting many people who have a liking for the versatile machines.

The Presbyterian Thimble Club held a pleasant meeting yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Howard MacDougall, on Mountain avenue.

Miss Clark's Book a Pronounced Success.

Miss Imogen Clark, of Rockview avenue, the author of "Will Shakespeare's Little Lad," has won the favorable criticism of many readers. The Boston Herald says: "The author has caught the true spirit of Shakespeare's time and paints his home surroundings with a loving, tender grace," while The Saturday Evening Gazette give this opinion: "It is written with so gentle and loving a hand that it has the charm of novelty added to its other charms."

PASSING COMMENT.

Samuel Barron Brewster, who is widely known throughout Woodbridge as the "joking boy," and who acted as best man at the Seeley wedding at Plainfield Wednesday, attempted to play a joke on Mr. Seeley by placarding the wedding coach, says the Journal.

By a mistake the driver, who was paid to print the card and hang it, placed the card on Mr. Brewster's own coach. The card read:

"I am going to be married, today.

Brewster had given orders to the driver of the wedding coach to drive through all the main streets of Plainfield before he drove to the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Brewster is a stranger in Plainfield, so he did not realize for some time that his own coach was being driven up and down the same streets. After a time it dawned on him, and he called to the driver:

"How long do you expect to drive up and down this street?"

"I was told to," said the driver.

"You've got the wrong coach," said Brewster.

"Then the card must be wrong, too," said the driver.

"Where is it?" asked Brewster.

"On the back of this coach," was the driver's reply.

Brewster collapsed.

Commuters at the North Avenue station this morning were shocked to see a woman attempt to get on the 8:48 train to New York while the train was moving out from the station. Fortunately she did not catch hold of the rails, and she was pursuaded to give up the idea of trying to board the train before any serious results followed.

THEATRICAL.

Commencing next Monday evening, and continuing for an entire week, the Payton Big Comedy Company will present its brilliant repertoire of comedies and dramas at Music Hall. The opening bill will be "Woman Against Woman," one of the best dramas ever written. The plays are mounted with a car load of special scenery and electrical effects, and the special stage settings are said to be handsomer than anything seen in this city in recent years. Every attention is paid to detail to insure a perfect production, and patrons may feel assured of witnessing presentations of popular plays which will not suffer in comparison with the productions of companies charging four times the price of admission. During the action of each play the members of the cast introduce refined and highly pleasing specialties, including illustrated songs and a series of views of the late war. The engagement which begins next Monday evening promises to be a record breaker in the matter of attendance at the popular Music Hall. Ladies' tickets for Monday evening can be had at Music Hall box office.

An Unfortunate Bicyclist.

Robert Dryden, of Hillside, has been rather unfortunate of late. Last night while riding his wheel home his lamp exploded from over-heat and he was obliged to walk the rest of the distance. This morning while he was riding the wheel to the North Avenue station, he had traveled about half the distance when the rear tire on the wheel split in half, and again he was obliged to walk. Mr. Dryden has owned his wheel two years, and this is the first time he has experienced any trouble with it.

Color Photography.

There will be a free public exhibition of Joly-Sambra color photography at the Camera Club gallery, Babcock building, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. All interested in the latest photographic science are invited. Pictures will be thrown on the screen in nature's colors.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, New Jersey, held Thursday, January 6th, 1898, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present.

The minutes of the previous regular meeting, (reading of bills being omitted), were on motion approved as read.

The minutes of special meeting, December 21st, 1897, were on motion approved as read.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From James J. Manning, City Clerk, Elizabeth, N. J., as follows:

City Clerk's Office.
Elizabeth, N. J., Jan. 6th, 1898.

To the Honorable, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County:

Gentlemen—At a meeting of the City Council, of Elizabeth, held December 15th, 1897, the following report was received and recommendation adopted:

Elizabeth, N. J., Dec. 15th, 1897.

To the Honorable City Council:

Gentlemen—Your committee on sewer, to whom was referred that portion of the report of the special Sewer Committee, having reference to the drainage of the lands in the vicinity of Sixth and Trumbull streets, respectfully report that they have investigated the matter referred to and find that the county waterways on the northeast side of Trumbull street, are clogged and filled up with earth; also that the waterways on the northeast side of the Central Railroad have been filled in and overgrown with grass and underbrush, and not letting the water have free access to Newark Bay, thereby throwing it back on the low-land at Sixth and Trumbull streets, also on Division street.

We therefore recommend that the city clerk be instructed to communicate with the Board of Chosen Freeholders and call their attention to the matter, and ask them to give it their immediate attention.

Respectfully submitted,
Paul N. Noll,
G. E. VanVoorhis,
John J. Corrigan,
Committee on Sewers.

Very respectfully yours,
Jas. J. Manning,
City Clerk.

On motion of Freeholder Littell, received and referred to the Committee on Elizabeth Drawbridges and the County Engineer.

The Director stated, that upon investigation, it had been ascertained that the judgment obtained by P. Sheridan, former County Collector, against the City of Plainfield, had long since been settled, but not cancelled of record, in accordance with instructions heretofore given by this Board, the Director and Clerk had executed a satisfaction of said judgment.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By special committee on bridges, etc., at New Providence:

January 6th, 1898.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your committee appointed in the matter respecting the destruction of the bridge over the road known as Burnett avenue, in the township of New Providence, would respectfully report:

That they have visited the road and bridge in question and ascertained that valuable stones had been taken from the bridge crossing said roadway and were informed that they had been taken by a near by resident and utilized by him in the building of a house. The stone as taken we would estimate to be worth at least $15 and would recommend that the County Attorney be authorized to take steps to recover the value of said stones from the person or persons having unlawfully removed the same. (Signed),

John F. Wahl,
J. Martin Roll,
W. H Swain,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher, the report was received and recommendation adopted without dissent.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Hulskamper:

Resolved. That a duplicate check be given to John McNamara for eight dollars ($8 00), in the place of one given October, 1897, which has been lost, upon giving of a bond of indemnity to the county.

Freeholder Littell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Tier:

Resolved. That the bills of Wm. T. Kirk for iron work on

Watchung Ave. Bridge, Plainfield	$ 850 00
Sycamore Ave. Bridge, Plainfield	500 00
Bridge over Raceway	195 00
Total	$1,545 00

Be paid when work is completed and bills approved by committee.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call it was adopted unanimously.

By Freeholder Tier:

Resolved, That the bills of Wm. Farrier for bridge over raceway at Watchung avenue, Plainfield, amounting to $400, and line bridge at Watchung avenue, amounting to $359 50, be paid when the work is accepted and bills approved by the committee.

Freeholder Miller moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That the action of this board regarding an ordinance entitled "An ordinance to regulate the use of any road or roads in the county of Union, that are improved and maintained by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of said county," whereby said ordinance was adopted, be rescinded.

County Attorney Codington explained that the said ordinance as heretofore passed had been passed contrary to the provisions of the law. Before final passage said ordinance should have been advertised ten (10) consecutive times in two newspapers published within the county.

Freeholder Roll thereupon moved that the resolution be adopted, and on roll-call it was so ordered.

Freeholder Farrell presented the following: 'An ordinance to regulate the use of any road or roads in the county of Union that are improved or maintained by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of said county."

The said ordinance was passed on first and second reading.

Freeholder Littell moved that the said ordinance be advertised for ten consecutive times in two newspapers published in the county, and that the Director designate said newspapers, which was so ordered.

The Director directed the Elizabeth Daily Journal and the Courier-News, of Plainfield, to publish said ordinances.

By Freeholder Swain:

Resolved, That in pursuance of Chapter XLI of the Laws of 1889 and its supplements and amendments, the following parts of certain public highways in the County of Union hereinafter mentioned shall be and the same are hereby required and control thereof assumed by this Board of Chosen Freeholder as county roads, namely:

(1.) The part of Broad Street in the Township of Westfield, extending from the junction of North Avenue and said Broad Street in a southwesterly direction to the first street extending westerly from Broad Street.

(2.) Thence along said street extending westerly from Broad Street to the junction of North Avenue and Clark Street.

(3.) The part of North Avenue in said township extending from Clark Street to the boundary line between the townships of Westfield and Fanwood.

(5.) The part of North avenue lying within the borough of Fanwood, as it is commonly called.

(8.) The part of Third street extending from Richmond street to Watchung avenue; as said streets and avenues are indicated on this map hereto annexed; and be it further

Resolved, That the map heretofore made and adopted and filed in the office of the clerk in this county, showing the county roads heretofore adopted, shall be changed so as to show that the streets, avenues, roads or highways mentioned above have been acquired as county roads, and that a certified copy of this resolution be filed in the office of the clerk of Union county, and recorded in a book heretofore provided and kept for that purpose as required by law.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution.

Freeholder Swain moved that Frank Bergen, Esq., be permitted to address the Board on the resolution as presented, which was so ordered.

Mr. Bergen urged the adoption of the resolution, stating that by so doing, the county would be in a position to secure the most advantageous terms from any corporation or corporations that might desire to secure franchises for trolley lines on county roads. It would also give the county control of the roads in case the county should desire to build trolley lines, as heretofore presented before the Board.

If the resolution should be adopted by the Board it could be rescinded at any time.

Freeholders Roll, Clark and Robison opposed the resolution, contending that the control of the roads named in the resolution should remain with the townships, and if franchises were granted for trolley lines on said roads, the financial benefit, if any, should go to the townships.

The adoption of the resolution might act as a stay to the construction of any trolley lines on said roads.

Freeholder Roll moved that the resolution be laid on the table, which was so ordered by the following vote, viz.:

Ayes — Freeholders Brucklacher, Clark, Ehrlich, Hulskamper, Krouse, Littell, Miller, Robison, Roll, Wahl —10.

Nays—Director Hubbard, Freeholders Burnett, Farrell, King, Ogden, Swain, Tier—7.

A MILLION DOLLAR CLOAK.

From Fifty to a Hundred Years Spent In Making It.

What is probably the most costly cloak in the world is one now in the National Museum, and was once the property of the queens of the Hawaiian islands in barborous days. This cape belonged to the wife of Kehuaskalani, one of the most powerful chiefs of the islands. After the abolition of slavery in 1841 this chief rebelled and tried to re-establish the ancient religion. A bloody battle was fought, the king and queen were slain, and the cloak fell into the hands of the victors, thus becoming the property of King Kamehameha III, and by him given to Captain J. H. Aulick, U. S. N.

The foundation of the cape is a network of olona, or native hemp, and to it are attached by means of fine threads of the same material the feathers of native birds found only on the islands, the feathers overlapping and forming a smooth surface. The feathers form on the outside crescents of red, yellow and black. The inner lining is without quilting and shows the network and ends of the feathers.

The yellow and black feathers are obtained from the Oo, or Oho, the yellow ones being of great value, as the bird is comparatively rare, shy and hard to capture. So very rare is this bird, and so small its stock of feathers, that three yellow ones once sold for a large sum. From fifty to a hundred years was the time expended in making this cloak, so that its worth in labor is estimated at a million dollars.

The making of these cloaks, which were once worn by royalty alone, and regarded as the treasures of the Crown, was common in the islands prior to the coming of the whites. The precious yellow feathers were exacted as tribute by the king, the bird being caught alive with bird lime and then set free. But it required a great many years to get enough material to make the cloak, which is four feet in length and over six feet in width.—New York Journal.

FOWLER'S GREAT SECRET.

The Art of Electroplating Did Not Die With Him.

Herbert E. Fowler, of Naugatuck, discovered one of nature's valuable secrets, and it was supposed that no one else in the world knew it, that no one else ever had known it. He found out how to electroplate upon wood, and there was every reason to suppose that his fortune was made. The process was not patented. He feared that some other inventive genius would succeed in stealing a part of his secret and so modify it as to evade a suit under the patent laws.

Fowler was negotiating with capitalists in Chicago. They agreed to back him with sufficient money, but they insisted on his protecting them by a patent. He had nearly made up his mind to do so, when death claimed him suddenly. He had confided in no one; it was supposed that his secret had died with him.

But now comes E. R. Gomm, a Chicago chemist and claims that he knows the secret. He had been working exactly on the lines of Fowler's experiments, judging from the little that was revealed after the latter's death. He had no idea that any one else was following that road, much less that another inventor was in communication with capitalists in the very city in which he himself was working out the details of his invention. He says that in addition to plating metal on wood he can plate aluminum on iron—a feat never before accomplished.—New York Journal.

When Elephants Have Toothache.

It is not easy to tell when an elephant has got a toothache, but it is best to keep out of his way when you do know it. A London surgeon who had been for many years in India, says he would sooner risk a railroad accident than meet an elephant with a toothache.

It appears that a toothache affects an elephant in a more severe manner than it does any other animal. Elephants have very sensitive nerves, and a touch of toothache very often brings on madness.

Providing you are able to chain down an elephant and draw out the offending tooth, the brute is certain to be affectionate to you afterward. Here is an instance:

An elephant in Bengal, India, became affected with toothache, but the keepers managed to secure it while a dentist drew a decayed tooth—the cause of the trouble. After a time the elephant seemed to understand that the dentist was trying to do something for his pain, and he gave every evidence of appreciating the attention. When the operation was over he frisked around the dentist like a young lamb.—Answers.

Lively Times Here

—furniture of the best sort, stoves backed up with maker's and our warrant—carpets of every weave, every color—all are "bunched" into this most unique, most marvelous of January sales and offered to you at prices below first cost to us, in fact—not in mere "words." Newer, '98 lines are soon to drop upon us. This sale paves the way for them. The coming 7 days will outstrip last week's record—can't help doing so.

Yes—pay us 75c. a week if "cash is short."

Out of near 50 sorts of Bedroom Suits—full 75 per cent. are less than maker asks in car lots—"seeing is believing," to "see" for yourself—$11.75 to $150 are the "now" prices.

$1.38—plush seat, rattan rockers—still some left—it's a taste of this unmatched fancy chair stock. None to equal it in beauty and size and variedness.

Stoves and Ranges Must Go=Quick

There's not a cent of profit left at these "close-out rates." Loss, in money—lots of it—but we gain the space—and that's sorely needed in a very few days! Buy now—you'll pay as low as from $5.85 for ranges—or as little as $5.75 for heating stoves. And same with the oil and gasoline heaters. All chopped down from their old prices—which were already little. "The Portland Range" alone is not reduced—we can't get enough of them.

Carpets Join the Race

for quick selling, too. 'Twould ease your heart and help your purse to get a chance at any one of the thirty or forty varied weaves—all at special, honest, actual, reduction prices! As little as 29c. for heavy Ingrains, 65c. for Extra Super All-Wool Ingrains, 75c. for Double Extra Brussels, 79c. for velvets, 90c. for $1.35 Body Brussels, $1.25 Moquettes at 95c. Why, you can't match the like for miles and miles around. 'Tis New Jersey's great Carpet store.

Iron in the Blood.

Iron Extracted by an Eminent London Physician from Bullock's Blood Gives Strength to the Weak and Cures Disease.

The amount of iron taken annually in pills and mixtures is almost beyond belief. A large portion of it is prescribed by physicians but the greater part is taken by persons who realize that they need toning up and take iron on their own responsibility.

Eminent physicians long ago discovered the most important element in the blood was iron or Hæmoglobin. This iron attracts the oxygen from the air cells of the lungs, unites with it and thus carries it to all parts of the body, increasing the vitality and eliminating disease.

To produce iron as nature produces it in the blood, was long a problem which physicians and chemists strove to solve without success. It remained for Dr. Campbell, the well-known English physician, to discover that the blood of a bullock contained iron or Hæmoglobin, in exactly the same form as it exists in the human blood. This he succeeded in extracting and enclosing in small pointed globes of pure gelatine to which he gave the name of Capsuloids.

For the first time in the annals of medical science it became possible to make impoverished blood rich and red by the administration of iron in its natural form. The result almost promises to revolutionize the practice of medicine. It has been demonstrated that these Capsuloids will cure nervous prostration, nervous debility, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, anæmia, scrofula, erysipelas, rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles, and other diseases due to an inferior condition of the blood.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cts. per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

This January is Best Known Since Business Records Have Been Kept.

New York, Jan. 22.—With a volume of business remarkable for the time of year 38 per cent. larger than a year ago, and 10.4 per cent. larger than in 1892 in payments through clearing houses, it is not discouraging that one or two industries are lagging. The demand for most goods is more heavy for the season, manufacturing works are better employed, and orders booked and prospects for the future are more encouraging, than at this season in any other year of which equally definite records exist.

The rise of wheat above a dollar in regular sales was not accompanied by signs of speculative excitement. In fact, the continuance of extraordinary exports, 2,945,705 bushels, flour included, for the week from Atlantic ports, against 1,573,215 last year, and for three weeks 9,002,493 bushels against 5,559,532 last year, besides 4,036,940 from Pacific ports for three weeks, would give excuse for high prices even if the corn exports were not enough to suggest great foreign need, amounting to 9,270,189 bushels against 10,774,293 for three weeks. The fact that cargoes of corn were shipped during the week both to Egypt and Russia, the very countries upon which Europe most relies for breadstuffs next to the United States, affected trade not unreasonably. Evidently the markets of the world are this year quite at the mercy of American supplies, and it is fortunate for this country that the prevailing disposition is to market grain in large quantities rather than to force up speculative prices and lessen foreign consumption.

Just when unprecedented production of pig iron was causing weakness, extraordinary demand for finished products appears. For this season, at least, the general demand is beyond precedent, including 150,000 tons steel rails for the week, and 1,200,000 already this year, orders for plates so large that Pittsburg works send away some to other concerns, unable to fill all they receive, orders for bar such that many concerns are obliged to refuse more, an excellent demand for sheets, and fair for structural forms.

The great strike of operatives in cotton mills of New England seems as convenient to mill owners with their heavy stocks unsold as if they had ordered it. Probably it will last long enough to work off stocks, and the print cloth market is already about 1 per cent. stronger, while a slight advance is noted in some other cotton goods. Failures for the week have been 374 in the United States against 409 last year, and 53 in Canada against 65 last year.

Mormons Must Leave Virginia.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 22.—Advices from Mecklenburg County say that the border counties of Virginia and North Carolina have been invaded by some 200 Mormon missionaries. The large number of converts made in the rural districts by the first delegation of elders sent from Utah has encouraged the Church there to send a large number of missionaries to this field. They travel in pairs without money or baggage, and depend upon the charity of the people of the country through which they pass for subsistence. The farmers along the Roanoke don't like the attempted proselyting of their families, however, and have served notice on the elders to leave that section at once. No violence has yet been offered the Mormons.

Deadlock in Maryland.

State House, Annapolis, Md., Jan. 22.—Two more ballots for United States Senator were taken yesterday without result. It is stated that the prolonged contest over Hanna's seat in Ohio will fade into insignificance in the Maryland campaign, unless the McComas leaders go to the bolting Republicans, which seems impossible. Equally is it so with the Shaw men, who will insist upon a Baltimore city man, at all hazards. Judge McComas and Major Shaw hold a key to the situation. With a full attendance, and all clinging legally to their respective candidates, there can be no election. This is desired by the Democrats, who will make no overtures to the Republicans, but who could if they wished settle the deadlock at any time.

It Involves Millions.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—A special from Battle Creek, Mich., says: "One of the largest syndicate deals ever entered into in this State is about to be concluded by New York capitalists. They propose to buy both electric light plants and the gas plant of this city, the electric street railways of this city and Kalamazoo, the new electric road now in process of construction between this city and Kalamazoo, the Kalamazoo electric plant, the electric light plant of Albion, the electric railway and lighting plant of Jackson and the electric street railway of Lansing. The deal will involve several million dollars.

Cleveland's Game Preserve.

Trenton, Jan. 22.—Former President Cleveland has purchased a game preserve situated between Trenton and Princeton. It is an 85-acre tract of land and water admirably located. Mr. Cleveland's object in buying this property is to make a game preserve which will provide at all times a place for his friends and himself to go hunting. On the tract will be put quail, pheasants, partridge, snips, woodcock and numerous other birds, besides rabbit, fox and squirrel.

Will Contest Hanna's Seat.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 22.—The announcement is made here that Mayor McKisson will contest the Senatorial seat fo Hon. M. A. Hanna. It is announced that the notice of the contest has been drawn, and will be forwarded at once from Columbus to the proper authorities. The contest will be based on the ground that Senator Hanna did not receive enough legal votes to entitle him to the place. The anti-Hanna leaders are confident that they have a case.

Wizzard Makes World's Record.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—"Wizard" Shaefer in his game yesterday afternoon with Catton, in the 18-inch balkline tournament, ran his 400 points in ten innings, an average of 40, which is the world's record at the new game. The game makes the outcome of to-night's contest dubious, and Ives will have to play his best to defeat his old master.

MAY WAR OVER CHINA

Significance of the Sailing of the Japanese Fleet.

TO OPPOSE THE RUSSIANS

The French Fleet in the East to Be Reinforced at Once by Two More Battle Ships, Which Will Sail Next Monday ---Situation at Peking.

London, Jan. 22.—The St. James Gazette, commenting upon the dispatch from Yokohama, saying that a fleet of nine Japanese war ships will leave Japan in the course of a week for Chinese waters, says:

"Japan is preparing for war. That, in a nutshell, is the news from Yokohama, and it is really the first news from Japan since the beginning of the Chinese crisis. It was obvious that the Japanese Government had stopped telegraphic communication, which it never does except when mobilizing the army or navy. That is precisely what it has been doing. It is almost certain that the destination of the fleet is Wei-Hei-Wei, and there is no doubt the movement means that the status quo in China, so far as Manchuria and Korea are concerned, shall not be altered by Russia or any combination of Russia's allies, in defiance of Great Britain and Japan. So long as the defenders' policy is equality of opportunity in China, they are in a position to enforce their claims."

The St. James Gazette also gives prominence to a list of the ships in the Japanese navy, points out its immense fighting strength, and says:

"Even with Great Britain a mere sympathetic onlooker, it is probable Japan could finish off all the Russian and German warships east of Suez in short order. Great Britain, even including the Powerful, has not a vessel in the North Pacific capable of standing in battle line against three battleships which Japan possesses."

The dispatch from Yokahama, referred to by the St. James Gazette, also said the Mikado, previous to the departure of the Japanese fleet, would inspect the Yashina and the Fuji, steel barbette ships of 12,450 displacement. Decrees, it was further added, have been issued appointing Lieut.-Gen. Viscount Kawakami Chief of Staff, and creating a Supreme Military Advisory Council, consisting of the Marquis Yamagata, the Marquis Oyama, the Marquis Saigon and Prince Komatsu, whose names were prominent during the war between China and Japan.

In London it is said that the British Government has decided to add 5,000 men to British navy, and that 2,000 additional stokers will be enlisted during the coming quarter. It is also reported in London that the first-class battle ship Hannibal of the reserve, now at Portsmouth, is to be immediately commissioned.

TO REINFORCE FRENCH FLEET.

The Battle Ships Bruix and Vauban Ordered Prepared Immediately.

London, Jan. 22.—A dispatch from Paris says orders have been received at Cherbourg and Toulon respectively to immediately prepare the battle ship Bruix and the battle ship Vauban to reinforce the French squadron in the far East.

The Bruix is a steel vessel of 4,754 tons displacement and 9,049 indicated horse-power. She was built in 1894, has an armored belt about 4 inches thick, carries two 7.5-inch guns, six 5.5-inch quick-firing guns, four 2.5-inch guns, four 1.8-inch guns and six 1.4-inch rapid-firing guns. Her speed is estimated at over eighteen knots, and she carries a crew of nearly 400 men.

The Vauban is a steel vessel of 6,208 tons and 4,500 iIndicated horse-power. She was boult in 1882, has an armored belt 10 inches in thickness, carries four 9.4-inch guns, one 7.4-inch gun, six 5.5-inch guns and twelve rapid-firing guns of small caliber. Her nominal speed is about fourteen and a-half knots, and she carries a crew of 440 men.

Admiral De Beaumont to Command.

Paris, Jan. 22.—The news that the French war ships Bruix and Vauban have been ordered to sail for China is confirmed. The two ships will leave on Monday next. Admiral de Beaumont has been appointed commander-in-chief of the French squadron in the far East. He will hoist his flag on board the Vauban.

The Situation at Peking.

Pekin, China, Jan 22.—Another loan conference has been held. The situation remains unchanged. Great Britai nreserves the right to expoitation in the Yang-tse-Kiang Valley.

ENGLAND'S FIRM HAND.

Salisbury Takes Hold and Settles the Chinese Loan Question.

London, Jan. 22.—Thefollowing version of the recent financial moves of China receives general credence in city circles: Until last riday the negotiations with the London and Berlin banks for the proposed loan of £16,000,000 proceeded favorably under the moral support of the British and German Governments. The German Government had no idea of guaranteeing or co-guaranteeing the loan during these negotiations.

Lord Salisbury, however, finding on Friday that Russia was undermining the other Powers at Pekin, took matters into his own hands, and offered China a loan of £12,000,000 upon the terms already stated in the dispatches to the Daily News.

The negotiating banks were not consulted in the matter, and practically knew nothing of Lord Salisbury's action until Monday.

The terms of the loan were that it should be issued at par, to run for 50 years, the service to be at 4 per cent., annually, net.

The conditions were, first, the opening of three treaty ports, Talienwan, Saingin, in the Hunan Province, and Nan-Ning, thereby increasing the customs revenue; second, a declaration that no portion of the Yangtse Kiang valley should be alienated to another power, and third, the right to extend the Burmah Railroad through Yunnan.

In the event of default China should place certain revenues under the control of the imperial Chine e customs.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Advance catalogues of both the Keating and Stearns' wheels are being distributed by the Bard Cycle Company.

Letter-Carrier Robert Loughlin, of East Front street, has purchased an Eldridge racer and will appear with it in a few days.

The Humber chainless wheel, which is being exhibited this week at the show in Madison Square Garden, will be on exhibition at Bard Cycle Company next week.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Next Tuesday evening the Knob Hill bowling team will go to New York and roll a match with the Central bowling team of that city.

WEAK FROM LOSS OF BLOOD

WESTFIELD WOMAN CUT AN ARTERY.

A Shattered Piece of Glass From a Door Struck Mrs. Clark's Wrist With Serious Result.

Mrs. Dudley Clark, of Westfield, had a narrow escape from bleeding to death yesterday afternoon, and was saved only by the quickness and presence of mind of a druggist.

The glass in the front door of Mrs. Dudley Clark's house, on Prospect street, was shattered in some way as she was entering the house. A large piece of the glass fell upon her wrist and made a deep gash, severing an artery.

The blood spurted forth from the severed artery and the injured woman grew rapidly weak.

Only a few doors away was the drug store of W. H. Trenchard, and to this place the woman ran.

The druggist saw the danger and placed a compress about the arm, stopping the flow of blood. Dr. R R. Sinclair was hastily sent for and after tying the artery with catgut he stitched up the wound.

Mrs. Clark was so weak from loss of blood that it was with difficulty she could walk home after the wound had been dressed. If she had been further from the drug store when the accident happened it is probable that she would have bled to death, as the compress was applied just in the nick of time.

J. A. Hubbard Hurt His Foot.

Joseph A. Hubbard, of West Fifth street, had his left foot crushed yesterday afternoon while supervising the work at the new Stillman building. Several large iron fittings were brought up from the basement. Mr Hubbard was standing on the stone coping. One of the fittings was allowed to fall to the ground with considerable force, striking his foot. He is now confined to his house.

Surprised at South Plainfield.

A surprise party was given to Eugene Laine, at his home, in South Plainfield, last night Over 100 guests were present from this city, Elizabeth and New Brunswick. The chief amusement of the evening was dancing, which was indulged in until a late hour. At 12.30 o'clock refreshments were served The music was furnished by Prof. O'Reilly.

Another Saloon to be Opened.

It is stated on good authority that Charles Bock, who formerly kept a delicatessen and lunchroom on Somerset street, is to open a saloon in the old Ulrich clubhouse on East Second street. The place is to be completely remodeled to suit the purpose. It is understood that he has been promised his license.

The Annual Inventory Sale

At White's store commences today and will continue for the coming ten days. They will offer the pick of their entire surplus stock of dress goods, hosiery, underwear, muslin, sheeting, table linen, white goods, wash goods, mens' furnishings, curtains, carpets and rugs without regard to its former value or regard to its cost. They take their annual inventory the first of the month and there are thousands of dollars worth of good items that you can use to good advantage. Every article that will be advertised is just as represented. A partial list of goods will be in Monday nights paper. This sale will include every department in the store, including the housefurnishing department which will offer special low prices in granite, iron ware, tin and glass ware. A visit to this department while in the store will prove to your advantage.

Had No License.

Andrew Cullen, a man of wide experience, whose home is in Chicago, was arrested last evening in the borough by Marshal Schenck, who found Cullen wandering about the borough selling small household novelties without a license, also begging from house to house. He was taken before Recorder Thomas later in the evening, and after a hearing a fine of sixty days was imposed. Cullen felt his position very much and disliked to go to the county jail, but he finally accepted the situation and decided to accompany the Marshal to Somerville.

A Dangerous Mud Hole.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The sidewalk, (or rather where a sidewalk ought to be,) crossing the alley between Smith's and Richter's, on Somerset street, near Front, has always been in a horrible condition and a menace to life and limb of pedestrians. Cannot the street commissioner induce or compel the property owners to remedy this great nuisance before a suit is brought against the city for injuries received? H.

Cotillion Club Danced.

The Cotillion Club held its second dance at the Casino last evening. There were about eighty present. The figures were many of them new, and prettily executed. The room was artistically decorated in pink and green. The patronesses were Mrs. W. E. Lowe, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, Mrs. O. T. Waring and Mrs J. P. Mason.

Pauper Case Settled.

The trouble between the townships of Warren and North Plainfield over the insane pauper, Mulford Ross, was settled this morning. The case was tried before Justices Speer and Mattison. It was decided to take the man to the insane asylum at Trenton at the expense of the North Plainfield township.

HOW 'GENE FIELD GOT CREDIT.

By an Ingeneous Trick He Was Trusted for a New Pair of Shoes.

"'Gene Field made this old town hum when he was here," said an old timer to a Denver Times man. "You never knew when he would play some practical joke on his friends. The story of his pranks with the stuffed man, which he threw out of a Tribune window, has often been told, but the little jokes in his life are cherished in the memory of all who knew him. Of course, the pace made by Field, Skiff, Rothacker and the others was a fast one, and each and all were hopelessly in debt to every merchant in the city. One day Skiff said to Field: 'Gene, you're looking pretty shabby from your boot tops down. Why don't you get a new pair of shoes? I'll bet a new hat you can't buy a pair on credit in the town.'

"'S that so?' says 'Gene. 'Well, we'll see," and away he went.

The crowd followed him and were looking in the windows of Alkire's while 'Gene was working his graft. He tried on one shoe, and it seemed all right, and then the other, and then he arose to see how they looked.

In the old days the store's floors were muddy—paved streets were then only a dream—and the crowd outside were surprised to see Field walk about, stamping his feet in all the mud he could find. When they were thoroughly dirty he walked to the door and said: "They'll do, Alkire. Field—Tribune, and with that he joined the waiting gang.

"Then he went to Clayton's and got a new hat, which Skiff paid for."

Grammatical Brakemen.

Apropos of a recent order that brakemen shall speak grammatically and distinctly, an official of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad says: "We wish our men to use good language. It makes a great difference with us whether a man uses good grammar or speaks as though he had never attended even a district school. In order that there may be no confusion, we have ordered conductors to tell brakeman to say, 'The next station is Chicago.' Our brakemen do not make many mistakes in grammar, but we cannot help it if a man is a foreigner and makes a mistake in pronunciation. The trainmen understand that their services are appreciated more when they know how to announce stations properly."—New York Tribune.

Two Years for Policeman Hannigan.

New York, Jan. 22.—Policeman John J. Hannigan was sentenced by Recorder Goff yesterday to two years' imprisonment in the State prison for shooting 17-year-old Charles McNally on Thanksgiving Day.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A dispatch from Columbus, O., says Governor Bushnell is suffering from diabetes and his recovery is doubtful.

The bill to gerrymander the Congressional districts of Ohio was introduced in the Legislature at Columbus yesterday.

Premier Sagasta of the Spanish Cabinet meeting said that all his dispatches from Cuba gave "unqualified promise of peace."

The Siamese Government has agreed to apologize for the assault on United States Vice-Consul Kellett and to punish the offenders.

The prison physician at Auburn says Mrs. Nack, the murderess, is suffering from heart trouble which may prove fatal at any moment.

A petition requesting Nebraska's two Senators to vote for Hawaiian annexation has been largely signed at Grand Island, the centre of Nebraska's beet sugar making industry.

Forage Plants.

Most people know the tall, striped, Japanese grass (Eulalia variegata) so largely grown for ornamental purposes. It has recently been discovered that this grass is splendid forage for horses, which are very fond of it, and will eat it in preference to almost any other kind of food. The growing of it for forage purposes is being largely discussed in agricultural circles; and if it should come into use, our English fields will be enriched with a new crop, whose appearance in full growth should be very beautiful.

Four Renowned Sisters.

California has added many to the list of renowned woman, and among them are the Klumpke sisters. An Erratic Run of Cards For the Park Club.

OLD RIVALS IN WHISTIC ARENA.

Playing Took Place in the Afternoon and Evening—Fight in the First Half Was Close, but in the Second Half the Visitors Took the Lead—Senator Charles A. Reed Was Umpire—The Score.

The visit of the American Whist League trophy to Plainfield was short. Saturday their old rivals in the whistic arena, the team from the American Whist Club, of Boston, came to this city, met the Parks in a hard-fought match and won. A week ago the team from the Park Club went to Baltimore and captured the trophy from the Baltimore Whist Club. They brought it to Plainfield. Now the trophy has gone to Boston for one more contest, then it goes to the western section to be contested for by the clubs of that part of the league.

It is said that history repeats itself. Such was the case with the career of the Park Club. Once before the Parks captured the National trophy only to lose it again at the first match to the American Club, of Boston. In each case the run of the cards was unusually erratic and the luck went to the visitors without exception.

The American team came to Plainfield Saturday afternoon and began the match in the afternoon. One half of twenty-four boards was played from 2:30 to 6 o'clock. The second half was played in the evening from 7:30 o'clock to 10:30. The game was played at the Revere House. An excellent dinner was served in the interval between the two halves. The visiting four consisted of Messrs. Bove, Fletcher, Whitney and Ward. The Park Club was represented by Messrs. McCutchen, Howell, Rogers and Townsend. Senator Charles A. Reed, of the Park Club, acted as umpire of the match.

The fight in the first half was unusually close. The Americans gained four tricks on the play of one hand, three on another, two on another, and a single point each in six hands. They scored 16 points in the first half. The Parks made three points on two hands, two points on two hands and six singles, making a total of 16 tricks also, tieing the score for the first half. The play was close and sharp, with the luck running against the Parks. The Americans played a very strong game and were ready to take advantage of every point.

The second half opened with the hands running very wild and making great changes possible. The fight was even closer then before but the Americans began to more than hold their own. Their highest score in one hand was three points. Then they made two doubles and six singles, giving a total of 13 points. The Parks only won out in four hands, two doubles and two singles, giving them a total for the second half of 6.

The total score of the match was 29 to 22 in favor of the Boston team.

The Parks played a good game throughout and were highly complimented by their victorious opponents. They will not have another chance at the trophy this season, as it goes west after the next game and does not return until the fall playing season opens. The showing made by the Parks for the trophy during this season has been a very creditable one. They have won the cup twice, and on the occasion of their other match for the cup they were defeated by the Americans, of Boston, by just one point, a remarkable game

Evans Has a New Record

The many friends of A. W. W. Evans, who did some remarkable bicycle riding here last summer, will be pleased to learn that he now holds the record over the Philadelphia New York course, a distance of 200 miles. Evans made the record last August, paced by Gabriel and Ferry, who went over the entire course. The time was 6 hours and 30 minutes for the trip between New York and Philadelphia and 14 hours, 34 minutes and 30 seconds for the entire trip. Gabriel and Ferry will probably be awarded the record of tandem riding over the Philadelphia and New York course.

Horse Dropped Dead.

A horse owned by one of the parishoners of St. Joseph's church dropped dead in the harness in front of the church yesterday morning during early mass. The owner was notified and Inspector Wm. N. Pangborn, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, had the horse removed. The animal always seemed to be in the best of condition and his sudden death cannot be accounted for.

RAILROAD IMPROVEMENTS.

CENTRAL AND CITY OFFICERS CONFER

Grounds Around Grant Avenue Station Will be Fixed Up In Proper Shape.

Saturday afternoon there was a joint meeting of the street committee and representatives of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, at which there were present Suuperintendent Frecht, Engineer Townley, Superintendent Swackhamer, of the bridge department, Seperintendent Nealford, of the building department, Chairman Barrows and Mr. Buckle, of the councilmanic street committee, and Street Commissioner Gavett.

The improvements in the vicinity of the Grant Avenue station were first examined. The work done last year, including the twenty-four inch storm sewer, were explained and Mr. Frecht promised that the railroad company would do its share ot the work.

The party then visited those parts of the city and borough whose residents use the Grant Avenue station in commuting to New York, and the railroad men were shown the importance of this station.

The work promised is as follows: Curb and flag on Grant avenue from Front to Second streets; walk from South Second street to the station; the driveway from station to Front street to be paved across sidewalk at Front street and curb to be taken out, making an easy approach; station grounds to be improved; retaining wall to be built along south side of West Second street from Liberty street to Plainfield avenue, also along south side of East Third street, east from Watchung avenue.

The meeting seemed a satisfactory one in every way, and it is hoped that the officials of the city and railroad may continue to work together so amicably for the advancement of the interests of both.

FUNERAL OF J. R. LINBARGER.

Services Conducted by Rev. T. E. Davis, Who Spoke Consoling Words.

The funeral services of the late J. R. Linbarger were held yesterday afternoon from the house on Somerset street at 1:30 o'clock, and there was a large attendance of relatives and friends who had known the departed for many years. The services were conducted by Rev. T. E. Davis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Bound Brook. His remarks were very comforting to the bereaved ones and especially helpful. He spoke at some length regarding the certainty of death, and he impressed it strongly on all present that however that they might differ on other things they were all agreed that death is certain, and that it is very important that all should be prepared to meet death.

During the service several hymns were sung by Mrs. J. H. Manley, H. J. Martin, Sr., H. J. Martin, Jr., and Willard Martin. The hymns rendered were favorites of the departed.

There were several beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends. Those who served as pall bearers were: Jacob Blimm, Andrew Love, Sr., D. D. Smalley, Albert Vail, J. A. Blatz and Jacob Long. Interment was in the family plot at Bound Brook.

COMING TO PLAINFIELD.

Young Men's Father Matthew T. A. B. Society's Return Visit.

The Young Men's T. A. B. Society connected with St. Patrick's church in Elizabeth have accepted an invitation from the Young Men's T. A. B. Society of Plainfield to pay a visit to this city Thursday evening of this week, when a bowling match will take place between the two organizations.

The visit is in return for one paid by the Plainfield young men a few months ago, on which occasion the Elizabeth folks were victorious.

On the coming occasion the young men of Elizabeth expect to attend in goodly numbers, and will be accompanied by their ladies. A grand welcome will be extended to them by the Plainfielders. At the conclusion of the bowling match a supper will be given the visitors.

Mr. Dyer's Intentions.

J. C. Dyer, who owns the house and lot on Craig place, that it is necessary for the borough to acquire to accomplish the opening of Duer street to Madison avenue, states that should the purchase be made he will remove the house to a vacant lot on the corner of Craig place and Grove street instead of placing it on the lower end of the present lot and facing on the extention of Duer street. This resolve of Mr. Dyer's is to be commended as it will improve the appearance of the present vacant lot and be a credit to the neighborhood.

Manager Cuming, of the Eldridge Cycle Company, has thus far sold twenty-six Eldridge wheels. The new wheel is meeting with popular approval.

VOORHEES' PLAIN IDEAS.

HE WILL NOT SANCTION AN ELABORATE INAUGURATION.

Will be Sworn in by the Chief Justice, and Then Walk Into the Executive Chamber to Assume Authority.

Senator Voorhees, the Governor that is to be, was asked about the ceremonials that will attend the transfer of the great seal of State from Governor Griggs to himself.

"Well," he said, "Governor Griggs will file his resignation of the Governorship in the office of Secretary of State Wurtz, and will then send a message by the hand of Captain Tuttle, his private secretary, to the Senate, announcing the filing of the paper. Senator Johnson, as the leader of the Republican majority, will offer suitable resolutions paving the way for the succession, and Chief Justice Magie will be on hand to administer the oath to me. The Chief Justice is my old preceptor. I studied law in his office. There has been a good deal of talk about brass bands and a big display and an inaugural address and all that kind of thing, but I have discouraged it all."

"What! Not even an inaugural address?"

"No. I won't be a Governor, you see—only a Senator still, with new functions."

"What'll you do then after the Chief Justice has administrated the oath?"

"Why, pick up my hat and walk into the Governor's office—that's all."

Then, though the Senator did not say it, there will doubtless be a formal interchange of pleasantries between the two Governors—Voorhees will tell Griggs what an awful good Governor he has made, and Griggs will tell Voorhees what an awful good Governor he knows Voorhees is going to make—and then a little pump-handle exercises will, perhaps, be indulged in in the big executive department reception room—and the thing will have been ended.

From the fact that Governor Griggs has entertained several delegations within the past week it is inferrable that he purposes sending some more nominations to the Senate before he withdraws. He may settle the county prosecutorship rivalry between Buchanan and Crossley, of Mercer county, and say, too, whether Pennell shall succeed to that in Morris. He would scarcely have allowed the friends of candidates in these two counties to go to the bother and expense of importuning him unless he designs settling the controversies.

Meanwhile, it is to be hoped the Legislature will be getting down to the solid work of the session. Speaker Watkins need not be discouraged by the fewness of the bills thus far presented. There are evidently enough on the wing to allay his anxieties. The wonder is that the members have not taken time by the forelock and hurried them in. It is easy enough to think of a whole raft of them, long in a state of gestation, that should by this time have made their appearance. No decent excuse can, indeed, be imagined for their delay.

For instance, the act in which the reforms suggested by the Governor's special commission for the better care of the children dependents are to be formulated should have been printed and in the hands of the members by this time. Related to it, too, are a lot of other bills, that are sure to make their appearance, affecting the administration of criminal justice. The State Charities Aid Society has resolved to make another attempt to secure consideration for the probation office suggestion and for that other act of theirs providing for indeterminate sentences. The sooner they are offered the better their chance of passage.

There, too, are the new code bills, upon which a half-dozen or less special commissions have been engaged for months. The Houses will insist on sifting and examining these thoroughly before passing them, and they might well have been on the desks of the secretaries a week or more ago. And yet, in spite of the fact that these prearranged schemes of legislation are all in practical readiness for submission, Speaker Watkins' House committees had no legislative grist to grind on all last week, and have consequently been unable to get anything to work on this week.

Lincoln Will Get Its Postoffice.

That the town of Lincoln will have a postoffice of the same name is due to the influence of Senator William J. Sewell and Congressman Benjamin F. Howell exerted with the Postoffice Department. When the application was made the department was disposed to refuse the application because of there being a Lincoln in New York and a similarity between the "Y" and "J." After some consideration the application was granted.

JUICY POLITICAL PLUM.

AN ELIZABETH MAN TO BE APPOINTED FACTORY INSPECTOR.

William B. Tucker Chosen by the Republican Leaders and Senator Voorhees Will Acquiesce—Other Gossip.

There was quite a contest Saturday afternoon in the Republican county executive committee over the selection of a factory inspector for the district embracing Union county. There were half a score of candidates, but the struggle in the committee narrowed down to Alderman Robert L. Patterson, of Elizabeth; Wm. B. Tucker, a well-known hardware dealer and plumber, and Robert Waterbury. Senator Voorhees, who is to be acting Governor of the State, said that whoever the county committee recommended he would appoint as inspector. Wm. B. Tucker defeated Alderman Patterson by a majority of one, and he will consequently get the place The result was a big surprise to Alderman Patterson and his supporters, as they felt confident of success.

There is another office to be given out shortly in the county, and the new prosecutor, N. C. J. English, will have the naming of the men. One of these offices is that of county detective. The present incumbent is John Keron. To succeed him the names mentioned on the street include Chief Wright, of Rahway, and Conrad V. Sherring, of Elizabeth.

The clerk of the Grand Jury or assistant prosecutor is another office to be filled. Frank Dunn, the Democratic incumbent, will probably retire with Mr. Marsh. City Attorney Swift, who held the position under Prosecutor Wilson, John F Brown, Richard V. Henry and John J. Lowden, are talked of, but nothing has been said by Mr. English in reference to the matter.

TOLD A PITEOUS TALE.

A Woman Impostor Who Has Duped Many Well-to-do People.

The charitably inclined residents of the borough and city have been the victims of an impostor recently that has worked a scheme that usually enlisted the sympathy and subsequent alms giving of nearly all that were interviewed.

The impostor was a woman who gave sometimes the name of Mrs. Davis and at other times the name of Mrs. Smith. Those whom she selected to visit and relate her tale of woe were usually of the well-to-do class. One of her lower limbs was afflicted with a sore. She related with piteous voice and tearful eyes that she was trying to raise money enough to rent a little store in New Market, Metuchen or some nearby town, and that she needed $1 to make up the needed $5 for the first month's rent. Wouldn't the importuned one be good enough to spare her the necessary dollar? and she would bless them always. Her story was told so cleverly that almost invariably she received the solicited sum.

She always gave the charitable person to understand that she needed but $1, but when several of the victims compared notes they found that she had required a good many more dollars than they had any idea of.

No Trace Yet of Young Demarest.

Clarence R. Demarest, the druggist, of 116 Somerset street, who disappeared Saturday, Jan. 15th, leaving his business affairs in a demoralized condition, has not been heard of since. The store is advertised for sale by R. Cuddy, who holds a chattel mortgage on the stock. Jeremiah Hennessy, the landlord, is endeavoring to collect a bill of $75 for back rent.—New Brunswick Fredonian.

Must Go to the Hospital.

Milkman B. R. Waldron, of Coddington avenue, has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in his affliction. He is suffering with an abcess that has grown on his leg. He is obliged to give up work and go to the hospital, where he will undergo an operation. His route will be looked after by George Taylor, a neighbor, who will supply Mr. Waldron's customers as usual.

Mr. Anthony's Gift.

Two handsome oak chairs, upholstered in leather, and a table, also of oak, add to the adornment and usefulness of the pulpit platform of the new lecture room of Trinity Reformed church. They were very quietly placed on the platform one day last week, and it has just become known that they were donated by the superintendent of the Sunday-school, E. E. Anthony.

Dr. Brett Coming.

At the supper in the lecture room of Trinity Reformed church Friday evening, Dr. Brett, president of the State Christian Endeavor Union, will be present.

OLD BOREAS WAS BLUSTERY

MANY TREES WERE TOPPLED OVER.

Falling Trees Struck Trolley Wires and Stopped Fourth Street Railway Traffic—Other Damage.

Old Boreas turned himself loose yesterday and made things howl in these parts by his blustering tactics. In one particular, however, the wind was very serviceable. That was after the heavy rainfall in the early morning hours, when the wind blew up a terrible gale and in a remarkably short time dried up the wet sidewalks and roads and made church-goers thankful that they were not obliged to go pedestrianating through mud puddles.

The velocity of the wind was so great that those who ventured on the streets were obliged to hold on to their hats with a vise-like grip to prevent their whirling through the air in a promiscuous course.

The principal damage done by the wind was on West Fourth street, where traffic on that branch of the street railway was stalled for three hours owing to two large trees being toppled over near Plainfield avenue. The first one fell at 3:30 o'clock, breaking the trolley wires. The railway employes had just got the damage repaired, when, a few minutes after 4 o'clock, another large tree nearby cracked and spread out over the trolley wires, badly bending one of the iron poles. The damage was so great that it could not be repaired until 7 o'clock. During the intervening time the Fourth street cars were compelled to run over West Front street to the Grant avenue branch where they connected with the Monroe avenue terminal. In other parts of the city small trees were blown over.

Street Commissioner Gavett had a team and a number of men at work yesterday, on West Fourth street, clearing away the rubbish made by the trees falling on the trolley wires.

The large sign in front of Boyce's Hotel on Somerset street was blown down last night by the heavy winds. A large tree on Duer street in front of J. Hummel's residence was blown down and the fence was wrecked. At the corner of Jackson avenue and Somerset street the fence on the Reilly property also suffered from the winds.

The high wind played havoc among the trees in the vicinity of Oak Tree. Many were blown down and others twisted and split. The large steam well drilling machine, which was standing near the new residence of Judge Steele, was blown over by the gale. It weighed over four tons. The machine fell againt a tree and was only partially wrecked.

CONVERTS CHILDREN.

Noted Evangelist Will Try to Save Erring Ones in Plainfield.

After several weeks of successful meetings in New York and Brooklyn, Rev. Dr. E. Payson Hammond, the well-known evangelist, has come to this city and South Plainfield to continue his labors among the unconverted. His work is directed especially among the children.

Yesterday morning Dr. Hammond spoke at the Park Avenue Baptist church. In illustrating one of his points, he told the story of the conversion of Ambassador Runyon, not knowing that some of the relatives of the late Ambassador were among his listeners. He told how a great meeting had been held in Newark at the time that Mr. Runyon was Mayor and the latter presided. A converted gambler from New York told the story of his conversion, and the Mayor was so deeply impressed that he took an active part in the work, joined the church, and became an active worker in it.

Yesterday afternoon, Dr. Hammond went to the church of his old friend, Rev. J. A. Cubberly, pastor of the South Plainfield Baptist church, and conducted a children's meeting, which was largely attended. Several conversions were made. In the evening he held another service. Today he will hold services there during the afternoon and evening. Tomorrow he will speak at the Park Avenue Baptist church as noted in another column.

Evangelist Hammond will hold three meetings in this city tomorrow and Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. These meetings are for children, are public and parents are invited to send their children, or accompany them to the services. Wednesday evening there will be a general service for all. These services will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Don't Support Their Wives.

The trials of Henry V. Corey and Louis Fulton, both of whom are charged with non-support of their wives, will be held before City Judge DeMeza and a jury this afternoon at the Council chambers. The Cory case is set down for 2 o'clock and the Fulton case for 3 o'clock.

OFF FOR KLONDYKE; THE FIDDLER UNPAID.

Jack O'Brien Takes a Hurried and Unexpected Departure.

EXPENSE FUNDS ARE NOT ALL HIS.

He Gathered in the Box Office Receipts and Left on the 11:28 Train for New York—Orchestra Waited Fruitlessly for Their Pay for Playing for the Dance Which the Gold Seeker Managed

The big dance which was held at the Crescent Rink Saturday night was a somewhat uneventful affair until the dancers had gone home and the time came for the settlement of bills and the closing of the building.

Then a good sized sensation was sprung by the discovery that John O'Brien, the manager of the affair, had folded up his tent and sneaked, taking all the funds of the box office with him.

The ball was a successful one and it is estimated that there was between $25 and $30 in the hands of O'Brien. Out of this he was to have paid O'Reilly's orchestra and a number of others holding bills for services in connection with the ball.

O'Brien was in the habit of leaving the rink to escort a lady friend home after affairs of this sort, and when the dancers dispersed and he was nowhere to be seen, the fact caused no comment.

Midnight came and went, and still the manager did not return. A few of the most interested ones rattled their toes on the rink steps until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, and then gave up in discouragement and went home. An inquiry at the North Avenue station revealed the fact that O'Brien had taken the 11:28 train for New York Saturday night.

All doubt as to the fate of O'Brien was removed when it came out that he had met an intimate friend from this city in New York yesterday by appointment and explained the circumstances which had led to his leaving Plainfield so abruptly. He expressed regret that he had been placed in such a position, but claimed that fortune had been so averse to him that it would have been impossible for him to have remained here and paid his obligations. Besides the bills contracted in connection with the dance Saturday night, O'Brien left a few other small obligations. A prize of $2 in gold was offered to the best waltzer at the dance. This money he left in the hands of Prof. Eugene O'Reilly, leader of the orchestra, and the prize was awarded as announced.

O'Brien stated to his Plainfield friend yesterday that he intends to start at once for Vancouver, B. C., from which point he will proceed to Alaska and search for the yellow metal in the Yukon gold fields.

The Pierce Cycle Company is the lessee of the Crescent Rink, and the hasty departure of O'Brien will not cause any loss of rent to the owner of the building.

O'Brien has been in this city about two years and has always borne an excellent reputation for straight dealing.

A CHURCH BAPTISM.

Religious Rites Performed by Rev. George Hauser Yesterday.

Yesterday morning at 11:30 in the German Reformed church Emma Katy, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Becker, of Somerset street, was baptised by Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the church. The child was held by Mrs. Hansen, of Bound Brook, while the parents stood up with their daughter. The church and altar was beautiful in its decorations in honor of the event.

Following the baptism a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Becker, at which time a musical programe was rendered by Mrs. Becker, and Mrs. Miller, of Hoboken, on zithers. A social time followed, also a bountiful repast. Among those present were Mrs. Anna Lehner, John Rodin, of Plainfield; Mr. and Mrs. Walter and daughter, of Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Miller, of Hoboken.

Ray o Human Sunshine Gone.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. T. R VanZandt will regret with deep sorrow to hear of the death of their bright three-year-old daughter, Anna, who passed away yesterday. The little girl was like a ray of sunshine to the parents, and her departure is only consolable to the grief-stricken relatives by the knowledge that she goes to an eternal home in which her youthful innocence entitles her to a place. The funeral will be private this evening.

Dinner to Surrogate Spencer.

A complimentary dinner will be given this evening at the Hotel Tuileries to Surrogate-elect H. N. Spencer, of the borough. The affair will be given by the many close and warm friends of the popular boroughite.

THE CUBAN SITUATION

Reasons Why the President Still Holds Congress Back.

INTERVENTION FOR CUBA

Ready to Fight but Unwilling to Seem the Aggressor--Spanish Excesses in Havana Likely to Give a Diplomatic Excuse at Any Moment.

Washington, Jan. 24.—During every hour of the past week the Cuban situation has been critical in the extreme. The speech of Mr. Hitt in the House is accepted as setting forth the President's position. To put any other construction upon it would be equivalent to charging him with deceiving the House. Of that he is incapable. But for the assurances he gave, in terms which could not admit of erroneous interpretations, it would have been impossible to have much longer held the Republicans together against the known desire of a large number to take radical action upon the Cuban question.

It is perfectly understood that the President does not want war if it can be avoided. It is as certain that he does not desire peace at the cost of neglecting any step which the national interests or honor may demand. Above all, he does not wish this country to be put before the world as the aggressor. He wishes it to become plain to all that the plan of self-government offered to the Cubans has failed; that Spain is unable to restore peace; that ordinary sentiments of humanity demand action on our part, and that the immense injury to American interests cannot be longer tolerated.

Mr. Hitt's statement is interpreted to clearly mean that the President has a definite plan upon which he is acting, and that its development is rapidly progressing toward intervention in some form, and in a form where he will need the support of every patriotic citizen. What the President's next step may be, which Mr. Hitt announced in words which give ground for general belief that it is near at hand, is a matter of conjecture.

Those members of the House who have inquired have ascertained that our consular reports from all portions of the island represent a condition of affairs as to general desolation, sufferings, cruelty, starvation and the complete failure of autonomy, even worse than the press reports indicate. These things are rapidly turning Republican Congressmen who have been averse to any steps which might involve us in war into radical war men. The change in this respect is rapid and most decided. Nothing but implicit confidence that the Administration intends to act not only with discretion, but with promptness and the utmost decision, now holds Congress to the support of the President.

The President is fully alive to the gravity of the situation in Cuba. It has been the custom of the Senate this Winter not to hold a Saturday session. When Senator Lodge remarked in the hearing of the President recently that he intended going to Massachusetts to spend Saturday and Sunday, the Executive is said to have suggested that he postpone his trip for a time and that the Senate hold itself in readiness for immediate action on lines to be suggested by the President in case serious trouble was precipitated in Havana.

Senator Lodge did not leave Washington; moreover, the Senate continued in session, as if expecting a Cuban message at any time. So far as surface indications go, conditions in Havana are practically what they have been for several days. But there is grave danger of another very serious outbreak in that city, and Consul-General Lee has advised the Government to be in readiness for anything which may happen.

Meantime there is a general disposition among Congressmen to accept the statement of Mr. Hitt that the President is moving steadily toward an intervention which the country will support and accept as both necessary and justifiable, and that until he reaches the point where he can act without subjecting the country to a well-founded charge of aggression Congress should not embarrass him.

Murder of Lee Quickly Denied.

Key West, Jan. 24.—There was great excitement throughout the city yesterday over the report that United States Consul-General Lee had been assassinated in Havana. This was denied later in a dispatch from Gen. Lee himself, who announced that Havana was quiet, and that the assassination story was false.

Admiral Sicard, in command of the vessels of the North Atlantic Squadron, arrived off this port at 9 o'clock yesterday morning with the fleet, consisting of the New York, Indiana, Massachusetts, Iowa and Texas. The Maine, Montgomery, Detroit, and torpedo boats Cushing and Dupont left here immediately and joined the fleet.

Spanish Consul Carsi here refused to telegraph to Blanco about the reported assassination of Lee, because he said he was sure it was a canard, and his inquiry would cause unnecessary excitement in Havana.

Our Ships Are in Good Shape.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Secretary Long says that some newspapers had erroneously interpreted Assistant Secretary Roosevelt's letter about the need of better guns on the cruiser Chicago into an admission that the United States was doing nothing to improve the character of the armament on their warships. The Navy Department, Mr. Long explained, was keeping thoroughly abreast of the times in naval progress and our ships, he said, are the equal of any in the world. The ships which needed better guns are comparatively old vessels, and it is necessary to give them weapons of a more modern character than those they have had.

Cotton Strike Unchanged.

New Bedford, Mass., Jan. 24.—The second week of the great strike in this city has commenced, and, so far as a settlement is concerned, the situation remains practically as at the beginning. Both the manufacturers and operatives seem bound to make no concessions, and the effort made in some quarters to have the weavers eliminate the fines system issue has failed signally

MANUFACTURERS OF AMERICA

They Will Meet and Have President McKinley as Their Guest.

New York, Jan. 24.—The third annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers will be called to order by President Theodore C. Search of Philadelphia, in the Masonic Temple, this city, to-morrow. This will be the most important meeting that the organization has ever held and a number of topics will come up for discussion which are most vital to the future development of the great industrial and commercial interests of the United States.

President Search in his annual message will give considerable attention to the subject of the reform of our consular service. He has made for years a thorough study of this interesting subject and will appeal for a complete change in the methods of choosing and selecting our consuls. He believes that our consular representatives who are sent abroad shall be selected for fitness solely, and not for political reasons. He will state that the two great evils from which the consular service has suffered have been the appointment of men lacking in qualifications and experience.

Among the many topics to be discussed at this convention will be subjects relating to American trade with foreign countries and to questions of home industry. To further our foreign relations the following questions will receive attention: Establishment of sample warehouses, restoration of the American merchant marine and restoration of treaties of reciprocity. The tariff problem, the proper adjustment of duties so as to equalize the cost of imported articles and of goods made in the United States and the matter of obtaining new markets for American products will be thoroughly discussed.

The subjects of home interest to be considered are these: The preservation of the home market, the establishment of a Department of Commerce and Industry by the Government, unification of railroad freight rates, the proper enforcement of the uniform bankruptcy law recently adopted by Congress, and the improvement of internal waterways.

A very important feature of this convention will be the annual banquet, which will take place at the magnificent Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Thursday evening. President McKinley will be the guest of honor and Senator Frye of Maine will speak on the subject of "Our Merchant Marine." Other speakers of reputation will be present and the affair will attract universal attention throughout this country. A Bohemian smoker will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria to-morrow evening. A stage performance will be one of the features of this entertainment.

The National Association of Manufacturers is the most important and strongest commercial organization of the United States. It was formed in January, 1893, and has now over a thousand members. Every important industrial section of the country is represented.

MOBS PILLAGE IN ALGIERS.

Rioting in the Capital Ends in Bloodshed --Police Prove Powerless.

Algiers, Jan. 24.—Anti-Hebrew riots were renewed here yesterday. The mob invaded the Hebrew quarter and pillaged the shops in the Rue Babazoum, driving the merchants into the streets. A squadron of chasseurs was ordered to the place and charged the mob with drawn swords, but the mob reformed further on, cheering for the army.

Revolvers and daggers were used freely. One man, who was stabbed in the back and shot in the head, died on the spot. Many were seriously stabbed, one named Cayol dying from his wounds this afternoon. The crowd, hearing of this, became dangerously excited, shouting: "They are murdering us!" "Death to the Jews!" and resumed pillaging.

The fronts of six shops were destroyed and the loot was burned.

The police repeatedly charged the rioters, but were stubbornly resisted and were powerless to restore order until the troops arrived. Several policemen were severely maltreated. Many arrests for theft have been made. The Hebrew authorities recommend their co-religionists to remain indoors. Both the men killed in the rioting were Christians, and their companions have sworn to avenge them.

Disturbances and the looting of Hebrew shops continued throughout last evening, despite the efforts of the troops to quell disorders. At 10 p. m. some Hebrew flour stores were pillaged and their contents thrown into the streets. The zouaves then charged the crowd with fixed bayonets and dispersed it. Many persons were injured.

Death of M. J. Cramer.

Carlisle, Pa., Jan. 24.—M. J. Cramer, ex-Minister to Denmark and Switzerland, brother-in-law of General U. S. Grant, died suddenly at 2.30 yesterday morning of neuralgia of the heart. He was 65 years old. For the last six months he has been a professor at Dickinson College. None of his family was here at the time of his death.

Italy After Hayti.

Rome, Jan. 24.—An Italian warship is on the eve of sailing for Hayti to enforce Italy's demands for compensaiton for the violent and illegal treatment to which Italians have been subjected to Haytians.

RELIEF FOR KLONDIKE

The Government Expedition Postponed by Gen. Merriam.

FOOD SCARCE IN DAWSON

Reports That There Was No Scarcity of Provisions Now Known to Be Erroneous--Not Enough to Last Miners Until the New Supply Comes In.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The reports that have been coming to the War Department recently, indicating that there is no scarcity of food in the Klondike country, have now taken another turn, and the last reports go to show that there is already great scarcity of food there, with prospects of worse to come.

Assistant Secretary Micklejohn has received a report from General Merriam, at Vancouver Barracks, which makes this fact appear, while incidentally explaining the erroneous report from Portland, Ore., to the effect that the Government relief expedition has been abandoned. General Merriam says:

"Referring to report of Major Rucker, dated Dyea, Jan. 4, I have deemed it best to postpone shipment of relief expedition for which transportation has been secured on the Oregon, to sail from Portland on the 23d inst., and to secure like space on the Elder, expected to sail about Feb. 1. This will land the expedition at the head of Lyon Canal at least a week before the date now fixed by the agent of the Snow and Ice Transportation Company for receiving freight there for shipment to Dawson."

Food Supply Insufficient.

Dawson City, Northwest Territory, Dec. 18, 1897, via Seattle, Wash., Jan. 24.—It is hardly possible that any food will come to Dawson from down the river before August 1 next, and the food supply here is entirely inadequate for the people until that time. Very few have enough on hand to last longer than the middle of June or first of July, and many have much less.

The people here have been calculating on the arrival of steamers by June 15 or a little later. The Hamilton, Healey and Alice have probably gone into winter quarters somewhere in the lower Yukon, loaded with food and ready to start up as soon as the river clears, but all the food on board them will be required at Minock, Fort Yukon and Circle City.

The Weare and Bella are in winter quarters at Circle City, and must go to St. Michael for loads after the ice breaks. They cannot return here before some time in August. The month of the Yukon cannot be entered from Norton Sound by other steamers on account of ice floes before about July 10, so whatever relief there shall be must come over the passes and down the upper river as soon as it is open to navigation.

Klondike Reindeer and Dogs.

New York, Jan. 24.—The British tramp steamship Glanton, which arrived Saturday night from Hamburg, after a stormy passage of twenty-days, had fifteen reindeer aboard. She had thirty-two originally, but the fierce winter seas tumbled them about in their stalls, and seventeen of them died. The carcasses were thrown overboard. The survivors are in weak condition and some of them will probably die. They are to be sent to the Klondike.

R. Leproux, of Dawson City, arrived on the Phoenix line steamship British King with thirty dogs, all of which have been accustomed to draw burdens in the district around Antwerp. The dogs will be used in the Klondike region.

DOLE ON ANNEXATION.

Hawaiian President Gives His Views En Route to Washington.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—President and Mrs. Sanford B. Dole of Hawaii arrived in Chicago yesterday morning. A distinguished party greeted the president of the little island Republic on his arrival. The Federal Government was represented by Thomas W. Cridler, Third Assistant Secretary of State; Judge Grosscup, Gen. John C. Black, United States District Attorney, and Thomas E. MacMillan, clerk of the United States District Court. Chicago was represented by Mayor Harrison, and the army and navy by Major Heistand and Lieut.-Commander Phelps, respectively.

President Dole's party consisted of himself, Mrs. Dole, Secretary Iaukea and Dr. Day, his physician. During a brief interview the Hawaiian President said:

"I am going to Washington with the view of explaining away, if possible, some misunderstandings which seem to have risen in regard to the annexation. I shall not lobby for the treaty, but shall assist the Annexation Commissioners and probably meet the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

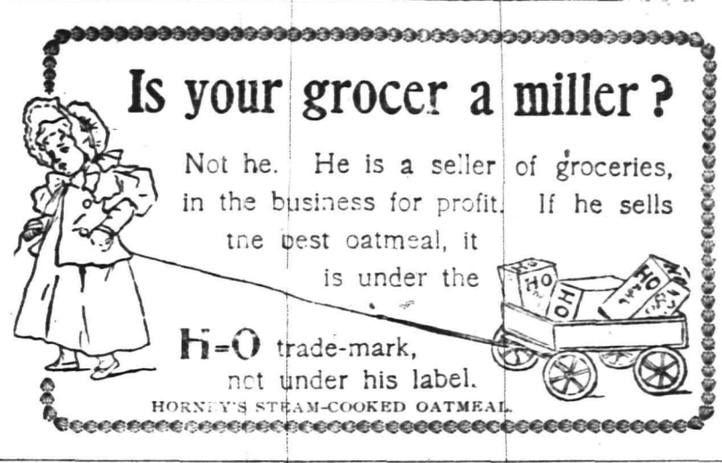
"If the present treaty fails the people of Hawaii will be badly disappointed, but they will not be discouraged. What opposition there is to annexation in Hawaii is mostly through misunderstanding of what it will do for us. I fully appreciate President McKinley's conservative policy, and his desire to let things take their time. If the present treaty fails we shall attribute it largely to the more pressing Cuban situation, and the fact that the United States Senate does not want to do two things at once.

"One object of my visit is to find out just how sentiment lies and Hawaiian legislation at home will be determined very largely by that. I am not, as has been said, going to New York to see about the refunding of the Hawaiian debt, because that is held almost wholly in London and at home."

While the arrangements are not entirely completed, it is probable that President Dole will leave Chicago at 10.30 a. m., to-morrow for Washington, by the Baltimore & Ohio road, this company having offered to him the use of the finest car in its service.

Fear Drove Him to Suicide.

Steele, Ala., Jan. 24.—James Hood, a young married man, committed suicide by shooting. A little while before he had some words with a colored section hand and knocked him down. Thinking he had killed the negro he went directly home and shot himself.



PARTICULAR MENTION.

John Conway, of West Seventh street, returned from Seaton Hall to spend Sunday at his home.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

J. A. Green, of this city, spent Sunday with friends at Asbury Park.

Councilmen Newman and Runyon, and L. M. Dunavan, of this city, were in Elizabeth last Saturday on business.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Christian Endeavor Day will be celebrated at the Congregational church, next Sunday evening by a special service.

—There will be a meeting at the W. C. T. U. rooms Friday afternoon in the interests of the Loyal Temperance Legion. There will be a speaker of note.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—Edward Lutz, formerly employed by J. M. Smalley, the Somerset street butcher, has accepted a position with M. A. Haven at his new meat market on West Front street.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—"An Evening on the Plantation" will be the title of an entertainment that the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will hold in the church parlors Friday evening.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues

CRISIS IN THE ORIENT

England Ready to Fight Russia and Germany Over China.

AN ULTIMATUM IS SENT?

Russia Must Back Down or Bloody Strife Will Involve the Powers, Perhaps Including Japan---No Compromise Is Possible.

London, Jan. 24.—That England is on the verge of war no one doubts. That she is determined in her stand on the Eastern question is equally as certain, and it is also a recognized fact that nothing but the complete back down of Russia and Germany can avert a conflict, which, doubtless, would be of short duration, but which would be a costly and bloody affair at best.

Germany seems to have accepted the situation, as forced upon her, and to have "agreed" that Kiao Chou shall become an open port, but this change in front is not relished by the German Government officials, but say that their war-lord William-Second-to-None, easily "wills" when placed before a determined foe. Doubtless the young monarch will find comfort in the announcement that his stand has been forced owing to the weakness of the German navy, the reorganization of which he has been persistently advocating for so long a time. But the fact is that the wind has been taken out of his sails. He tried to play a master hand, and has shown himself a child in the world of diplomacy. As Gladstone hinted a few years ago, there is more danger from the idiocy than from the results of his self-planned policy.

With Russia, the situation is graver. The young Czar will use every influence in his power to secure Port Arthur and the surrounding district. Whether or not he is willing to go to war for it remains to be seen. It can be secured no other way at present.

Russia might consider a clash of arms with England, in the event of England's stand becoming too dictatorial, but when Japan is thought of, it is more than likely that the Bear will quietly withdraw.

Japan has vessels on the spot which can blow the Russian boats out of the water in 15 minutes. And she has a base of supply at hand.

It is a question of one or the other yielding or a fight. The prevailing opinion in this country is that Russia will yield when she is convinced of the grim reality of Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's declaration the other day. Perhaps this has already taken place, but confidence in the complaisant action of the Czar's Government is not based on any sound fact or argument yet adduced.

It is important to note how prominently the moral support of the United States is everywhere considered in discussing the situation. The Saturday Review says: "In this policy England has the support of Japan and the United States, and the strength of these powers, added to that of England, in the Pacific, put resistance on the part of Russia, Germany and France, singly or in combination, out of the question. Perhaps the enthusiasm with which the American papers have applauded the declaration of the Chancellor of the Exchequer arises from the fact that he virtually proclaimed a Monroe doctrine for the Far East."

Summed up, the situation is as follows: England is ready for war: has announced her intention and willingness to fight: will fight with either Russia or Germany, or both, and will be backed by Japan if the clash materializes.

In regard to the diplomatic feature of the situation it may be repeated with the utmost confidence that Great Britain and Japan are acting with fullest accord in virtual co-operation. It is natural that under these circumstances the Japanese fleet has been selected for the first important move this week.

KIAO CHOU MAY BE OPEN.

London Times Thinks It Would Do Much for Peace in Europe.

London, Jan. 24.—The Times says editorially this morning: "We are glad to learn from various trustworthy and mutually independent sources that the rumors of Germany's intention to open Kiao Chou to the world's commerce are well founded. If this decision is maintained Kiao Chou will probably become a great, busy and flourishing entrepot of the world's trade—a northern Hong Kong.

"The wisdom of the decision cannot be doubted. It will tend to improve the unnecessarily strained relations between England and Germany. It is to be hoped that other nations will follow Germany's example, and that the Far Eastern question may thereby be greatly simplified.

Shot a College Student.

New York, Jan. 24.—Joseph Miller of Lewiston, Pa., a young student at the New York Trade School, at Sixty-seventh street and First avenue, was shot dead last night in one of the living rooms at the school by William H. Watson of Rochester, N. H., a fellow-student. Watson is a prisoner in the East Sixty-seventh Street Police Station, and is nearly crazed as a result of his act. He declares that the shooting was accidental. The police suspect that a murder was committed, and have arrested William Youtzy, of Lewistown, Pa., a student, who was the only witness of the affair.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

(Furnished by Weather Observer Neagle.)

Fair Tonight, Followed by Rain and Warmer Tuesday Evening.

At 2 o'clock the Thermometer at Leggett's Pharmacy Registered 40 Degrees.

COMING EVENTS.

January 27—Annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. at 8 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

January 27 and 28—Annual turkey supper in lecture room of Trinity Reformed church.

A TITLE WOULD BE WELCOME.

In the matter of titled civilians Plainfield is not overstocked, and a few more Generals, Colonels, Majors, et cetra, could be acquired with local pride and distinction. Recognition of this condition leads us to suggest that Senator Voorhees, soon to be Acting Governor, with a new military staff to appoint in lieu of the one under Governor Griggs' regime, all of whom declare their intention to resign with the change of chief executive, could honor Plainfield by naming one or two of her citizens on his staff. And, besides, in the matter of political favors of State selection, the local Republicans do not fare very well, and if the Union county man could drop a colonel or two in our midst, we would welcome it rousingly, even though the perquisites are all honor and no pay.

THERE MUST BE LIBERALITY.

That the property owners on Duer street will be greatly benefited by the opening of that thoroughfare to Green brook, to connect with Madison avenue in this city, goes without saying. But the consummation of the plan will depend entirely on how liberal the private subscriptions are. With the promise of $1,000 by William M. Stillman, and the $2,000 to be raised by the Borough Council, there ought not to be any trouble in securing the remaining $1,000.

Highland Park, across the river from New Brunswick, is torn two ways by the proposition to have the place erected into a borough. The Park is part of Raritan township. It is claimed by the advocates of the borough that the Park is unfairly treated in the apportionment of taxes raised by the township. The boroughites and the anti-boroughites seem pretty evenly divided.

The retail merchants of New Jersey are down on the trading stamp humbug, and they intend asking the Legislature to enact a law suppressing it. When their representatives arrive in Trenton they will find themselves confronted by a powerful lobby.—New York Tribune.

In the House of Representatives Saturday Congressman Parker introduced a bill providing for a new U. S. Circuit Judge for this circuit, comprising New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware. It is claimed the work requires a third Judge.

310 PAY TO TALK.

Increasing Business of New York and New Jersey Telephone Company.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has been steadily growing all along the line. In Plainfield it has become a permanent institution giving excellent service to its patrons. There are now 310 subscribers to the local exchange. The growth during the last month has been unusually rapid. Irving I. Ross, of Westfield, has been among a number of the business men and residents explaining the advantages and cheapness of the service, and as a result twenty new subscribers have been added since the first of January. They are with their numbers as follows: Curtis M Thorpe, 217 a; The C. Chapot & Sons, 237 b; Murphy & Blatz, 238 a; Rudolf Spiegel, 238 m; William Newcorn, 225 b; J. P. Homan, 238 f; William N. Tier, 4 b; John H. Tier, Sr., 4 f; C. Arnold, 240 b; McNabb & Clark, 217 f; George F. Brown, 240 f; Organized Aid Association, 226 f; R. A. Meeker, 231; S. A. Ginna, 239; Seattle Cedar Lumber Company, 212 b; R. H. McCullough, 240 a; E. L. Gifford, 209 b; Walter C. Dobbins, 226 i; Marsh, Ayers & Co., 217 f.

—A missionary meeting was held at the Congregational church last evening by the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. There were a number of selections read by the different members, telling of miracles of modern missionary life. The meeting was well attended.

It Would Be Surprising

if, with our immense business, we did not handle the choice of the hundred odd makes of Pianos that are produced in America.

The seven best, in their different grades, that America produces—CHICKERINGS, GABLERS, HARDMANS, VOSES, STERLINGS, STANDARDS and HUNTINGTONS—are here.

There is absolutely no other as good as the firms named; there may be other makes that will equal the other six, but they will cost you from $75 to $150 more than we would ask for the same grade and quality.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Mrs. Anna Abbott will return this week from her visit to Camden.

Mrs. W. H. Terry has returned from her visit with out-of-town friends.

Mr. and Mrs. George Churchill are entertaining relatives from out of town.

Amos Vail is on the road to recovery. His illness is not as serious as was at first thought to be.

Miss Staats has again recovered from her illness and she is able to resume her duties at the postoffice.

Tomorrow evening Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold an important meeting. It is likely that a candidate will be initiated.

At an early date the Ladies' Orchestra will give an entertainment in Friendship Hall. A programme of unusual interest will be presented.

Eugene Runyon has disposed of almost all of the goods remaining in his store. An auction was held last Saturday evening and the sales were good.

There will be no meeting of the Borough Council this evening as reported in another paper. The meeting was held last Friday evening when the grade for North avenue was accepted and adopted.

At the Council meeting to be held Monday evening, February 7th, the trolley ordinance, the Watchung Water Co. ordinance and several other important ordinances will be considered for final adoption.

A service was held in the New Market Baptist church Sunday afternoon for men only. Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor, was in charge and the meeting was largely attended. Pastor Fletcher preached in the church morning and evening to large congregations.

If the recent agreeable weather continues, and the trolley company secures a franchise, there is a possibility that work will be started to build the trolley road soon after the granting of the franchise in February. There is scarcely any frost in the ground and the work could be prosecuted with ease.

The Watchung Water Company is very anxious to secure a franchise to run water pipes in the borough for the purpose of supplying the borough with water, and it is quite possible that at the next meeting of the Council the franchise will be adopted on its final reading. There are several contractors waiting for an opportunity to bid for the work. If there is any one thing that the borough needs, it is a good water supply, and the quicker they get it the more readily the empty houses in the borough will be rented.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

John Stiliger spent Sunday with friends out of town.

Miss S. L. Parse has returned from a visit with friends in Brooklyn.

Rev. James Braker led the Christian Endeavor meeting in the Baptist church last evening.

Miss Lillie Gibbs, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gibbs.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimmerson, of Westfield, were the guests yesterday of their daughter, Mrs. George W. Marsh.

At the Scotch Plains Baptist Sunday-school yesterday afternoon Rev. J. H. Pari, a native of India, and pastor of the Presbyterian church at Benares, gave an address of much interest before the scholars. Mr. Pari is in this country making an investigation of the missionary work. He is a man of scholarly attainments, of large missionary experience, of magnetic presence. He was a high caste Brahmin and embraced Christianity twelve years ago.

A large gathering of people greeted Prof. Hamill, of the International Field Workers, of Illinois, last evening in the Scotch Plains Baptist church. In the course of his speech the speaker said that the pulpit and the work of the ministry should never be undervalued. The most important work in the ministrations of the Gospel was the preaching of the Word. That feature of work had been emphasized again and again by the writers of the Bible. It is wrong to assert that the Sunday-school is superior to the pulpit. The position of the Sunday-school worker is made important from the fact that a time has come in the history of the church when complex organizations have arisen, and these must be taken care of by the ecclesiastical bodies. One of these complex organizations is the Sunday school.

Twilight Council, No. 7, Jr. O. U. A. M., celebrated its third birthday anniversary last Friday night. Guests were present from Westfield and Plainfield, and speeches were delivered by J. Robison, Brother Philips and others. The guests enjoyed a smoker, and a pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of a gavel to Twilight Council by the members of Central Council, of Westfield.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Miss Ruth Stauffer, of Broad street, is ill with measles.

Mrs. Arthur Spooner, of Mountain avenue, has returned from Brooklyn.

Edgar Manning, of Picton street, has accepted a position with the C. & C. Company, at Garwood.

Miss Clara Hatch led the Christian Endeavor prayer meeting in the Presbyterian lecture room last evening.

The Sunday-school board of the Westfield Methodist church holds a meeting in the church parlors tonight.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Westfield Methodist church is planning to give a 5 o'clock tea early in February.

The Social Club will give a progressive euchre party and a dance at its rooms in the Standard building tonight.

Elmer Love, whose skull was fractured in an accident at Fanwood last Thursday, is somewhat improved and nearly out of danger.

The special evangelistic services in the Westfield Methodist church will be continued this week, commencing tomorrow and lasting through Friday evening.

At the Westfield Congregational church last evening W. E. Benson, treasurer of the Colored Industrial School of Alabama, explained the work of the school, and special singing was heard from a quartette consisting of students of the institution.

The entertainment entitled "A Capital Courtship" will be given in the Westfield Club Hall tomorrow evening for the benefit of the Westfield Children's Country Home. The opening scenes are in Northern Massachusetts, the second and third parts have Washington City for their background. The views are of great excellence, including Pennsylvania avenue in a snow storm, and the White House by moonlight. The sale of seats has been very large.

A Westfield correspondent of The Press, who is evidently dissatisfied with the critical methods employed by the writers of the new "History of Union County," has the following to say concerning the book's treatment of the subject of the "Old One-Horn" cannon: "Among other things, we must be grateful to the new 'History of Union County' for settling forever the question as to the authenticity of the 'old one-horn cannon.' That it was actually captured from the British during the Revolution is now proved as follows: Firstly, the family of one of the men who captured it possess to this day an old clock, and a musket marked 'Jordan, 1747.' Secondly, Rev. N. W. Cadwell, of Westfield, has in his possession an original muster roll of an artillery company, dated 1826; and thirdly, 'Aunt' Phœbe Ross, aged ninty-six years, 'Aunt' Anna Scudder, aged ninty-five, 'Aunt' Betsey Clark, aged ninty-four, and 'Granny' Baker, aged 104, have taken their Alfred David that their memories are first-class, and that they never heard it doubted. So there is nothing more to be said."

Literary Note.

The Hon. William Waldorf Astor will contribute an important article to an early number of the Pall Mall Magazine on John Jacob Astor. The article will be illustrated and promises to be of exceptional interest to American readers.

PASSING COMMENT.

The men who crowd in one barroom and out of another Monday night in Trenton, and who view the scene Tuesday with eyes that look like two holes burnt in a blanket, are mostly men who at home are big men in little places, and who get inspiration by rubbing elbows with the men whose names are frequently in the newspapers and clinking glasses with the other men who want to be considered leaders and are willing to pay for it. Some of these have been in Trenton in some official capacity. It is a fact that when a man has been inoculated with Trenton excitement it is hard for him to stay away. Last Monday and Tuesday brought to Trenton the biggest mob of political curiosities the State possessed. It was a perfect kaleidoscope of the funny productions of modern politics in a State that has all the extreme conditions of men. There was the silk-stocking politician from Orange and Plainfield hobnobbing with the knights of the hayseed from Salem and Gloucester counties. There was the dandy politician elbowing with the bucolic statesman with sand-burrs in his socks from the windy-side of Burlington county. When such types of Jerseymen, to say nothing of the politicians, get huddled together, all qui vive of excitement and all looking for some other fellow to buy the liquor, the third house of the New Jersey Legislature is comprehended as an entirety.

THEATRICAL.

Recognized wherever they appear as the best reportoire company, in the matter of acting talent, Corse Payton's combinations always score a popular success. Tonight Mr. Payton's company opens a week's engagement in Music Hall. The company that appears here this year is said to be much stronger than that of last year, and if this is so, and there is no reason to disbelieve it, Plainfield theatre-goers will be treated to fine performances. Miss Hamilton, the leading lady, is a clever actress who portrays the various roles she assumes in a clever and polished manner. She is an elegant dresser and her gowns will be the source of much admiration from the fair portion of the audiences that greet her. In the matter of specialties the company is especially strong. Baby June, a winsome little lass, makes a great hit.

Reserved seats for the performance of Mrs. Fiske and her superior company in "Tess of the D'Aubervilles," will be on sale at the box office of Stillman Music Hall Wednesday and following days. Orders by mail, addressed to Manager Maze Edwards, will be duly attended to and tickets held until morning of performance.

At St. Mary's.

Rev. Father McCormick, the newly-appointed curate of St. Mary's church, was the celebrant at the 9:30 mass yesterday, and also officiated at the 10:30 service. He delivered an able sermon on "The Holy Name of Jesus." He is a very graceful talker, and made a good impression. During the afternoon, in company with Father Smyth, he visited the Sunday-school, at its session in the Parochial School building, and was much pleased with the large attendance of scholars.

A Railroad Physician.

The Central Railroad Company has appointed a number of prominent physicians who live along the line of the road to attend to all accident cases, and the territory between Cranford and Dunellen has been assigned to Dr. J. T. Fritts, of this city.

—Superintendent Wightman, of the Borough Public School, was received by card into Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last Thursday evening.

ANNUAL INVENTORY SALE

A Wise Loss Is often proof of good business judgment. We consider it wise at this season of the year to offer you the pick of every dollar's worth of surplus stock without regard to its former value, or regard to its cost. Our inventory is close at hand and there are hundreds of items here that you can use to good advantage; every price quoted is a cold fact, every item advertised is just as represented. This sale will last ten days, that will be long enough to reduce stock and quite as long as we care to do business at a loss.

The Dress Goods

We have gone through it and cut prices right and left, we know there will be some empty shelves ten days from now.

Lot No. 1

About 1,000 yards of patterns suitable for skirts and waists, have been 50c to $1 per yard, all go at 37c the yard.

Lot No. 2

About 50 pieces, as many different styles of plaids and plain goods, former price 40c to 75c the yard. Will go for 33c the yard.

Lot No. 3

One solid case of 36 inch cotton checks, to close we make them 8c the yard.

Housekeeping Goods

At cost prices, but only for the next ten days. We are going to sell muslin sheeting at such prices that it will pay you to buy for months to come.

Fruit of the Loom, Dwight Anchor Lonsdale, 6c yard.

Yard wide Atlantic A, short lengths 4½c yard.

Pillow cases—42x36, 9c; 45x36, 10c.

Prints, Ginghams

And all that kind of wash stuffs, prices will talk stronger here than we can. Indigo blue and turkey red prints, 4½c yard.

Best apron gingham, 4½c yard.

One lot of fine dress ginghams, lawns, cambrics that were 10, 12 and 15c yard, will go for 6c the yard,

The Black

Goods must go along with the rest, good as gold, staple as wheat, but the knife goes deep into prices—

54 inch all wool serge, former price 60c, now 30c.

40 inch fine henrietta, former price 50c, now 33c.

THE THRIFTY CADDY.

IT IS POSSIBLE TO EARN AS MUCH AS $10 A WEEK ON THE LINKS.

One Made Such Good Use of His Opportunities He Was Enabled to Earn a Comfortable Income from Teaching and Thereby Rising a Notch Higher.

The rapid spread of the game of golf in this country has opened a new field for the enterprising American boy.

It is good, healthful work for a lad, for it keeps him out in the open air, and he often gets as much fun and more work out of a game than the player himself. His earnings are more than those of most of his fellows in stores and offices, too. The usual rate of pay is from 10 to 15 cents an hour, and with the tips he gets from players the caddies' earnings often amount to $8 or $10 per week in the golf season. In some places the caddies are paid by the round, but that is not so fair as the time pay system, as the least skillful players, who are apt to give the caddies most work, take the longest time to go over the course. In the neighborhood of the big cities where most of the golf links are located, many business men play the game, going over the links early in the morning, or on their return from business after 4 in the afternoon. In such places most of the caddies are schoolboys who can do this work outside of school hours as the links are practically deserted during the middle of the day, except on Saturday, which is, of course, a holiday for the school boy as well as for the business man. There are any number of thrifty caddies who are paying all their school expenses this winter with the money they earned running after balls during the long summer days.

Some funny experiences fall to the lot of the caddy. A story is told in one of the golf clubs near New York of a member who fell into the unfortunate habit of using a great many swear words over his bad shots while learning the game. His wife remonstrated with him for it, and being somewhat ashamed of himself he promised that he would pick up a stone every time he swore on the links, and bring them all home to her. On the first day of the new arrangement the man toiled home at night, and, emptying his pockets, made a good-sized pile of stones on the porch, where his wife sat. "Oh, John!" she cried, reproachfully, "all those?"

"Oh," said the player, wearily, 'those are only the 'little slips.' Here—waving his hand toward two caddies who were pushing wheelbarrows full of cobbles up the garden path—"here are the others." This, it need not be said, is somewhat apart from the caddy's ordinary duties.

The new player is a source of fun and sometimes of profit to the caddy. A New York editor, who considered golf a very easy game, started out last year on the Shinnecock links to play a match game after a very little practice. His opponent was soon ahead of him, and in his anxiety to catch up the editor became nervous. Swinging his stick with unusual force in order to make a long shot, he brought it down not against the ball, but on his own ankle. Dancing about with the pain, the usually dignified editor still remembered to look about to see if any one had noticed him, and then, slipping a dollar into the caddy's hand, he said: "You were looking the other way just then, you know."

Sometimes the caddies practice on their own account, and some of them become expert players. One way in which they occasionally add to their incomes is by teaching the game to new members. I know of one young fellow who has made such good use of his opportunities for the past few seasons that he has retired as a caddy, and has made a good income this season by teaching the game. Opportunities sometimes come to the boy on the links in other ways, too. A few weeks ago a Wall street broker called my attention to an unusually bright and spry boy in his office.

"He's a treasure," said the broker. 'I wouldn't trade him for two ordinary city boys. And where do you suppose I found him? On the golf links out in Jersey. I found that he could cover more ground in a short time than some professional sprinters, and I made up my mind he'd be just the fellow for a stock runner. He's just as quick with his brains as he is with his heels, too, and though he's so useful to me in his present position, I'll have to make him a clerk before long or somebody will get him away from me."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The First Person Singular.

"That's the most egotistical man I ever saw," said one usher at a theatre.

"Yes. He won't even sit anywhere except in Section I."—Washington Star.

More Wisdom.

"What is your idea of fame?"

"Fame? Well, in its highest phase, I think it is the incredulous surprise which a man's home folks exhibit when he does anything noteworthy."—Detroit Free Press.

In Chancery of New Jersey.

To Mary E. Smith

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the Eleventh day of January, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety Eight, in a cause wherein Ruth H. Rice is complainant, and you and Ariadna Bicknell et als., are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant, on or before the Twelfth day of March next or that in default thereof such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by the said Ariadna Bicknell and John G. Bicknell her husband to said Ruth H. Rice, dated September 25, 1896, and recorded in Book 136 of Mortgages for Union County of page 568, etc., on lands in the City of Plainfield, in Union County, New Jersey, and you Mary E. Smith are made a defendant because you have a mortgage on said lands and by virtue of said mortgage you may claim to have some right or interest in said mortgaged lands.

GOV. GRIGGS NAMED.

President Sends His Nomination as Attorney-General to the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The President on Saturday sent to the Senate the nomination of John Griggs, at present Governor of New Jersey, to be Attorney-General of the United States. The Governor will take his new office as soon as the formality of confirmation has been gone through with.

John W. Griggs was born in Newton, Sussex County, N. J., in 1849. His father was a farmer and an old line Whig, who finally became an ardent Republican. He was graduated from Lafayette College in Easton, Pa., in the class of 1868. Three years later he was admitted to the bar of Paterson, and took as a partner in the profession Socrates Lutter.

Mr. Griggs made speedy headway, and quickly built up a large and lucrative practice. In the campaign of 1875 Mr. Griggs first entered the political arena and was elected Assemblyman. He was such a favorite that his re-election, even in the famous Tilden campaign, was regarded as a distinct triumph.

In 1882 he was unanimously chosen by his party as a candidate for State Senator, and was elected by a large majority. He was twice re-elected. As a delegate to the National Republican Convention in Chicago in 1888 he nominated the Honorable William Walter Phelps for Vice-President of the United States. He was offered a Supreme Court Judgeship by Governor Leon Abbett, but declined. He was elected Governor of the State of New Jersey last year.

FOSTER M. VOORHEES.

The nomination of John W. Griggs for Attorney-General involves his surrender of the Governorship of New Jersey. He will be succeeded as State Executive by Foster M. Voorhees, President of the State Senate, as Acting Governor. No election will be necessary as the State Constitution provides for filling the vacancy.

Mr. Voorhees is perplexed regarding the appointments of a personal staff, and has appealed to Attorney-General Grey for advice as to whether he has a legal option. All of Gov. Griggs' staff will resign to-morrow. It is a question whether his successor has a right to name a staff, because he will only be Governor by virtue of the fact that he is President of the Senate. All the military staff, however, who are permanent fixtures will be his staff.

Banquet to Gov. Griggs.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 24.—The nomination of Governor Griggs for Attorney-General, which has been sent to the Senate by the President, is received with much satisfaction here. He will retire as Governor of New Jersey to-morrow, and Foster Voorhees of Union, the President of the Senate, will become Acting Governor. Mr. Griggs' nomination takes him out of the field as a candidate for Governor for a second term, and gives Foster Voorhees an opportunity to run the race. John Keene, Jr., of Elizabeth, who contested with Governor Griggs for the nomination, will probably be the candidate of the party for United States Senator to succeed Senator James Smith, Dem.

State Comptroller Hancock and Barker Gummere of Trenton are arranging for a dinner to be tendered the retiring Governor. It will be given in the Astoria, New York, on Feb. 18, and, it is said, only 30 persons will be present at a cost of $100 a head.

Governor Griggs will be presented with a silver service to cost $2,000, and in addition he will receive a silver loving-cup to cost $2,500.

THE ROLL OF HONOR.

Provisions of the Pension Bill Introduced in the Senate by Mr. Cannon.

Washington, Jan. 24.—The pension bill introduced in the Senate by Mr. Cannon directs the publication of the list of pensioners, in pamphlet form, before Jan. 1 next, and thereafter as often as Congress may prescribe.

The list of each State is to be published in a volume of itself, and is to contain the names therein arranged in alphabetical order, together with post-office addresses, the relationship of the pensioner with the soldier on whose account it is granted, the company and regiment, the date and place of muster, and the rank then held, the manner of termination of service (by death or discharge), and the rank then held, the present rate of pension, the date when granted and the dates and amounts of increase, if any. One copy of each State list is to be mailed to each newspaper published in that State.

Gladstone, weak and racked by neuralgic pains, expressed a wish that all were over.

DR TALMAGE MARRIED.

The Celebrated Preacher Weds Mrs. Charles Collier at Pittsburg, Pa.

Pittsburg, Jan. 24.—The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, the noted divine of Washington and formerly of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Elmora McCutcheon Collier of Allegheny City, were married Saturday at the McCutcheon residence, 47 Irwin avenue. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. J. Robinson, D. D., pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church.

The wedding which came as a great surprise to the many friends of the couple, was, on account of a recent death in the family, an extremely quiet affair. The only guests outside of Mrs. Talmage's immediate relatives was Dr. L. H. Willard, who was making a professional visit to the house and remained to witness the ceremony.

The bride was arrayed in a gorgeous green brocaded silk gown, with corsage, and wore diamonds. The gown matched her fine olive complexion to perfection. The Rev. Dr. Talmage was attired in the customary clerical garb. He seemed as full of spirits and buoyancy as a youth of twenty, despite his sixty-six years of active life.

Mrs. Talmage is the daughter of the late James M. McCutcheon. She was the widow of Charles W. Collier, only son of Judge F. H. Collier. She is 40 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Talmage met during the past two summers at Easthampton, L. I., where the courtship which culminated five months ago in a formal engagement began. The engagement was kept a profound secret and it was only within the past few days that Mrs. Talmage told her most intimate friends of the coming marriage. The present Mrs. Talmage is the reverend gentleman's third wife, his second having died several years ago.

CALIFORNIA GOLD JUBILEE.

A Week of Festivities in Which the Whole Country Will Participate.

San Francisco, Jan. 24.—The celebration of California's Gold Jubilee will begin to-day, and will last for six days. It will commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of gold by Marshall at Sutter's Mill. Governor Budd has announced that to-day will be a legal holiday, and the celebration will be opened with a grand pageant in which representatives from all organizations of a civic, military and fraternal character will participate.

The following societies will be seen in the procession: United States troops, Governor Budd and staff, California Pioneers, St. Andrew's Society, Regents of the State University, Volunteer firemen, Reali Italiana Carabinieri, League of the Cross Cadets,

GOV. JOSEPH H. BUDD

Young Men's Institute, Native Sons of the Golden West, Deutcher Krieger Verein, Hannoveraner Verein, Turnverein, San Francisco Baecker Verein, San Francisco Commercial Travelers' Association, Fishermen's Benevolent Society and Arizona Pioneers.

The parade will be an imposing one and floats have been entered by the different organizations, representing historical incidents and characters. A leading feature of the pageant will be a cavalcade of aids to Grand Marshal Morse, consisting of five hundred representative citizens, selected by the well-known organization, "The Native Sons."

Among those who will participate in the procession are four pioneers who witnessed the discovery of gold by Marshall. Among these is Henry Fowler, who crossed the plains and went to Oregon in 1843, and the following year came down the coast by the old Oregon and Sacramento trail, settling in the Napa Valley. Most of the other living pioneers also came overland to California, making a prolonged and dangerous journey.

McKenna's New Duties.

Washington, Jan. 24.—It is the present intention of Attorney-General McKenna, whose nomination as a justice of the United States Supreme Court was confirmed by the Senate, to take the oath of office and enter upon his new duties on Wednesday. Should Governor Griggs, his successor, not be able to qualify by that time, Solicitor General Richards will act as Attorney-General ad interim.

A Suicide On His Wife's Grave.

Chicago, Jan. 24.—Gustav Rolle, 60 years old, attired in evening dress, silk hat and kid gloves, knelt upon the grave of his wife in Forest Home Cemetery yesterday in the howling blizzard and shot a bullet into his brain.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

SPORTS

VARIOUS SPORTS.

J. A. Smith, the grocer, is enjoying a hunting trip through the south. He started last Saturday from New York by steamer.

The benefit shoot to be given for Neaf Apgar at Newburg, N. Y., Wednesday and Thursday of this week, promises to net a neat sum for Neaf. A large delegation from the Climax Gun Club will attend to help make the affair a success.

The Sportsmen's Show that closed at Madison Square Garden Saturday night, was largely attended by Plainfield enthusiasts. The Peters Cartridge Company and Kings Powder Company booth, which was in charge of Thomas H. Keller and Clarence E Teel, was an attraction to them all, and the New York dailies gave them extensive notices. The showing made by the Peters Cartridge Company's gallery ammunition in the rifle contests must have been particularly pleasing to them, as the National championship and every first prize in each competitive event was won by contestants using Peters ammunition.

BASKET BALL.

Probably the most important basket ball game of the season in Plainfield will be played this evening in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium when the Plainfield team will meet the team from the Elizabeth Athletic Club.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

The Park and Roselle bowling teams will roll a match game in the Journal series next Wednesday evening.

Councilman Runyon a Godfather.

Councilman William N. Runyon has served in many roles but yesterday he tried something new. He acted as godfather for the youngest son of Charles W. Smith, of Willow avenue, who was christened at the Holy Cross church yesterday morning. The ceremony took place at the close of the morning service. It was performed by the rector of the church, Rev. Dr. T. Logan Murphy. The godmother was Miss Sarah Langford, of Brooklyn. The child was christened Walter Nelson Smith.

Justice Mosher's Court.

The case of Allen against Sullivan, in tort, which was to have been tried in Justice Mosher's court this morning was adjourned until Wednesday morning. It will be tried by a jury of six men. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the case of Cory against Frazee, to determine the right of property, will be tried by a jury in Justice Mosher's court.

Republican Leaders.

A meeting of the city executive committee of the Republican party in Plainfield was held Friday evening to organize for the year. Former Assemblyman W. K. Codington was elected chairman, Assemblyman R F. Murray, vice-chairman, and J. B Coward, secretary and treasurer. No action on the future policy of the party was taken.

INDICTED FOR MURDER.

Craig A. Marsh Will Defend Alleged Slayers of Farmer Pitts.

Garret Manshande and Louis Roesel were this morning indicted by the Grand Jury of Union county for the murder of Farmer Pitts, near Summit, in September last. Judge VanSyckel assigned Craig A. Marsh as counsel for the defendants. Mr. Marsh was in Court at the time, and upon being assigned entered a plea of not guilty in each case, reserving right to withdraw the plea and quash the indictment.

Judge VanSyckel stated that he would afford counsel opportunity to confer with the defendants and investigate the circumstances, before fixing the day for trial. He directed counsel to be in attendance in Court Monday next, at which time the date of trial will be determined upon.

The New Borough School Building.

The building committee from the Borough Board of Education, who have in charge the arranging of the plans and specifications to be submitted to the citizens of the borough for a new school building, will first report to the Board of Education before a public meeting is called. E. J. Waring is chairman of the committee. No time is being lost to arrange matters so that a meeting can be called at an early date.

A Long Island Survey.

Civil Engineer F. A. Dunham, of this city, and also New York, has just completed a topographical survey of a large tract of land on Newport Harbor, near Long Island Sound, for a prominent and wealthy business man of New York who probably will improve the same for his summer residence. Mr. Dunham reports that the shores of the Sound and especially of the bays adjoining the same are peculiarly adopted for summer residences. The banks being on a elevation of from 50 to 100 feet above tide water and the bathing is safe.

Interesting Pictures for Plainfielders.

The Mail and Express Illustrated Saturday Magazine of last week has an article on the Harlem Young Women's Christian Home, with a very good picture of the president of the association, Miss Anna Burr, daughter of Stephen H. Burr, for a number of years residents of Plainfield. On another page is a fine picture of Mrs. Reginald Arnold, daughter of Frank di Zerega, of New York, who is a brother of Mrs. Samuel Huntington, of Franklin place.

Romantic Music

In compliance with numerous requests, Miss Sarah Palmer will repeat her lecture on "Romantic Music and How to Study It," at the Crescent Avenue chapel, Tuesday evening, January 25th, at 8 o'clock. STORY OF A WAR SONG.

How the Music was Composed for "We Are Coming Father Abraham."

The man who composed the music for Whittier's song "We Are Coming Father Abraham. Three Hundred Thousand Strong," is an old and somewhat discrepid piano tuner, who carries on his business in this part of Minnesota. His name is A. B. Irving.

One day soon after Lincoln's call for 300,000 more men, Irving, then a young man, was on his way to Defiance, Ohio, from Fort Wayne, for the purpose of singing at a political and loyal meeting. He had considerable reputation as a composer and singer, and the Republicans had asked him to come and help them. On the way he read the poem, which had just been published. Irving studied it, formulated a tune, hummed it and got the rhythm, and that evening at the Defiance meeting he sang the song for the first time. When he had finished and the last echoes had died away men mounted their chairs with wild enthusiasm, swung their hats and broke loose in cheers that rang with feeling. He sang it again and again, and they could scarcely let him rest.

The next night he sang the song at Fort Wayne, and again aroused the same enthusiasm. He wrote out the music and sent it to the publisher who had handled what he had composed, with instructions to publish it on his usual terms of royalty. It was published, and inside of a month more than 40,000 copies had been sold. In a few days the publisher failed and Irving never received a dollar for the music.—Windom, Minn., Reporter.

He Forgot the Instructions.

A Georgia man who had made a flying machine offered a negro $10 to make a trial trip in it.

The negro agreed, got in position, and he and the machine were hoisted by block and tackle about thirty feet from terra firma.

When the rope was loosened the machine took a sudden slanting course toward earth and plunged into an adjacent mill pond.

It disappeared with the negro beneath the water, while the terrified inventor stood shrieking for assistance.

Presently the negro's head bobbed up serenely, and he struck out for dry land. On arriving his first spluttered words were:

"Marse John, why didn't you tell dat fool thing whar ter light?"—Atlanta Constitution.

Gorman May Elect Shaw To-Day.

Baltimore, Jan. 24.—The tip was given to-night that a Senator to succeed Mr. Gorman will be elected at Annapolis to-day. It is said that Major Shaw will be elected by the Democrats voting in bulk with the eleven bolting Republicans of Baltimore City. It will require fifty-seven votes to elect, and a few of the forty-six Democrats may refuse to vote for a Republican, but it is believed Mr. Gorman can control a sufficient number to elect Major Shaw.

THE GIANT SQUID.

A Marine Monstrosity Which Lives in the Deeper Seas.

There is a monster in the North Atlantic waters which would well nigh depopulate of summer residents any seaside resort if it should turn up off short. It is not semi-mythical, like the sea serpent, but a marine creature well known to science. At the same time, it has been known at all only recently, which seems strange in view of the fact that it is the largest animal in existence, having a length, when full grown, of not less than 150 feet.

Such is the calamary, or giant squid—a monster so enormous and so incredibly ferocious that the scientific date respecting it might well furnishing material for a child-haunting nursery tale, without any addition from the imagination. It has remained, until recently, almost unknown, by reason of its habit of dwelling in the deeper seas. Thus the stories told about it have been received with incredulity. But now and then a specimen of this strange and fearful genus does approach the land. An instance occurred on October 26, 1873, when two fishermen were out in a small boat near the east of Belle Isle, in Conception Bay, Newfoundland.

They saw a strange object floating on the water, and struck it with a gaff. Instantly the animal—for such it was—shot out two immense arms over the boat, trying to seize its assailants. One of the men, Theophilus Picot, cut off both arms with an axe whereupon the creature moved off rapidly, darkening the water as it went with an inky fluid. A piece of tentacle severed by the axe was obtained from the fishermen and presented to Yale College, where it is now preserved. It is seventeen feet long and one foot in diameter. From careful estimates it is judged that the calamary to which it belonged must have a body ten feet long, with tentacles thirty-two feet in length.

A giant squid of almost equal size was stranded on the north shore of Trinity Bay, Newfoundland. The United States National Museum secured a cast of it in papier mache which now hangs from the roof of that institution, in Washington. Carefully painted it looks just as the animal did in life. Of course it was but a baby, its total length being only sixty feet, including the tentacles. The huge greenish eyes, each a foot in diameter had to be made expressly for the paper pulp monster. The giant calamary has eyes larger by far than any other existing animal. They are bigger, than the largest dinner plates and are doubtless intended for seeing in the depths where light is scanty.

Figure to yourself a pulpy animal, weighing about 5 tons, with a body length of 50 feet. Provide it with eight tentacles, 30 feet long, which are used for carrying prey to the mouth. Furnish it with two additional tentacles 100 feet in length for purposes of attack. Don't forget the greenish eyes bigger than dinner plates. Give the creature a gigantic siphon, with which it propels itself backward by expelling water from its body. Furnish it with a bag full of inky fluid, by means of which it is enabled to darken the water when frightened. Add a diabolical disposition and an inclination to attack human beings on sight, and you have a fair description of the dreaded giant squid.—R. Bache in Boston Transcript.

DIDN'T WANT CASH.

Wouldn't Rent His Farm Because the Man Wanted to Pay in Advance.

"The Atlanta Constitution" relates a story which illustrates one phase of the negro problem.

A negro rented a farm from a man who had a store, but for everything he needed during the year the renter paid cash.

At the close of the season he had a fine crop on hand and plenty of money in sight. The rent was paid in full, and he solicited another year's lease from his landlord.

"You can't rent from me no more," said the landlord. "I'm done with you for good."

"Didn't I pay you for all I got?" asked the negro, "and ain't I ready to pay you in advance for another year?"

"That's just where the trouble comes in," replied the landlord. "You're too fond of payin' cash. What I want in my business is a nigger that farms on a credit!"

WEALTH AND PLUTOCRACY

AN INTERESTING LECTURE IN THE UNIVERSITY EXTENSION SERIES.

Declares All Social Relations Are Due to Economic Causes—Great Wealth and Luxury Not the Same as Plutocracy.

The third lecture in the University Extension Course being given by Prof. Sumner, of Yale University, in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, attracted a large audience last evening and there was a marked increased interest. The subject was "Aggregations of Wealth and Plutocracy," and the speaker handled it with the same ease and simplicity that has characterized the preceding two lectures. Prof. Sumner spoke somewhat as follows:

"I believe all social relations are due to economic causes. Philosophy always comes along behind economic causes. Great wealth and luxury are not the same as plutocracy. The Cuban question is an economic question. There is a social weakness existing there. It is impossible to take this society of ours and make it over again. Every person has an idea as to how he thinks society ought to be. You can possibly make some slight modification of it.

"We stand today as the product of history. We are carried along with it and can scarcely turn around to criticise it. Years from now people will say the people of New Jersey changed their minds at a certain time on this or that point.

"If we placed a billiard ball on a table and all forces against it were equal, the ball would stand still, but if some of the forces were of different strength there would be a change in the action of the ball. When you make a change you cannot tell what the result will be, however good your intentions may be.

"When you come to give money away so that it will do the most good, it is much harder to earn it, and that is hard enough.

"Tammany Hall is not plutocracy, neither is New York. It is a society where the ruling spirit is wealth. In order to make a plutocracy you must have wealth above the law.

"The power of money over the mind is great. It proves that there are lots of men for sale. Where did you ever hear of a rich man tyranizing a poor man? If such was the case you would find plenty of lawyers and reporters waiting to help the poor man. It is generally that the rich man gets the worst of it.

"The coming crisis, to my mind, will be democracy against plutocracy. You hear all the time about the money power. It is no new thing, for you can trace it back to the colonial days. As the country increases in population the distance between poor and rich widens, and that is what people mean when they say the rich are growing richer, and the poor are growing poorer.

"You hear a great deal about corporations and the Legislature. There is such a thing as a Legislature strike. If we elect a corrupt body, it will act accordingly. Capital has made the modern world. It is powerful in many of the large countries.

"The question is which power is to prevail? Capitalism consists in a union of great talent, men who have great ability to manage great institutions. This union of talent and capital makes it possible for a man to make a million dollars in a lifetime.

"People have got to be inside of organization in order to get the benefits of it. The people that fight organizations are generally cranks and do not work. They are not in sympathy with system and law. It is capital that makes the work go on from the beginning up. We have got to have more capital, which advances our civilization from one step to another. If you place a million men in the field they are only food for powder, until they are organized and have a leader. They are not a power until organized. Political parties are forever preaching organization and harmony. The man who has power to lead and organize can win fabulous sums of money. In Wall street it is diamond cut diamond. People who go into stock gambling must expect to lose as well as win.

"At first sight the department store seems like an error. In early days the grocery store tried to keep everything. Later men changed and differentiated their stock and now they are coming back to first principles.

"The point is to make business as efficient as possible and figure expenses down to a single penny. There are no chances of fighting the department store. Every step of progress causes a destruction of skill. Get on the side of the department store and win with it. It is our master. We do not control it."

Prof. Sumner closed his lecture by giving some simple, helpful facts

EIGHTEEN YEARS WEDDED.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. T. Wilbur Pleasantly Celebrate an Anniversary.

The eighteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. T. Wilbur, of East Front street, was celebrated last evening in a pleasant manner by the bride and groom, who gave a progressive whist party to a few of their intimate friends. It has always been the custom each year for Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur to celebrate in a similar manner, and the event of last evening was complete in every particular.

Mrs. F. S. Cutter and J. M. Bettman were awarded the first prizes for ladies and gentlemen, while Mrs. J. M. Bettman and Charles H. Lyman were presented with the second prizes.

After the games refreshments were served to all and thus the anniversary was made one long to be remembered. Those present included Miss Lou Hamilton, of Woodbridge; Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bettman, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Coddington, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McClintock, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Cutter, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. T. Wilbur, Miss Louise Wilbur, Miss Nettie Chandler and Frank Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur received the hearty congratulations of their friends for many happy returns of the event.

WIND MADE BIRDS WILD.

TRAP SHOOTERS HANDICAPPED BY THE ELEMENTS YESTERDAY.

Union and Hunterdon County Gunners Met at Campbell's Clubhouse, the Former Winning—Scores of the Events.

Handicapped by wind and sun, the trap shooters who gathered at Campbell's clubhouse at Avon Park yesterday afternoon, made no phenomenal scores. Some of the best, in fact, fell far below their usual form. It was the occasion of the return match between the cracks of Union and Hunterdon counties, the first match being shot at Three Bridges. The local sportsmen turned out in goodly array and took part in the two other events that were arranged for their benefit.

Of course the event of the afternoon was the match between the county teams. The first match had been won by the Union county contingent. After a close match they won the second, which was shot yesterday. The wind blew directly across the traps and the birds flew very wild in consequence. Then the shooters had to face the sun, which proved an unfortunate circumstance as far as high scores were concerned.

The match was for a purse of $50 a side, ten live birds each. The scores were as follows:

Union county—Scott Terry, 7; Charles Smith, 6; T. H. Keller, 6; A. Woodruff, 9; total, 28.

Hunterdon county—Hensler, 6; Stout, 4; Case, 7; Milburn, 6; total, 23.

There was one sweepsteak of five birds each, $5 entrance, in which there were ten entries. The scores were as follows: J. Brewer, 5; A. Woodruff, 5; W. Terry, 4; Pea Jay, 4; Laire, 3; S. Terry, 3; Sandford, 2; Hildebrand, 2; Coddington, 2; and Henry, 1. The money was divided in the ties.

The other event of the afternoon was the $2 miss and out, in which there were ten entries. J. Brewer, A. Woodruff and C. Smith killed five each and carried off the money. G. W. Squires acted as official scorer at the shoot.

The next event on the sportsmen's calander is the benefit shoot for Neaf Apgar at Orange Lake, near Newburgh, N. Y., which is to take place tomorrow and Thursday. A party went from Plainfield today to be present at the shoot. The party consisted of Charles Smith, T. H. Keller, G. W. Squires, S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, and A. Woodruff, of Elizabeth.

Harry Campbell, of this city, and Abe Case, of Three Bridges, will shoot a twenty-five bird match for $25 a side at Campbell's clubhouse Tuesday, February 1st.

Progressive Phantom Party.

The members of the class of '98 at the Plainfield High School and a number of their friends were entertained at the home of Miss Ellen Osgood, of Myrtle avenue, Saturday evening, with a "progressive phantom" party. It was arranged on the same lines as a sheet and pillow-case party. The guests were all attired in white and wore masks. After promenading with each other in the effort to guess the identity of the rest, a list of the names was filled out. Miss Laura Osgood and Rhey T. Snodgrass were the most successful in guessing the identity of the phantoms. The rest of the evening was spent in playing games.

—Friday evening of this week the young people of Grace M. E. church will give an entertainment in the church. The entertainment will be called "Popular Ads in Tableau."

FOR COUNTY OWNERSHIP

FRANK BERGEN TALKS TROLLEY TO WESTFIELD'S CITIZENS.

A Large Audience Gathered in Westfield Club Hall to Listen to Elizabeth Man's Facts and Figures—Mr. Serrell Objected.

The citizens of Westfield turned out in force last evening to hear Frank Bergen explain his county boulevard plan. The meeting was held under Mr. Bergen's auspices in the Westfield Club Hall, and his remarks were illustrated with a stereopticon.

The development of the electric street railway, Mr. Bergen said, was a very recent thing, and the only street in Union county of sufficient width to accommodate a trolley is Broad street, in Elizabeth. The system of county roads in this section has caused valuable improvements in property, and the very benefits which they have caused make them extremely valuable to a railway company seeking a franchise.

The proposition known as the county boulevard scheme contemplates the widening of the present county road between Elizabeth and Plainfield to a width of one hundred feet. If this is ever done it must be done now, as the building and improvement of property now going on along the county road will soon render the charge so expensive as to be impracticable. A trolley upon the county road is inevitable, sooner or later.

All that is behind the present application for a franchise on the part of a private corporation does not appear upon the surface. What seems to be a young corporation is in reality backed and controlled by some of the shrewdest and most successful jugglers of franchise in the United States.

Let the company build the road where it now proposes to and you give them possession of the territory, and public opinion will soon demand that a street railway be constructed upon the county road. The company making this application can afford to construct a street railway on the route now proposed and abandon it hereafter in order to acquire control of the territory.

The company would build a double-track road sooner or later, and they would locate it on the most desirable route through the territory. It would cost the company about $250,000—$200,000 for the road and about $50,000 for the paving. They would run it for a few years and then sell it to another company in which the stockholders of the present company are interested, or they would form an operating company to run the road, or consolidate the present company with some other company, the object being to get some legal excuse to capitalize the franchise and print securities. They would dispose of the road for at least $500,000 in bonds and $1,500,000 in stock of the other company. They might get as much as $750,000 in bonds. The purchasing company would earn the interest on the bonds. The promoters of the deal would set aside enough stock to secure control of the purchasing company and dispose of the rest to their friends and neighbors at 25 cents on the dollar, assuring each one that he is getting in on the ground floor.

There are 612 miles of street railways in this State, single track measurment. Each mile of single track road is capitalized on the average at $130,630, which is nearly eleven times their cost.

In 1896, a dull year, the street railways earned $9,420 for every mile of single track, more than enough to pay the entire cost of construction.

C. H. Denman, of Westfield, made the point that there were many companies in the State with a heavy capitalization which had not yet constructed their tracks, and it was therefore unfair to figure in that amount of capitalization and make it swell the average capitalization of the roads already constructed. Mr. Bergen admitted the point, but thought it would not materially affect his figures.

L. W. Serrell, of this city, appeared and offered some objections to the conclusions drawn by Mr. Bergen. A full expression of his views will be published in tomorrow's Daily Press, as he has written a communication setting them forth at length.

After passing a vote of thanks to Mr. Bergen the meeting adjourned without expressing its favor or disapproval of his scheme.

More Members for the Arcanum.

Two applications for membership were received at the meeting of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, last evening. After the business of the evening was concluded, S. C. Baker gave an exhibition of a gramaphone, also several recitations, and the meeting wound up with a general good time.

A. S. Case, of Three Bridges, visited in Plainfield yesterday.

GUEST OF HIS CRONIES.

CRACKER BARREL CLUB'S BANQUET TO SURROGATE SPENCER.

A Complete Surprise for Mr. Spencer—Presented With a Handsome Cane—After the Dinner a Social Time Was Enjoyed.

Last evening the members of the Cracker Barrel Club tendered a dinner at the Hotel Tuileries to Surrogate Henry Newton Spencer, of Somerset county. About fifteen club members met at Mr. Spencer's store, on Somerset street, and a few of the promoters brought Mr. Spencer's overcoat and invited him to attend the performance at Music Hall. Mr. Spencer was taken completely by surprise, and when the corner of Front and Somerset streets was reached and the party turned up East Front street the guest of honor was completely put out. The party were feasted by Mr. Rand in a royal manner.

After the dinner a smoker and a reception was held in the Cracker Barrel Club rooms, whereat the annual election of officers was held. Thomas Doud was elected president and Albert Runyon was chosen secretary. In particularly well and appropriate remarks A. V. D. Honeyman presented Surrogate Spencer, on behalf of the club, a handsome cane. Mr. Spencer was very much surprised, but responded cheerfully to the spokesman. He was lustily cheered, as was Mr. Honeyman. When the flow of oratory ran wild, former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., jollied the audience in a charming manner. Speeches were also made by former School Commissioner S. B. Joseph, former Councilmen R. M. Fountain and W. C. Smith, the watchdog of the borough treasury, John Allamerica Goodwin, Assessor Cooley, Game and Fish Warden Sebring, Albert Runyon, J. W. A. Bauersachs, Charles McNabb and others.

The surrogate then was forced to bring his fiddle and to the accompaniment of a skilled pianist singing was next in order. The party was beginning to borrow time from the next day when the adjournment came.

President Doud appointed a committee to accompany Mr. Spencer to Somerville today to witness his oath taking before Judge Bartine and his induction into office.

Among the party were A. V. D. Honeyman, Dr. J. H. Cooley, Thomas Doud, Albert Runyon, Elias Allen, R. M. Clark, Charles E. Buell, School Commissioners R. M. Fountain, A. E. Overton; D. R. Weaver, W. C. Smith, B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Chas. McNabb, John Worth, Game and Fish Warden C. P. Sebring, ex Freeholder Andrew Lutkins, Geo. Bonnell and D. J. Carney.

The following letter was received from Senator Reed and read by Mr. Doud:

Thos. Doud, Esq:

My Dear Sir—I regret exceedingly that it is impossible for me to be present in person tonight, as I am compelled to be in Trenton. The Legislature meets and I have committee meetings at which persons from a distance are to be heard. Therefore, I must be present. Please explain my absence and say to Mr. Spencer and all present that I am with them in spirit and that none of them take greater pleasure in the welfare of our new Surrogate than I do. I sincerely trust he may enjoy a successful term, and I take pleasure in nominating now for Surrogate in 1902, our friend and fellow townsman, Henry N. Spencer.

Truly yours,

(Signed) Chas. A. Reed

SOMERVILLE GIVES A FRANCHISE

New York and Philadelphia Traction Expects to Build to New Brunswick.

The New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, which has been endeavoring for several months to down its adversary, the Brunswick Traction Company, in a fight for the right of way through Somerville and Raritan, won a victory last night by obtaining in Somerville a franchise to build a road through the main street.

This company will begin to build its line through Somerville and connect with its line already laid on the Bridgewater turnpike as soon as the weather permits. The Traction Company has been required to deposit $7,000 with the Town Commissioners as a guarantee, and will pay the town a yearly rental averaging $250 for ten years, after which it will pay 3 per cent. of its gross receipts.

Christianity and Character.

The members of the Men's Mutual Improvement Society of Hope chapel held their regular meeting last evening. A very interesting paper was read by Harry Holland, the subject being, "What is the Relation Between Christianity and Character." After the reading of the paper the subject was thrown open for debate, when a lively and interesting discussion followed.

Postmasters Appointed.

David B. Ashley, at Port Republic, and William H. Manning, at South Plainfield, were appointed fourth-class postmasters yesterday.

SURROGATE SPENCER SWORN IN.

The North Plainfielder Inducted Into Office in an Auspicious Manner.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Jan. 25th.—Surrogate-elect H. N. Spencer, of North Plainfield, was sworn into office this morning at 10 o'clock in the County Clerk's office by Judge Bartine. The members of the "Cracker Barrel Club" present to witness the exercises were A. V. D. Honeyman, W. C. Smith, A. E. Overton, Albert Runyon, Jacob Voehl, Andrew Lutkins, Thos. Doud, County Clerk Somers, ex-Sheriff Dilts, of Somerville; Editor Mason, of Bound Brook; E. B. Rogers and Mr. Cooper, of Millstone, were also present.

Surrogate Spencer signed his name to the necessary document with the pen that was presented by Mr. Honeyman, and which came from Moscow.

Mr. Spencer's bondsmen are Jacob Voehl and W. C. Smith, of North Plainfield.

Following the swearing into office a banquet was tendered to Mr. Spencer at Fury's Hotel.

Mr Spencer has entered at once upon the duties of his office and today a very large estate came into court for settlement. It is the Elmendorf estate of Millstone.

BARKED A FIRE ALARM.

FAITHFUL DOG NOTIFIED HIS MASTER OF THE PRESENCE OF FIRE.

The Barn on the Property Occupied by O. F. Pearson Gutted by Fire Which Was Intense on Account of Paint and Oil.

The barn on the property occupied by O. F. Pearson, the painter, at 918 East Front street, was almost consumed by fire shortly before 12:15 this morning. The origin of the fire is a mystery. For some time past Mr. Pearson has been troubled with chicken thieves, and has kept a watchdog chained near his barn.

Late last evening the incessant barking of the dog awakened Mr. Pearson, who, upon looking out of his window, saw that his barn was on fire. He hurriedly put on a few clothes and ran to the home of Theodore French, close by, and securing his fire alarm key sent in an alarm from Box 18.

He went back to his barn to attempt to rescue his horse, cow, wagons, etc. He succeeded in getting the livestock out and some other few things.

Considering the distance, the department arrived in exceeding quick time, and two lines of hose were laid. The chemical engine was not used. By the time the apparatus and firemen arrived the barn was one mass of flames. Stored away in the barn was a large quantity of oils and paints, and this inflammable material made a very hot fire. The firemen directed their energies to the portion of the building where the paints and oils were located, and after a great deal of hard work they succeeded in subduing the flames. The interior of the building was entirely burned out, but the outside part was left intact. To one passing the place now it would scarcely be known that a fire occurred.

The building and contents were covered by insurance, but Mr. Pearson is not yet able to determine his loss or the amount of his insurance.

The firemen deserve great credit for the good work accomplished, as they succeeded in saving the house from destruction after much difficulty. The firemen say that the fire was a hard one to fight.

Residential Changes

Isaac N. Enyard, formerly of this city, but now of Brooklyn, has purchased through the real estate agency of E. C. Mulford & Son., of North avenue, the W. H. Moore house on Sandford avenue, and will take possession about February 15th. Through the same agency H. Aikenhead, of Brooklyn, has rented Dr. Jenkins' house, 929 Watchung avenue, and will take possession March 15th. F. J. Rowley, the Somerset street druggist, has rented A. J. Winckler's house corner of Sycamore and Mercer avenues, and will move March 1st. J. A. Layton, of Grove street, has rented Mrs. Harriott's house on East Second street and will move April 1st.

Officials Not to Blame.

In regard to the building of the sidewalk on Somerset street in North Plainfield township and the offer of Mr. Wilson to furnish stone for the same, it should be noted that the Township Committee is not expected to build sidewalks. The reason that the Township Committee declined the offer of Mr. Wilson was that they deemed that they needed every cent of their appropriation to look after the roads of the township and keep them in anything like good condition.

Dr. and Mrs. Hoag, of New York, were the guests over Sunday of A. W. Haviland of Rockview avenue.

MARITAL WOES IN COURT

HENRY V. COREY MUST PAY HIS WIFE $5 A WEEK FOR SUPPORT.

No Defense Made—Louis Fulton Accused of Non-Support, but He Had a Creditable Story and the Jury Released Him.

Two wives, one who claims to have been deserted by her husband, and the other that her husband drove her from home, appealed to the overseer of the poor, who, in turn, complained to the City Judge. The two trials, the results of the complaints lodged in the City Court, were held before City Judge DeMeza yesterday afternoon in the Council chambers.

The first trial was that of Henry V. Corey. The charge was non-support. He pleaded not guilty to the charge. He was represented in the case by Lawyer William Newcorn, who raised an objection to the trial on the ground that it was out of the jurisdiction of the court as Mr. and Mrs. Corey had lived in North Plainfield when it was alleged that he deserted her. The Judge would not sustain the objection as Corey now lived in Plainfield and therefore came under the jurisdiction of the Plainfield court.

S. S. Swackhamer was the lawyer for Mrs. Corey. She was the only witness sworn. She told her story, the substance of which was that her husband had left her and now paid nothing to her support. No defense was made. The Judge declared Corey guilty according to the evidence and placed him under $200 bond to pay his wife $5 a week. An appeal bond to the County Court of Common Pleas was filed at once.

The other non support case was that brought against Louis Fulton. He was charged by the overseer of the poor with refusing to support his wife. The case was tried before City Judge DeMeza and a twelve men jury. The jury was composed of Chas. Herring, John Ross, Olaf Saugstad, L. S. Pocock, John Ammon, John R. Hartpence, David Pope, Wm. Robinson, Matthew Coon, James Donohue, Wm. Sullivan and James Nolan. Fulton was represented by Codington & Swackhamer, while Mrs. Fulton's attorney was Wm. Newcorn.

The testimony of the prosecution, which was conducted by Lawyer Newcorn, was to the effect that Fulton, who lives on West Seventh street, had not treated his wife kindly and that she had not been given the usual privileges in the home. It was alleged that he had finally told her to leave the place and given her ten cents with which to depart.

The defence included as witnesses the members of the Fulton family and a frequent guest, a young woman from New York. They all testified that Mrs. Fulton had been treated as one of the family, that she had never, except on her own accord, been left out of family affairs and that she left of her own wishes. Lawyer Newcorn tried to show in cross-examination that Mr. Fulton had been showing undue attention to the friend. Rev. W. C. O'Donnell and Adam Neuman were both put on the stand to testify as to the good character of the accused.

After a strong summing up by both sides, the jury retired to bring in a verdict of not guilty without much delay.

CAKE THAT TOLD FORTUNES.

Felicitous Time Enjoyed by the Fifteen Guests at Mrs. DuBois.

A surprise was tendered to Miss Anna A. Manktelow last evening by her fellow-boarders at Mrs. E. F. DuBois' on Park avenue, in honor of her birthday. At the close of the regular dinner a large cake was brought in decorated with fifteen lighted candles, one for each of the boarders. In the cake was a ring, a thimble and a dime. The ring was supposed to go to the one who was to be married first and was taken by Mrs J. P. Laire. Dr. Knott received the thimble, which was supposed to go to the confirmed bachelor or old maid. The dime, a sign of great wealth, went to Mr. Wilson.

Bev. Floyd Appleton made a charming speech to Miss Manktelow appropriate to the occasion and a suitable reply was given. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way, interspersed with vocal and instrumental selections.

Agreeably Surprised.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vetterlein, of Duer street, were very agreeably surprised last evening when a large number of their intimate friends called at their home to spend the evening. The host and hostess were wholly unaware of the intended visit and it was sometime before they overcame their surprised feelings. The guests at once joined in making a merry time for their host and hostess as well as themselves. Sociability was the feature of the evening, and at a late hour refreshments were served in abundance.

ORDERED TO HAVANA

Administration Sends the Battleship Maine to Cuba.

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The Navy Department Officials, However, Say There Has Been No Disturbing News ---A Resumption of Communication--- Excitement in Key West.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The United States battleship Maine has been ordered to Havana.

It is said at the Navy Department that no disturbing news has been received from there, but that the movement is rather in the line of a resumption of the intercourse of our naval vessels, the same as prevailed prior to their withdrawal on account of the outbreak of hostilities.

A SENSATION IN WASHINGTON

Senators Generally Approve the Action, Although Ignorant of Its Cause.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The news that the Maine had started for Cuba created a tremendous sensation at the Capitol. Members of Congress did not know the fact officially from the Department, but were informed by press reports. At first there was a general reluctance to talk on the subject, for many doubted the truth of the report until it was known that the orders to the battleship had been officially promulgated.

Chairman Hitt, of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, expressed genuine surprise when told of the news. He said he had no intimation of the order. Senator Davis, chairman of the Senate Committee of Foreign Relations, said:

"I have been expecting this for some time. Everything has been tending that way. I do not know the cause of the ordering of the vessel to Havana, but it must be a good one, or it would not have been done. The Committee on Foreign Relations has nothing to do with it. We have had no meeting on this subject, and I do not expect to call a meeting of the committee. I cannot tell what will happen later, but I do not expect anything serious. We have had no message from the President relating to the matter."

Senator Foraker, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he he hard the news: "I am glad of it. It ought to have been done long ago. We ought to send all our fleet there."

Senator Lodge expressed surprise at the news, but like the rest of the members of the Foreign Relations Committee declared he had expected some such move any time.

While there was suppressed excitement among the Senators on the floor, nothing was done, because the news had not been laid officially before the Senate, and no one knew if the President would communicate with it. There was a general feeling of satisfaction among the Senators on the floor, and, when questioned, all of them declared that the President had done the best thing possible.

It was stated that the presence of a battleship in Havana harbor was evidently the result of a direct request from General Lee, who had full authority to call for one or more vessels, as he saw fit. It is also stated that the Maine's presence will do much to relieve the situation in Havana.

In the House the news was not so generally known as in the Senate. General Grosvenor was the only member who acknowledged that he had known anything of the intended order. He said he had a hint that something would happen. "It is the beginning of the end," he stated. "I think now something will drop."

The members of the Foreign Affairs Committee were entirely without information and did not care to discuss the order. Like Chairman Hitt, they only expressed surprise and did not care to be quoted.

The Senators' Pleased.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations received news that the Maine had been ordered to Havana with evident satisfaction.

Senator Frye said that the action was eminently satisfactory to him. Senator Gray said it was very proper to have a war ship in Havana for the protection of American interests. Senator Morgan said that Germany had shown the United States the way by sending her war ships to Havana and was evidently badgering this government in the matter.

Senator Foraker was particularly pleased to hear the news. He said he wished the Texas and the other vessels of the squadron would be ordered to follow the Maine. Senator Cullom said: "I am glad to hear it. I hope the Maine will be followed by other vessels."

Senator Teller said he would like to see the harbor of Havana filled with American ships.

WHAT SECRETARY LONG SAYS.

American Vessels to Resume Their Friendly Calls at Cuban Ports.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Secretary of the Navy Long was seen concerning the rumors in regard to the movements of the ships. He said:

"So far from there being any foundation for the rumors of trouble at Havana, matters are now in such condition that our vessels are going to resume their friendly calls at Cuban ports and go in and out just as the vessels of other nations do. The Maine will go in a day or two on just such a visit. The department has issued orders for vessels to attend the public celebration in Mobile and the mardi gras at New Orleans, and for the torpedo flotilla to visit Galveston, Tex."

The Spanish Minister, Senor Depuy de Lome, was an early caller at the State Department yesterday, his purpose being to advise with the officials relative to the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty for Cuba.

After his visit Assistant Secretary Day reported at the White House, and there was a notable gathering around the President, including Secretary Long, of the Navy; Attorney-General McKenna and Gen. Miles, the commanding general of the army. All callers were denied access to the President's room.

The conference lasted for nearly an hour, and when it broke up it was with every evidence of confidence in the outlook. Secretary Long was intrusted with the duty of making a public statement concerning the Maine s orders, which he did as given above.

At the Spanish Legation nothing was known of the order for the Maine to proceed to Havana. Minister De Lome said that even in case it were true, that it portended nothing serious. It was perfectly in accord with usage for war ships of two friendly powers to enter and leave each other's ports, the war ships of Spain had visited American ports on complimentary missions three times in as many years, and if there had not been an American war ship in Havana in the same length of time it was merely because the United States Government had not seen fit to order one there.

As to the possible consequences of the Maine's appearing at Havana at this time, the Minister expressed himself as not at all uneasy. There was no doubt, he said, of the conservative behavior of the loyal Spanish population in Havana and elsewhere, and the only remote contingency which might lead to unpelasant consequences was some overt act on the part of the insurgent sympathizers committed with a hope of embroiling Spain and the United States in just such an incident as happened with the Baltimore's crew during the insurrection in Chili.

EXCITEMENT IN KEY WEST.

An Alarming Telegram from Havana Relative to Anti-American Circulars.

Key West, Fla., Jan. 25.—There has been much excitement in this city during the past twenty-four hours, due to an alarming telegram from Havana stating that the streets had been flooded with an anonymous ultra-Spanish circular calling upon all anti-American elements to mobilize and raid the American colony. Captain-General Blanco, fearful that the rabid element of the city might attempt such violence, has placed an extra military guard around Consul-General Lee's residence. Many of the Americans in the city who believe they are in danger prepared their affairs for any emergency. This news is what gave rise to the rumor that General Lee had been assassinated.

The feeling of uneasiness here has been much allayed since Admiral Sicard's imposing fleet of battleships, consistng of the New York, Indiana, Massachusetts, Iowa and Texas arrived off the bar. The Maine, Montgomery and Detroit, and the torpedo boats Cushing and Dupont have joined the fleet, the whole making an impressively formidable appearance.

MORE RIOTING IN ALGIERS.

The Governor-General Himself Put in Peril by the Mob.

Algiers, Algeria, Jan. 25.—Further rioting occurred here yesterday when it was learned that a Hebrew had stabbed a Spaniard. A mob gathered, attacked and looted the Hebrew stores. Gov.-Gen. Lepine personally intervened in order to induce the rioters to desist from further disorderly conduct.

In his efforts to restore order, the Governor-General narrowly escaped a chair which was thrown at him from a store. At the head of six Zouaves, with fixed bayonets, the Governor-General, preceded by military drummers, traversed the streets, appealing for quiet. He was followed by a mob of about 3,000 people, who shouted, "Down with the Jews," "Resign," intermingled with a few cries of "Vive la Gouverneur-General."

The Governor-General finally retired to the Winter Palace, escorted by detachments of police and Zouaves.

One Hundred Jews Massacred.

Paris, Jan. 25.—M. Jaures, one of the Socialist leaders in the Chamber of Deputies, has received a dispatch from Algiers saying that riots of a most serious character have occurred there. The houses of Jews and others have been pillaged and 100 Jews have been massacred, while many others are badly injured.

Paris, Jan. 25.—A dispatch received from Algiers late last night says that at 11 o'clock perfect tranquility prevailed there. The streets had been cleared and were held by troops. Altogether 300 arrests of rioters have been made, and 100 persons are to be put on trial to-day.

Bonal Tells of Another Killing.

Bridgeport, Conn., Jan. 25.—Charles Bonal, the slayer of Marcus Nichols, confessed yesterday that he was also accessory to the murder of John Bohner. The confession clears up another Connecticut murder mystery. John Bohner, an aged German recluse, was murdered in his hut near Booth's Hill, about a mile from the scene of the Marcus Nichols murder in Trumbull township, on February 6, 1897.

Yesterday, Bonal, from his prison cell in Wethersfield, made a full confession of the crime, and implicated David Weeks. Bonal is to be hanged April 14 for the Nichols murder, and Weeks is in prison awaiting trial for the same offense. Weeks last night denied all knowledge of the Bohner murder, and said Bonal, knowing he must die, wants to drag him (Weeks) to the gallows with him.

The President Guest of the McKennas.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The President and Mrs. McKinley were entertained at dinner last night by the new Justice of the Supreme Court and Mrs. McKenna. The host went back to his character of Attorney-General for the occasion, as the invitations for the dinner were sent out when he held that position. The table was set prettily with Bohemian glass and handsome silver hyacinths and roses forming the decoration. Mrs. McKenna wore a gown of lavender brocade, trimmed with point lace. Besides the guests of honor those present were the Secretary of State and Mrs. Sherman, the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Gage, the Postmaster-General and Mrs. Gary, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Long, and the Secretary of Agriculture and Miss Wilson.

Uncle Sam's Big Order for Powder.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 25.—It became known here yesterday afternoon that the famous powder firm of Dupont de Nemours, whose works are located on the Brandywine, near this city, yesterday received an order from Secretary of the Navy calling for ten million pounds of smokeless powder.

KLONDIKE WILDCAT SCHEMES.

Public Should Not Be Deceived---Prediction of Next Year's Output.

Juneau, Alaska, Jan. 20., via Seattle, Wash., Jan. 25.—Edward J. Livernash, one of the committee of three appointed by the Miners' Association to go to Ottawa to endeavor to secure a modification of the mining laws, passed through this city yesterday. He said this winter's gold output would not exceed $6,000,000. In answer to the question whether any new strikes had been made, he said:

None. Next to nothing is known of the Klondike beyond what was known last spring. The public should be wary of rosy reports of marvelous finds. The Klondike has wildcat schemes as well as gold mines."

Fred Stevens, formerly of Juneau, has just arrived from Dawson, accompanied by his partner, James H. Dougherty, familiarly called "Nigger Jim." They have a number of valuable claims on Bonanza Creek. They will go to New York, where, it is said, they have been offered $400,000 for their properties. Stevens estimates that next year's output of gold at $20,000,000. He said that since the two safes of the Alaska Commercial Company had been filled with dust, the company is packing the dust in wooden boxes which hold about 150 pounds each.

Rush Has Begun Early.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 25.—The steamer Oregon has sailed for Alaska with 450 passengers and 1,250 tons of general merchandise and baggage. Fifty head of live stock are also part of the cargo. Three hundred persons who applied for passage were refused, and hundreds of tons of freight are lying on the docks awaiting transportation to the gold fields. The rush to the Yukon from every port in the Southwest has begun earlier than was anticipated by the transportation companies, and every steamer that leaves is compelled to refuse both passengers and freight. The demand for lumber in Alaska is enormous, but steamships refuse to carry it, preferring to take less bulky freight and leaving the lumber for sailing vessels.

Twenty-five Woman Passengers.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 25.—The steam schooner Noye sailed for Alaska carrying 180 passengers and 175 tons of freight. Among the passengers were twenty-five women.

Track Around the Rapids.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 25.—M. S. McConley, who has just returned from Alaska, has under construction a steel tramway around the Canon and White Horse Rapids. He is building four tracks, and, by the time the river opens, he says, he will be able to handle 500 tons of freight daily, taking boats and all.

TO INVADE KLONDIKE.

Large Party of Fortune Hunters from Connecticut Leave for Gold Region.

New York, Jan. 25.—The largest expedition of fortune-hunters ever to leave this city for the Klondike, and the first to undertake the journey by the overland route, started from the Grand Central Depot last night. The expedition was made up largely of young men from the cities and large towns of Connecticut, and is known as the Connecticut-Alaska Mining Company. It is headed by Henry M. Talbot, a gray-haired mining expert, whose experience runs as far back as 1859. The party numbered about 75, and included several New Yorkers.

The party expects to reach Seattle next Saturday. After a stay of a week they will board the schooner Moonlight on Feb. 4 for Copper River. The Moonlight will remain at anchor and will be used as a base of supplies for the party.

The operations of the company are to be conducted on the co-operative plan. Each member has contributed an equal amount, and all hands will share equally in the proceeds. They expect to come home within two or three years with unlimited wealth.

The Maryland Senatorship.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 25.—The ninth ballot for United States Senator, taken yesterday, resulted as follows: McComas, 49; Gorman, 42; Findlay, 2; Shaw, 17. An adjournment was taken after one ballot until to-day. During the joint convention, Delegates Wert and Wilkinson made speeches clearly indicating the purpose of the Democrats to vote for some Republican other than Judge McComas when the proper time arrives. Senator Scott has called a Republican caucus.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Republicans are watching the contest going on in Maryland with much solicitude, and are fearful lest the deadlock may continue the entire length of the session of the Legislature, which would give Gorman an opportunity to succeed himself. Several Maryland politicians in Washington express the opinion that the end will come this week. Most of them predict the election of Judge McComas, who is regarded as the Administration candidate.

Mr. Gladstone's Condition.

London, Jan. 25.—The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Our latest information in regard to Mr. Gladstone's condition is that it continues to be most grave. There has been no improvement since our announcement of Wednesday. We say this in spite of all statements to the contrary, and with a full sense of our responsibility in doing so."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

W. K. Dwight, of Rockview avenue, returned to his studies at Princeton yesterday after a short stay at home.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Herbert Schutt, of Duer street, has been appointed special agent for the Prudential Insurance Company for Plainfield and vicinity.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896 The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

SHOTS FOR CLEVELAND

Senator Morgan Gives His Opinion of the Ex-President.

HAWAIIAN RECORD SCORED

Says Cleveland is Quite Capable of Double Dealing---Teller Resolution, Making Gold or Silver Optional, Argued in the Senate by Mr. Turpie.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Mr. Morgan, of personal statement in reference to Alabama, gave notice yesterday that he would ask permission to make a personal statement in reference to what he conceived to be an attack made upon his veracity and character by ex-President of the United States Cleveland. He said that he wanted to set himself right and do himself justice on that subject.

Mr. Teller's concurrent resolution declaring United States bonds payable either in gold or silver at the option of the Government, was taken up and Mr. Turpie (Dem., Ind.) made an argument in its support.

He thought it not only in derogation of the national honor, but in affirmance of the public faith, that the two houses should declare, and repeat the declaration, that United States bonds were payable in "coin," not in "gold," and that the free coinage of standard silver dollars should be favored.

He said that he would vote for it, and that he thought its introduction timely and opportune, especially when Congress was confronted with a measure purposing to increase the national debt by $300,000,000 or $400,00,0000 by retiring Treasury notes and funding them into national bonds.

The subject of Senator Morgan's personal statement was ex-President Cleveland's published statement, saying that he had at any time contemplated the restoration of the Hawaiian monarchy. The Senator was chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations during the Cleveland Administration, and he is well posted as to its acts and intentions.

Mr. Morgan, risng to a personal explanation, read from a Washington newspaper a denial by ex-President Cleveland of his (Mr. Morgan's) reported assertion in the legislative session that Mr. Cleveland was in favor of the annexation of Hawaii.

One paragraph in Mr. Cleveland's denial is in these words: "Any one who knows me or anything connected with my Administration is well aware that I always opposed the annexation of Hawaii. I have been utterly and constantly opposed to it." After criticising the want of courtesy in Mr. Cleveland's making this statement without calling the matter to his attention, Mr. Morgan said, in reference to that explicit denial, "I do not believe that is true."

He accused Cleveland of "intrigue and duplicity, without reason or excuse," in connection with the mission of Mr. Blount to Hawaii, and he read at great length from Minister Willis' dispatches to the State Department, detailing interviews with the Queen in Honolulu, in which she expressed her intention of having the leaders of the insurrection punished by decapitation and confiscation of property.

Mr. Morgan said he believed that ex-President Cleveland was quite capable of entertaining one purpose and declaring another; of attempting to restore the monarchy while expressing friendship for the republic.

CLEVELAND DENIES THE STORY.

He Regards the Annexation of Hawaii as a Perversion of Our National Policy.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 25.—"It is one of the strangest things of these strange times that my position upon the Hawaiian question should be misunderstood." That is the way ex-President Grover Cleveland expressed himself when shown the statement of Senator Morgan in the Senate yesterday relative to his position.

In order that there could be no misunderstanding of his position on the part of the public, he authorized the following statement:

"I do not believe in discussing matters of this kind as a private citizen. I do not care, however, to be misrepresented. I will therefore say that ever since the question of Hawaiian annexation was presented I have been utterly and constantly opposed to it.

"The first thing I did after my inauguration in March, 1893, was to recall from the Federal Senate an annexation treaty then pending before that body. I regarded and still regard the proposed annexation of these islands as not only opposed to our national policy, but as a perversion of our national mission. The mission of our nation is to build up and make a greater country out of what we already have, instead of annexing islands.

"In regard to the Cuban question my position was fully made known to Congress in the various messages in which the subject was discussed. I was opposed to the recognition of the belligerency of the island, and my position was perfectly well known. Indeed, so very unmistakable were my views on the subject that I was time and again threatened by frenzied men and women with dire calamities to be visited upon myself and children because of what they saw fit to assert as my enmity to the Cuban cause.

"My position on all the questions was made perfectly clear in the official documents of the time, and there can be no possible mistake.

"It is very difficult for me to understand Senator Morgan's evidently wrong impressions in regard to my position. Indeed, it is one of the strangest things of these strangest times that my position in these matters should be called in question."

Dole's Reception in Washington.

Washington, Jan. 25.—President Dole is expected here to-morrow, and all arrangements for his reception have been completed. He will stop at the Arlington Hotel, and will be escorted from the depot by a detachment of United States troops from Fort Meyer. Saturday night the Hawaiian President will be the guest at the White House of President and Mrs. McKinley. The future plans of the Hawaiian ruler are not known, but if the vote in the Senate is long delayed, it is not thought he will remain in Washington until action is had.

NEW JERSEY INDEBTEDNESS.

A close study of the returns reported in the State Comptroller's report, now at hand, discloses some interesting information. The larger cities naturally show the heaviest indebtedness, although when comparison is made with the assessed valuation, some of the smaller municipalities show quite as great disposition to run into debt. The two cities with proportionately the greatest debt are Elizabeth and Rahway. Each owes a fraction less than 20 per cent. of its assessed valuation. Jersey City's indebtedness runs up to a little more than 18 per cent. of its ratables, while Newark owes less than 9 per cent. The debt of Orange is more than 15 per cent. of the assessed valuation of its taxable property. The net municipal debt of Plainfield is $158,306.32, while the assessed valuation is $7,697,000. Plainfield is the thirteenth city in the State in rate of assessed valuation. The assessed valuation of North Plainfield is $2,500,000, but it has no bonded indebtedness.

The annual statement of the Dime Savings Institution shows it to be one of the most prosperous and stable financial institutions in the State. The amount due depositors and the surplus reaches almost to a half million dollars. The securities, as can be seen by glancing at the annual statement printed in The Press, are all gilt-edged.

THEATRICAL.

An audience that tested the capacity of Music Hall last night witnessed one of the best productions of popular priced shows ever seen in Plainfield. The attraction was Corse Payton's company, with "Woman Against Woman" for the initial performance of the week. The scenic settings were much finer than are usually carried by high-priced companies, while the acting talent was such that even the critic could find few faults and joined enthusiastically with the major portion of the audience in the liberal applause bestowed upon the actors. Miss Hamilton was fully capable to the requirements of her role and in it she displayed equal talent with Miss Reed, who scored such a success with Payton's company a year ago. The specialties were introduced at opportune points in the play and scored great hits, especially the act of Baby June. Commencing with today, ten-cent matinees will be given the rest of the week.

A great novel necessarily must have in it much dramatic material, but as a rule the effort to reduce a great novel to dramatic form results in failure. Many powerful works of fiction can be satisfying to the appreciative mind only in print. The occasional success of a play taken from a book seems the exception that proves this rule as to dramatization. Hardy's powerful story, "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," however, seems to have been adapted to stage-form with rare fidelity and effect, and more than this, it has furnished a great actress, Mrs. Fiske, with a part that admirably shows her genius.

Monday Afternoon Club Lecture.

In connection with the "plan of work" of the Monday Afternoon Club this winter, a series of lectures by prominent men have been given at the Casino, which has been available to the public for a small fee, and it is to be regretted that they have not been better attended by non-members of the club. Next Monday Mrs. David W. Pond will read a paper on The Netherlands 1584 1618, after which those present will be invited to partake of a Dutch tea. Tickets may be had at the Woman's Exchange and Armstrong's pharmacy.

—The home of Mrs. Wood on Elm place has been quarantined for scarlet fever.

—An illustrated lecture will be given next Friday evening at the First Baptist church by the members of the Christian Endeavor Society. No admission fee will be charged.

—Next Thursday evening, in the Monroe Avenue church, the official board of the church will hold a "Friendship Social." Something very novel is promised and all are invited to attend.

—The name of Lawyer Frank Blatz is mentioned in connection with the office of borough recorder. Mr. Blatz is very popular, and should he secure the nomination he no doubt would be elected.

—A reception will be given to Rev. F. J. Murphy, the recent curate of St. Mary's church, in the hall of the Parochial School tomorrow evening. It was arranged by the parishioners of the church. All are invited to attend.

—A great many people think there is little difference in wall papers. Let them visit the store of Marsh, Ayers & Co., on Park avenue, during the next thirty days. That firm is now holding a special sale of wall paper which will offer many surprises in quality and prices. Notice their ad in another column.

—The officers of the new Calvary Colored Baptist church, of which Rev. Philip S. Gibson is the pastor, held a meeting last night and made arrangements for the organization of a Sunday school in connection with the church. The ladies of the church will meet tonight at the home of the pastor to organize a ladies' sewing society.

—Mrs. Cornelius TenEyck, who is now living with her son, A. W. TenTyck, of Westervelt avenue, met with an accident Sunday night. She was descending a flight of stairs and supposed that she had reached the bottom. Instead there remained several steps. She fell down the latter. No bones were broken but internal injuries are feared.

—A. A. Marsh, painter and decorator, formerly of Marsh, Ayres & Co., has opened an office with Architect Lancaster in the Babcock building, Room 302; take the elevator. He would be pleased to see all of his friends who have any work to be done in his line. Orders can also be left at 967 West Front street. The advertisement appears in another part of the paper.

—H. Kohn, of 218 West Front street, has authorized T. J. Carey to sell all of his valuable stock of furs, jackets, capes and milliners' goods at auction, commencing Thursday, Jan. 27th, at 2 o'clock p. m. and at 7:30 p. m., and continuing every afternoon and evening until the entire stock is closed out, as Mr. Kohn is going out of business. The stock consists of several of the best furs in the market today.

Three Ways

in which you can get a piano from us:

1. You can pay cash for it and thus save the slight additional charge made for time payments. The house that says "No extra charge for installments" is insincere. It HAS a lower price for cash or else it doesn't want to sell except on time.

2. Easy time payments; in most instances a first payment of TEN DOLLARS will secure you a piano at once. Later payments according to your ability.

3. You can rent a new upright of your own choosing as low as $4 per month an if you decide to purchase within a reasonable time, we will allow all the rent you have paid

All three ways are good ways.

ANNUAL INVENTORY SALE

A Wise Loss Is often proof of good business judgment. We consider it wise at this season of the year to offer you the pick of every dollar's worth of surplus stock without regard to its former value, or regard to its cost. Our inventory is close at hand and there are hundreds of items here that you can use to good advantage; every price quoted is a cold fact, every item advertised is just as represented. This sale will last ten days, that will be long enough to reduce stock and quite as long as we care to do business at a loss.

The Dress Goods

We have gone through it and cut prices right and left, we know there will be some empty shelves ten days from now.

Lot No. 1

About 1,000 yards of patterns suitable for skirts and waists, have been 50c to $1 per yard, all go at 37c the yard.

MISS ELIZABETH.

"So Miss Pyser's got to go to the poo farm," said Mrs. Green. "I'm surprise that she's kep' out of it so long."

"Yes," said portly, pompous Mrs Barker, wife of the chairman of the selectmen, "my husband told me this noon that she had applied to the town for help, and of course they can't support her in her own house."

"I said 'twas flying in the face of fate when she took those two children to bring up; one died and t'other ran away, and now she's all alone."

Miss Berry, who sat beside her, looked up from her seam. Her sallow face was a trifle pale.

"You don't mean to say that the Willowdale people are really going to let Elizabeth Pyser go on the town, after all the good she's done?" she asked.

"Why not?" returned Mrs. Barker "It ain't their fault that she's wasted her money. She's shiftless—always givin' something to somebody; and meek as Moses; you'd think she dasn't say her soul's her own; but she's deep!"

"Where are you goin', Miss Berry? Ain't you goin' to stop to tea?"

"No, I guess I'd better be gettin home early to-night; Bessie'll be waitin' for me."

"Now I'll bet Clarindy Berry's gone straight over to the millin'ry store to spread the news; so afraid she won't be the first to tell it. Thank Heaven I know enough to keep things to myself!"

But Miss Berry was not going to the store nor to spread the news; she knew it was unprecedented for her to leave the sewing meeting before tea time; but as she listened to the talk the days of her girlhood rose before her when she and Elizabeth Pyser were "chums," and told each other all their secrets; then came a foolish little quarrel, and they had not exchanged words for twenty years.

She walked straight down the street turned the corner, and without giving herself time to change her mind, entered Miss Pyser's garden and went up the walk bordered with bouncing-bets or "old maid's pinks." When, in answer to her knock, Miss Pyser opened the door, neither knew what to say but straightway fell into each other's arms and began to cry.

The door closed on them. An hour after when Miss Berry left the house to go to her own home, there was a springiness in her step, and a smile playing about the corners of her thin lips, that betokened unusual excitement.

Her pretty niece, Bessie, was about to sit down to her lonely tea when Miss Berry made her appearance.

"Why, auntie! What brings you home so early?" she asked pleasantly

"Oh, I couldn't stand the clatter of those old women. Now you needn't laugh, Bessie Berry; I know I'm no chicken myself; but if I'm as heartless as them I left behind, I hope I'll die before mornin'."

"Well, what's the matter? You seem to be excited."

"No, I ain't! I'm just as calm as you are. But I've been makin' calls this afternoon. I went to see Betty Pyser. I kep' questionin' her till she told me all about how she lost her money in the bank that failed over to Coveton; the man that owned the house, he let her stay in it out of pity; first she earned a little by sewin', but lately folks didn't seem to want any work done, and she just shut herself up there to starve. But human nater got the best of her, and she had to go to the town. She's always been hopin that that good-for-nothin' Johnnie would come home, but she's about give him up now. I asked her how much of the furniture was hers, and kep' a hintin' and a-hintin' 'till I found out everything she could tell me; and I enjoyed every minute."

She paused, out of breath with excitement, and remained for some time in deep thought. Bessie, too, was silent She divined what was passing in her aunt's mind.

"Say, Bessie," said Miss Berry at last, "do you think we could contrive to keep another? I can't bear the thought of having Elizabeth go to the poor farm. There's that back chamber with nothing in it, and she's got her own furniture——"

She looked appealingly at the girl who did not immediately answer. To undertake the care of another meant additional sacrifices, more rigid economy. She sighed a little; life was hard enough for her already. Should she add to her burden? Would she be just to herself in doing so? Then she thought of the days when she and John Pyser were boy and girl lovers, and made wonderful plans of what they would do when they grew up. She had never lost faith in John; some day, if he lived, she knew he would come back to them. A light sprang into her pretty blue eyes, and she met her aunt's look with a smile.

"Miss Elizabeth mustn't go on the town, auntie. There's plenty of room for her here, and we'll drive over this very evening and bring her home."

After her guest had departed, Miss Elizabeth sank on the old lounge that had witnessed so many confidences, and the tears flowed down her thin cheeks She thought she had hardened herself for what the morrow would bring; but now she was just a forlorn old maid crying because she must become the companion of Crazy Jane and Witless Will.

This was her last night in her old home, and she could not swallow the morsel of bread that formed her evening repast, something would rise in her throat and choke her every time she tried.

She gave it up at last, and busied herself about the room that was never out of order, setting things in place for strangers to look at. After this she went all over the house, bidding good by to every familiar object.

Hark! a wagon was rumbling up to the gate; could it be that this last night at home was to be denied her? A loud knock brought her, trembling, to the door. A burly teamster stood there and by his side Miss Berry and Bessie, what could it mean?

"Betty, you are coming home with Bessie and me. Tell us what furniture to take, and let this man get it,' said Miss Berry; and she drew the dumfounded woman aside, and in a few words explained matters.

Almost dazed, Miss Elizabeth sank on the old lounge, while Miss Berry went from room to room, selecting the articles needed. Then Bessie brought the bonnet and shawl that lay ready for the morrow's journey, and together she and Miss Berry led her to her new home.

Could it be possible that the poor-house was a thing of the past? She must be dreaming. By to-morrow surely, she would wake up to the awful reality.

But it was no dream, and the next morning Miss Elizabeth awoke with the feeling that an awful catastrophe had been averted and the sword which had been hanging over her head for so long a time had been prevented from falling by the kind intervention of her old-time friend.

As Bessie had anticipated, the coming of another into the little home circle meant more self-denial for herself New frocks and hats were out of the question; but she ripped and sponged and re-made her winter dress, and her nimble fingers and good taste soon brought out of the ruins of last season's wardrobe a brand new outfit in which she looked as pretty as a pink.

As for the two old friends, they fairly worshipped the girl who was the sunlight of their home. So this happy family dwelt together in peace and harmony, independent of outsiders, until an event happened which broke up the circle.

One day a stranger strode into the town father's office and asked in a voice that commanded instant attention,—

"Where is Miss Elizabeth Pyser?"

The clerk answered that she had become somewhat reduced in circumstances, and had applied to the town for aid; and so—and so——

"And so you sent her to the poor-house! Was there no one in this God-forsaken hole to pay her back a little of the kindness she had always shown others?"

"Yes," the startled young man said "Miss Berry took her in." And he told the stranger where to find her.

It was Miss Elizabeth's turn to be electrified when a prosperous looking man presented himself at Miss Berry's house and inquired if his Aunt Bess lived there.

"I am Elizabeth Pyser, sir," she answered in response to his inquiries.

"Why, auntie, don't you remember Johnnie?" he exclaimed,

Miss Elizabeth had grown very white, and slipped into a lifeless heap on the floor; but joy never kills, and when she discovered it was to realize that her troubles were over, for Johnnie was well-to-do, and able and willing to take care of her for the rest of her days.

The old house was bought back and refurnished, and Johnnie and his aunt settled back into the old life.

"Aunt Bess," said John, one day, in rather a shamefaced manner, "don't you think you ought to have some young person in the house to do the work?"

"O Johnnie!" cried the little woman in fear and trembling. "Don't I please you? I know I'm getting old, but I thought you was used to my ways, and we could get along. I don't want a girl botherin' round."

"But, auntie, the girl I have in mind is a very good one. Perhaps she won't come, but I intend to ask her if you are willing."

"Of course I'll do anything to make you happier, Johnnie, though I don't see how a servant can make home any pleasanter for you. As for me, I should just rust out and die if I didn't have something to do."

The dear old lady was almost in tears.

"Auntie, it isn't exactly a servant I want; it's—in fact——"

Johnnie, really couldn't say the words; he had hardly dared think them as yet; but he crossed the room to Aunt Bess and whispered in her ear.

"Oh, John," she cried delightedly "how stupid of me! It is just the thing! And I never thought of it before!"

Miss Elizabeth was in a flutter of pleasure. She urged her nephew to go at once on his errand.

"I'll sit up till you come home. Won't it be like a story if Bessie becomes your wife?"

"Perhaps she won't have me, Aunt Bess."

"Pshaw! Go along! What's worth having is worth asking for. Have you Of course she will! She's sensible. Bessie is."

Aunt Bess was right. And now the two families are one, and the "old maids" vie with each other in petting and spoiling their grown up children who, in return for the kindness shown them in their youth, make their lives one long happy dream.

THE MOST COSTLY FRUIT.

Hothouse Grapes at $9 a Pound, and Hothouse Peaches at $2.50 Each.

Hothouse grapes are the costliest of fruits. They are never less than 75 cents a pound, and when they are most costly, in February and March, they sell for $9 a pound, sometimes going as high as $10 a pound. At prices ranging up to $2 a pound there is a ready sale for them; at the higher prices they are sold almost exclusively for the use of invalids. There is a sale for all that are produced, but the production at the season of highest prices is small. The cost of production is great, and the vines may die from exhaustion after a single season of forcing.

The next most costly fruit is the hot house peaches. Hot house peaches sell in February at $2.50 each. They are used mainly by invalids, but such peaches are also often sold for gifts. They are presented as flowers or as bonbons would be. Three or four peaches are packed in cotton and set off with a few peach leaves in a handsome box. Hothouse peaches run down to about 60 cents each in April and May, when we begin to get the first of the peaches from the south.—New York Sun.

A BARGAIN SALE IN ENGLAND.

The Eager Hunters Gather at the Doors as Early as 5:45 O'clock.

A bargain sale is a pretty serious business in England. The Newcastle Chronicle recently contained the following item: A remarkable fatality occurred in Mare street, Hackney, on Saturday. A sale at a local draper's was announced to begin in the morning, and a large crowd of women assembled long before the doors were opened. Some were there as early as 5:45 o'clock. Among them was an old lady who succeeded in getting into the shop and fell fainting at a counter while making a small purchase. With the assistance of the police she was got out and a doctor sent for, but life was found to be extinct. The body was removed to the Mortuary. A large force of police was on duty throughout the day to control the crowds, and at intervals it became necessary to close the doors. The excitement did not subside until the place was finally shut up at 11 o'clock on Saturday night. Some persons declared that such scenes were never before witnessed at a sale.

A Little Story with a Big Moral.

Here is a very old story that has been told time and time again, but that will bear telling again:

A man asked his neighbor why he was so careful to save a certain old horseshoe. The neighbor replied:

"I may find the other three shoes."

"And what then?"

"I may then find the horse which cast them?"

"And what will you do then?"

"Why, I will build a stable for him."

"No, you won't. Your horse might kick my children, and so I won't have a stable near my house."

"Yes you will, if I choose to build one."

"No I won't."

"Yes you will."

And then they began to fight like cats and dogs.—Golden Days.

Poor Johnny.

Mr. Briggs.—Tom Rider handed me some tickets for the circus. It'll be an awful bore, but I suppose on Johnny's account we ought to go. He'll be pleased.

Mrs. Briggs—Why there are only two here!

Mr. Briggs—Well, then, that's all he gave us. Umph! Johnny'll have to stay at home then. Too bad.—New York Journal.

Pained.

WIT AND HUMOR.

"Did you tell that young man not to call here any more?" asked Mabel's father, severely.

"N—no."

"Why not?"

"I didn't think that it was necessary. I don't see how he could call any more now. He calls seven times a week."—Washington Star.

Wife—You saw Mrs. Bowser last evening.

Husband—Yes; but not to speak to her.

Wife—What a story! I heard you were sitting with her for more than two hours.

Husband—That's so; but it was she who did the talking.—Up to Date.

Handel Barr—Yes, other things being equal, the larger the wheel the greater the speed.

Little Johnny—Well, then, Pa, why don't the hind wheel of a wagon go faster than the front one?—New York World.

Grocer—Well, little one, what can I do for you?

Jenny—Please, sir, mamma says to change a dollar for her an' she'll give you the dollar to-morrow.—Truth.

Don't Look.

There are some diseases which do not arouse our sympathy; the disease is not deep; and therefore our sympathy is shallow But we very often make a serious mistake—such as calling a backache a light affliction Backache means kidney trouble every time, and if you don't drive it away, it will never go of its own accord, without taking you with it. But it does not continue simply as a backache. Then follows Diabetes or Bright's Disease. Don't you think a backache dangerous? We do, but we must add just a few words and they are: Doan's Kidney Pills cure every time, and all stages of disease, but it is always best to keep as far from the danger line as possible and the cure is easier.

Mr. S. J. Conklin, traveling salesman for a New York Confectionery House, living at 234 West Front street, says. "I have been subject to kidney complaint for six or seven years. My symptoms were pains in the back and hips which at times I felt in my side. I was also troubled with a bladder difficulty accompanied by too frequent action of the secretions, and a very distressing bearing down feeling. The latter trouble annoyed me very much at night and caused more or less loss of sleep. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I have now taken three altogether and am wonderfully improved. I am troubled very little with the backache and the bladder trouble has been greatly benefitted. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplishes all that is claimed for them."

MONETARY COMMISSIONERS.

The National Convention of Currency Reformers to Meet in Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Jan. 25.—The Monetary Convention will be called to order at the Grand Opera House to-day by Hugh H Hanna, chairman of the executive committee. Gov. Leslie M. Shaw, of Iowa, will be permanent chairman

A large number of delegates from the leading commercial boards of trade and of commercial clubs of the United States have arrived and the attendance is far in excess of the meeting of business men which considered the monetary question at Indianapolis last January.

The main work which will come up before this convention is the consideration of the report of the monetary commission which was appointed last September and which held a meeting in Washington in January.

The commission met at the Arlington Hotel on January 3 and submitted a report to the Executive Committee of the Monetary Convention, who had full power to receive the report, present it to Congress and endeavor to secure the adoption of the plan of currency reform which it embodied. The report as a whole was signed by all the members of the commission except Louis A. Garnett, who did not accept the provision relating to metallic currency and certificates issued thereon, and Prof. Laughlin, who disapproved of empowering the Secretary of the Treasury to issue United States notes in the purchase of bonds.

The report of the commission will be thoroughly discussed at this convention. It demands the preservation of the present gold standard and all obligations for the payment of money to be in conformity with this standard. It advises the discontinuance of the coinage of silver dollars except for subsidiary purposes. The commission proposes a department of issue and redemption to be a part of the United States Treasury, which shall have charge of the issue and redemption of notes, certificates and banknotes and the exchange of coin.

The results of the monetary convention now here in session will be received with considerable interest by the Banking Committee of the House of Representatives, as that body in December decided to postpone the consideration of legislation until the report of the Monetary Commission was received.

Reciprocity With Cuba.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Minister Dupuy de Lome has received advices that the Cuban Cabinet, after several days' deliberation, has decided to appoint a delegate to the United States for the purpose of negotiating a new commercial treaty in accordance with the reciprocity feature of the Dingley Tariff law. The delegate will come to the United States within a few days, and the details of the negotiations will be carried on with Special Reciprocity Commissioner Kasson. It is hoped that a successful issue of the contemplated negotiations will have an important bearing in the direction of a compromise between the insurgents and the Spanish Government.

Talmage's Associate Resigns His Place.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Almost simultaneously with the announcement of the marriage of the Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage to his third wife—in fact, on the very day that the marriage of the prominent divine was made public—Dr. Byron Sunderland, who is associated with Dr. Talmage in the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, announced his intention to resign his charge. As Dr. Sunderland has been connected with the church for over forty years and is greatly beloved by his congregation, his proposed resignation, which he made known from the pulpit, caused great surprise and much comment.

Roberts for Director of Mint.

Washington, Jan. 25.—George E. Roberts, of Iowa, was nominated by the President yesterday to be Director of the Mint, vice R. E. Preston, resigned. This appointment was determined so suddenly that it surprised the Iowa Senators. While everything is satisfactory as to Mr. Roberts's ability, there is considerable gossip over the removal of Mr. Preston. It is said that if a place can be provided for the ex-Director he will be appointed in a subordinate capacity. Preston has been in the service for more than twenty-five years.

Appointed Commissioner of Patents.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The President has decided to give the place of Commissioner of Patents, left vacant by the death of Benjamin Butterworth, of Ohio, to New York. Charles H. Duell, of Syracuse, is the successful man, and his appointment was made yesterday. Mr. Duell is a well-known patent attorney, his father having been Commissioner of Patents in the early seventies. Before Major Butterworth was appointed Mr. Duell was strongly pressed for the place.

Germany's Policy in China.

Berlin, Germany, Jan. 25.—The following semi-ojcial announcement was made yesterday: "The statements regarding Germany's intention to open the port of Kiao-Chou to the commerce of the world are practically correct. Germany desires that its policy in China should be of a liberal character, not interfering with the commerce of other nations."

TELLER RESOLUTION

Expected to Bring About a General Financial Debate.

THE HOUSE WILL KILL IT

The Resolution is Likely to Pass the Senate, but by a Smaller Margin Than When It Was Taken Up--Opinions of Sound Money Men.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The agreement of the Senate to vote on Thursday next on the Teller bond resolution is regarded by the sound money members of the House and Senate as a direct challenge on the money question, and it is believed that it will result in a clean-cut fight between the two contending forces. It is obvious that the House will refuse to concur in the action of the Senate. Careful judges of the situation in the Senate declare that the resolution will pass there, but by a much smaller majority than the sixteen votes by which it was taken up last week. The roll call on that occasion was a good deal confused, and it is known that several sound money Democrats and some Western Republicans will vote against the resolution. Senator Aldrich had assurances that if he could get one or two missing votes, some of the doubtful members would join him in killing the resolution. He was not quite able to make up the necessary number, and certain Senators voted for the consideration of the resolution who would have voted the other way if their votes would have turned the scale.

Senator Aldrich has not modified in the least his opinoin that a bill for the unlimited coinage of silver by the United States at the ratio of 16 to 1, cannot pass the Senate. He has a list of forty-five Senators, making a majority of one, who have personally pledged themselves upon the sound money side. The list cannot be disclosed without inviting attacks on some of these Senators, which are not desirable, but it represents the bedrock strength of the sound money members. It does not include certain Senators of both parties, who are for sound money at heart, but have given pledges to vote for free coinage. It is expected that some of the doubtful Senators whom Senator Aldrich has conceded to the silver side will be absent when the roll is called, if a free coinage bill is presented, and the actual majority for sound money will be considerably greater than is positively claimed.

It is expected that the Teller resolution will reach the House soon after its passage by the Senate Thursday, and that it will be referred at once to Committee of Ways and Means, and that committee will report it adversely. Speaker Reed will be strongly urged to permit the resolution to be called up at an early date and to be voted upon in the House. An overwhelming majority for sound money is expected in that body, which will go far to offset the action of the Senate in its effect upon public opinion at home and abroad.

Chairman Dingley does not think it practicable to substitute a complete banking measure and send it back to the Senate with a request for a conference, but this course is being strongly advocated by some of the out-and-out gold standard members of the House. Their fighting blood has been stirred by the action of the Senate, and they declare that the House and the Republican party should speak with no uncertain sound in support of the public credit and the gold standard.

Mr. Updegraff, of Iowa, one of the most uncompromising gold standard members, believes that the House should seize the opportunity to at least substitute for the Senate resolution the declaration of the Monetary Commission, "that all obligations of the United States for the payment of money now existing, or hereafter entered into, shall, unless otherwise expressly provided, be deemed, and held, to be payable in gold coin of the United States." It would be difficult getting the Senate to concur in an amendment of this sort, but the gold standard men believe that the House and the friends of sound money should at least be as outspoken and courageous upon the subject as the narrow margin of free silver extremists in the upper branch.

Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, said: "The Republicans talk about meeting the financial question, yet they ran away from it Thursday. Those men who made millions of dollars out of the result of the last election imagine that the financial question is a dead issue, and that they are safe from any danger of Bryanism or free silver. I hold that it is good politics and good business policy to meet the silver men and assist them in putting the question to the front, for it gives us a chance to reform our broken lines and get together on the St. Louis platform. We know as well as the Democrats do that nothing of a radical nature can be accomplished on the financial question, and if the Democrats desire to make it an issue again, we should welcome the effort."

Didn't Mean to Kill His Chum.

New York, Jan. 25.—William H. Watson, Jr., who Sunday night shot and killed his fellow student, Joseph Miller, in the dormitory of the New York Trade School, was arraigned yesterday in the Yorkville Police Court. He pleaded not guilty and protested that the shooting was accidental. He was held to await the action of the coroner. The coroner is of the opinion that the young men quarreled over two girls, and that William Youtzy, another student, who was present when the killing took place, knows more about the affair than he is willing to tell. Miller was 17 years old, and came from Lewiston, Pa. Watson, who is 21 years old, belongs in Rochester, N. H.

ATHLETIC RECORDS.

Feats Accomplished by Healthy Boys of the High School.

The work of compiling the athletic records of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association has been completed. It was left to a committee composed of the president, Carroll L. Runyon, and the advisory board. A meeting was held and the records of the meets of the association reviewed and the records formulated from them.

While many of the members have done far better than the records, they did not start from scratch in their event and so the record did not count. Some of the records were made as far back as in 1892, at the second meet that the P. H. S. A. A. ever held.

The table of records is as follows:

One-hundred-yard dash — 10½ seconds, Edgar I. Serrell, October 6th, 1894.

Two-hundred-and-twenty-yard dash —22½ seconds, Edgar I. Serrell, October 6th, 1894.

Four-hundred-and-forty-yard run—58 seconds, Edgar I. Serrell, October 6th, 1894.

One mile run — 5 minutes, 46 4 5 seconds, Robert M. Clark, October 21st, 1892.

Two-hundred-and-twenty-yard hurdle (low)—No record.

One-third-mile walk—No record.

Putting the shot—39 feet, 3 inches, George Prector Smith, May 15, 1897.

Throwing the hammer—102 feet, 11 inches, Carroll L. Runyon, May 22, 1897.

Pole vault—9 feet, 6½ inches, George Proctor Smith, May 15, 1897.

Running high jump—5 feet, 9 inches, Ralph Campbell, June 9, 1894.

Running broad jump—17 feet, 10 inches. Ralph Campbell, October 21, 1892.

Standing broad jump—9 feet, 6 inches, John W. Kirkner, Jr., June 9, 1894.

One-third-mile bicycle (competition)—45 seconds, Albert O. Woltmann, June, 1894.

One mile bicycle (competition)—2 minutes, 37 seconds, Thomas A. Cuming, September 5, 1892

Two-mile bicycle (competition)—6 minutes, 15 seconds, Edgar I. Serrell, October 21, 1892.

One-third-mile bicycle (against time) —No record.

One mile bicycle (against time)—2 minutes, 11 seconds, Thos. A. Cuming, August 6, 1893.

Consolidating Committee.

Mayor Wilson, of the borough, today announced the committee appointed by him to meet with the Board of Trade committee to confer about the consolidation of the borough and city into one municipality. They are as follows: Former Mayor William L. Saunders, H. K. Carroll and E. S. Hooley.

ONE POINT TO THE BEST.

PLAINFIELD DEFEATED ELIZABETH AT BASKET BALL.

The Game Played in This City and Witnessed by a Crowd of Enthusiasts—A Hard and Snappy Game—The Line-up.

By the small margin of one point, the Plainfield basket ball players triumphed over the team from the Elizabeth Athletic Club last evening. The game was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium in this city. As an evidence of the popularity of the game, fully three hundred people crowded every available inch of space in the gallery to witness the game.

The reputation of the Elizabeth team had gone before, and everybody expected a close contest, and they were not disappointed. Both teams played a hard, snappy game that bordered on roughness toward the end, as both sides realized that the end was at hand. The team play of the Plainfielders was superior to that of their opponents, but their throwing for goals was below the usual standard.

The first half was well played. The Elizabeth team played a strong defensive game, but the ball was in their territory most of the time. The local players were in excellent form and forced the playing. They made numerous throws at the goal, but managed to make but one goal. The Elizabeth boys tied the score by throwing a goal in the last of the half.

The second half started in happily for the Plainfield contingent. They scored three goals at the start by good team play. Then the visitors warmed up to the contest and the play grew rougher and more exciting. Both sides showed a tendency to hug the ball. There were two goals from the field and one on a foul for the visitors, and another field goal for the Y. M. C. A., making the score 10 to 9 in favor of the home team.

There were two disputed goals, one for each side, but the Elizabeth umpires made a strong protest against the not counting of their goal, although the Plainfield goal was not scored.

The teams lined up as follows:

PLAINFIELD.		ELIZABETH A. C.
E. Moraller	right forward	Wheelright
Long	left forward	Eaiken-Little
Egan	centre	Cook
G. Smith	right guard	H. Smith
M. Moraller	left guard	Little-Hunting

Score, Plainfield, 10; Elizabeth A. C., 9. Goals from the field, Egan (2), E. Moraller (1), Long (2), Eaiken (1), H. Smith (2). Goals on fouls, Cook (1). Fouls, Plainfield, 2; E. A. C., 1. Referee, C. E. A. Heywood, of Plainfield. Umpires, H. Wind and F. Hedges, of Elizabeth. Timekeeper, Charles Burdette Morse, of Plainfield. Scorer, L. I. VanAlstyne, of Plainfield.

TEMPTERS OF JUSTICE.

Unfortunate Victims Who Fell Into the Police Net.

Bridget Coleman and an Italian neighbor had trouble. Bridget had taken a drop or two during the day and her temper was in a rebellious state. It was a question for the City Judge to settle was the reply of the policeman when Bridget asked him what was the matter. She stayed in the jail all night. This morning her temper had declined. The Judge believes in object lessons. He gave her one. It was a fine of $10.

Frederick Durand was said to be drunk and disorderly last night. Durand says it is false. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned before the City Judge, and his trial was set down for Saturday morning.

Robert Angleman is a small boy. Bob is said to be an expert in cutting school. The Judge dismissed him with a reprimand.

Edward Stephenson was arraigned on the charge of quarrelling and fighting in the lunch wagon. He was held under $100 bail for trial Saturday morning. There are others implicated in the trouble and they will appear Saturday.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NEWS.

E. E. Anthony Explains Some of the Arrangements for National Delegates.

Miss Mabel Winton, superintendent of the State Junior Department, in a letter to the junior superintendents speaks of the department work in general and also of the faithful labors of the retired superintendent, Dr. Spooner, as follows:

"It is hardly necessary to inform you how efficiently the junior work has been carried on under the supervision of Dr. Spooner, who has labored so earnestly and faithfully. We must be filled with the Holy Spirit if we are to work among the little ones. Urge the juniors to work for the missionary banner and, above all, be sincere in the work, praying that many may be led to accept Christ in the coming year."

E. E. Anthony, chairman of the State transportation committee, speaking of the convention arrangements, in a letter to the societies, says in part:

"At Nashville we have secured a number of the best rooms at the Tulane Hotel, (all outside rooms), rate $2 a day, for each person, nearly all rooms to be occupied by two people only, also space for 150 in private houses, at not over $1 25 per day, within a short distance of the hotel. The Vine Street Christian church, one and one half minutes from Convention Hall and one and one-half blocks from Tulane Hotel, will be our New Jersey headquarters.

"Don't go with any other delegation, but be loyal to 'Old Jersey.' We will get the best rates consistent with comfortable traveling, and be sure no one will offer anything better.

"Early application is advisable. We are authorized by and are working under direction of the State executive committee, and will spare no effort to make the trip a pleasant and profitable one to all."

Officers Installed.

The newly-elected officers of Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., were installed last evening by Right Worthy Lady Governess, Mrs. Elizabeth Rice, and Right Worthy Vice Lady Governess, Mrs. M. C. Keltie, of Roxbury. Following the installation there were speeches by the officers, recitations by Miss Try Mattox, after which refreshments were served.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., held its annual installation of officers last evening. The officers of the grand lodge were present and conducted the installation ceremonies. The members and their guests then enjoyed a feast, and a number of speeches on the good of the order were made.

LOST MINES AND SPRINGS.

The Indians in New Mexico Covered Them From Sight.

There is a tradition in New Mexico that many mines once freely worked have been lost. There is another tradition that many springs have been lost and it is understood that the losses of both mines and springs are brought about by the Indians. New Mexico is supposed once to have been much more attractive than it is now. The Pueblo Indians arose in revolt on the first full moon of August, 1680. When they had driven the Spaniards down into Old Mexico they set to work to change the conditions so that there should should be little temptation to reconquer New Mexico.

This idea inspired the filling of mines which had been opened and worked during the former Spanish occupation. The Indians, with great care, destroyed all traces of many mines, it is said. This is not so surprising as what they did to the springs. It is tradition, and the statement is commonly accepted as historical truth, that in their labors to render the country as uninviting as possible, these Indians suppressed numerous springs. Such results were accomplished in an ingenious manner. The Indians dug down and cleared away the dirt until they found the crevices of the rock through which the water came. They took the fibrous bark of a species of fir tree and tamped it into the crevices. As the material became water-soaked it swelled until it plugged. Nothing remained but to throw back the dirt and to give to the surface the general arid appearance of the surrounding country. This was not a temporary expedient. It resulted, according to the present theory, in the permanent destruction of many sources of water.

To this day the appearance of slight moisture often stimulates a search for one of the missing springs. Occasionally these searches are successful. The earth is removed, the crevices are found, the bark is picked out, and the water, after more than two centuries of being turned back, resumes its natural flow.—Topeka Capital.

Remarkable Telegraph.

Among the most remarkable works in Australia is the overland telegraph from Port Darwin to the south of the continent, which was completed in 1872. Almost the whole 2,000 miles of its length was through uninhabited country—much of it a waterless desert. The wooden poles were prepared at the nearest available places, but some had to be carried 350 miles, while the iron poles were taken an average distance of 400 miles by land. Over 2,000 tons of material had to be carried into the interior, and the total cost was $1,850,000

APPEALED TO THEIR LOVE

SIMPLE AND PERSUASIVE WAYS OF EVANGELIST HAMMOND.

Talked to the Children and Easily Interested Them in the Subject of Christianity—Spoke to the Adults Last Evening.

A unique evangelist is Rev. E. Payson Hammond, who is holding meetings yesterday and today in the Park Avenue Baptist church, of this city. In New York city, where Mr. Hammond has been holding meetings for the last few weeks, he has attracted much attention because of the originality of his methods. He has traveled over the globe, was an intimate friend of Spurgeon, and resembles that great preacher in the simplicity of his speech. He has become known because of his plainness and simplicity as "The Child's Preacher." The first of the present series of meetings was held in the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday afternoon. It was a children's meeting. A number of pastors were present.

The evangelist began by making friends with the children. Before the meeting began he walked about and chatted with the boys and girls, and finally succeeded in getting most of them up in the front of the room.

The songs that were sung were composed by the evangelist, and each verse was introduced by him with a few appropriate remarks.

He gave a short talk on the mission of Christ in the world, and told a number of stories which were listened to with much interest by young and old.

Then he made a direct appeal to the children. He did not picture the horrors of the life of the unconverted. Instead, he appealed to their love. There was something singularly attractive in his face and the children seemed to forget all else. Several expressed a desire to start anew. The childish testimonies were very touching.

The combination of snow and rain proved rather a damper to the evening meeting as far as numbers were concerned. The attendance was small. Dr. Hammond gathered his audience in one corner of the lecture room and held a little meeting there. It was evident that the glamour of a big meeting was not necessary to put the evangelist in his element. He was as enthusiastic as if he had several thousand listeners. There was something magnetic about him. He is a tall man, quite heavily built, and with a suggestion about him that gives the impression that his heart is large enough to take in everybody. He has a benign expression on his face that makes him attractive, particularly to the children, who recognize in him a friend at once.

There was one little girl who had been at the afternoon meeting and decided to become a Christian. She told in her simple way some of the stories that the evangelist had related in the afternoon.

Rev. C. E. Wyckoff, of New York, was at the meeting. He had come from Irvington, where he has been conducting meetings. He wanted Dr. Hammond to come to his assistance, as his voice had given out. Then Rev. Mr. Wyckoff told how he had gone over to South Plainfield to find Dr. Hammond and then had to return to Plainfield and had finally found him.

This afternoon at 3:30 there will be children's meetings in the church and this evening at 8 o'clock there will be a meeting for everybody. Evangelist Hammond will have charge and a cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

NOT A CENTRAL SCHEME.

Railroad Officials Deny a Third-Rail Electric Railroad Story.

Several newspapers of recent date have credited the Central Railroad of New Jersey, or its prominent officials, with the intention of constructing a third-rail electric system between Jersey City and Philadelphia, with the ultimate expectation of running trains between New York and Philadelphia in an hour. The railroad officials, however, deny the story in toto, and say that the matter has never been under consideration for a moment.

Attended an Anniversary

About twenty-five members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., of this city, went to New York last evening where they were the guests of York Commandery, and there were present seventeen outside commanderies. Troy Commandery, one of the finest drilled commanderies in this part of the county, gave an exhibition drill. The music was furnished for the occasion by Sousa's full band. A banquet was served during the evening to the visiting members of the order.

—The second floor of the new Woolston & Buckle building, on North avenue, has been reached by the builders and the work is progressing favorably.

SOCIAL SUNSHINE THERE.

A Washington Visitor Greeted Pleasantly by Plainfield Young People.

Though the weather was inclement and disagreeable enough outside last night, a dozen or more young people who gathered at the home of Miss Lillian A. Force, 82 Duer street, succeeded in generating enough social sunshine to make bright faces and happy dispositions predominant. The guests were invited to spend the evening and meet Miss Susie W. Laing, of Washington, D. C., a cousin of the host.

The first part of the evening was enjoyed in the form of a salamagundi party. Walter and Grace Emmons each received a favor for having scored the most points. The popular potato race was the next amusement, and when it was finished Miss Emma Line and Harry Vetterlein were presented with souvenirs for their dexterity in the game.

After refreshments were served and just before starting for their homes the guests heard the enticing strains of the lanciers on the piano, and that was all the invitation necessary for the young people to indulge for a little while in the movements of that pretty dance.

WILL GIVE ANTI-TOXINE.

FOUR MEMBERS OF A POOR FAMILY DOWN WITH DIPHTHERIA.

Board of Health Comes to the Rescue of the Afflicted Circle and Furnish the Means for Restoring Them to Health.

The Plainfield Board of Health is not modeled after a "soulless corporation." Last evening, at the monthly meeting of the Board, action was taken to relieve the distress in one Plainfield home, the misery in which had been brought directly to the eyes of the Board. A family living on East Fourth street is in straightened circumstances. The mother and one child are now ill with diphtheria, and the other two children, who complete the family circle, are infected with the dread disease. The house is quarantined, and there is no fear of the disease spreading. The trouble is with the home itself.

The question of relieving the sufferings of the family was discussed at the meeting last night. It was decided to have the city physician attend the family while the Board will furnish the anti-toxine for the innoculation of the patients. The Board will also provide the necessities of life for the family until they recover and are able to look after themselves.

The Board held a lengthy discussion of the annual report that is to be presented to the Common Council at the next meeting. There was a general discussion of statistics and various parts of the report.

The report of Health Inspecter William Addis, Sr., was received and read. It showed that the number of cases of contagious diseases under quarantine at the last report were six. During the month there had been six new cases while the quarantine had been relieved on seven, leaving five cases still under quarantine. There had been one death from diphtheria. The total number of inspections and visits by the inspector had been 283.

A Turkey Supper Contributes Funds to the W. C. T. U.

In spite of the storm last evening, the turkey supper given in the W. C. T. U. rooms was largely attended by members and friends of the union, and as a result the union will realize as profit about $20. The rooms were attractively arranged for the occasion, and during the hours from 6 until 10 o'clock those in charge were kept fairly busy waiting on the customers. Mrs. M. C. Dobbins was chairman of the affair, and assisting her were Miss Anna Boice, Mrs. John French, Mrs. Honeyman, Mrs. O. B. Leonard, Mrs. Elizabeth Parse, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson. Miss Clementine R. Yates, Mrs. Winter, Mrs. VanName. Those who served as waitresses were the Misses Cahoone, Moore, Miller and Yates.

Music was furnished during the evening by Harry Smalley, who rendered a number of selections on the piano.

Minerva Temple Install.

At the regular meeting of Minerva Temple, No. 4, held last evening, the officers elect were installed for the ensuing term by the Deputy, Mrs. Bateman Thatcher, and staff. One candidate was elected. There was a good attendance notwithstanding the storm. After the meeting the doors were thrown open, and several brother Knights and lady friend were admitted and a very social time was spent.

ATTACKS BERGEN'S PLAN

L. W. SERRELL, JR., SAYS IT WILL BE AN EXPENSIVE EXPERIMENT.

The Electric Contractor Declared That County Ownership of a Trolley Road Will Cost More Than Claimed for It.

Lemuel W. Serrell, Jr., of this city, is recognized as one of the best electric railway contractors in the country, and what he says in regard to the construction of street railways is entitled to respectful hearing and careful study. Mr. Serrell seems to be unalterably opposed to the Bergen scheme of county trolley ownership. He sends the following communication to The Press anent the subject:

Mr. Bergen has presented before the citizens of Union county, in a very entertaining manner by lantern slides and figures, his proposed County Boulevard trolley scheme to run between Elizabeth and Plainfield, and in doing so he has made the following statements:

First—The cost of a single track railroad varies from $6,000 to $15,000 per mile, and he makes his average cost of the same $12,000 per mile.

Second—He states that the electric roads in the State of New Jersey, from the report of the Commissioners on Railroad Taxation, show a capitilization of $130,630 per mile as an average, or eleven times their actual cost.

Third—He states that there are 612½ miles of trolley road in the State, single track measurement; that the total gross earnings of the same are $5,770,171, making the average gross income per mile of track for all the roads in the State $9,420 per mile with net profits of $4,000 per mile.

Let me take each one of the above statements serretum; it is possible to build and equip for one-half hour service suburban roads by the use of light T rail and wooden poles, the rails laid by the side of a dirt road, for about $15,000 per mile, but the quickness with which the small ties used in this construction rot, and the light rails bend, has caused bankers and the investing public to refuse to put their money in such enterprises on the ground that if a thing is not worth doing well it is not worth doing at all. On the other hand, electric railway construction in large cities where the streets are paved or asphalted, the latest improved rails are used, iron poles are set for overhead construction, and everything done to make the construction substantial and lasting; a sufficient number of cars furnished to give a five-minute service upon the line, with closed cars for the winter service and open cars for the summer time, including the cost of the paving that the railroad company has to do under the statute, makes the cost of such work figure practically $40,700 per mile of single track.

The statement made in paragraph 2, that the capitalization is $130,630 per mile on the average, seems unfair to make in an off-hand way. The majority of the mileage of electric railroads in this State is the result of the equipment of old horse-car lines. These old horse-car lines in many cases have been in existence from thirty to forty years. During that time the old first rails in use have had to be relaid many times, new cars and new horses purchased and large investments of money made in the building and maintaining the same. When electricity was first introduced, those who had faith in its ultimate adoption for rapid transit purposes in our cities purchased these old horse car lines, and in no case do I believe that they secured them for less than the aggregate amount of money that had been invested in them during their previous ownership, including both first cost and maintenance. And when thus secured, those who proposed to equip them with electricity found they had nothing of value to use for that purpose except the franchise. These roads, first equipped with electricity from five to seven years ago, had to pay as high as $40 per ton for rails and $7,000 per car for each car and its motor equipments. The rails used at that time were soon found to be inadequate, while the cars and motors soon racked to pieces; in almost every case these original roadbeds had been rebuilt once, twice, and in some cases, three times, and the car and motor equipments replaced as frequently.

Thus an enormous amount of capital has been invested for which those who have risked it have nothing to show but experience, while, today, with the benefit of all that experience, to properly build and equip an electric railroad in a city such as Newark, costs, as already stated, about $40,000 per mile of single track. These figures are made upon the basis of present prices of materials and car equipments. Mr Bergen's statement, therefore, that the electric railroads are capitalized at eleven times there actual

SOLACED BY HYMEN.

FASHIONABLE MARRIAGE OF PANSIE HERRING TO FRANK FLANNERY.

The Nuptials Celebrated in the First Presbyterian Church by the Bride's Brother—Reception by King's Daughters.

Plainfield's best society thronged the First Presbyterian church last evening to witness the charming nuptial event, the marriage of Miss Pansie Jeanne Herring, daughter of Charles H. Herring, of 403 East Second street, to Francis Hastings Flannery, son of J. E. Flannery, of Washington street, two of Plainfield's most popular young people.

At 6:30 o'clock William E MacClymont, organist, commenced the rendition of the following musical programme: "Introduction, third act from Lohengrin," "Berceuse Jocelyn," Goddard; "Scherzo from 5th sonata," Guilmant; "Simple Aven," Thorne; "Allegro Moderato," Lewis; "Cantilene," Woodman; "Tocatta in G." Dubois. While the above was being rendered, the ushers, William Coriell, Harry Williams, Fred Smith, Guernsey Nevius, Percy Dayton, of Plainfield, and William Bunting, of New York, seated the large number of people in attendance.

It was just 7 o'clock, the appointed hour, that the notes of the Mendelssohn wedding march announced the arrival of the bridal party, and as the doors were thrown back the ushers entered the church followed by the maid of honor, Miss Louise Holmes, who was gowned in white organdie over green, trimmed with lace and green silk ribbons. Then followed the bridemaids, Miss Agnes Blair and Miss Marguerite Vermeule, who wore gowns of white organdie over pink trimmed with pink silk ribbons and lace. The maid of honor and bridemaids all carried large bouquets of La France roses tied with pink and green ribbon.

Next appeared the bride, an attractive blonde, leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away in marriage. Her gown was an exquisite creation of art. It was white organdie over white swiss, and was trimmed with lace and white ribbons. She also wore a veil which was caught up with a fleur de lis pendant of pearls and diamonds which was the gift of the groom. As the bride entered the church and proceeded to the altar, she was greatly admired by a host of friends present. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

The bridal party approached the altar from the front of the edifice through the aisle on the far left side of the church, and when the altar was reached the officiating clergyman, Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the church and brother of the bride, and the groom and best man, Charles Hazeltine, entered from the study of the church. The entire party formed a circle, and was surrounded with a huge bank of choice flowers and palms that were very artistically arranged about the pulpit platform.

The beautiful service of the Episcopal church was used and the ceremony was performed with a ring. The responses were very clear, and could be distinctly heard in every part of the church.

After the ceremony, while the party were leaving the church, the Lonengrin wedding march was played, and the bride and groom gracefully acknowledged the recognition of their many friends. They left the church by the centre aisle and were taken to the home of the bride's father, on East Second street, where a reception was given to the bride and groom by the members of the Advance Circle, King's Daughters, of the First Presbyterian church, of which the bride is a member. The reception was held from 8 until 10 o'clock, and during those hours the house was thronged with relatives and friends of the happy couple.

The house decorations were very attractive and much admired. The prevailing color in the parlor was green, and this color was obtained through a nice arrangement of palms and greens. In the dining room pink was the predominant color, and choice roses and smilax were used in abundance. Especially attractive were the decorations on the table.

The King's Daughters acted in the capacity of floaters, and most all of the members were present to assist in making the affair complete. The supper was served by Max Wiertz, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Flannery were showered with congratulations during the reception. Their popularity was evidenced strongly by the almost numberless useful and very costly gifts from relatives and friends. They received an upright piano and a phonograph from the bride's brother, Rev. C. E. Herring, a handsome china closet from the session of the First

THE RIGHT OF PROPERTY.

An Interesting Case Tried in Justice Mosher's Court.

The case of Mrs. Henry H. Corey against Vincent L. Frazee, to try the right of property, attracted a large crowd in Justice Mosher's court room yesterday.

The case is one which has grown out of the marital infelicities of Mr. and Mrs. Corey. He sold the household furniture at auction about two weeks ago, after bringing suit for a divorce against his wife, and while the proceeds of the sale were in the hands of the auctioneer they were attached by Vincent L. Frazee for the amount of a bill contracted by Mrs. Corey. William Newcorn, who is Corey's attorney, then presented an assignment of the goods to himself, made sometime previous by Mr. Corey and assented to, it was claimed, by Mrs. Corey.

Mrs. Corey then brought suit for the goods, claiming that they were hers, and that she had never consented to an assignment of them to Lawyer Newcorn. S. S. Swackhamer appeared as counsel for Mrs. Cory; City Judge DeMeza represented the defendant Frazee, and Harry C. Runyon appeared for Mr. Newcorn.

The jury remained out until 4 o'clock and could not agree. The justice then discharged the jurors. A new trial will be held.

MAD COW AT SAMPTOWN

THE ANIMAL BITTEN BY A DOG THREE WEEKS AGO.

The Affected Animal Tethered to a Strong Stake in a Field and Acts in a Violent and Terrifying Manner at Different Times.

David Blackwood, a Samptown farmer, is the owner of a mad cow. Crowds of people from the surrounding country are attracted to his place every day to get a view of the raving animal.

In a large field a heavy stake has been driven, and to this stake the cow is tethered by a heavy iron chain. When the rabies are violent and the animal writhes and leaps in its madness, the spectators sometimes hold their breath, thinking of what might happen if the chain should snap and the animal be given its freedom.

Farmer Blackwood is certain, however, that the chain will not break. He was able to make the fastenings strong because he suspected that they would be put to just such a strain.

It was fully three weeks ago when a large dog appeared in the Samptown district. The animal roamed about in an aimless way, acting queerly. People said the dog was mad. It went upon the Blackwood farm, frothing from the mouth, and bit one of the finest cows in the farmer's herd. The dog was shot by Blackwood a few minutes later, before it had succeeded in biting any other cows in the herd. The dog is said to have belonged to a family living on West Seventh street in this city. They sent for the body and had it brought to Plainfield in a box and buried.

Farmer Blackwood at once made preparations to keep the cow that had been bitten separate from the others in the herd. He then had the strong stake and chain placed in position and the animal was made fast. At first she showed no signs of madness. A week passed and nearly another. The the rabies seized the animal and she writhed and tore about within the limits of her chain. After several hours of the most violent ravings she sinks down exhausted only to continue her struggle again later on. A number of people from this city have driven to Samptown within the past few days to view the mad animal.

There are no hopes of the cow's recovery, and she will probably be shot before many days.

HOLDS TWO OFFICES.

Surrogate Spencer Will Probably Not Relinquish Duties of Borough Collector.

Surrogate H. N. Spencer, who also holds the office of borough collector, will continue to fill the latter office possibly for the balance of the term. The time now remaining is comparatively short and the officials think it hardly necessary that another man should be appointed to the office. At the spring election provision will be made to elect a man for the position, and that man no doubt will be George F. Brown, the one who would have been appointed had that course been adopted by the Borough Council.

May Change His Location.

J. E. Townsend, of Somerset street, is now negotiating to move his marble and granite yards to a more convenient place on Front street. Owing to Mr. Townsend's increase in business he is obliged to have more room. He will move about April 1st.

STORM THAT MADE SLUSH

LAST NIGHT'S FALL OF SNOW WAS NOT PARTICULARLY PLEASANT.

Three Inches of the Beautiful Fell, But it was Followed With Rain and Made Bad Walking—Traffic Delayed.

The first snow storm of 1898 in the vicinity of Plainfield was not particularly satisfactory to the majority of the people of this suburban town. While many were not exactly anxious for a heavy fall of snow, yet they preferred a good old-fashioned snow storm to such a combination of rain and snow that the streets are all covered with an inch or two of cold, slippery slush and the usual delights of winter are nowhere to be found. Altogether, the storm of last evening was not a howling success.

It did not take a weather prophet to tell that a storm was coming yesterday afternoon. But the quantity and quality, that is, rain or snow, was not to be depended on. The snow began to fall early in the afternoon. It came gently at first but increased until it appeared as if it meant to continue for some time. The ground was soon covered, and by 8 o'clock three inches had fallen. Then came hail and subsequently a fine driving mist that converted the snow into soft sloppy slush, that made walking decidedly unpleasant.

This morning there was barely an inch of the slushy snow on the ground and all thoughts of sleighing had vanished. The sidewalks were slippery and the early-goers found it very unpleasant. Of course, lots of people slipped and slid about in the slush. Some fell, but there is no report of any serious accidents resulting from the falls.

As the 8:48 train was departing, a line of blue sky was visible in the north west, and soon the heavy mist that fell during the early morning stopped, the clouds broke and a lively gale from the northwest carried away the clouds.

The Plainfield Street Railway had its tracks cleared at any early hour this morning. The plows were brought out and the snow cleaned off the roadway at once. The damp snow clung to the wires and made trouble for the telephone and telegraph lines.

SPOKE CONSOLING WORDS.

Funeral Services of the Late Jonathan Doty Held Yesterday.

The funeral services of the late Jonathan Doty were held yesterday afternoon at 3:30, from the house on Elmwood place, and the attendance of relatives and friends was large. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First M. E. church, officiated and spoke words of great consolation and help to the bereaved ones. He spoke of the strong Christian character of the departed and how faithfully he had served his Heavenly Father.

During the service E. E. Runyon sang two favorite selections of the deceased. Among the floral tributes was a large pillow on which was the word "Grandpa," which was given by the grandchildren. The pall-bearers consisted of the sons-in-law of the departed. Interment was in Hillside cemetery.

How to Study Romantic Music

Last evening in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church a good-sized audience assembled to enjoy the musical programme arranged by Miss Sarah Palmer. The lecture was on the subject "Romantic Music and How to Study It," and the lecture was finely illustrated by Miss Marion Dumont in piano solos, Mrs. Lewis, Miss Dumont, Miss Dewey and Miss Biglow, in quartettes on two pianos, and by Miss Whitney in recitations. The affair was a complete success in every respect, and each rendition was received with hearty applause. Miss Palmer's talk proved to be a great help to the music lovers present.

Steam Pipes Bursted.

A valve to the steam pipes in the printing office of the Sabbath Recorder, in the Babcock building, was blown out Monday afternoon. The accident occurred in the composing room. L. W. Niles, one of the compositors, narrowly escaped being scalded. The floor of the room was partially flooded by the hot water that escaped.

The Carpenters Have Finished.

The carpenters who have been making repairs at the City Industrial Home have completed their labors and the painters are now busily at work painting the exterior and interior of the new addition.

Spencer's Bondsmen.

Jacob Voehl and W. C. Smith, of the borough, who are bondsmen for Surrogate-elect Spencer, who took his office yesterday, each furnished $2,000, the amount required by law.

—The next regular meeting of the Borough Council will be held Friday evening, February 4th.

CURRENCY REFORM

Plan Submitted to the Monetary Conference at Indianapolis.

MANY DELEGATES PRESENT

Governor Leslie Shaw, of Iowa, Says the Verdict of 1896 Should Be Made Perpetual--We Must Have an Elastic Paper Currency, He Says.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 26.—The Monetary Conference opened here yesterday afternoon. The convention gives every promise of great enthusiasm. Chairman Hanna, of the Executive Committee, had received nearly four hundred acceptances up to Sunday, and a number of delegates had arrived who were not promised in advance. There are many prominent men among the delegates.

The convention was welcomed to the State by Gov. James A. Mount. Gov Leslie M. Shaw, of Iowa, presided. Gov Shaw, in opening the convention, spoke in part as follows:

"I believe, gentlemen, you represent to-day the non-partisan purpose as well as the financial sentiment of a very large majority of the American people. Every time the question has been voted upon they have declared for sound money and national honor. Back in the seventies the repudiation of both public and private debts was proposed and openly advocated. Those who espoused the cause insisted that the most sacred obligations could be honestly discharged by the unlimited issue of irredeemable paper currency—as Zach Chandler expressed in the last speech of his life—a currency payable to no one, at no place and never. The issue was taken to the polls, and by an overwhelming majority repudiation was repudiated.

The New Movement.

"Twenty years later, in a yet more subtle form, and at a time when self-preservation appealed to many to join the hosts arrayed for the purpose, partial repudiation was proposed. I do not wish to be understood as charging those who advocated the free coinage of silver at the ratio with gold of 16 to 1 with dishonesty. I prefer to regard them as entitled to forgiveness, for certainly they knew not what they did. Nevertheless, in no unmistakable terms, it was their avowed intention to provide for the discharge of all existing liabilities, public and private, with a silver dollar or its equivalent, intrinsically worth but 50 cents of the money current at the time the obligations were incurred. It was the boast of the advocates of the measure that this inferior coin should be in no manner or form redeemed, exchangeable or convertible at par into any other coin or form of money intrinsically worth more. A cheap dollar was the battle cry of the allied forces.

"The elementary principle that the standard coin of all countries is worth the material of which it is composed, and never more, was ridiculed by promulgators of the new movement. They refused to consider the provisions of the statute which makes the present gold coin legal tender at its nominal value only when of full weight and within the limit of tolerance, provided by law; and which provides that the same coin shall possess legal tender qualities in proportion to its weight when below the limit of tolerance. They failed to note the common transactions of every-day life, when the foreign gold coin is exchanged for the gold coin of this country, and the gold coin of this for that of foreign lands, absolutely in proportion to the material of which they are composed. They would not heed the demonstration of this same principle in the fact that the standard silver dollar of Mexico circulates both at home and abroad, as compared with gold in proportion to its bullion value.

"Nevertheless, by a popular majority of over a million, the country again declared, even amid the most depressing conditions, that neither total nor partial repudiation found audience in the American heart and mind. Our people are honest, and they are wiser than many suppose. The safety of republican government was never so clearly demonstrated as on Nov. 3, 1896. Either the verdict rendered on that day determined that the value of the United States dollar shall be and remain in both debt-paying and purchasing power the equivalent of 25.8 grains of standard gold, or that election determined nothing.

The Next Step.

"This being settled, what remains to be done? The people have a right to expect something. They went to the extreme limit of their oportunity in demandng security against financial depression, commercial upheavals and industrial agitation. In view of the oft-repeated declaration for national honor and the payment and discharge of every obligation, public and private, in a currensy equivalent to gold, it remains for the lawmaking power to spread the verdict of 1896 of record, to render judgment in accordance therewith, and to make the decree perpetual. A failure to do so will endanger every interest, every industry, every enterprise, and make possible a panic of such cyclonic force and widespread extent as to render what we have seen in comparison but a summers' zephyr.

'We must have a paper currency. I believe the country at large, without regard to party, agrees to this proposition. We must have a paper currency and of sufficient volume for the needs of a great and prosperous people, with many and varied interests.

"The fact that the interests at stake in this movement are financial, industrial and commercial will justify no less care than if they were poltical. The country has learned that capital cannot be coerced into activity. It can be invited, but it is extremely shy. When it does venture forth it is only when the coasts are clear and the agitator is at rest."

Dr. Samuel A. Robinson, representing the New York Board of Trade, followed with an address on "The Source of the Demand for a Gold Standard and a Sound Currency."

Barred Out Americans.

Toronto, Ont., Jan. 26.—The City Counsel has passed a resolution whereby no aliens, particularly subjects of the United States, shall be hereafter employed on any civic work either to be constructed or in process of construction.

MANUFACTURERS MEET.

New York, Jan. 26.—The National Association of Manufacturers of the United States met in convention yesterday in the Masonic Temple, at 23d street and Sixth avenue. From an early hour the rooms were crowded with incoming delegates from this State, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts, as well as many Middle and Western States. The Reception Committee was on hand to accord them a cordial welcome, and the clerks began at once the work of registering the names of those who attended. Over 20,000 invitations to members of the association and others had been sent out by the local committee.

It was nearer 12 o'clock than 11, the hour set, when the convention was called to order by Thomas C. Search of Philadelphia, the president. Randolph Guggenheimer made the address of welcome on behalf of Mayor Van Wyck, who had informed the committee that press of work would prevent him from appearing in person. Standing committees, were then announced, and the president of the association read his annual report.

After the formal opening the delegates were escorted to the steamer St. Louis, of the American line, where they were the guests of Clement A. Griscom, president of the line. An elaborate luncheon was served on the steamer.

The delegates then returned to the Masonic Temple, and listened to the reports of the secretary, treasurer and the standing committees. These included reports on transportation, patents, patent laws, the consular service, etc.

Last night an informal smoker took place in the Waldorf-Astoria. Over $2,000 was spent by the Entertainment Committee on this entertainment.

The convention will close to-morrow evening with a banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria. President McKinley will attend and will speak on a subject to be chosen by himself. The other speakers will be Senator W. B. Frye, Charles Emory Smith, Henry E. Howland and Theodore C. Search.

RUSH FOR THE KLONDIKE.

Crowds of Gold-Mad Men Get Ready to Start at the Earliest Moment.

Vancouver, Jan. 26.—Increased activity to a marked degree is noticeable here in the preparations for the general invasion of the Klondike region as soon as the weather moderates. A fresh outbreak of the gold fever has stirred up the community almost as much as the first announcement of the rich Alaska finds.

The outbreak is the immediate result of the return from the North, on the steamer Topeka, of F. E. G. Berry, of Seattle, and George Barrack, of Colorado Springs. Both of these gentlemen tell tales of wonderfully rich strikes on the part of nearly every miner who has started in to develop the side creeks.

Mr. Berry says that every creek that has been developed has proved to be very rich. He went north to buy promising claims for a British syndicate. "I found most of the miners unwilling to sell. While there may be a scarcity of food before provisions can be got in, when the weather moderates there will be little suffering. The claim owners are not discouraged at the prospect at all.

"They will live on short rations for a few weeks or months wnen tnere are such promises and certainties of big rewards."

It is on the Humber Creek that many of the rich new strikes are reported. At a meeting of the Victoria Board of Trade it was decided to send a telegram to Hon. Clifford Sifton, "demanding the closing of the pass at the head of Lynn Canal, until satisfactory regulations are actually in the officers' hands at Dyea and Skaguay.

Judge McComas Elected.

Annapolis, Md., Jan. 26.—Judge Louis E. McComas was yesterday elected United States Senator by the joint convention. The tenth and last ballot resulted as follows: McComas, 62; Gorman, 47; Shaw, 5. The absentees were Malcolm of Baltimore County and Taylor of Carroll. Speaker Schaefer led off in the House by voting for McComas. This caused a sensation. One after the other the recalcitrant Republicans fell into line and voted for the nominee of the Republicans. Terrific shouts arose when the election of Judge McComas was declared. Many speeches were made, one of them being a terrific arraignment of Senator Gorman by Senator Randall, President of the Senate.

Senator-elect McComas is a native of Maryland. He was born on Oct. 28, 1846. He was at one time a page in the United States Senate, and was admitted to the Bar in 1887. He was elected to Congress in 1878, and served through two terms. Judge McComas was secretary of the Republican National Committee in the Presidential campaign of 1892. President Harrison appointed him Judge of the Court of the District of Columbia.

Gage Scores Bryan and Teller.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—Lyman J. Gage, Secretary of the Treasury, last night, in the course of an address before the Trades League of this city, took the opportunity of hammering William J. Bryan and Senator Teller of Colorado for their recent calamity howls. After speaking of the silver issue and the intention of the present Administration to maintain the gold standard until an international bi-metallic agreement can be reached, the Secertary said: "The revival of industry now witnessed and the easy condition as to interest which now transfers capital are the best witnesses to the dangers from which we have been delivered."

Helped Catch to Jeff Davis.

Westchester, Pa., Jan. 26.—A bill has been introduced into Congress to provide for the relief of Matthew C. Reed, a crippled soldier of Oxford, Pa. He was one of the squad who captured Jefferson Davis, but he never got any reward for it.

A New Pension Decision.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Assistant Secretary Davis, of the Interior Department, has decided that there is no law providing a pension for the widows of soldiers who die of disease contracted in the service in time of peace prior to March 4, 1861.

CORBETT SIGNS TO FIGHT FITZ.

Accepts Detroit Man's Offer of $25,000 Purse--A Big Scheme.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—James J. Corbett last night signed articles calling for a fight with Robert Fitzsimmons, which George Considine of Detroit is confident he can pull off next summer. The articles are identical with those governing the fight in Carson City, with the exception of the purse, which in this case is $25,0000 instead of $15,000. Considine agrees to post a forfeit of $5,000 to go to the men in case he fails to pull off the fight. In return, he demands a forfeit from each of $2,500.

Considine expresses great confidence in his ability to have the fight without interruption, and said that besides the purse for Fitzsimmons and Corbett he would offer $15,000 for "Kid" McCoy to go against Joe Choynski, Jeffries, Maher or Ruhlin. "Kid" Lavigne, he said, had promised him that he would fight McPartland at 133 pounds. For this event a good purse will be offered, Mr. Considine declared.

Considine is to meet Fitzsimmons in Detroit on Sunday. He says he is confident of being able to induce the champion to write his name beside that of Corbett on the articles of agreement.

THE SITUATION IN CHINA.

Great Britain Insists on the Opening of the Port of Ta-Lien-Wan.

Pekin, China, Jan. 26.—Another loan conference with the Tsung-li Yamen has taken place, the latter receiving the Russian representative in the morning and the British Minister in the afternoon. It is believed the British Minister, Sir Claude M. Macdonald, insists upon the opening of the port of Ta-Lien-Wan and that Great Britain will not recede from that demand. Whether Great Britain or Russia secures the loan depends upon which exerts the greatest pressure. If Great Britain undertakes to protect China against Russia's displeasure. It is believed the loan will be concluded, on the terms proposed by Sir Claude M. Macdonald.

Germany's lease of Kiao Chou has finally been fixed at ninety-one years. The Chinese Emperor is greatly displeased.

Russia Likely to Yield.

London, Jan. 26.—The St. James' Gazette says it has authority for stating that Russia is not likely to persist in her opposition to the opening of Ta-Lien-Wan.

The Daily Mail says that Japan intends to test whether Ta-Lien-Wan is to be an open port or under Russian control.

Cartooned the Emperor.

Berlin, Germany, Jan. 26.—Herr Trojan, editor of the Kladderadatsch, has been sentenced to two months' imprisonment in a fortress for less majeste, in cartooning Emperor William.

The "treason" of which Herr Trojan was guilty consisted in the publication of a cartoon in December last, representing Frederick the Great, Napoleon, Alexander the Great and Leonidas reading the speech of Emperor William delivered on Nov. 18, on the occasion of swearing in the Guards' recruits, in which His Majesty said it was necessary to be good Christians in order to be good soldiers.

McCoy Challenges Fellow Actors.

Schenectady, N. Y., Jan. 26.—During the last act of "The Pacific Mail" last night in this city, "Kid" McCoy stepped forward to the footlights and formally issued a challenge to Robert Fitzsimmons and James J. Corbett to contest for the championship of the world for $10,000 a side and a purse of $25,000. McCoy has stated his desire through the press, but this is the first time he has used the stage for a medium.

Filibuster Steamer Sunk.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 26.—Nineteen survivors of the suspected filibustering steamer Tillie, which probably sunk off Barnegat, were brought to this port by a coasting schooner yesterday. Four men were lost. Captain O'Brien was among those saved. The Tillie was abandoned at sea last Sunday off Barnegat while a terrific storm was raging. Forty tons of dynamite, four dynamite guns and considerable ammunition for Cuba were on board.

Governor Griggs Confirmed.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The nomination of John W. Griggs, to be Attorney-General was confirmed by the Senate yesterday in an executive session of five minuutes. The nomination was called up by Senator Hoar, chairman of the Committee on Judiciary. There was no objection to immediate confirmation.

Spanish Destroy Cuban Camps.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 26.—The Spanish forces, it is announced, have destroyed the camp of Insurgent Leader Juan Delgado, near Managua. The camp of the Insurgent Leader Romero is also reported to have been destroyed.

THE MAINE AT HAVANA

Saluted by the Forts and Vessels as She Entered the Harbor.

GEN. LEE AND DR. CONGOSTO

The United States Consul-General Reported to Have Had a Misunderstanding with the Spanish Official--The President's Action Indorsed by Cabinet.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 26.—The United States battleship Maine, commanded by Charles D. Sigsbee, which left Key West, Fla., on January 24, arrived here yesterday and was saluted by the forts and war vessels.

A report is current that the United States Consul-General, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee and Dr. Congosto, Secretary-General of the Government, have had a slight misunderstanding.

DE LOME'S CUBAN ADVICES.

All Quiet at Havana--The Recent Riots Started by Boys.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The Spanish Minister Senor Dupuy de Lome had little to add to the Cuban news. He expressed much satisfaction with the present condition of affairs, all his advices indicating quiet at Havana. The Minister received a long letter from Secretary-General Congosto. Dr. Congosto said that the sentiment for the re-establishment of peace is growing very strong. Referring to the recent riots, he states that they were made up largely of boys, who were induced by a few pennies to enter upon what they regarded as a harmless and rather amusing diversion. A few leaders and a following of boys gave the occurrence an outward appearance of some seriousness, which, however, Dr. Congosto says it never had.

The Minister continues to look at the sending of the Maine to Havana as a friendly measure, wholly without significance upon the general condition of affairs. It is pointed out by Senor de Lome that the absence of Gen. Blanco from Havana shows conclusively that no disturbance was apprehended.

THE MISSION OF THE MAINE.

The President's Action Indorsed at the Cabinet Meeting.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Secretary Sherman, at the Cabinet meeting yesterday, informed the President that everything was quiet in Havana. Almost the entire Cabinet meeting was devoted to a discussion of the Cuban situation and the ordering of the Maine to Havana. The only persons who knew of the President's order before the official announcement were Secretaries Sherman and Long and Assistant Secretaries Day and Roosevelt. While the other Cabinet officers did not know of the President's intention, they were of one accord in congratulating him on his action.

While it is true that at the interview between Minister de Lome and Assistant Secretary Hay, the latter informed the Spanish Minister of the President's intention to send a vessel to Havana, it is not strictly true that the vessel was dispatched at the request or with the permission of Senor de Lome. Assistant Secretary Day informed the Minister that the President had been desirous of having the United States resume the former intercourse with Cuba by having a vessel enter the harbor of Havana, and that he had concluded that a vessel should be sent there at once. As the Spanish Minister called in relation to opening negotiations for a reciprocity treaty, this would be a good time to inform him that the President was going to send a vessel "on a friendly mission" to Havana.

Senor de Lome saw the force of this remark, and acquiesced at once in the plan, announcing that he would inform his Government both at Madrid and at Havana, that the visit was a friendly one, and thus prepare both for the arrival of the Maine.

The immediate cause of President McKinley's action was the visit to the Executive Mansion of a representative from the Northwest, who is a prominent member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and who informed the President that he could not withstand much longer the demands of his constituents for him to do something in the House for Cuba. The President, so it is stated, informed the member of his plan to send a vessel to Havana, and that he intended to do it early this week. This was entirely satisfactory to the Congressman.

It is said that Senor de Lome acquiesced in the sending of the Maine to Havana because of doubt on the part of the Spanish Government as to its ability to maintain order there. The President also was said to have felt that he did not wish to take the responsibility of withholding a warship when men of all parties here demanded that he should take such action.

Gen. Lee Denies a Row.

Havana, Jan. 26.—Shortly after the arrival here of the Maine, Lieut. Alberto Medrano, representing the Captain of the Port, Vice-Admiral Hose Pastor, visited the United States battleship and extended the customary courtesies. The arrival of the warship caused much surprise and excited considerable curiosity.

The correspondent of the Associated Press called upon the United States Consul-General, and was informed that nothing unpleasant had happened at the interview which took place Monday between himself and Dr. Congosto, when rumor had it, the misunderstanding took place.

Madrid Press Comment.

Madrid, Jan. 26.—The newspapers generally comment upon Secretary Long's explanation of the visit of the United States battleship Maine at Havana and agree in expressing the opinion that her visit is "inopportune and alculated to encourage the insurgents." It is announced that "following Washington's example" the Spanish Government will "instruct Spanish warships to visit a few American ports."

Washington, Jan. 26.—The Spanish Minister, Dupuy de Lome, said last night that he had no advices from his home government that any Spanish war vessels were to visit this country.

Senator Voorhees was in a very felicitous mood last night at the dinner tendered by the Trenton newspaper correspondents, and jollied the newspaper men along in a clever manner. He promised to make all the newspaper men in the State colonels on his private staff when he became Acting Governor. Now here is quite the opportunity for the Senator to do what The Press suggested would be pleasing to the local Republicans—honor them by giving Editor Runyon the title of Colonel. The News editor is stalwart Republican enough to deserve the honor. As for being a Voorhees advocate, there are, to quote a mince meat saying, "none better."

The United States Senate yesterday confirmed the nomination of Governor Griggs to be Attorney-General. The Governor says he will resign his present office next Monday. Then Union County will have the distinguished honor of having one of its citizens in the executive's chair. The Senate yesterday determined that the official title of Mr. Voorhees should be President of the Senate and Acting-Governor. It is a long title for a short term.

Senator Reed yesterday introduced his second bill in the Legislature for this session. This latest measure of the Senator's is designed to prevent the adulteration of linseed or flaxseed oils. It provides that the penalty for a violation shall be a fine of from $50 to $500 or thirty days' imprisonment. The State Dairy Commissioner is authorized to prosecute offenders.

Those of the citizens who are fortunate enough to own stock in the City National Bank, are soon to receive the results of the industry of the present management. Dividend No. 42 has been declared and will be payable on or after the first of February. It is the semi-annual dividend and amounts to 4 per cent.

Nicholas C. J. English needs only to take the oath of office now to become the full-fledged prosecutor of Union county. His nomination was confirmed by the Senate in executive session yesterday.

Senator Reed introduced a bill last night to dissolve the borough commission of Rocky Hill, Somerset county. Inasmuch as the Senator had the bill labeled "by request," it is evident that he is not particularly anxious about its fate.

Talk may be cheap, but when the Board of Trade utilizes it in discussing prospective enterprises for Plainfield it is the stepping-stone for greater prosperity for the community.

Action is to be taken in the Legislature to abolish the State Naval Reserve by merging it with the National Guard.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Westfield Lodge, No. 169, I. O. O. F., will meet tonight.

Upchurch Lodge, A. O. U. W., held a meeting last night.

Justice E R. Collins is in Somerville on business today.

Miss Florance's dancing class meets in the Westfield Club Hall tonight.

The Sunday-school board of the Baptist church holds a meeting this evening.

Herbert Buchanan, of Philadelphia, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew A Smith, of Elm street.

Elmer E. Love, whose skull was fractured in an accident at Fanwood, still continues to improve.

Howard Rush, of New York city, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Delamater, of Dudley avenue.

The Y. M. C. A. bowling team of Plainfield, will roll a game with the Westfield Junior team on the Westfield alleys tomorrow night.

Appleton Morgan, LL.D., of Westfield, will organize a New Jersey Society of the War of 1812, at Springfield, Monday, February 7th. The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. in the old Springfield hotel.

Alexander Black's picture play, entitled "A Capital Courtship," was given in the Westfield Club Hall last night, under the auspices of the board of lady managers of the Children's Country Home. The audience was a large one in spite of the storm, and the play was well received. The pictures representing Washington, the National Capital, Newport, the warship Maine, and other scenes of the story were particularly fine, and called forth much applause. Mr. Black read the lines of the play in a particularly excellent manner. The proceeds will go into the treasury of the Children's Country Home.

THEATRICAL.

Despite the storm last evening there was a large audience present at Stillman Music Hall to witness the performance of "Alone in London" by the Payton Comedy Company. The greatest satisfaction was expressed at the presentation, which was meritorious in every respect. Miss Florence Hamilton, Kirk Brown, Tony West and Miss Emma DeCastro being particularly pleasing and applauded. Tonight the laughable comedy-drama of "My Husband" will be presented and tomorrow afternoon "Woman Against Woman" will be repeated. Entire new specialties, new songs and stereopticon views will be features of remaining performances.

A crowded house at Stillman Music Hall is assured Mrs. Fiske next Tuesday, for she is undoubtedly one of our greatest actresses. Every fresh part Mrs. Fiske undertakes seems to show her talent for strong and effective characterization in a more and more favorable light. Her creation of Hardy's hapless heroine in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is a study that leaves a vivid impression on one's mind. She presents the woman with a rare fidelity to the deeper meanings of the author, and her production of the play is notable for its picturesque beauty, effective mounting and faithful representation of the other characters and the atmosphere of the story.

The sale of seats for Mrs. Fiske's appearance in "Tess" next Tuesday, begins today at box office of Stillman Music Hall.

Presbyterian church, a solid silver service from the ushers, and a dinner set of 130 pieces from the associate clerks of the groom. The other presents included a buffet, bedroom suit, parlor tables, chairs, table linen, silverware in forks, spoons, goldware, cut glass and a number of other articles. One room in the house was devoted exclusively to the display of the presents, and the guests expressed their admiration continually.

Mr. and Mrs. Flannery left the city late in the evening for a bridal tour through the south, and on their return they will reside in New York, where the groom is employed at the wholesale ribbon house of William H. Robertson, as salesman.

—All bills against the city must be in the hands of the city clerk by Saturday night next, January 29th.

—A meeting of Plainfield Senate, No. 621, K. A. E. O., will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Red Men's Hall.

cost, is not only unfair to both the railroad companies and the tax payer, but is untrue, and if the county attempts to build an electric road at anything like his figures, they will be throwing their money away in the same manner the early projectors of electric railroads did when they did not have proper materials at hand to use.

The statement made in the foregoing third paragraph are equally misleading. An examination of the report of the railroad commissioners, from which these figures were obtained, shows that the Consolidated Traction Company of Jersey City and Newark operate 175 miles of road; that there gross earnings are $2,800,581 or $16,000 per mile of track per annum; that the North Hudson County Railway Company in Hoboken operates 50 miles of railroad; that their gross earnings are $907,000 or $18,200 per mile of single track. Therefore, out of the 612½ miles of track laid in the State above referred to, 225 miles of them earn gross per annum $3,770,580 and the remaining 387½ miles of track only earn gross per annum $2,062 591 or $5,300 per mile of track, which includes the receipts of such cities as Paterson, Trenton, New Brunswick and Camden to help swell the average.

Mr. Bergen's statement, therefore, that the gross income per mile of track for all the roads in the State of $9,420, with net profits of $4,000 per mile, is misleading in the first place and untrue in the second, and it is my belief that the net earnings of all the railroads in the State, outside of the two mentioned, are not over $1,000 per mile of track per annum, as it is scarcely possible to operate a car for less than $4,000 per annum, and it is necessary to have one car on every mile of track to give a twelve minute service. Out of this small amount of net earnings all interest charges must be paid, and the interest charges on $20,000 per mile of track at 5 per cent. is $1,000 per annum. From these figures it will therefore be seen that all of the railroads in the State combined, with the exception of the two already mentioned, are not doing any more than making both ends meet.

In conclusion I would say that the report of the railroad commissioners also shows that the dividends paid upon the capital stock of all the roads in the State, not excepting either the Consolidated Traction Company or the North Hudson County Railway Company, but including them to make the average as large as possible, do not amount to ½ of 1 per cent. of the capital stock outstanding, and I am satisfied from my analysis of Mr. Bergen's figures, and the clever way in which he has presented his scheme to the public, that he is a man of many faculties, but he has been too economical of their use to truthfully lay the situation before the taxpayers of Union county for their consideration as a patriotic citizen should.

A Mock Trial.

A meeting of the Plainfield Debating Society was held last evening. A mock trial was held, Charles Marvin Dolliver acting as judge. The case was a civil one, that of Anderson against Wyckoff, in tort, for $200. Linbarger and LaRue were the attorneys for the plaintiff, and Nash and DeMeza for the defendant. Judge Dolliver gave judgment for the defendant for $19.45.

VICTOR EMMANUEL AS A HUSBAND.

Strange Relations with His Wife of the "Re Galantuomo"—A Double Life.

A curious account of Victor Emmanuel's married life, taken from the Autobiography of Gen. Morozzo della Rocca, who died recently as Senior-General in the Italian army, is printed by the London Daily News.

"The wedding took place in April, 1842, and magnificent festivals were instituted on the occasion by Charles Albert. The incomparable kindness and sweetness of Marie Adelaide did a great deal to soften the manners of the court. As soon as he had made the acquaintance of his wife Victor Emmanuel loved her ardently, and the affection he bore her continued tender until the end. But she could not fill the life of her husband, who was entirely deprived of mental occupation, for Carlo Alberto never permitted his children to share in the least in state affairs. So Victor Emmanuel still kept his bachelor habits, and after his marriage had still more liberty than before. He created a life of his own to recompense himself for the monotony of that imposed upon him in the royal palace. He hunted and shot in the mountains and in the marshes, undertook lengthy rides and walks, and was away from home not only all the morning, but very often during entire days. In the palace Victor Emanuel was the Crown Prince, a loving husband, a respectful son; no sooner away from the house than his natural instincts and repressed tastes burst out violently, and he became a species of mousquetaire of the sixteenth century, of whom he had the physical type and wore a similar costume. But he had nothing of the rudeness of manners and vulgar passions given by Dumas to his heroes. Though Victor Emmanuel was by no means proud or haughty, but rather familiar with the persons in his service, he was most jealous of his personal dignity and would not have compromised it in the least degree. His heart—and this is true, though it may appear strange—was entirely devoted to Maria Adelaide. He entertained for her a respectful and passionate admiration, placed in her unbounded confidence, and his tenderness toward her was such that he had none to spare for other people, not even for the woman who during many years was the companion of his life, the mother of his children, and to whom, finally, he was united in a morganatic marriage. He reserved for Maria Adelaide the best of himself without pretending to be other than he was. He had no secrets from her, and only avoided giving her details which might have proved inconvenient for her chaste ears. Maria Adelaide, however, knew a great deal, which she not only condoned but justified, a mystery of supreme indulgence and kindness which is not easy to understand or even imagine by any one who was not, like myself, placed between the double existences of Victor Emmanuel—that in the palace and that without. The only person who had the right of condemning him abstained from doing so, and I dare to say that she did well."

PROHETIC.

Nelson's Desire to Figure in as Fine a Picture as the "Death of Wolf."

Benjamin West's picture of the "Death of Nelson" is closely connected with an anecdote of the great sailor, says the Youth's Companion. Just before he went to sea for the last time he was present at a dinner, during which he sat between the artist and Sir William Hamilton.

Nelson was expressing to Hamilton his regret that he had not, in his youth acquired some taste for art, and some discrimination in judging it.

"But," said he, turning to West, "there is one picture whose power I do feel. I never pass a shop where your 'Death of Wolfe' is in the window without being stopped by it."

West made some gracious answer to the compliment, and Nelson went on: "Why have you painted no more like it?"

"Because, my lord," West replied "there are no more subjects."

"Ah!" said the sailor, I didn't think of that."

"But, my lord," continued West, "I am afraid your intrepedity will yet furnish me with another such scene; and if it should, I shall certainly avail myself of it."

"Will you?" said Nelson. "Will you Mr. West? Then I hope I shall die in the next battle!"

A few days later he sailed, and his strangely expressed aspiration was realized, and the scene lives upon canvas.

Controlled by Colored People.

There is a hospital for colored people in Savannah which is wholly supported by the colored people. Connected with it is a training school for colored nurses, and a number of well trained sick-bed attendants have been taught there. The management of the hospital has never called upon white citizens for aid, but has been supported solely by the colored people.

The Cause of Confusion.

"Isn't it strange the way people make mountains out of molehills?

"Oh, I don't know; when you aren't big enough to see over them there isn't much difference."—New York World.

It is recorded that once Senator Mason propounded a query to Senator Morgan. "How long could you talk," asked Mason, "on a subject of which you knew absolutely nothing?"

"Well," answered Morgan with a smile, "if it was a marriage [illegible] I knew absolutely [illegible] think I could talk more than two [illegible]—Washington Post.

HE GOT THEM BOTH.

The Fledgling Lawyer Makes a Splendid Stroke of Business.

"My best stroke of business was when I first hung out my shingle in the West," said a lawyer who now handles none but the most important and remunerative cases.

"As I was pacing up and down the little office one morning, wondering what I could go at if my first case didn't come soon, I answered a knock at the door to meet a young lady who had all the glow and vigor of the prairie with the easy society ways of the cultured Eastern woman. While I was trying to recover my breath she told me that she was a messenger from her father, who had heard that there was a new lawyer in town, and wanted his opinion in a matter that threatened to lead to a lawsuit. I took the letter she handed me and found it signed by the rich old ranchman.

"'But your father asks an opinion without making any statement of his case,' I said after reading.

"'It's evident that you don't know papa. If you sent back for further information he would denounce you as an ignoramus and have nothing more to do with you. Write something learned in language but obscure in ideas. Quote a lot of your musty old legal maxims in the original Latin, and, above all things, abuse the other man with merciless bitterness.'

"In three hours she was back from her shopping, and the 'learned opinion' was ready. The language was ponderous. The sentences were long and involved. The Latin was injected without reference to the context, and the abuse was underlined with red ink. She read and laughed until her sparkling eyes rained tears down her brilliant cheeks. 'You must arrange to do all papa's law business,' she warned me at parting, and I danced a boisterous solo when she was gone.

"Next day came a letter from 'papa.' He had at last found a lawyer. That opinion was worthy of a Webster or a Choate. He enclosed $1,000, and made me his attorney. Later I got the daughter."

TENNYSON AND THE PEERAGE.

Refused a Baronetcy Three Times but at Last Persuaded to Accept It.

Three times the baronetcy was offered to Tennyson, says Mr. Mabie in the Atlantic, and as many times he refused it. When, therefore, one day in 1883, Mr. Gladstone said to the Laureate's son that for the sake of literature he wished to offer his father the higher distinction of a barony, there was grave doubt about its acceptance. The only difficulty which the Prime Minister thought insurmountable was the possible insistence by Tennyson on his right to wear his wide-awake in the House of Lords! Tennyson was so well beyond the mere flattery of an offer of the peerage that he took the friendly urgence of Mr. Gladstone with great calmness, and at first was not to be moved from his determination to remain plain Mr. Tennyson to the end of his days. He was finally persuaded, however, that as the foremost representative of literature in England, he ought not to put aside a distinction which would mark the formal recognition of the place and function of literature in the life of a great people. "I cannot but be touched," he wrote to Mr. Gladstone, "by the friendliness of your desire that this mark of distinction should be conferred on myself, and I rejoice that you, who have shown such a true devotion to literature, by pursuing it in the midst of what seems to most of us overwhelming and all-absorbing business, should be the first thus publicly to proclaim the position which literature ought to hold in the world's work."

Insisted on Her Rights.

The Duchess of Aosta, who is closely related to the King of Italy, is a woman with a distinct mind of her own. When she first began to cycle the King gave orders that she should not be saluted by a sentry as she rode by on her wheel. Obedient to the royal command the first sentry she passed ignored her presence, whereupon the Duchess quietly dimounted and boxed the man's cycle rules the Court of Italy, just as it ears. Now however, the omnipotent does all the other courts in the world, and the sentry salutes the royal family as it goes wheeling past.—New York World.

Archer's Fine Shot.

When Fred Archer, England's famous jockey, once consulted one of England's most famous surgeons, the surgeon said:

"You must not think me rude, Mr. Archer, but I take no interest in any branch of sport, and I have never heard your name."

"Well, said Archer, I hope you won't think me rude, either; but till a friend advised me to consult you, I had never heard your name, either, and when I asked my friend who you were, he said, 'He is the Fred Archer of the surgical profession.'"

A Pitiable Case.

The Mistress—Be very careful, Marie, when you give little Algernon a bath. He shrinks from it so.

The New Nurse—Do he, me'm? That's bad. Wid two or three more shrinkin's there'll be nothin left of him.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

There is a children's theater in Pittsburg. It is diminutive but perfect in all its appointments, the stage, orchestra, auditorium, chairs, lights scenery and policemen all being in proportion to the relative size of the members of the audience to be entertained. THE ESSENCE OF THE MEAT is what you want to consider when you do your marketing. Meat such as we sell has many times the strengthening and nourishing power of the cheaper grades, which we do not handle. A few cents a pound often means the difference between health and illness.

ANÆMIA

OR PALENESS OF BLOOD.

That thin watery condition of the blood called Anæmia which is shown by pale cheeks, bloodless lips and dull eyes, can be and is cured in one-fourth the ordinary time, by taking the natural non-irritating iron or Hæmoglobin of Capsuloids.

This iron is extracted from bullock's blood. All other iron medicines are made with strong acids.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50 or sent direct by The Capsuloid Company Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

The largest store in the State devoted to furniture, carpets, bedding and stoves.

AMOS H. VAN HORN
LIMITED.

"The Portland Range" is one great mass of improvements—nothing but perfection from top to bottom.

"We're the Talk" All Over Newark

—yes all over this great State. Such astonishing liberality in January "price-dropping," such immense variety of furniture, carpets and stoves to pick from, so unusually small and easy payments as 75c a week to pay us in—these are pretty solid reasons why we are and have been for nearly 40 years a household word.

This great movement to get clear of holiday and Fall goods is still "on foot"—buy at present figures—you'll never do better, try as you may!

$24.50—richly silk brocatelle covered, plush trimmed, overstuffed parlor suits—the January "Clearing Prices." Were $35. Another line of good suits at $16.00—were $25. A hundred sorts in the stock.

$3.75—enamelled solid brass trimmed beds. Usual $6 kind. Built on newest lines—elegant, desirable. Dressers to match in all woods. Some oak bedroom suits at $9.75, were $15.

Carpets--A Big Stir-Up on this floor, we can tell you! Hard to find its equal. Most we've left has been put at mercilessly little prices. No space for list—look back at last week's ads. and add these items to list—starting Monday we'll throw in 1,500 yards of remnants, 10, 20 and 30 yards each.

Remnant Moquettes, Velvets, Body Brussels, 50c yard.

Remnant Tapestries, all qualities, 30c and 40c yard.

The regular lines, unbroken, at equally low figures—bring your room measures with you, as there's no time to lose. Bargains for first callers.

Ranges--Great Sale

—not a "little one"—every make, despite its old price, now priced at a rate that'll clear them out quick. Only warranted kinds are here. This department has to go before Spring. Some bedroom cylinders at $1.73.

No such true-blue reductions ever heard of in this or any other city.

"75c a week will do if cash is short."

SENATE DEBATE ON GOLD.

Warm Discussion Over the Bond Payment Resolution.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Immediately after the reading of the journal yesterday the Senate went into secret session for the purpose of confirming the nomination of Gov. Griggs of New Jersey to be Attorney-General.

The open session was resumed at 12.15 o'clock and a bill was passed appropriating $46,000 to indemnify the State of Pennsylvania for money expended in 1864 for militia called into the military service under the President's proclamation of June, 1863.

The Pension Appropriation bill, carrying $141,000,000, was passed. Senator Allen's amendments fixing the minimum pension at $10 and raising the appropriation to $148,000,000 were defeated.

The concurrent resolution declaring United States bonds payable in standard silver dollars at the option of the Government was then taken up.

Mr. Allison, of Iowa, said that he expected to vote against the resolution. He could not see why it was brought before the Senate now. It was the revival of a resolution that had passed the Senate this day twenty years ago, when there were questions impending to which it related. He said that he did not consider, when he voted for the Stanley Matthews resolution that it was not in a breach of public faith or in derogation of the reports of creditors. Since then nearly 500,000,000 standard silver dollars had been coined. Why, then, was it necessary to say that the coinage of silver was to be restored? Had it not been restored?

"No," Mr. Teller responded.

"In other words," Mr. Allison said, "the Senator construes this to mean that there has been no restoration of silver coinage?"

"I have not made a statement of that kind," said Mr. Teller.

"Then what does it mean?" Mr. Allen asked.

"It means," Mr. Teller replied, "that silver coinage is not restored. The Administration says that our silver dollar is not an honest dollar, to pay these debts, and that the law does not allow it. I do not know what the Senator from Iowa says on that point, but I know what the President says, and what the Secretary of the Treasury says, and what the gold press of the country says."

"I have never heard," said Mr. Allison, "that the President said that, and I have never heard that any one else said it. If there ever was a resolution that was absolutely obsolete, and that should be filed away among the archives, it was the resolution of 1878. This resolution does not have the force of law, although it may have force in morals."

"Do you acknowledge that these bonds are payable in silver?" asked Mr. Tillman.

"The law provides for that."

"What do you and your party say to it?"

"The law provides that all these bonds are payable in coin of standard value."

"Then you acknowledge that they are payable in silver?"

"I have just quoted the law."

"I want you to say it in kind—'yes.'"

"If the Senator wishes to put words in my mouth, I object. President Cleveland, the Senator's own President, insisted on changing the law. Why should he have wished the law to be changed?"

"Because," Mr. Teller interposed, "he was a Republican at heart."

"We want the practice changed," said Mr. Stewart.

"But the practice is not changed by this resolution," replied Mr. Allison. "It gives the Secretary of the Treasury precisely the discretion that he has now. It does not say that he should exercise that discertion one way or the other. We have practically no silver dollars in the Treasury except those that are specifically pledged to redeem silver certificates.

"Do I understand the Senator from Iowa to say that the bonds may be paid in silver dollars, without breach of faith?" said Mr. Teller.

"I did not say that," said Mr. Allison.

"I would like to know whether the Senator is of the opinion that we have a right to pay them in silver."

"There is no doubt that these bonds are payable either in silver dollars or gold dollars at the option of the Secretary of the Treasury. That option must be exercised in the light and face of other important statutes requiring silver dollars to be maintained at parity with gold. So long as that is done there can be no fault found with the Secertary. The question here is whether we should do something to impair the credit of the United States or do something to uphold it. To my mind this resolution has no present significance, unless it is to minimize the credit of the United States."

Miss Josephine Drexel's Triumph.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—Miss Josephine Drexel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Drexel, of New York, formally entered society here last night at the most costly ball of the season, given in her honor by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, at Horticultural Hall. The hall was transformed into a flower garden, costly exotics, orchids, palms and roses playing an important part in the decorations. The guests were limited to 250, the list being confined to members of Philadelphia's most exclusive families.

The supper was a most elaborate affair. Nearly all the dishes were rare, while the wines and liquors were of the choicest. The cotillion favors were the most expensive ever given, this feature alone costing Anthony J. Drexel more than $5,000.

Watson Will Run for Governor.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 26.—Hon. Thomas E. Watson will be the Populist candidate for Governor of Georgia. A majority of the delegates already elected to the State convention, which meets March 16, have declared in his favor. Mr. Watson's reason for reconsidering his determination is that he hopes the gubernatorial candidatcy may prove a stepping-stone to the Populist Presidential nomination.

Two Killed in a Cyclone.

St. Louis, Jan. 26.—Two men were killed and a score of persons were badly hurt by flying signs and falling trees and poles during a cyclone that struck this city yesterday. The force of the wind was terrific for a few minutes and the cyclone tore out of the city, leaving a path of wreckage behind.

TELLER RESOLUTION

Senator Lodge Offers a Substitute in the Senate.

ITS PROBABLE SUPPORT

It Is the Same as the Substitute Offered by Senator Edmunds Twenty Years Ago for Stanley Matthews's Resolution --A Vote Probable.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Senator Lodge offered in the Senate yesterday a substitute for the Teller-Stanley-Matthews resolution. Senator Lodge's declaration is the same as the one offered by Senator Edmunds as a substitute for the original Stanley Matthews resolution.

The Edmunds substitute struck out the declaration of the Stanley Matthews resolution that all United States bonds issued, or authorized to be issued, under the various acts of Congress, might be paid in silver dollars at the option of the United States Government, and inserted the following:

"That all the bonds of the United States issued or authorized to be issued under the said acts of Congress hereinbefore recited are payable, principal and interest, in gold coin or its equivalent; and that any other payment without the consent of the creditor would be in violation of the public faith, and in derogation of his rights."

If the substitute that Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, has offered, which is in substance the financial plank of the St. Louis platform, is adopted, it will not be necessary for Senator Lodge to press his Edmunds substitute. But while the financial plank of the St. Louis platform ought to command the votes of all the regular Republicans, including Senator Chandler, Senator Pritchard, and the five Western Republican bimetallists who are supporting the Stanley Matthews resolution, it will not, it is feared, secure the support of the sound money Democrats because they would be taunted afterward with having voted for the Republican platform. Therefore it will be defeated, and a vote will be required on the Lodge Edmunds substitute.

It will not be defeated by any such majority as was cast against it twenty years ago, when it only got 18 votes against 44, the majority of the Republicans voting against it, headed by Senator Allison, with Mr. Blaine absent and paired. The vote on the Lodge-Edmunds substitute will probably be just about the same as on the Teller resolution to-morrow.

It is known that Senators Gray and Caffery, and probably Lindsay, who are the three gold Democrats of the Senate, will vote against the Teller resolution, and if Senators Gorman, Murphy, Smith and Mitchell, of Wisconsin, follow their inclinations and do the same they will just balance the seven Republicans who are expected to vote for the resolution. This would bring the majority for it down to three.

OPPOSITION TO GAGE.

Report That He Will Soon Be Out of the Cabinet.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The feeling against Secretary Gage among the Western Republican Senators, who are bitterly opposed to his financial policy, appears to be growing stronger. It has been intensified since the President named a successor to Mr. Preston, the Director of the Mint, and as that was virtually a removal, it is freely predicted at the Capitol that not many weeks will elapse before there is a new Secretary.

The story is revived, also, that not long ago Mr. Gage practically offered his resignation to the President, but it was not written out, and the matter was then dropped.

A report is in circulation that the relations between Secretary Gage and many of the Republican Senators have become so strained that Mr. Gage has tendered his resignation and will soon cease to be a member of the Cabinet.

Father Dent's Big Suit.

New York, Jan. 26.—A suit for $100,000 has been begun in the Supreme Court by the Rev. Father Francis Dent for damages against Archbishop Michael A. Corrigan, Bishop Joseph L. Keane, William T. Schley, a lawyer; Anacletus De Angelis, head of the Order of Friars Minor of the Order of St. Francis, and against the order itself. For more than four years Father Dent has been fighting in the courts for reinstatement as a monk in the Order of Friars Minor in the Order of St. Francis.

Dr. Brown's Confession.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 26.—After two years of denials and protestations that he was innocent of the sensational charges brought against him while pastor of the First Congregational Church in this city, the Rev. Charles O. Brown has appeared before the Bay Conference and withdrawn his former answer to its citation and confessed that some of the charges against him were true. Dr. Brown was then unanmously dropped from the May Conference.

Crank at the White House.

Washington, Jan. 26.—Leon Bleus, a Belgian, arrived in Washington from Baltimore yesterday, drove to the White House in a carriage and demanded to be protected by President McKinley from the imaginary persecution of the Roman Catholics for having left the Church. The crank was taken to the police station.

Schaefer and Ives Divide the Money.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—Jacob Schaefer and Frank Ives have agreed to divide first money for which they were tied in the recent billiard tournament, and there will be no play off. The tournament was not a financial success, its promoters being about $300 short of the 1,050 offered in purses.

A. J. Drexel Jr.'s Home Destroyed.

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—The suburban home of A. J. Drexel, Jr., on Darby road, above Lansdowne avenue, was destroyed completely by fire last night. The house has not been occupied by Mr. Drexel for some time. The loss will reach $60,000 and is governed by insurance.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasu e?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the wi:ter months unless he supplies spe cial foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen" —that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

STRIKES AND SPARES.

Tonight the Park and Roselle teams will roll a match in the Journal League series.

A bowling contest took place on Ulrich's alleys last night, between a five-men team representing the T. A. B. Society and a picked team. The former won the match, getting two of the three games.

Death of a Physician.

The death of Dr. Stephen W. VanDuyn, of 331 East Sixth street, occurred last evening after a long illness. Death was the result of paralysis. The deceased had been a resident of Plainfield for some time past. He was a physician and held a large practice in Newark, where he resided before he came to Plainfield. He was well advanced in years and recently he practiced very little. He leaves a widow. The funeral services will be held from his late residence Friday afternoon next at 2 o'clock.

Concert for Benefit of Church.

Tomorrow evening at the Park Avenue Baptist church a concert will be given for the bene fit of the church. The artists who are to appear are all well-known and first-class. Mrs. Frank Smith will recite, Mrs. Nelly Udell Smith will play the violin, G Morgan Stricklett, tenor, and Charles L. Lewis, baritone, will sing, while Mrs. Charles L. Lewis and Frank J. Smith will preside at the piano. The admission will be 35 cents, and all who go will be given a rare treat in music.

Lantern Slide Exhibition.

An exhibition of lantern slides, belonging to the Orange Camera Club, will be given in the hall of the Plainfield Camera Club in the Babcock building tomorrow evening. The views make up one of the best collections in this country. The color effects produced by the manipulation of the developer are very remarkable.

Justice Mosher's Court.

Justice Mosher has issued summons in the case of Charles Johnson against James Hansen, on contract, returnable next Wednesday.

The case of Allen against Sullivan, n tort, which was set for trial in Justice Mosher's court this morning, was postponed for two weeks.

Interred in Hillside Cemetery.

Dr. Vermeulyn, a resident of Philadelphia, who died in that city a few days ago, was brought to this city today for interment in Hillside cemetery in the family plot in which is buried the son of the departed. A number of relatives from Philadelphia accompanied the body to its last resting place.

Bad for Borough's Reputation.

There are now nine people in the Somerset county jail and eight of them are from North Plainfield, serving terms of sixty days or less, for trivial offenses, such as drunkenness.

Expert Accountants Busy.

The expert accountants are still busily at work going over the accounts and books of the borough collector. There is yet considerable to be done before the work will be completed.

CYCLING COMMENT.

G. G. VanNest, of Monroe avenue and West Seventh street, has quite a curiosity in a game cock that he raised some time ago in an incubator. The fowl has five perfect toes on each foot and has a remarkable comb. It has what might be called a double single comb. The coloring of the feathers is quite remarkable.

* * * *

The Cracker Barrel Club is one of North Plainfield's famous institutions, and to its members may be credited some of the most notable public changes and reforms. It was not to be unexpected, then, but none the less interesting and important, that at the dinner of the club at Somerville Tuesday, in honor of the induction of one of its leading members into office—Surrogate Spencer—that a suggestion should be made, that is apt and important. Thomas Doud, president of the Cracker Barrels, in the course of a few remarks said that North Plainfield should be made the central seat of government for Somerset county. One of his argumentive points was that the county jail was always occupied by a majority of North Plainfield prisoners, and that a tidy sum could be saved each year in constables' fees incident to the transportation of prisoners if the bastile was located in the town from which the greater number of inmates were committed. Just as an instance he stated that eight out of the nine prisoners in the county jail at present were from North Plainfield. Of course this is rather an ugly fact for the borough's reputation for peaceableness to confront, but it is none the less true.

PUSSY COULDN'T JUDGE SPEED.

Consequently the Feline Got In the Cycler's Path and a Spill Resulted.

Clarence Brokaw, of VanArsdale's shoe store, is limping about as a result of an adventure with a cat last Monday evening. Brokaw was riding his wheel along West Seventh street at night when something shot across his path. It was a cat. Now the cat did not judge the speed of the wheel correctly and it came faster than she expected. The next moment, cat, wheel and rider where in a heap on the ground. The pussy wiggled loose and disappeared. Brokaw cut his knee quite badly while the front wheel of the bicycle was twisted out of shape. His lantern was wrecked. He finally managed to reach his home on West Front street with the remains of his wheel.

The Duer Street Opening.

John Vetterlein, who has been selected to solicit subscriptions from the property owners on Duer street for the extension of that thoroughfare to Madison avenue, this city, is ready to commence the work and will make a start tomorrow morning. He is authorized to raise $1,500 if possible, and thus ask the borough to give a like amount, which together with Mr. Stillman's gift of $1,000, will buy the lot of the owner, J. C. Dyer. May success attend the efforts of Mr. Vetterlein.

A Suit for Wages.

The case of Charles E. Jefferson against D. V. Corle, for balance due for services rendered, was tried in Justice Moffett's court this morning. Isaac P. Runyon, of Pope & Runyon, appeared for the plaintiff, and S. S. Swackhamer for the defendant. Judgment was reserved.

Reprimanded the Young Man.

A young colored man, who gave his name as Paul Thompson, was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning. He was arrested by Patrolman Saffron. The charge was for being disorderly. After listening to the prisoner's story, the Judge suspended sentence with a reprimand.

Cooking School for Boys.

Cincinnati wives of the future will be either a very happy or a very unhappy class. For Cincinnati men of the future will know all about the noble art of cookery. They will not talk merely about the "pie that mother use to make" and the doughnuts that rendered Aunt Sarah famous. They will speak of "my ragouts" and "my biscuits."

For the Cincinnati boys are learning to cook in the high school.

They wear caps and aprons, the young masculine cooks, in their school basement kitchen. They are taught the simpler of the chemical processes involved in cooking.—New York Journal.

A SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL.

NEW JERSEY MILITARY ACADEMY A MODEL INSTITUTION.

The First Half-Year Ends This Week—Twenty-six Students Enrolled—Methods Employed and Personnel of the Staff.

The New Jersey Military Academy, which was org nized by Dr. A. D. Warde last fall, will finish its first half-year tomorrow, and by invitation of the principal a reporter of The Daily Press visited the school yesterday morning to observe the progress that had been made.

The academy is located in a fine building on Prospect place. The first thing that impresses the visitor upon entering is the decidedly un-schoollike appearance of the house. A bright, cheery fire was blazing in the open fire place in the hall; there were soft rugs upon the floors, draperies at the doors and pictures and mirrors upon the walls. The furnishings are those of an elegant private house, and the writer would have forgotten that he was in a school had it not been for the groups of neatly-uniformed students that stood chatting in the different rooms.

The opening exercises, which were held at 8:30 o'clock, were of a pleasing character. The students filed in military order into the parlor where chairs were arranged for their accommodation. Prof. William E. MacClymont, who has charge of the musical instruction in the school, presided at the grand piano, while several hymns were sung and the Lord's Prayer was chanted. The students joined in responsive reading of one of the Psalms, and an address lasting a few minutes was given by Rev. H. J. Johnson. The same order is followed each morning.

After the opening exercises the students marched to their class rooms on the second floor. The school day lasts from 8:30 a. m. until 1 o'clock.

Besides the two class rooms, one for the older and one for the younger scholars, there is a study room and the room of the principal upon the second floor. Upon the third floor are the rooms of the boarding students, of whom there are now two in the school. The rooms of the students present a neat and homelike appearance. They are kept in order by the students themselves. Upon the first floor a physical and chemical laboratory is being fitted up for the use of students in the scientific department.

The number of pupils enrolled is twenty six, a number of whom are from distant States. The teaching staff is headed by Dr. Warde, the principal, who as principal of the North Plainfield school has already demonstrated his ability as a teacher and organizer. He possesses the university degrees of A. M. and Ph D., and is also a graduate of the New York State Normal College.

Prof. E. Lacasse, A. B., of the University of Paris, is the teacher of French, beginners' Latin and advanced history. P. R. Colwell, a graduate of Princeton University, has charge of the work in advanced Latin, higher English and Greek.

Rev. George Hauser is the teacher of German. Both this language and French are thus taught by native teachers, giving facilities for intimate acquaintance with the language.

Miss Anna D Cooper, of Westfield, is the teacher of elocution. Under her direction and Dr. Warde's the pupils are rehearsing "The Merchant of Venice," and the play will be produced in public in Music Hall later in the season.

The course is a five-year one, preparatory for college. The student begins at ten years of age and can enter college at fifteen. Two students will graduate in June. One of these will enter Cornell University and the other the University of Pennsylvania.

The Songmakers of America.

One of the most novel entertainments ever offered the music lovers of Plainfield will be given under the auspices of "The Rasores" and the Woman's Parliamentary Club, on the evening of March 10th. This will be a lecture by Mrs. Alfred Chester Coursen, entitled "The Songmakers of America." Mrs. Coursen will be accompanied in her song illustrations by Miss Ellington Lum. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Henry Maxson, Mrs. Horace Kimball, Mrs. A. S. Patterson, Mrs. S. R. Krom and Miss Yates.

Improved His Property.

Hugh McDonald, of Park avenue, who has purchased the lot on Park avenue, next to Cedar brook and adjoining his other property, has greatly improved his new property by having it filled in and graded. Masons are now at work erecting a retaining wall along the brook to keep it in its proper channel. It is understood that Mr. McDonald intends building there in the spring.

POLICE LUNCH WAGON.

THE NOVEL MUNICIPAL INSTITUTION TO BE IN VOGUE AGAIN.

Present Police Board are in Favor of the Night Patrolmen being Dined With Hot Coffee at Expense of City.

The midnight stillness of the Plainfield streets is again to be disturbed by the sound of the police lunch wagon. This evening a meeting of the Police Board will be held and the question of resuming the running of the midnight lunch wagon will be discussed. As a majority of the Board are in favor of the lunch wagon, it seems very probable that the wagon will resume its rounds in a few days and furnish the policemen with a cup of hot coffee and a sandwich.

A member of the Board was in conversation with a Press reporter this morning, and gave the reasons of the Board in favoring the plan. The policemen of the night squad go on duty at 7 o'clock and leave at 5 in the morning. Of course it is necessary for them to have one meal while on duty. In summer there is little trouble, as they are not anxious nor need anything warm to drink at their midnight meal. They then carry their lunch from home and are willing to eat it cold. When the winter months come on, it is generally conceded that a man who is exposed to the elements all night, as a policeman, needs something to warm his blood when he partakes of his solitary lunch. It is conducive to good health to see that he has something of the kind.

Now the old custom used to be to allow the men to take a little time to return to their homes and get a warm lunch. The Board objects to this for the reason that the city is thus left unprotected at a time when protection is most needed. The force is not large enough to allow of reliefs at the lunch hour, and the Board claims that the only other measure that can be successfully worked is to have a wagon go over the city and furnish a warm lunch to the policemen instead of allowing them to leave their posts to go in search of it. The expense, it is claimed, is much less than if a relief was provided for.

The plan, as was adopted last winter, was to have a wagon equipped with a stock of sandwiches and an urn of hot coffee make the rounds of the different posts and furnish each of the men with a warm lunch on or about midnight.

The principal objection raised against the plan is its expense, but the Board claims that, as a warm lunch is necessary to good service and good health, it is cheaper to have a wagon go to the policemen than have them leave their posts and go home for their lunch, leaving the city without police protection, or to have a sufficient increase in the force to provide for a relief.

A QUIET MARRIAGE.

Miss Emma D. Hughson Becomes the Wife of George W. Ulrick.

A quiet wedding was celebrated last evening at 7:30 o'clock when Miss Emma D. Hughson, of East Second street, became the wife of George W. Ulrick, of East Fifth street. The marriage was performed by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, at his home on West Front street.

The bride was gowned in French blue silk trimmed with white chiffon and point lace, and was attended by her sister, Miss Lizzie Hughson, as bridemaid, who wore a gown of white appropriately trimmed. The best man was Herbert Felson, of New Market.

Following the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride where a wedding supper was served to the immediate family and a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Ulrick received a number of useful and valuable presents.

They will reside at the groom's home on East Fifth street. The groom is employed as foreman at the machine shop corner of East Fourth and Washington streets. He and his wife went to housekeeping at once, and did not take an extended trip.

Coming Lectures.

The Parliamentary Club held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building this morning. The attendance was good and among those present were two visitors, Miss Mott and Mrs. Terhune, of Boston. The committee on lectures reported that the Casino had been engaged for March 10th for the lecture of Mrs. Coursen on "The Songmakers of America." A bulletin of the principal news events of the past month was displayed by the committee in charge of that work.

Charles Smith a Winner.

At the benefit shoot given to Neaf Apgar at Orange Lake today, Charles Smith, of this city, won the first match by killing 24 out of 25 birds.

REV. EDWARD PAYSON HAMMOND.

IN THE RELIGIOUS PATH.

FORTY LITTLE FOLKS DECLARED THEY WANTED ETERNAL LIFE.

Evangelist Hammond Meets With Great Success Among the Children—Several Tots Spoke of Their Love for Religion.

The visit of the "children's evangelist," Rev. Edward Payson Hammond, is likely to be remembered for a long time in Plainfield. The two meetings held under his charge yesterday afternoon and evening, in the Park Avenue Baptist church, were of unusual interest and remarkable in their results.

The afternoon meeting was especially for the children, though older persons were scattered among the little ones, both from the desire to hear a new and magnetic speaker and in order to do personal work among the children. Mr. Hammond, while interesting all his hearers, finds an especially appreciative audience among the little folk, who are strongly attracted by his kind face and fatherly manner, and quickly grasp the truth of the Gospel, as presented in his clear explanations and appeals and his appropriate and helpful illustrations. About forty of the children present expressed the desire to give their hearts to Christ and live for Him, and many of their parents testify that they clearly understand the great step they have taken. An interesting and touching part of the meeting was testimony and song by a number of little folks from South Plainfield, who drove over and attended the meeting, telling of their recent conversion under Mr. Hammond's influence.

The evening meeting was for all, and was very well attended. The service was to Christians, and was in part an account of the many occasions on which great results for God had been accomplished suddenly, under the power of the Holy Spirit. Many interesting anecdotes were included in the address, which was delivered entirely without notes and in a forceful and pleasing manner. Among other incidents of his own experience, related by Mr. Hammond, was that of an occasion on which he felt strangely drawn to introduce Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade" into his address. Afterward he learned that a survivor of that charge had been present at the service and been led by the allusion and invitation to enlist in a greater war, to give his heart to God.

The latter part of the service was informal, taking somewhat the form of a testimony meeting. Mr. Hammond went down the aisle and asked one and another of the newly-converted children to rise, while he asked them a few questions, thus drawing out the story of their simple but real Christian experience. After testimony and prayer from the older ones, and the expressed determination on the part of several to enter upon the Christian life, helpful and earnest words from Mr. Hammond and Rev. J. W. Richardson closed the meeting.

Jopson's Alleged Assailants Arraigned.

Percy DeStanley, his sister Mabel, Wm. Drumpelman and Frederick Tier, all of Rahway, were today arraigned in the Union County Court at Elizabeth, before Judge McCormick, to plead to indictments found against them for aggravated assault on Alfred Jopson. He is the Astoria-Waldorf coachman, who, it is asserted, was lured to Rahway Nov. 29th last by means of an anonymous letter, and was beaten. The defendants pleaded not guilty and were held under $200 bonds each to await trial Feb. 3d. Judge DeMeza will defend the prisoners.

PARKS SEEM HOODOOED.

COULDN'T BOWL A LITTLE BIT IN A LEAGUE GAME LAST NIGHT.

Their Opponents Were the Roselles, and They Were in the Lead at All Stages of the Contest—Poor Showing.

The Park Club rolled three more games in the Central Journal League last night, and they lost them all Their opponents were the Roselle Casinos.

Nobody did anything to speak of except George Worth, who bowled in his old-time form. F. O. Ball held his own in two games, but he didn't distinguish himself. Arthur Murphy, one of the "youngsters" who have been putting up a great game in practice, made his debut in a championship game. He promptly succumbed to the excitement and could not roll better than 142. William J. Roome, Jr., another of the "youngsters," made his first appearance in the second game His best was 132.

The visitors had the first game all to themselves The home team did not even get a view of the lead. Then the Roselles won out as they pleased by 76 pins. The Parks quite frightened themselves by leading for the first frame in the second game. The shock was so great that they fell in the rear at once and were beaten by 129 pins. The third game saw the Parks in the lead for three frames. Then the visitors waked up and bestirred themselves. The Parks were soon left behind, Roselle winning by 77 pins. The Park Club is now anchored so firmly to the last position in the league that it will take a remarkable effort to get anywhere else.

The individual scores were as follows:

A Truce in a Trolley War.

The trolley war which has been waging between the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company and the Brunswick Traction Company is likely to be amicably settled. Judge Gottfried Krueger, president of the latter company, is authority for the statement. He said that his company had made overtures to the New York and Philadelphia company, with a view to settling their difficulties out of court and using each other's privileges. The Brunswick Traction Company will use the tracks of the other company from Bound Brook to Somerville.

Spoke for New Jersey.

At the Megantic Club dinner, held at Boston last week, J. E. Martine spoke for the New Jersey contingent. The members of this club in Plainfield include Wm. K. McClure, Hon. Wm. H. Brower, Hon. J. Kirkner, R M. Stelle and W. B. Wadsworth.

Elected a Conductor.

At the annual convention of the Grand Division, Sons of Temperance, held in Mechanics' Hall, New Brunswick, yesterday, Mrs. S. A. Mattox, of Plainfield, was elected to the position of conductor.

CLUB FOR YOUNG WOMEN

THE ORGANIZATION FOSTERED BY THE KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Preliminary Steps Taken This Morning to Establish the Institution—To be at Watchung Avenue and Fourth Street.

This city is to have a Young Women's Club. The subject of organizing such an enterprise has long been under consideration by the representative young women of Plainfield, and the movement became tangible today when a body of delegates from the different circles of the King's Daughters held a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. building, and completed the preliminary steps in the organization of the club. Miss Lillian E. Oakley was made chairman of the meeting.

The question of engaging quarters for the club was talked over and it was decided to engage rooms in the brick house at the northwest corner of Watchung avenue and Fifth street. The young women are making an effort to collect furniture for the rooms. They are especially in need of donations of tables, covers, chairs and subscriptions to periodicals. Any articles to be donated may be left at the rooms on Watchung avenue next Monday.

The committee on organization will hold a meeting Monday afternoon to elect permanent officers and complete the details of organization. Tuesday evening the rooms will be formally opened by a social, to which all young women of the city will be invited.

The work of the club will include the establishment of classes in cooking, sewing and other practical work.

CATHOLIC CLUB SMOKER.

During the Sociability St. Mary's New Assistant Rector Was Elected a Member.

Last evening in the Plainfield Catholic Clubhouse, after the reception was given to Father Murphy in the Parochial School building, the members and their friends indulged in a smoker. The members of the club were out in full force. The distinguished guests present included Father Smyth, Father Murphy and Father McCormick.

President Tobin had charge of the programme, which consisted of selections on the Crown piano by Andrew Carpenter; violin solos by Joseph Sattels; an exhibition of a phonograph by Thomas Schaeffer; recitation by Michael Higgins; song and comical sayings by Charles Ward, and songs by James Stewart.

During the evening Father Murphy was called upon and he made a few happy remarks, in which he tendered his resignation as spiritual director and active member of the club. Father McCormick was then introduced and his name was proposed for membership, and he will take the position left vacant by Father Murphy.

At a late hour refreshments were served by the committee in charge, and when the affair came to an end all carried away with them pleasant memories of the event.

EVENT IN COLORED SOCIETY.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram W. Brown Celebrate Their 10th Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram W. Brown, of 56 Elm place, celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding yesterday, and last evening they were tendered a surprise by the "four hundred" of the colored people of this city. The affair was arranged by Miss Euphenia Dorsey, Miss Hattie Dorsey and Miss Charlotte Dorsey, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Douglass, Miss B. Terrell and Burrill Gibson.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many presents, both useful and ornamental. The evening was pleasantly passed in a social manner and everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly. It was late when the guests departed, but before they left they extended to the host and hostess their best wishes for many happy returns of the event.

Slipped on the Ice.

Frank Hubler, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hubler, of 262 Netherwood avenue, fell upon the ice while playing upon the front piazza of his father's house yesterday afternoon, and fractured his left leg near the thigh. Dr. T. S. Davis was called and set the injured bone.

Said He Had a Reason for It.

George White was arrested by Patrolman Watson last evening on the charge of being disorderly. He was arraigned this morning before City Judge DeMeza and pleaded extenuating circumstances. The Judge suspended sentence.

Old Vets to be Interviewed.

All the old soldiers in this vicinity have received notice from special examiner Maloney of Newark to hold themselves in readiness to be interviewed and to have their pensions reexamined.

GOLDEN TOKEN OF LOVE.

FATHER MURPHY PRESENTED WITH $270 BY ST. MARY'S PARISHIONERS.

The Gift Made at the Reception Tendered by the Catholic Club—Felicitous Remarks of President Tobin and Clergy.

It was a happy event that took place last evening in the assembly hall of the Parochial School, when a reception was given to Rev Father Murphy, the curate, who, after a service of five years in Plainfield, was transferred to Paterson by the bishop. The sudden departure of Father Murphy made it impossible for the members of St. Mary's church to show any appreciation of his services, and the idea of giving him a reception was conceived in the minds of the members of the Plainfield Catholic Club, who arranged the affair for last evening.

The hall was well filled with members and friends of the parish, and the choir of mixed voices from the church was present to give two selections.

It was nearly 8:30 when Father Smyth and Father McCormick, of St. Mary's church; Father Smith, of Cranford, and President George J. Tobin and Secretary J. J. Kenney, of the Catholic Club, entered the hall. As Father Murphy was escorted up the aisle there was loud and hearty applause, and at the same time the choir sang effectively "Auld Lang Syne." The above-named persons took seats on the platform and President Tobin, chairman of the affair, spoke as follows in addressing Father Murphy:

Dear Father Murphy—It has become a part of my duty as chairman of this meeting to have the honor to address you, and in doing so I wish to express the best wishes and regrets from the people of St. Mary's church, and particularly so the members of The Children of Mary, the Sewing Circle and the Catholic Club.

Your sudden departure prevented us from saying farewell and bidding you godspeed, but we ask that you accept the wish for the deed.

During your stay at St. Mary's we learned to love, first, as a priest and friend; second, as a club member and guide to all our actions relative to club matters; third and last of all as an honored citizen of the city of Plainfield. We felt from the interest you took in us that the confidence and affections were in no way misplaced

Coming from the Seminary to this your first mission, you have labored constantly in our behalf for almost five years. Your prayers for us before the altar of God, your willingness to answer the sick call, at whatever hour it came, your kindness and patience with the erring, your generosity in sharing your small salary with the poor, and above all your unsparing efforts for the improvement of our young men will make your absence a deep and long felt loss.

We would have you remain with us, but the voice of authority spoke and called you to another field of labor; you must obey—we must humbly submit. You leave us, but we will always think of you and hold your name and work in grateful remembrance.

May great honors be yet in store for you sir, may neither time nor space sever the bonds that bind us togther, and may your future career in St. John's parish at Paterson be as bright an happy as was your past career in St. Mary's at Plainfield.

In conclusion we ask you to accept this small token of our affection, and in return beg a rememberance in your prayers.

As President Tobin concluded his remarks he presented Father Murphy with $270 in gold, a gift from the members and friends of the parish.

Father Murphy felt very much the expression of kindness on the part of his former parishioners, and it was no easy task for him to speak. In part he spoke as follows:

"I regretted very much to leave Plainfield, and when I went to Paterson I found that the people of St. John's parish were not pleased because Father McCormick had been taken away from them, but I assure you I had nothing to do with the change. I want to thank you one and all for your kindness and gratitude, and I take this occasion of publicly thanking Father Smyth for his kindness during my stay in Plainfield. I did not want to go away from here, but the bishop thought otherwise. However, you have a better and a worthier man as an assistant. I shall often think of you and my heart will go back to the old love."

At this time Father McCormick, the new curate, was called upon and he gave a short and interesting talk. It was evident that Father McCormick is going to be very popular, judging from the hearty reception given him last evening. He spoke in substance as follows:

"I thought that my campaign in Paterson had won everyone on my side during the five years that I labored in that field, but when I went back yesterday no one seemed to know me, and all that I heard was the name of Father Murphy. I am happy to be present tonight and add a few words to what has been said. You have known Father Murphy five years, but I have known him longer than that. We studied and were ordained together. I speak of him as a friend. I found him a great help to me and it is telling no secrets when I say that Father Murphy was the favorite in our class. Five years ago last Saturday we were ordained at Seton Hall, and

MONETARY COMMISSION

Success of the Convention in Session at Indianapolis.

ADOPT SOUND-MONEY PLAN

Not to Adjourn Without Day, but Subject to the Call of the Chairman--Prepared to Fight the Campaign for Sound Money.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—The Monetary Convention is doing its work in a manner which justifies the most sanguine expectations of its promoters. The meetings have all been marked by a large attendance, great enthusiasm and a resolute disposition to unite in support of the plan of the Monetary Commission. The features of the session yesterday were the resolutions indorsing the report, the speech of ex-Secretary Fairchild upon the principles of sound currency and brief five-minute speeches by delegates from different States reporting the state of feeling at their homes, and the general demand from the business community that Congress take energetic action on the currency problem.

A separate resolution which had been carefully prepared by the authority of the Executive Committee was adopted, thanking all members of the Monetary Commission by name for their report upon the "conditions, faults and dangers of the present laws, regulations and customs governing the currency, banking and standard of value of the United States of America and their plan for the changes recommended." A copy of these resolutions will be engrossed and sent to each member of the commission.

A significant hint of the temper of the convention was shown by the resolution offered by Mr. J. Harden Rhoades, of New York, which was withdrawn for the moment, but was adopted before the close of the session. The proposition of Mr. Rhoades was that the convention should not adjourn without day, but subject to the call of the chair.

The idea of Mr. Rhoades is to serve notice upon the country that the business community is prepared to fight the campaign for sound money to the end. The refusal of Congress to take proper action or the development of any serious crisis may result in a new call by Chairman Hanna, of the Executive Committee, for the assembling of the delegates, the adoption of new methods of conducting the campaign and the raising of additional funds. Those who believe that the currency question can be ignored are not likely to find much comfort in the spirit displayed in this resolution of Mr. Rhoades.

Another incident showing the enthusiasm and unanimity prevailing among the Western delegations was the action of the Iowa representatives. When they read in a silver paper that they were against the retirement of the greenbacks they promptly called an indignation meeting at which each of the fifteen delegations designated one of its members to visit the local newspaper offices and deny the truthfulness of this representation of their position. They informed each paper that they were in favor of retiring the greenbacks and indorsing the plan of the commission in its entire scope and purpose. Some of the delegates were not satisfied with this action, but called another meeting late Tuesday night and adopted formal resolutions requesting the Iowa representatives in Congress to use their best efforts to secure currency reform based on the gold standard. They further expressed themselves in favor of the general plan of the monetary commission's report including the maintenance of the gold standard, the gradual retirement of demand notes of Government and the establishment of a sensitive system of banking not limitd to Government bonds as a basis of issue. These resolutions were adopted unanimously and will be transmitted to Senators Allison and Gear and the Iowa members of the House.

Another incident showing the appreciation felt for those members of Congress who are declaring themselves for a brave fight for currency reform was the dispatch sent to Representative Prince, of the Committee on Banking, signed by Franklin MacVeagh, John M. Clark, H. H. Kohlsaat, Marshall Field, and the thirty or forty other members making up the delegation from Illinois. Mr. Prince was assured that the Illinois delegation sent "greeting, congratulations and hearty indorsement of the firm stand you have taken for the currency reform."

Resolutions were adopted by the convention, of which the chief points were:

1. To remove at once and forever all doubt as to what the standard of value in the United States is and is to be.

2. To establish the credit of the United States at the highest point among the nations of the world.

3. To eliminate from our currency system those features which reason and experience show to be elements of weakness or danger.

4. To provide a paper currency convertible into gold and equal to it in value at all times and places, on which, with a volume adequate to the general and usual needs of business there shall be combined a quality of growth and elasticity through it will adjust itself automatically and promtly to all variations of demand, whether sudden or gradual, and which shall distribute itself throughout the country as the wants of different sections may require.

5. To so utilize the existing silver dollars as to maintain their parity with gold without imposing undue burdens upon the Treasury.

6. To avoid any injurious contraction of the currency.

7. To avoid the issue of interest-bearing bonds, except in case of unlooked-for emergency; but to confer the power to issue bonds when necessary for the preservation of the credit of the Government.

8. To accomplish these ends by a plan which would lead from our present confused and uncertain situation by gradual and progressive steps, without shock or violent change to a monetary system which will be thoroughly safe and good, and capable of growth to any extent that the country may require.

The conference then adjourned.

Laura Snapp, a belle of Keystone, W. Va., shot and killed Vance Vaughn for stepping on her foot at a ball.

SILVER DEBATE IN SENATE.

Teller Says He Would Not Cause Disgraceful Condition of Affairs.

Washington, Jan. 27.—At the opening of the Senate yesterday Mr. Hale (Me.) presented the report of the conferees on the urgent deficiency appropriation bill and the report was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Vest, the Senate took up the Teller resolution. The debate was opened by Mr. Teller, the author of the resolution. He said he would permit no man to excel him in honor or in good faith.

"I would do nothing," he said, "that would bring about such a condition of affairs as would be disgraceful, whatever the opinion of the Senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Hoar) may have of my convictions. The Massachusettts Senator tried to make it appear that my position was on a parellel with the making of a ten-dollar piece out of a copper cent. Such a proposition I do not advance."

Mr. Teller said he would be willing to retire from public life if by so doing he could bring about an international bimetallic agreement. He maintained that the existing contract concerning the money in which bonds of the United States were payable could not be changed without the action of Congress, one of the parties to the contract, and that the government had a right to all the advantages the contract afforded.

Will Vote This Afternoon.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The Senate will begin to vote this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Teller-Matthews resolution. The final vote will not be reached until all the pending amendments are disposed of. The silver Senators will move to lay each amendment on the table, and this will be done, for a majority is still for the resolution. The only amendment which had any chance of consideration was the one offered by Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, and if the Republicans get together, there is a chance to adopt it, but from the outlook it does not seem possible to secure a solid vote.

Senator Chandler, Carter, Wolcott and Shoup seem to think that no harm can come from voting for the Teller resolution, and it is understood they will vote against any amendment. It is probable, however, that Senator Quay will reverse his vote of last week. There may be other changes, and it is stated that the majority to-day will not be as large as it was last week.

Senator Lodge said yesterday that he was going to press both of his amendments, but the silver men will, as stated, move to lay them all on the table.

Senator Nelson's resolution simply adds to the original Stanley Matthews-Teller resolution the following words: "and that it is the duty of the Government of the United States under existing laws to maintain the parity in value of its gold and silver money, so that the dollar of one metal shall for all monetary purposes always be equal in value to the dollar of the other metal."

During the course of yesterday's debate Mr. Fairbanks interrupted Mr. Teller with the statement that he had absolute information that the Administration was paying the bonded obligations of the Government in legal tender notes. "On January 1, $29,000,000 of bonds matured, 55 continued Mr. Fairbanks, "and I am informed by the Secretary of the Treasury that these bonds were paid not in gold, not in silver, but in legal-tender notes."

SILVER MEN ARE PLEASED.

See Much in Their Favor in the Action of the President and Mr. Gage.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The displacement of Mr. Preston from the Directorship of the Mint and the declaration of Secretary Gage that the President's advisors heartily support his efforts to secure international bimetallism, causes great satisfaction among the Republicans in Congress, who have been declaring that the President was not in favor of the single gold standard.

Those men whose sentiments were reflected by Mr. Wolcott's recent speech, in which Secretary Gage and Mr. Preston were criticised, feel that Mr. Preston's displacement is a vindicaton of their contention that the President was not in sympathy with the proposition to "commit the country more thoroughly to the gold standard," and that the declaration of Secretary Gage Tuesday night with reference to international bimetallism is a compliance with the wishes of the President.

These two things are interpreted by those who want "something done for silver" as clearly indicating the President is determined upon a policy of conciliation towards themselves. This assumption may not be warranted, but the men of silver fancies who still adhere to the Republican party, appear to be greatly pleased, and those of the opposition say with glee that the Administration is showing signs of weakening before their attacks.

Gold men in Congress deny that any such significance can properly be given to the events.

She Married a Tramp.

Sioux City, Ia., Jan. 27.—After twenty-six years of tramp life, George Somerville, has married a woman worth $20,000. His father, a New Jersey minister, educated him for the pulpit. The lad ran away at eighteen, and "tramped it" until nearly forty-four. Last month he chanced to attend services at the local rescuse mission. Among the workers that night was Mrs. Christian Olsen, a well-to-do widow. Somerville's scholarly face interested her, and she gave him money and induced him to seek work in town. Their acquaintance ripened and resulted in their marriage by Rev. W. L. Brown, of the First Methodist Church.

Named by the President.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The President has sent the following nominations to the Senate:

Richard C. Parsons, Jr., of Ohio, to be second secretary of the Embassy at Rome, Italy.

Abram M. Tillman, of Tennessee, to be attorney for the Middle District of Tennessee.

Lieutenant Junior Grade J. G. Doyle to be a lieutenant.

Rev. William T. Helms, of New Jersey, to be chaplain in the navy.

May Expect Another Coal Strike.

Pittsburg, Jan. 27.—A very bad sign for the peaceful solution of the coal dispute is the fact that railroads, mills and other large consumers are stocking up heavily in anticipation of another strike.

THE PRESIDENT IN NEW YORK.

He Will Attend the Banquet of the Manufacturers To-night.

New York, Jan. 27.—President McKinley and the party which accompanied him to New York to attend the banquet of the National Association of Manufacturers, to be given at the Waldorf-Astoria, arrived in the city this afternoon. The party, which includes the President and Mrs. McKinley, Secretary and Mrs. Lyman J. Gage, Senator Frye of Maine, Miss Mabel McKinley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Addison Porter and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Williams of Chicago, reached the Windsor Hotel about 3 p. m. The President and Mrs. McKinley occupy a suite on the south half of the parlor floor. The remainder of the party have accommodations on the same floor.

This evening the President and Abner McKnley, accompanied by the other gentlemen in the party, will attend the banquet. The ladies will occupy boxes. Mrs. McKinley and friends will be in the centre box, in the north end of the banquet hall, which commands an excellent view, and at the same time, is not as conspicuous as some of the other boxes.

The banquet to-night will be one of the finest ever given in the city, and will, it is expected, surpass any given in the new hotel, which is noted for the splendor of its entertainments. The tables will be arranged in the ballroom and the annex for the accommodation of 1,500 guests. President Theodore Search of the Manufacturers' Association will preside.

Diplomatic Corps at White House.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The President and Mrs. McKinley entertained the diplomatic corps last night at the first state dinner of the season. Secretary of State and Mrs. Sherman assisted in receiving the guests in the east room. The decorations of the State dining room consisted largely of roses and orchids. Alternate placques of these flowers were laid the length of the table. The mantels were banked with cut flowers, roses, hyacinths and carnations, while a profusion of smilax was draped above the doors and cobweb like from the ceiling and chandeliers. The window spaces were filled with palms and rubber plants. Mrs. McKinley appeared in a gown of heavy black velvet, with diamond ornaments.

Engine Boiler Explodes.

Phillipsburg, Jan. 27.—The boiler of an engine on the Lehigh & Hudson Railroad exploded yesterday afternoon and probably fatally injured Fireman Robert Ferguson, of this place. The accident happened near Andover, Warren County. The engine was drawing the crown sheet of the boiler dropped and the end of it blew out. Ferguson was standing in the tender and caught the force of the explosion full in the face and breast. He was blown back, landing on the third car from the engine, a loaded coal gondola. Ferguson was brought to Phillipsburg last evening and is in a critical condition. He is badly scalded and may lose his sight.

Negro Woman Lynched in Mississippi.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 27.—A negro woman, who clubbed a fatally wounded wounded young white man, has been lynched by a mob of the young men's relatives and friends a few miles south of Natche, Miss. The vengeance was of the most summary character, the woman being shot to death and her body left in the swamp in which she had taken refuge after the perpetration of her cold-blooded crime. Several negro men who fled with the woman would have been disposed of in like manner by the mob had they do succeeded in eluding the pursuers.

Philadelphia Millionaire Dead.

Philadelphia, Jan. 27.—Andrew M. Moore, the millionaire owner of the Girard House, and head of the firm of Moore & Sinnott, distillers, died at his residence in this city yesterday from the effects of a fall received some time ago. He was the father of Albert H. Moore, the owner of the Cloverdale Stock Farms. Andrew M. Moore was worth about $6,000,000. He leaves three sons. Mr. Moore was in his eighty-fourth year.

Ohio Senate Favors Cuba.

Columbus, Jan. 27.—The Senate adopted last night a resolution demanding for Cuba belligerent rights. The vote was 35 to 4. Those voting against it were Senators Garfield, Williams (Republican), Robertson (Democrat) and Wightman. The Republicans tried to amend it to indorse President McKinley's attitude toward Cuba, but failed, Senator Burke (Republican) voting with the Democrats against it.

Another Counterfeit $100 Bill.

New York, Jan. 27.—The officials of the Sub-Treasury here received another $100 silver certificate yesterday. It was sent by a local bank which received it from its correspondent in Detroit. The officers of the Detroit bank were in doubt as to its genuineness. The bill was stamped "Bad" and returned to the New York bank, which will send it back to Detroit.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the Public Library Wednesday morning, February 2d, at 11 o'clock.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A supper will be held in Vincent chapel tomorrow evening under the charge of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. Edward F. Randolph, of West Front street, who has been quite ill, is much improved and is now able to go about the house.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

CIVIL SERVICE SCANDAL

Chief Clerk Bailey Makes Grave Charges to Senate Committee.

SOME SEVERE CRITICISM

Alleged Questionable Appointments Made --A Letter to Theodore Roosevelt on the Subject--Business Confused and Changes in the Office Recommended.

Washington, Jan. 27.—E. D. Bailey, chief clerk of the Examiner's office, Civil Service Commission, submitted some sensational testimony at yesterday's session of the Senate Civil Service Investigating Committee. It was a sequel to the charges he made Monday of intimidation and interference by the Commission with his testimony.

He called attention to the bitter attack made on him then by President Proctor, of the Commission. In a letter which the witness made public at the instance of the committee, addressed to Theodore Roosevelt, then New York Police Commissioner, now Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the Commission was severely criticised.

In an accompanying personal letter he expressed the hope that in any reorganization the President might deem desirable to make, Mr. Proctor might be retained in his position. This communication making startling charges, and which created a sensation, follows in brief:

"The business of the Commission is in the greatest confusion and is becoming more and more demoralized for want of intelligent management. Requisitions remain unacted on for months, and many complaints are made by the departments of delays and annoyances detrimental to the service. In such cases temporary appointments were authorized, and after ninety days made permanent, although no rule exists permitting such actions. These requisitions probably cover several hundred places. In one batch thirty-two appointments in the Marine Hospital service were reported for which no authority existed, and the only excuse was the failure of the commission to provide registers. The Navy Department recently appointed fifteen steel inspectors without examination or certification by the Commission, and the department has requested the Commission to make the appointments regular by issuing certifications. No action on these has yet been taken. The engineer service at large has made requisitions to fill hundreds of places and no provision has yet been made to meet the demands. A number of appointments in the Sub-Treasury at New York have been made since the classification without examination.

"No attempt has been made to meet the needs of the ordnance department and irregularities and questionable appointments have been so numerous that the rules have almost lost their force and the alleged law of necessity is regnant and a want of uniformity exists in all the business of the Commission, and the greatest uncertainty prevails. The subordinates cannot do their work with confidence because all precedents, practices and principles are abandoned and new ones substituted.

"The present condition is thoroughly alarming. Disaster can be averted only by immediate remedial action and at least three changes in the office should be made at once, not for political reason, but in the interests of the service."

Mr. Proctor asked if Mr. Bailey had not sent copies of this communication to certain Senators. The witness replied that his wife was, so far as he knew, the only other person who knew of its existence.

President Proctor, of the Commission, then took the stand, and sought to show that the sweeping extension of May 6, 1896, was not, as has been alleged, "a leap in the dark."

Fourth-Class Postmasters.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Postmasters have been appointed as follows:

New Jersey—Chatham, Morris, Ezra F. Ferris; Lebanon, Hunterdon, Henry A. Allen.

Pennsylvania — Axemann, Center, Wm. H. Miller; Cross Fork, Potter, Henry Bodler; Dayton, Armstrong, Albert W. Schrecongest; Elgin, Erie, D. H. Alden; Exeter Station, Berks, H. B. Lovan.

New postoffices have been established as follows: Warbasse, Sussex County, New Jersey; Bonus, Butler County, Pennsylvania; Hazzard, Washington County, Pennsylvania.

Statehood Defeated.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Statehood legislation at this session was killed yesterday by the House Committee on Territories rejecting the Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma bills by a vote of 8 to 3. The first two measures were bunched and defeated. Then the Oklahoma bill was taken up and beaten by the same vote.

There was no discussion, as it was understood at the last meeting that the vote was to be taken without further preliminaries. Delegates Smith and Ferguson, of Ariona and New Mexico, stated that they wished to put themselves on record that if they were allowed to vote they would vote for the bills.

Schenk's Secret to Determine Sex.

Vienna, Jan. 27.—Professor Schenk has prepared a paper in which he describes his system for determining the question of sex. The rights to publish this pamphlet has been sold in Germany for $10,000. There is a stipulation, however, that it shall not be published until the American and English rights have been disposed of. Negotiations in this direction, it is said, are now pending.

Fell Dead at the Play.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 27.—Mrs. Patrick Crowe of No. 406 Elmer street dropped dead last evening while seated in Taylor's Opera House witnessing a play. Death was due to heartdisease.

Jackson Won't Fight.

San Francisco, Jan. 27.—Peter Jackson has drawn out of his fight with Fitzsimmons, which was scheduled to take place at Philadelphia early next month.

POLICE COURT HUMOR.

A police court story in the Plainfield Press turns up a good sample of American wit, even if the writer did dress up the story with his own reportorial humor, a species of wit which makes American newspapers always interesting and often gives American statesmen reputations as humorists when they are dull and prosy conversationalists. An offender named Linke was before a Plainfield city judge on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. The judge named $10 as the fine, and the prisoner made a move as to hand over the money. "What's the matter?" asked the judge of the waiting prisoner. "I am waiting for trading stamps," came the reply. It was so good that the judge let the man off without doubling the fine. Wit like that if uttered by a prominent man in Washington would be telegraphed all over the country.—New Brunswick Home News.

THE CURFEW.

The purpose of the Town Improvement Association to fasten the curfew bell upon this enlightened community was laughed into apparent obscurity when first proposed last fall. We are free to say that we don't believe in the prudish idea of the curfew bell, but nevertheless the following from the Camden Telegram will be interesting as showing what some people think of the institution:

Instead of the curfew bell it is the foghorn factory whistle that sends the children of Indianapolis scurrying to their homes at 8 o'clock every evening, according to law. The curfew law has proved to be an excellent aid to the inculcation of good morals among the youth of the towns in which it is in operation. Indianapolis is the first large city which has adopted the law, and the result of its operations there will be watched with interest.

Senator Reed has a bill in the Senate prohibiting the adulteration of linseed or flaxseed oil. Certainly. And amend it by including olive oil, castor oil, cod-liver oil, whale oil and all the other oils.—New York Tribune.

THEATRICAL.

Another large audience greeted the Payton Company at Music Hall last night and were pleased with the performance. Tonight the company present Bronson Howard's great piece, "The Banker's Daughter."

One of the many reasons why the play "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" has created a profound impression is found in its resistless appeal to the hearts of women. The deathless question of the inequality of the social law as determining the moral responsibility of the man and woman for the same act is dealt with in this drama in a vital way, while the point of view of both sexes is illustrated humanly and forcefully. Mrs. Fiske, who is probably the greatest exponent of realism on the modern stage, will present this play here next Tuesday at Stillman Music Hall.

Dainty, piquant and aglow with vitality, vivacity, Rice's stunning success "The French Maid" continues to crowd the popular Herald Square Theatre in New York. Its melodies are delightful, its fun fast and furious and its whole atmosphere artistic. The carnival ballet, with its picturesque transformation, is a hit. There will be another rush for souvenir traveling clocks, at the 150th performance, January 31st.

Plainfield Daughters Seen in Print.

A recent issue of Form, a society and fashion journal of New York that caters and circulates among the elite, contained handsome half-tone pictures and brief biographical sketches of two of Plainfield's talented daughters, Misses Sarah T. and Harriet Manning, whose fine musical accomplishments are well known.

Fractured His Leg.

Fred Johanson, 14 years old, a student at the Scotch Plains Public School, fell upon the stone steps of the school building this morning and fractured his leg. Dr. Westcott set the limb.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN AND NEW MARKET.

Squire Luckey has returned from a visit with out-of-town friends.

Mayor Brakeley was in Plainfield yesterday looking after business interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxson Dunham are visiting relatives in Plainfield for a few days.

Mrs. Anna Abbott has returned from Camden, where she has been visiting relatives.

J. E. Henry, of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., is out of town for a few days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dodwell will entertain a few friends at their home tomorrow evening.

Miss Millicent Vail, who is confined to the house with scarlet fever, is under the care of Dr. Jenkins, of Plainfield. Her condition is much improved.

The condition of Amos Vail, who is seriously ill, is no better, and it will probably be some time before he will be able to go out again. Dr. Brakeley is in attendance.

Last evening there was an official board meeting at the M. E. church after the prayer meeting. Tonight a special evangelistic service will be held under the direction of Evangelist E. B. Saunders, of Milton, Wis.

The grade established on North avenue and adopted at the last meeting of the Borough Council will necessitate the changing of much curbing on the avenue. In some places the curb will have to be set back several inches. In front of the postoffice the grade is right and the rest of the avenue in the borough will be set to it. Several years ago an attempt was made to establish a grade but the scheme was not carried out, hence the recent action of the Council previous to the granting of a franchise for a trolley on the above avenue.

For a place the size of Dunellen it is generally conceded that there should be some adequate police protection in the borough. There has never been anyone employed whose duties it was to watch the town when people are asleep, and a great many of the largest taxpayers are beginning to agitate the question seriously. The borough has two constables and two deputies. The latter are not in the service unless called upon by request of some of the higher authorities, and the two constables, while authorized so make arrests, do not get any money for their services unless they do make an arrest. The recent postoffice robbery was the result of the above question being discussed more than usual of late. Some people have an idea that the two constables should patrol the borough day and night without pay and watch out for the interests of the residents, yet there are very few people who are willing to contribute any money toward the support of a policeman or constable. There are people in the borough who own thousands of dollars worth of property and yet they do not think that it is important that a policeman should be hired to watch and protect it. On the other hand the majority of the people are of the opinion that the borough is too poor to hire a policeman, and do not feel like paying an additional tax toward the increase expenses that would naturally follow. As the borough is gradually growing the time is not far distant when the authorities will be obliged to secure the services of competent policemen to look after the property and interests of the town.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Mrs. Billings is entertaining her sister from Brooklyn.

Twilight Council, No. 14, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow evening.

Goodwill Lodge, Knights of Pythias, hold a meeting this evening.

The Loyal Additional meets in the Royal Arcanum rooms this evening.

Miss Amelia Brown has returned to her home in Rahway after a visit with relatives in Fanwood.

The Ladies' Circle of the Baptist church held a pleasant meeting at the parsonage Tuesday afternoon.

Dwight Spencer, secretary of the home department Sunday school work, will occupy the pulpit in the Baptist church next Sunday morning.

Goodwill Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will meet this evening, at which time Grand Chancellor, D. S. Rockafellow, of Somerville, will make an official visit.

Ernest R. Ackerman delivered his interesting lecture, entitled "Around the world in 80 minutes," in the Scotch Plains Baptist church last evening to a large audience. The proceeds are for furnishing the pulpit with artificial palms, etc.

—Tomorrow evening the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church will meet. The subject will be "Practical Applications of Beatitudes."

—The affairs of the late Plainfield Sanitary Company are being wound up under the direction of the receiver, Andrew Love, Sr., and the manager, Andrew Love, Jr. The equipment is now in good working order.

The Loyal Temperance Legion meets in W. C. T. U. Hall, Prospect street, tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Bethlehem held a pleasant social last evening at the residence of W. J. Thompson.

Herbert Buchanan has returned to his home in Philadelphia after a visit with his sister, Mrs. A. A. Smith, of Elm street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church holds its annual meeting in the church parlors next Wednesday.

The Westfield Junior bowling team will roll a series of three games with the Rahway team on the Gale's clubhouse alleys Saturday night.

The ladies of the Congregational church held a Dorcas afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock today at the home of Mrs. J. F. Cowperthwaite on Prospect street.

The bowling contest which was to have taken place on the alleys of Gale's clubhouse between the Y. M. C. A. team, of Plainfield, and the Westfield Junior team last evening was postponed one week.

The Methodist church will hold its fourth quarterly conference tonight. Rev. Dr. Smith, the presiding elder of the district, will occupy the chair, and reports will be presented showing the progress made in all departments of the church's work.

A benefit will be given to William H. Ward in the Westfield Club Hall tonight by the Jr. O. U. A. M. and other societies of which he is a member. Ward has been ill for several weeks and his friends are taking this means to assist his family.

Special Detective Hill, of the Central Railroad, is keeping a sharp lookout for trespassers upon the company's coal trains. He arrested Robert Harrison, a well driver of Westfield, Monday afternoon, and Justice Hart fined the offender $5 and costs. Tuesday the officer captured a man stealing coal from some of the company's cars standing on a siding above the Broad street crossing. The second prisoner gave his name as Bert Blake. He appeared very penitent and the Justice discharged him with a warning.

Father McCormick concluded by thanking all for their kind reception, and he said that he would try to be as faithful in his new field as Father Murphy was.

Father Smyth was then introduced by President Tobin, and he spoke a few pleasant words. He said that he was glad to hear Father McCormick make an admission that Father Murphy was a leader in his class, for he always understood that that class was the hardest that ever left Seton Hall. He thanked all for their generosity toward Father Murphy.

After the choir sang another selection Father Murphy gave his blessing, and after a general hand-shake the happy affair terminated. During the evening Father Murphy was presented with a handsome bouquet of flowers by one of his former parishioners.

PASSING COMMENT.

Those who have to pass under the railroad bridges in this city frequently, cannot but observe that in rainy weather the plank coverings over the sidewalks are by no means what they should be. The water trickles through them and drips on the heads of passing pedestrians with regular persistency. A new coat of paint might remedy the trouble by filling up the cracks between the boards.

* * * * *

During the last year there have appeared a series of slang expressions that have come into general use and are to be heard on every side. Among the most common of them are the "push," to designate a crowd, and "rubber-neck," one who is unusually curious, and is always prying into the affairs of others. The origin of these expressions is not generally known. Strange as it may seem, they were first used among the criminal classes, and have been used there for several years. They are distinctively American slang, however, and came from the criminals of the large cities who were in the habit of using those and other seemingly meaningless phrases.

* * * * *

An amusing story is told of James E. Martine, of this city, who is familiarly known as the "Farmer Orator," and some of his experiences in the last political campaign. Mr. Martine was speaking in this and neighboring states every evening and the work and excitement had completely tired him out. He spoke in Bayonne one night, and after a rousing meeting left that station late in the evening bound for Plainfield. He wrestled with Morpheus and tried to keep awake but his eyelids would close in spite of all his efforts. He heard the trainman call out "Westfield" and then all consciousness fled until the iron-clad lungs of the brakeman sounded "Bound Brook" in his ear. Mr. Martine sprang to his feet and demanded to know why they did not call out at Plainfield, only to be informed that they had shouted the name of that station several times. Mr. Martine took up his stand in the Bound Brook station and managed to remain awake until the milk train came. He boarded that train and started back to Plainfield. Manfully he tried to keep open his eyes. He argued with himself, explained over and over again the advantages of free silver but still his eyelids would close and the first thing he knew was the call of the train man shouting "Jersey City." Mr. Martine gave up his attempt to get to Plainfield that night and put up in a Jersey City hotel.

THE KICKER.

Kicking in the morning,
Kicking all the day;
Kicking if he's busy,
Kicking at delay.
Thus the chronic kicker
Fills his life with woes,
Frowning, grumbling, wrangling,
Everywhere he goes.

Nothing ever suits him,
Always finding fault;
Every kind of pleasure
He is sure to halt.
Scowling at the children,
Growling at his wife:
Turning peace and comfort
Into constant strife.

Kicking if the weather
Happens to be dry;
Kicking when the rain is
Tumbling from the sky.
Kicking in the summer,
Heat has then no charm;
Kicking in the winter,
Then he'd have it warm.

Kicking every mealtime,
Glaring at the meat;
Often he is saying,
"Nothing fit to eat."
Kicking when he's reading,
Grumbling at the light;
Now and then denouncing
Everything in sight.

Kicking in the morning,
Kicking all the day;
Kicking in the evening,
Kicking should he pray,
Kicking while he's thinking,
Kicking when in bed;
Wonder if he'll keep on
Kicking when he's dead.

JACK'S OBTUSENESS.

Theodora was quite sure she had settled the question at last. For a week past her thinking hours had been filled with an all-important subject, or, more properly speaking, two subjects, for the problem was to decide between two men, who had seen fit to look upon her as a fitting custodian for their Lares and Penates.

In accepting George Hunt, she felt herself fortified by a rampart of approving relatives and a decorous sense of propriety. As for Jack: well, she had always liked Jack. Everybody liked him. He was a genial, good fellow, and always in demand at all social gatherings. But he was poor as young lawyers generally are, and while people predicted a future for him, Theodora thought of the present, and decided to let Jack work out his career alone.

The clang at the door bell was the signal for the last hurried peep in the glass. Theodora felt a moment's pity for Jack as she caught the reflection. They were going to Mrs. Hathaway's soiree, and the mirror gave back to Theodora's vision all the loveliness of her gown, enchanced by the pretty bare neck and crowned by the fair young face.

It occurred to her several times during the evening that Jack was not acting especially worried. Although tonight was the time she had set as the utmost limit of her considerations, he had not intimated by look or word that he remembered this.

Theodora resolved to be severe, and it was with this resolution in mind that she suggested sitting out one of the dances which showed a scrawly "J" opposite on her programme.

"Certainly, if you wish," assented Jack, arranging the cushions behind his head. "In fact, I begin to think I'm a trifle tired myself. Quite a crush here to-night."

"Yes," said Theodora.

"I should think," continued Jack, gazing out into the ball room, "that Hunt would retire from society, or from dancing, at least. Just look at him now, whirling around like a top that hasn't been wound up tight enough. He's beginning to wabble."

No response from Theodora.

"He gets terribly red in the face, too, and the way he mops his forehead is a sign of age. He's really quite bald, isn't he? I only hope I'll remember it when I get old."

"Old!" exclaimed Theodora; "Mr. Hunt is a comparatively young man."

"Compared to a centenarian, perhaps so."

Theodora did not deign to answer. After a short silence, Jack said, suddenly, arranging his head prop more comfortably, "By the way, I've been considering the question I asked you a week ago, and I've concluded to save you the trouble of calculating matters, too. It's no use, Theodora, I can't support a wife. I have figured it in every way, and I can't make both ends meet."

Theodora's face hardened. "I might have saved you the trouble of calculating by giving you my answer a week ago," she said.

"Then you weren't going to accept me anyway?" exclaimed Jack. "By Jove, I was almost afraid you would."

"Indeed?"

"Oh, now, see here, Theodora," exclaimed Jack, for the first time turning toward her. "Don't be down on me. I supposed you'd look at this thing sensibly. Neither of us believe in long engagements, and so it is better to break off entirely than to worry along for six or eight years until all the poetry has disappeared from life."

"You presuppose the case. I never should have suggested waiting."

Theodora rose and smoothed the folds from her draperies.

"Since I'm going to marry another man I don't see the use of any further conversation on the subject."

"Marry another man!" exclaimed Jack, starting forward. "I never thought of that, Theodora."

The consternation in his voice was a satisfaction to her.

"I presume not," she said, coldly; "humbleness is not one of your virtues."

He did not answer her, and she moved toward the door.

"But, Theodora, you know that I love you. It is for your sake—"

"No, I do not know nor can you make me believe it. However, that is of no consequence."

"But it is of consequence, Theodora. May I ask who it is you are going to marry?"

"It is Mr. Hunt," she replied haughtily.

One day, about a month after Mrs. Hathaway's soiree, Jack met George Hunt on the street. "By the way, Hunt," Jack exclaimed, "I presume I'm a little behind hand, but I want to congratulate you, wish you joy, and all that sort of thing."

"My dear fellow, to what am I indebted for all this?" shaking, in a desultory manner, the hand which Jack held out.

"To the honor of being the future husband of one of our most charming young ladies'" laughed Jack.

Mr. Hunt blushed unbecomingly. "You are either laboring under a delusion or else this is a very meagre joke. I am engaged to no young lady."

"But Theodora—" began Jack, unguardedly.

"The young lady you mention did herself the honor of refusing me," said Mr. Hunt, curtly.

"I beg your pardon, by Jove, I do, Hunt. It was all a mistake. Some one misinformed me. I'm awfully sorry, but I've been behind the times lately."

"It is of no consequence," said Mr. Hunt, passing on.

Not Many days after, Theodora started for a prolonged visit to her aunt, who lived in a gay town some distance from Theodora's home. She had seen very little of Jack since the soiree, but just as the train was starting, he swung himself on, and in his hurried passage through the car tossed a box into her lap.

"Good-by," he called out, and she watched him swing himself off of the platform. For some unaccountable reason her heart was behaving strangely. She took up the box from her lap and broke the string. A note lay on a bed of deep purple, fragrant violets, and as she saw just the one word, "Theodora," in the familiar scrawly writing, her heart gave a joyous bound. She opened the note and read these words: "The fool and his money soon parted."

She stared at the line. So Jack considered himself a fool for spending a few paltry cents on her. And this after their conversation at the Hathaways! Oh, it was unbearable for any man to be so insulting, and Jack, of all men!

She took a little pencil from her pocket-book and wrote underneath the obnoxious message from Jack; "It would be wise to tack hese violets onto one of those ends that will not meet."

When Jack received the box addressed in Theodora's handwriting, he eagerly opened the package. Inside he found his poor violets, withered, and then he read the penciled words: "It would be wise to tack the violets onto one of those ends which will not meet."

"By Jove!" he exclaimed. That borders on sarcasm. Wonder why she didn't like them? I'll take a run up Sunday and find out."

Jack was as good as his word, and quite distracted Theodora's thoughts from her prayers when his unexpected self swung right into church on Sunday morning. She treated him with a dignity which smacked of hauteur, but poor Jack was entirely unconscious.

"By the way," he remarked casually, that evening, utterly unaware of, or at least not noticing the frigidity of Theodora's manner; "why didn't you keep the violets? I meant you should."

"Indeed, did you? I did the best I could to restore a fool's money."

"I say, that's rather hard on me, Theodora; but of course I know you only meant it as a joke, same as I did. But I am sorry you did not keep them."

"A joke!" she exclaimed; "I think your jokes are in rather poor taste."

"Oh, never mind. That's all over now. Say, I congratulated Hunt the other day, and it didn't seem to set well."

Theodora gasped. "How dare you do such a thing?" she exclaimed. "How dare you insult me in this way? I have never been treated so. First you proposed to me, and— and—"

"I didn't mean to insult you by that, Theodora."

"Oh, you know what I mean! You told me you did not want to marry me because I would be an expense, then you dared to meddle in Mr. Hunt's affairs—"

"Now, Theodora—"

"Then you send me a box of flowers so you can pester me with your excessive brilliancy of thought; then, to cap all, you come up here to taunt me with all this, and call it a joke. I never thought it of you. I—"

"Why, Theodora, what is the matter? Don't cry, for Heaven's sake," implored Jack, attempting consolation, and exhibiting immense awkwardness.

"Oh, I say, Theodora," he said, "I didn't know you felt his way about it."

"I don't," sobbed Theodora.

"But, my dear, you certainly do. Upon my word, I did not know that you were not engaged to Hunt. I apologized to him, and it's all right. And I sent the flowers because I knew you liked violets, and the note was only a joke. And I said that I did not want to marry you because I believed you would refuse me at first. But I didn't believe you would marry any one else or be engaged so soon. Tell me, anyway, Theodora, why won't you marry me?"

"Because you don't want me too," she said, sobbingly.

"My dear Theodora," it seems to me you are wonderfully dense," he said, taking e in [illegible]

THE STORY OF A SUN DIAL.

Made by a Boy Who Couldn't be Turned Into a Farmer or a Carpenter.

An interesting story is told by the Philadelphia Times of an old sun-dial in Pennsylvania. In the first part of the last century an Irish emigrant named Porter settled near Philadelphia. Among his sons was one named Andrew, whom he tried to make into a farmer and then, like his brothers, into a carpenter. But Andrew would have nothing to do with the plough or the plane. He hid in corners poring over some mathematical books that had come into his possession.

One day he found the design of a sun-dial in one of them, and resolved to make one. He walked eight miles to a soapstone quarry, found a slab, and carried it home on his back. Full of zeal he went to his brothers' shop, and used their saws, and chisels in his work. When they came home in the evening the dial was finished, Andrew was triumphant, but every tool in the shop was nearly or quite ruined. They drove him into the street in a fury of anger and contempt.

was an idle good-for-nothing, who would never fully earn his bread, bade him go and fit himself for school teaching, which he called the "lazy man's work."

Andrew gave himself to hard study for the summer, and then went to the astronomer, David Rittenhouse, and asked him to lend him a book on conic sections.

"How long have you studied mathematics?" demanded the great man.

"Three months."

"And what do you know of conic sections?" Rittenhouse rejoined, with withering contempt.

But after asking the boy a few questions he not only lent him the book, but advised him not to waste his time in the country, but go to Philadelphia and open a mathematical school.

This poor farm boy was afterward General Andrew Porter, an officer in the war of the Revolution and an authority on mathematical science in the young republic.

INVISIBLE WARSHIPS OF FRANCE.

Covered With a Composition They Can't Be Seen Even With a Searchlight.

France, it is admitted by naval authorities of other nations, is in possession now of the most mysterious but most potent agent yet devised by science for making terrible the naval warfare of the future.

A Paris inventor has devised a chemical composition which, applied to any solid substance, will make it invisible at night, even under the glare of the most powerful electric searchlight.

Repeated trials were made during the protracted naval manoeuvres off Brest of the working of the "invisible paint."

Torpedo boat No. 61—one of the most formidable in the French torpedo fleet—was told off to assume the role of a hostile craft endeavoring to make its way into the harbor past the vessels of the defending squadron, which included the most powerful men-of-war to the French service, nearly all of them equipped with tremendous searchlights.

The trial was startlingly successful. The torpedo boat succeeded in traversing the entire reach of water patrolled by the guarding warships, and, though covered again and again by the glaring lights of vessel after vessel, made its way into port, and three hours after the beginning of the manoeuvre was safely at anchor off the town.—Answers.

OVER-HEAD CHECK REIN.

It Causes the Horse Much Suffering—Europeans Will Not Have It.

John P. Haines, of New York, President of The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to animals says:

"I regard the use of the over-head check rein, Kemble or Jackson rein, as brutal and unnecessary, but I am happy to say that the use of it is rapidly going out of fashion, a large percentage of the horses in New York City being driven to-day without check reins."

This bit draws the mouth open, is constantly cutting against the upper part of the mouth, and being short and thin, is a constant cause of uneasiness and suffering.

The over-strained, unnatural position proves at once to an artistic eye the absurdity of such artificial aids.

It has been impossible to introduce this check rein in Europe, and it would not be tolerated on account of its interfering with the natural, free movement of the neck, and placing a straight, jerking line too much in evidence.

Verily, the American people have shown an astonishing lack of taste by the adoption of this over-head check, and an astonishing lack of heart.

Veterinary surgeons declare that half at least, of their occupation would be gone if over-head and other check reins were abolished.

A Woman Elevator Boy.

Mrs. Caroline Morse runs the Custom House elevator in San Francisco, Cal. She is the widow of a sailor, and she cares for and educates her family by means of her work. She was appointed under President Harrison's Administration, and was deposed during Cleveland's last term, but San Francisco demanded her reinstatement at once.—New York World.

After the Fact.

Mrs. Spriggins—Where's your daughter, Mrs. Wiggins?

Mrs. Wiggins—She's gone to the cooking school. And that reminds me, I must go into the kitchen and get supper, for she'll be as hungry as a bear when she gets home.—New York Weekly.

Don't Look.

There are some diseases which do not arouse our sympathy; the disease is not deep; and therefore our sympathy is shallow. But we very often make a serious mistake—such as calling a backache a light affliction Backache means kidney trouble every time, and if you don't drive it away, it will never go of its own accord, without taking you with it. But it does not continue simply as a backache. Then follows Diabetes or Bright's Disease. Don't you think a backache dangerous? We do, but we must add just a few words and they are: Doan's Kidney Pills cure every time, and all stages of disease, but it is always best to keep as far from the danger line as possible and the cure is easier.

Mr. S. J. Conklin, traveling salesman for a New York Confectionery House, living at 234 West Front street, says. "I have been subject to kidney complaint for six or seven years. My symptoms were pains in the back and hips which at times I felt in my side. I was also troubled with a bladder difficulty accompanied by too frequent action of the secretions, and a very distressing bearing down feeling. The latter trouble annoyed me very much at night and caused more or less loss of sleep. I tried different kinds of kidney cures but received little or no relief. I read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills and I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. I have now taken three altogether and am wonderfully improved. I am troubled very little with the backache and the bladder trouble has been greatly benefitted. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy and accomplishes all that is claimed for them."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

DOLE IN WASHINGTON.

President of Hawaii Met at the Depot by Secretary Sherman.

Washington, Jan. 27.—President Dole of Hawaii arrived in Washington at 2.15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was accompanied by Mrs. Dole, a physician and his private secretary, besides a special escort party from Washington, who met the Hawaiian party in Chicago. The escort consisted of Mr. Hatch, the Minister of Hawaii to the United States; Assistant Secretary of State Cridler, Capt. Heistand of the army and Lieut.-Commander Phelps of the navy.

The party was met at the Baltimore & Ohio depot on arrival by Secretary Sherman and Assistant Secretary Adee, Mr. and Mrs. Dole and Secretary Sherman were driven to the Arlington Hotel in President McKinley's carriage, the other members of the party following in carriages.

President McKinley made a call which was entirely formal and did not last more than fifteen minutes. He was accompanied by Secretary Porter and Colonel Bingham and was met by Assistant Secretary Cridler and Mr Hatch, the Hawaiian Minister, who introduced him to President Dole.

At 4.15 p. m. President Dole returned the visit of President McKinley. At the entrance to the White House the visitor was met by Colonel Bingham, and the party was led at once by him to the elevator, when they were soon transferred to the library on the second floor. There President McKinley was in waiting and gave his guest a greeting. After a few words of general conversation the two Presidents retired to a couch in one corner of the room and spent about five minutes in consultation. It was said that this talk was purely personal. Then the visiting party returned to the hotel.

RELIEF FOR THE KLONDIKE.

Reindeer and Laplanders Will Sail from New York--Government Supplies.

New York, Jan. 27.—Bids for the transportation of 500 reindeer and their attendants from New York to Portland or Seattle were opened in the office of Deputy Quartermaster General A. S. Kimball yesterday. About twenty-five railroads were represented at the bidding, the lowest bid being that of the Canadian Pacific, which offers to transport the reindeer and attendants, with forage and food supplies for the party, at the rate of $247.60 per car. Other bids ranged as high as $400 per car.

These reindeer will be used in the Government relief expedition to the Klondike, for which $200,000 has been appropriated by Congress. The expedition will leave the Pacific coast about the middle of February in charge of Brigadier-General Henry C. Merriam, U. S. A.

The supplies which the Government is sending to the suffering miners in the Klondike consist chiefly of bacon, bread and coffee. Lieutenant D. B. Devore and the Rev. Dr. Sheldon Jackson went to Norway some time ago to buy reindeer to be used in the expedition and succeeded in buying 500 at from $10 to $15 per head. They also engaged seventy-five Laplanders, who, with their families and household effects, will be a part of the relief expedition.

The Allen line steamer Manitoba has been chartered for the trip, and it is now on the way from Alten, Norway, with the reindeer, Laplanders and sufficient supplies to last until the party reaches the Pacific coast.

M'KINLEY MAY HIT HARD.

His Views of the Campaign of 1900 Are Looked for To-Night.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Secretary Gage's recent speech, the silver debate in the Senate, and the reassembling of the Currency Convention in Indianapolis have made the money question an exceedingly prominent topic. The President is interested in the various developments of the subject, and from his conversation it is expected he will take occasion to express himself in public before long.

It need occasion no surprise if in his speech in New York to-night the President declares the position of his Administration toward gold. On this issue, the President believes the next campaign must be fought, and while he is willing to use every endeavor for international bimetallism, he is opposed so utterly to independent free coinage that he is willing there should be no misunderstanding as to his purpose of maintaining the gold standard.

When the suggestion was made to the President that the Republicans might lose the next House of Representatives on this issue, he is reported to have said that he was willing to risk the House of Representatives in making a straight fight for honest money.

Irish Leader Sails for Home.

New York, Jan. 27.—John E. Redmond, the Irish Parliamentary leader and orator, sailed for home yesterday on the Majestic. A large delegation from various Irish and Irish-American societies, headed by Edward O'Flaherty, president of the '98 Centennial Association, accompanied him to the pier and wished him godspeed. Mr. Redmond came here a few weeks ago at the request of prominent Irish-Americans to stir up enthusiasm in the pilgrimage and he has successfully accomplished his mission. Nothing but "'98" is talked about in Irish circles from Maine to California, and there is every indication that the gathering which will go from the United States this summer will be worthy in every way of the Irish race.

Daniel R. Hanna Sued for Divorce.

Cleveland, Jan. 27.—Carrie May Hanna, wife of Daniel R. Hanna, son of Senator Marcus A. Hanna, yesterday began a suit for divorce. She charges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. Because of the long contest at Columbus, which resulted in the election of Marcus A. Hanna to the Senate, and the social prominence of the parties to the suit, the case will attract unusual interest. It was a runaway marriage. There are three children, who are with the mother. The eldest is named Marcus Alonzo Hanna, after his grandfather.

Carlisle Indian School Wins.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The motion to strike out from the Indian bill the appropriation for the Carlisle School, offered by Mr. Smith, of Arizona, was defeated in the House by 29 to 65.

WAR SHIPS FOR CUBA

Another German Cruiser and a British Vessel at Havana.

FRENCH SHIPS EXPECTED

The Cubans in Washington Do Not Believe That Blanco Has Gone to Meet Gomez and Arrange Terms of Peace—All Quiet in Havana.

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 27.—The German cruiser Charlotte (schoolship) has just arrived here, a British war ship has reached here from Key West and some French war ships are expected here from New Orleans.

THE MISSION OF BLANCO.

Cubans Do Not Believe He Has Gone to Propose Terms of Peace.

Washington, Jan. 27.—"No, I do not think he has gone on such a mission," said Senor Quesada in charge of the Cuban headquarters here, when his attention was called to a published statement that Captain-General Blanco's trip to the eastern part of Cuba was for the purpose of conferring with Gen. Gomez on terms of peace.

"His purpose in going there, I think, is to assist in bolstering up as far as possible the Spanish cause," continued Mr. Quesada.

"It has been five days since we heard from the operations of the armies in that section of the island. General Pando, the Spanish commander, was very severely wounded and may be dead, and the Spanish army there is in a badly demoralized condition. Blanco's visit, I think, is for the purpose of strengthening the lines and giving the troops what encouragement he can. Shortly after Blanco was appointed to his present position Gen. Gomez addressed him, as he had Martinez Campos, a letter urging him for humanity's sake, to use his influence with Spain to stop the bloodshed and bring the war to an end, on the basis of independence for Cuba. By this means Spain would get the glory of acting as a mother to her son and independence would be acheived without the intervention of another nation."

Gen. Lee Reports All Quiet.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The latest news received here from Havana is a cablegram from Consul-General Lee. He said: "Have just received a visit from the commander of the Maine. He had already returned official visits of Spanish and other naval vessels. No disorders of any sort."

The report that British and French war ships are to join the American and German war ships in Havana harbor is regarded here as highly favorable. The presence of the vessels of those nationalities alongside the United States war ship will go far, it is believed, to convince the people of Havana and Madrid that there is no sinister purpose in the Maine's arrival, while it will make it exceedingly difficult for the Spanish Government to find any reasonable grounds for complaint against the United States Government without laying itself open to the charge of discrimination, since the same objection must lie against the presence of the war ships of any or all nations.

Secretary Long yesterday received a telegram from Admiral Sicard saying that the North Atlantic squadron had gone into the inner anchorage of Dry Tortugas. The telegram was brought to Key West by the Fern, which is serving as a dispatch and supply boat for the fleet. The torpedo boats in the vicinity of Key West are under Admiral Sicard's orders, to serve as dispatch vessels and to give the vessels some drill of repelling torpedo attacks.

This does not, however, interfere with the standing orders of Lieutenant-Commander Kimball, the commanding officer of the torpedo boat flotilla, and the little craft will later continue on their cruise along the coast as far west as Galveston, and then returning, to go up the Mississippi River in the early Spring.

Food and Quinine for Cuba.

New York, Jan. 27.—The steamship Orizaba, of the Ward line, which departed for Havana yesterday, carried away 400,000 pounds of provisions and 200,000 grains of quinine, collected by the Cuban Relief Committees to be distributed among the suffering people of the island, under the direction of Consul-General Lee.

A separate consignmnt to General Lee consisted of eighteen tons of provisions, contributed by the members of the Philadelphia Grocers' and Importers' Exchange, and six cases of quinine from the Philadelphia Drug Exchange.

The Maine's Cordial Reception at Havana.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The Navy Department received a long dispatch from Captain Sigsbee of the battleship Maine yesterday afternoon. He says that general interest was manifested in Havana in the arrival of the Maine, but there were no demonstrations. He has been ashore several times, and official and naval courtesies have been extended with increasing cordiality. He will visit the Palace to-day.

WAS THE VESSEL SCUTTLED?

Cuban Suspicions of the Fate of the Tillie --Government May Act.

New York, Jan. 27.—Although not willing to admit the fact for publication, not a few officials of the Cuban Junta are inclined to the belief that a Spanish spy is indirectly responsible for the loss of the suspected filibuster, the Tillie, which was abandoned by all but four men off Barnegat last Sunday afternoon.

It is understood that the Federal authorities are now preparing papers for th prosecution of everybody directly responsible for the fitting out of the alleged expedition, the officials connected with the United States Commissioners and Custom House being satisfied, so it is said, that the craft was fitted out for filibustering purposes and carrying munition of war to Cuba when she foundered, as she undoubtedly did. The survivors are all making preparations for producing bail, and rather look for arrests as soon as instructions come from Washington. Telegrams have been sent to the Secretary of State and the Treasury Department as well, apprising them of the loss of the ship, together with an official expression of belief that she was engaged in the unlawful occupation of carrying arms and munitions of war not duly registered or cleared by the Custom House.

HOTEL FOR ALDENE.

One Liquor License Granted and One Refused by Judge McCormick.

A license was granted yesterday morning by Judge McCormick for the new hotel located on Westfield avenue at Aldene. The application for the license was made by Stephen G. Emmons, who is to conduct the hotel for a syndicate headed by ex Governor Werts, which owns a large amount of property in the vicinity.

In granting the license Judge McCormick stated that he did so on the application of ex-Governor Werts, who had given assurances that the hotel would be conducted in a proper manner. It was also stated that the hotel is intended largely for the accommodation of persons visiting Aldene as prospective purchasers of property, and will be conducted as a first class hostelry.

Another application for license passed upon by the court was that of Frederick Baudelt, of Summit. This man has regularly had an application before the court each term and has as regularly been refused. The application was again denied this morning.

THIEVES STOLE CABBAGE.

Over Fifty Heads Taken Out of the Garden of John Stover.

Thieves entered the premises of John Stover, 220 East Third street, last night, and made off with over fifty heads of cabbage.

Stover purchased 100 heads of cabbage last fall and buried them in the soil at the rear of his house, until the market price should advance. He had sold a number of heads and was preparing to dispose of those remaining when the theft occurred. Several times last night Stover and Clarkson Mundy, who lives in the same house, heard Stover's large dog, which is kept chained in the yard, barking fiercely. Stover shouted to the dog and the animal was quiet for a time. The thieves drove their wagon into a lane known as "Paradise Alley" at the rear of Stover's lot. They were provided with picks and shovels and soon succeeded in coaxing the cabbages out of the ground.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in the association building this evening at 8 o'clock. Interesting reports outlining the work of the year will be presented and the election of directors will be held. As this is a meeting of great importance, all members of the association are requested to be present.

Lovett's Boston Stars will give the next entertainment in the Star Course at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening.

A delegation of ladies from this city will attend the State conference of the Ladies' Auxiliaries of the Y. M. C. A., which will be held at Paterson tomorrow.

Pythians Big Time.

There is going to be a big time at the meeting of Goodwill Lodge, No. 101, Knights of Pythias, this evening. The lodge has its home in Scotch Plains. Grand Chancellor Rockefellow, of Somerville, and Grand Vice Chancellor Cobb, of Trenton, will be present at the meeting. There will also be a delegation from the two lodges in this city. A stage will start from the corner of Park avenue and Front street this evening at 8 o'clock for the accommodation of the Knights in this city.

Surprised a Little Fellow.

Arthur E. Gaskill, of 344 East Third street, celebrated the fifth anniversary of his birthday yesterday, and last evening he was tendered a surprise party by a few of his friends. The affair was arranged by Miss Clara Weber, who presented the young celebrant with a large birthday cake on which was arranged five candles. Refreshments were served at 9 o'clock and a general social time was enjoyed by all.

A Birthday Party.

Henry Angerbauer, of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's store, was given a party at Washington Hall, West Second street, last evening, in celebration of his birthday. About 150 guests were present, and passed the time pleasantly, dancing being the chief amusement. Besides the well wishes and congratulations of his friends, Mr. Angerbauer received a number of appropriate presents.

A Plainfield Entertainer.

Miss Aimie L. Emmons, of Plainfield, appeared in two recitations, which were capably delivered. Miss Emmons furnished a very agreeable surprise for the appreciative audience. Such rare elocutionary talent as she possesses was not at all expected from one so young. The entertainment was given by the "Golden Eagles of To Kalon Castle."—Long Branch Press.

Advertising Tableaux.

"Popular Ads in Tableaux" is the title of a novel entertainment to be given at Grace M. E. church tomorrow evening under the auspices of the young people of the church.

Mrs. C. Angerbauer, of East Fourth street, has returned from a visit in Canada.

A Whist Conference.

S. St. John McCutchen, of Rockview terrace, has returned after spending two days at Buffalo where he attended a meeting of the directors of the American Whist League, which has been held in that city. Mr. McCutchen is one of the directors from New Jersey. Most of the meeting was spent in arranging for the national congress in the summer.

Plate-Glass Window Shattered.

The large plate-glass window in the door to Edward White's West Front street store, which was shattered yesterday morning, was insured through VanBuren Brothers.

A sudden slam of the door due to the wind caused the break. It will be replaced by the insurance company tomorrow.

Justice Mosher's Court.

The case of Zimmerman against Claassen was tried in Justice Mosher's court today, and the plaintiff was nonsuited.

Justice Mosher issued a summons today in the case of Bailey & Co. against Turton & Co., returnable next Wednesday.

Mrs. John Kane, of West Third street, is slowly recovering from the effects of a recent fall.

Hard on the Irishman.

Gentleman (to an Irishman): "Well, Pat, I see you have a small garden."

Pat: "Yes, sir."

"What are you going to set in it for next season?"

"Nothing, sir. I set it with potatoes last year, and not one of them came up."

"That's strange; how do you explain it?"

"Well, sir, the man next door to me set his garden full of onions."

"Well, had that anything to do with your potatoes not growing?"

"Yes, sir. Bedad, them onions was that strong that my potatoes couldn't see to grow for their eyes watering!"

White Animals Cannot Smell.

Very few animals but pigs and sheep are white all over, and it has been found that pure white creatures are utterly deficient in the sense of smell. In Africa white rhinoceroses poison themselves sometimes by eating a euphorbia, which no other animal will touch, and Italian wool-growers do not like pure white sheep, because they are always eating grass and herbs which do not agree with them.

NEW IDEA TO STOP JAIL-BREAKING.

Doors and Windows Made of Tubular Grating that Connect with the Office.

A system of tubular grating for prisons has been invented which practically makes escape by means of sawing the bars of cell doors and windows impossible.

The system is built on the vacuum principle. The doors and windows of the prison cell are constructed of pipe, resembling the solid steel bar grating at present in use. The pipes of each cell are continued from the cell to the warden's office, where they are connected with a vacuum gauge, a combination alarm and annunciator valve and a stop valve. There is a connection with a main vacuum pipe and a pump, by which the air is exhausted from all the grating and a vacuum formed in the pipes. The lock used in connection with this new system is made on the same principle.

Caged behind these vacuum bars a prisoner could not escape by means of cutting, drilling or breaking the grating without sounding an alarm on the warden's annunciator. Any opening made in the bars would break the vacuum and send the air rushing through the pipe to the alarm valve, indicating on the annunciator the exact spot where the opening had been made.

This system has been tried successfully and seems to afford an invulnerable protection against jailbreaking. It has been examined and pronounced thoroughly practical by such authorities as Sheriff Tamsen, Warden Sage, of Sing Sing, and Henry Doht, Sheriff of Queen's county.—New York Journal.

PECULIARITY OF POISON IVY.

Doesn't Seem to Effect Everyone Alike—Cattle Eat It Greedily.

Just what it is that induces poison ivy to play its injurious pranks on some people at some times and not on others is still a profound mystery. One thing is certain, that the number of people susceptible to the poisoning influence must be extremely few, from the fact that in the vicinity of Philadelphia the highways and byways are overrun with the plant to an enormous extent. It is frequently impossible for people to go by without brushing against it, and if it is the vapor or some exudation from the plant which causes the trouble thousands of persons must be under the influence to every one who suffers from it. The writer of this paragraph knows of a tract of land on which the plant grows profusely, and on which many scores of laborers are employed. These laborers are frequently set to weeding and pulling out the plant by the naked hand, and, so far as the writer knows, none of these mem were ever poisoned by it. The cattle eat it greedily whenever they get an opportunity. It seems to have no injurious effect on them.—Meehan's Monthly.

STEEL INSTEAD OF WOOD.

Enormous Grain Elevators Constructed of This Metal.

The uses of structural steel, which made the "sky scraper" of to-day a possibility, are constantly extending, and now it appears that the business of erecting great towering grain elevators is to be revolutionized. The costly and dangerous structures that cleave the air at the great shipping fronts on river, lake and ocean front will under the new order, have perhaps greater capacity than those of to-day.

A big grain storehouse as at present put up, requires from 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 feet of lumber; quite an item in these days of disappearing forests. Small steel elevators having proved successful, architects set to work to carry the idea further, with the result that the Canadian Pacific Railroad has built at Fort William, on Lake Superior, and the Northern Steamship Company at Buffalo, grain elevators with a capacity of 30,000,000 bushels each, and it is not improbable that the last wooden elevator has been built.—New York Journal.

Gander Trips a Lively Measure.

Geese have music in their toes—or their souls, or somewhere. Start a violin and a flock of wild geese will almost invariably prance to its strains.

But not every goose will dance to the music of a commonplace accordion, and when one is found who will perform a jig to its measure his doings should be duly chronicled.

In Lanesboro, Pa., one was discovered the other day which became fairly intoxicated with glee at the sound of an accordion. He danced a jig, keeping admirable time to the music.

After the experiment had been tried two or three times his taste for the pleasure became so pronounced that he would venture up to the piazza of the house with the evident intention of inviting further music.

A Cynical Proposition.

"How did you come to vote for that man?"

"I thought he would make the best official."

"But he had no experience whatever."

"That's just the point. It'll take him nearly all the time he stays in office to learn the different ways by which he can get the best of us. And then we can put in another man."—Washington Star.

The Japanese apply one of their many pretty ways to the launching of ships. They use no wine, but hang over the ship's prow a large pasteboard cage full of birds, and the moment the ship is afloat a man pulls a string, when the cage opens and the birds fly away, making the air alive with music and the whirr of wings. The idea is that the birds thus welcome the ship as she begins her career as a thing of life.

WORK OF THE Y. M. C. A.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION LAST EVENING.

Reports Presented by the Various Officers Showed That Much Good Has Been Accomplished—Board Directors Elected.

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A., held in the small hall of the building last evening, was a very profitable one, and the various reports furnished those present with a good idea of the work accomplished by the association last year.

President Wm. D. Murray occupied the chair, and after reading from the Scriptures, prayer was offered by E. L. Bonny.

The first report was that offered by the religious work committee, presented through the chairman, A. C. LaBoyteaux. He showed that there is an increase in this department of 42 per cent over the previous year. The average attendance at the meetings was reported to be 100 as against 70 in 1897.

Stephen Cahoone, chairman of the educational committee, reported the average attendance of the classes to be 37 in the mechanical department. The average attendance in the other classes were reported as follows: Book-keeping, 11; German, 9 Spanish, 9; stenography, 15. The average attendance of all classes was 81.

Physical Director Heywood gave a brief outline of the work in his department, and stated that the average attendance of the business men's class was 14. The evening class had an average attendance of 18, while in the boys' class the attendance was 35. Mr. Heywood said that there are 190 members of the association doing work in the gymnasium.

President Murray at this time presented his tenth and last annual report as president of the association. The report is as follows:

To the Members of the Young Men's Christian Association of Plainfield, N. J.:

Once more it is my pleasant duty to render to you an account of our work for the past association year, covering eight months. At our last annual meeting we voted, as you will remember, to change the association year so that hereafter our annual meeting will come in January, instead of May. This is in view of the large amount of money we shall always have to raise, and it is easier to get it in the beginning of the year than at any other time.

The number of members who have paid dues during the past eight months is 374, of whom sixty are in the Junior Department. Of course, the membership is larger than this. It is interesting to notice that our membership is not confined to Plainfield, for we have members residing in Roselle, Somerville, Fanwood and Metuchen. It is difficult to determine just how much our members use the building, for with so many members and so many departments, it is almost impossible to record their visits; but that the members do appreciate the privileges any one can see by a visit to the building.

The religious work of the year, even the most important, has been reported by the chairman of the committee in charge. It is gratifying to know that the attendance at our men's meeting Sunday afternoons has been so large, the average for the meetings for eight months being 100, an increase of 42 per cent. over last year, and that the results have been so good. From month to month our secretary reports the interesting services held and the good accomplished by the men who receive inspiration in these meetings.

Three Bible classes have been conducted by the general secretary, physical director and president, seventy-seven sessions being held.

The report of the physical director shows the condition of our physical work. And here I am led to speak of the erroneous impression oftentimes produced by the prominence of the physical work. This prominence is more apparent than real; it seems to be the larger work because it is more easily seen. This was brought home to me one night during the year when I came into the building and there seemed to be no one in the class rooms, or reception room, or reading room, but the gymnasium was alive with men, a match basket ball game being in progress. But a closer search revealed the general secretary and assistant in the parlor with a young man, once a theological student at Oberlin, now brought low through strong drink. As a last resort he had come to the Y. M. C. A. for help. Could he have gone anywhere else? That night our two secretaries stood by him and even slept with him, in order that they might know where he was, and the following days he was helped further. What an erroneous impression one might have gotten of our work by a casual visit that evening.

Financially we have had a hard year. The treasurer's report shows receipts from all sources of $5,581.46, and expenditures of $5,511.77. Of this, $1,610 has been received from membership fees and $2,096 from generous subscriptions from those who believe that the association meets a need of the city. The treasurer's report is annexed and shows the details of the above figures.

The debt on our building is $8,335. Towards this we have subscribed $6,170, and our hope is that very soon this home of Christian work in Plainfield will be free from this burden.

This closes the last report which I shall render to this association as its president. As I look back over the more than ten years that I have been permitted to serve you, I am conscious that the Young Men's Christian Association has done far more for me than I have ever been able to do for it, and that it has been a great privilege to give my time and whatever talents I may have to this noble effort to elevate young manhood in this fair city. As I retire my prayer is that He who has so consciously led us in the past may continue to lead and to bless us in the future, and I commend you to Him who "is of power to establish you," and I beg of you to remember that "every man's work shall be made manifest; for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is. If any man's work abide which he hath built there-

EMBEZZLER NABBED HERE.

ARRESTED ON A CENTRAL TRAIN.

John King Wanted in a Kentucky Town on the Charge of Stealing $500 Insurance Money.

A clever arrest of an embezzler was made at the North Avenue station yesterday afternoon on the arrival from Easton of the 2:30 train. Roundsman Flynn made the arrest and the victim was John R. King, aged 40 years, who is wanted in Owensburg, Ky., for embezzling $500 from an insurance company. When Officer Flynn approached King the latter expressed some surprise. King was then taken to police headquarters and held until last evening when detectives came to the city and took charge of him.

The circumstances which led to the arrest of King go back to three years ago. He was employed as an agent for an insurance company in Owensburg, Ky., and during his stay in that place he succeeded in appropriating to his own use about $500. He disappeared and all trace of King was lost.

Not very long ago King secured a position as agent for an insurance company at Easton, Pa., and worked there until the police authorities learned in some way that King was wanted for embezzlement in a Kentucky town. The authorities at Owensburg were notified. King was placed under $500 bail.

Yesterday afternoon Operator Chas. Schermerhorn received a telegram for the Plainfield police to be on the lookout for King, who was supposed to be on the train reaching this city at 2:30. Chief Grant sent Roundsman Flynn to the North Avenue station. Officer Flynn appeared just in time and walked through the entire train before he found his man. In the last seat of the last car sat the man who corresponded exactly to the description. King was told that he was wanted and gave himself up quietly.

He was held in this city until last evening when Chief Johnson sent an officer from Easton to Plainfield after King, after they were notified that he had been caught in this city. The officer from Easton was accompanied by the Mayor of Easton, who seemed to have an interest in the case.

JURY OUT TWENTY HOURS

THIRD DISAGREEMENT IN THE CASE OF BLATZ AGAINST RILLING.

Tried on Appeal in the Somerset County Court, but the Twelve Men Couldn't Agree on Verdict—Fourth Trial Necessary

There must be something remarkable about the case if twelve good citizens of Somerset county cannot come to some kind of an agreement over it after being locked in a room together for twenty hours. It was the third time that the case had come to trial. The case was that of Joseph A. Blatz against George Rilling. It came before Judge Bartine and a jury of twelve men in the Somerset County Court of Common Pleas yesterday morning and afternoon.

The case has been a strange one from the start when it came up in Justice Mattison's court. The trouble was over the rent of a little shop, 9 Somerset street, where Rilling plied his trade as a cobbler. Now Rilling was installed in the place in 1879, and there he remained until a year ago, February 1st. For the use of the place, Rilling paid $8 a month. He sometimes turned the money over to Mr. Blatz or to his wife who receipted for it in a pass-book that Rilling kept.

Rilling claims that he had paid up to date when he left. Blatz claimed that he owed seven months' rent. Rilling refused to pay and suit was brought in Mattison's court.

In court the pass-book was produced and the last receipt shown. The book was a wreck. It was for the date of October, 1896, and was said to be for the months of April, May and June. The defendant's lawyer, Councilman Walter L. Hetfield, claimed that his client and his client's wife could neither read nor write and that they had been deceived. Rilling claimed to have paid all his rent and that it was not back rent that the receipt was for. He was given no receipt for the payment made in December, he claimed,

The jury in Mattison's court disagreed and the case was tried again. Then a verdict was brought in of no cause for action. The case was appealed. Yesterday morning the trial began at 11 o'clock and continued until 3:30 o'clock. The case was well conducted on both sides. Blatz was represented by Murphy & Blatz and Rilling by Hetfield. The jury was then charged and locked up. They remained out all night and continued until 11:30 o'clock this morning. They still disagreed, the jury standing 7 to 5 in favor of the defendant. The case will be retried at the next term of court.

ROMANCE AND DIVORCE.

SMEDBERG'S WIFE NOW WANTS A SEPARATION FROM HIM.

Though the Young Draughtsman Shielded Her From Blame She Now Deserts Him—She Does Not Want Alimony.

The wife of Joseph Duncan Smedberg, the Plainfield draughtsman who was accused of taking $500 worth of diamonds from the house of his friend, Harry W. Marshall, of Plainfield, has asked him to consent to an absolute divorce. He has cheerfully acquiesced.

Smedberg on June 30, 1897, was arrested for the theft of the diamonds, and on Sept. 27 pleaded guilty in the Court of Special Sessions at Elizabeth, and was sentenced to six months in the county jail. He said at the trial that it was to satisfy his wife's vanity and wishes that he committed the crime. Judge McCormick believing this, and on account of the able plea for clemency made by Senator Foster M. Voorhees, did not consign the prisoner to State prison.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Smedberg called at the county jail and asked to see her husband, whom she had not visited for months. Her request granted, she shook hands with Smedberg, and then informed him of the object of her visit.

She was accompanied by ex-Major Silva, of the United States Army, whom she had met years ago in Salt Lake City.

Smedberg, though at first surprised at his wife's request, said he would not raise any objection to a divorce, provided he was not expected to pay alimony. Mrs. Smedberg said she had no intention of making him do this, and the couple shook hands and the interview ended.

Mrs. Smedberg's maiden name was Lucille Brueerton. Against the wishes of her parents she allowed Smedberg to pay court to her. When she found their consent to a wedding could not be obtained she eloped with Smedberg and they were married in Chicago. Then they came east, locating in Plainfield, where Smedberg soon obtained work in the Scott Printing Press Works.

It is said that since Smedberg has been in jail his wife has become an actress. His term of imprisonment will expire Feb. 26th. It is thought his wife intends to marry again.

Smedberg has respectable parents in SanFrancisco and graduated from a college in Portsmouth, O.

The couple have been married about two years.

THE BEST TALENT THERE.

An Excellent Programme Rendered at the Park Avenue Baptist Church.

An excellent programme attracted a large attendance to the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening where a concert was given for the benefit of the church. The excellence of the talent secured for the concert was well known in the city and nobody was disappointed.

Mrs. Frank J. Smith's recitations were charmingly rendered. Her last selections were several with a musical accompaniment played by her husband.

Charles L. Lewis, baritone, and G. Morgan Stricklett, tenor, of the choir of the Crescent Avenue church, made a very good impression. It was the first appearance of Mr. Stricklett and his clear sweet voice was well liked. While not the owner of a very powerful voice, he spoke his words very distinctly so that they could be heard all over the church.

Mrs. Nelly Udell Smith was detained at home by an illness and her place as violinist was taken by Miss Ida Brandt, of New York. Miss Brandt had a delicate touch and showed herself to be mistress of the instrument. Mrs. Charles L. Lewis and Frank J. Smith were the accompanists and were very satisfactory in that respect.

Some Bargains in Shoes.

VanArsdale, the East Front street shoe man, starts in this afternoon with his annual inventory clearance sale. He wants the room for spring stock now in process of making, and as you will see by his advertisement, VanArsdale does not believe in allowing stock to accumulate. Broken lines and incomplete assortments of sizes are all over the store. This sale will be an interesting and profitable one to the purchaser, as you will find everything strictly as represented.

Justice Moffett's Court.

Justice Moffett rendered judgment yesterday in the case of Jefferson against Corle, for the plaintiff for $47.02 and costs. Notice of appeal was given.

The case of Bird against Rynlander, for possession of premises, was tried in Justice Moffett's court yesterday afternoon, and possession was awarded to the plaintiff.

T. A B.'S NIGHT OF GLORY

OVER A HUNDRED VISITORS CAME FROM ELIZABETHPORT.

The Plainfielders Defeated at Bowling—A Dance Given the Visitors in Washington Hall—Fireworks and Drum Corps.

It was a rousing reception that a strong delegation from the Young Men's Father Matthew Total Abstinence and Benevolent Society, of Elizabethport, received in Plainfield last night. They came amid fire works and colored fire and marched down the street with drums beating. There was nothing too good for them. They bowled, they danced, they dined and danced again, and then, when the morning was fairly under way, they marched back to the station and departed homeward.

Some time ago, the T. A B. Society, of Plainfield, went to Elizabethport, where they were entertained by the Y. M. F. M. T. A. B. Society. It was a jolly time they had that night. One great feature of it was a bowling match in which the Elizabethport delegation carried away the glory. Last night was the time set for the return visit.

There was 118 of the Elizabeth boys that boarded the 7:34 train at the Elizabeth station. Then there were nearly two score of their fair friends who came down to attend the dance. Special arrangements had been made with the Jersey Central Railroad by which two extra cars were put on the train to bring up the crowd.

The delegation was accompanied by the Nonpariel Drum and Fife Corps, of Elizabeth. When the visitors left the train at Plainfield, they found a cheering delegation from the local society awaiting them. Then the members of both societies fell in behind the drum corps. Amid great cheering and the glare of red fire and Roman candles, the throng marched down North avenue to Park avenue, to Second street and thence to the Ulrich bowling alleys where the great game was to be rolled.

The procession was headed by the president of the Elizabeth T. A. B., C. J. Tipper. The committee in charge of the outing, consisting of W. J. Dunn, chairman, D. J. Leonard, Morris Levins, Edward Slattery and W. Burke, followed.

Some of the visitors went to Washington Hall, where they found some of their entertainers awaiting them. Dancing was started at once and continued all the evening. Most of the entertainers and guests went directly to the alleys to watch the game. The place was crowded. There were a number of young women who came out to watch the game. There was plenty of enthusiasm on both sides, and it increased as the end drew near. The visitors were too strong for the local combination, however, and the latter met defeat by 148 pins.

The scores were as follows:

After the game everybody went over to Washington Hall. The floor was soon crowded with couples and dancing was the order of the evening. Down in the basement, a grand collation had been prepared. A table was set to accommodate 200. There the visitors were treated to a bountiful repast. Then there was speech-making, songs and stories until the time came to break up.

The visitors were escorted back to the station amid the shouts of the spectators and took the 2:14 train back to Elizabethport.

Thinking of Excursions Now.

At the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M. held last evening, the following persons were appointed on the annual excursion committee: F. A. Long, H. M. Cooke, L. D. Townley, H. R. Thorn and Isaac Squires. One candidate was initiated and one member was elected. Superintendent W. J. Wightman, of the Borough Public School, was also received into membership.

Officers Installed.

The newly-elected officers of Rebekah Degree Lodge, I. O. O. F., were installed last evening by the district deputy from Elizabeth. After the installation a handsome regalia was presented to Mrs. Barbour, a retiring officer of the lodge. A banquet followed the exercises of the evening, and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

TOASTS AT CHURCH SOCIAL.

A UNIQUE PRESBYTERIAN AFFAIR.

Given Under the Auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society—Practical Thoughts, Wit and Humor.

A unique business social was held at the First Presbyterian church last evening. It was given under the direction of President E. L. Gifford, of the Christian Endeavor Society, and the social committee, to members of the society.

The affair was held in the chapel of the church, where long tables were arranged in the shape of a cross. At each of the four corners a member of the society presided and poured coffee. President Gifford presided at the centre of the table.

There were many practical thoughts and suggestions advanced, intermingled with much wit and humor. Miss Petrie responded to the toast of "Music." She gave many valuable hints as regards the music at the meetings of the society. Miss Grace was assigned the topic "The Earth." Her remarks concerning the work of the society in all parts of the globe were interesting as well as helpful. "The Currency" was the subject given to E. M. Cave, and his practical suggestions on how to conduct financial matters were to the point. Mr. Gates responded to the toast "The Ladies." He gave a well-prepared talk regarding the very important field occupied by the women in the society. The last toast was "The Klondyke," and Rev. C. E. Herring gave an exposition on this subject. His remarks differed from the subject in that they were far from being chilly.

During the evening Mr. Herring gave an exhibition of his phonograph, and the various selections were of an amusing character. Some of the members present sang into the phonograph and thus made a record for future use.

Another feature of the event was the flash-light picture taken of the society by William M. Miner. Two pictures were taken, and the chances are that they will both be excellent photographs.

It was late when the festivities came to an end, but those in charge, President Clifford, and the members of the social committee, consisting of Mrs. W. L. Remsen, Miss Bessie Blair, Miss Mabelle Force and Miss Lillian Glen, were much pleased with the success of the affair, as was also the other members present.

Those who poured coffee were Miss Bessie Blair, Miss Blanche Fellows, Miss Grace Petrie and Mrs. W. L. Remsen.

BRIGHT LEGAL LIGHT OUT

THE END OF LAWYER DYETT'S BRILLIANT CAREER.

Death Came to Him at His Home in Netherwood This Morning—Sketch of His Life and Many Achievements.

After a serious illness with heart failure and Bright's disease lasting since last May, Anthony Rainepeaux Dyett, of Belvidere avenue, passed away at an early hour this morning.

Mr. Dyett was a well-known and prominent lawyer in New York city, where he practiced for over fifty years. He was admitted to the bar in 1847, at which time the law firm of Townsend & Dyett was formed. He tried a number of cases at an early age before being admitted to the bar, and has always been a successful counselor.

Mr. Dyett was born in New York in 1824 and was of English-French descent. His ancestry dates back to Sir. Richard Dyett and Captain Anthony who were under the reign of King Charles. Mr. Dyett studied law with Hiram P. Hastings, of New York, and sometime after he began to practice he was chosen counselor for the New York Clearing House. He introduced the original half-holiday movement in New York and succeeded in securing its adoption. In 1862-3 he was president of the Union League Club, of Kings county, New York. He was considered one of the ablest court lawyers in the metropolis, and he has written several works on law.

In the early days of Tammany Hall, Mr. Dyett was an active figure, and up to the time of his illness last May, he was always very active. He took a lively interest in affairs at Netherwood and during the five years that he lived in Plainfield he was a progressive citizen.

The late firm of which he was a member was Townsend, Dyett & Levy, with offices in the Potter building, New York.

He leaves a widow and two children, a son living in the west, and a daughter, Mrs. J. R. Hill, who lives on Belvidere avenue. The funeral services will probably be held from the house Sunday afternoon next.

—All bills against the city must be in not later than Monday.

TRINITY'S SOCIAL TIME.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY HELP TO SWELL THE CHURCH FUNDS.

The Annual Turkey Supper Given Under Their Auspices Last Night—Other Pleasant Features—Those Who Assisted.

The good people of Trinity Reformed church and their friends gave a hearty response last evening to the invitation of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of the church to attend their annual turkey supper. It was the first of the delightful social events of the church life that are destined to be held in the new lecture room. It opened last evening and will be continued tonight.

The menu was an excellent one. Of course the mighty gobbler was the centre of attraction with a multitude of side dishes on every hand. The ladies had worked hard in preparation for the supper and had secured the donation of nearly all the good things needed for the supper. There was plenty while it lasted and those who partook of the repast found it well worth the price, 35 cents, which was charged for it.

While the members of the congregation had worshipped in the room several weeks, it was the first glimpse of the place to many friends of the church since the alterations of the lecture room had been completed, and there were many very favorable comments on its appearance. They turned out in numbers and the room was crowded early with young and old.

The supper tables were arranged about the room, with several small booths on the sides. The entrance was guarded by the cashier's desk, where E. H. Bird and E. T. VanWinkle alternated in officiating.

There was a candy table covered early in the evening with a profusion of home-made candies that found ready sale as the time passed. Mrs. E. H. Bird and Miss Minnie Williams were the presiding geniuses. Then there was a table devoted to the sale of aprons. Mrs. M. L. Connolly and Mrs. Julius Williams were in charge of that department. A lemonade booth proved very popular with the guests. Miss Etta Krymer and Miss Emma Gillem looked after it. On the other side of the room was a table of a mysterious character. All sorts of mysterious packages were produced and sold. Mrs. E. E. Anthony was there in charge.

Now a very important part of the turkey supper was the preparing of it. The committee in charge of the supper took it on themselves to see that the good people of the church were well cared for, as far as the culinary arrangements were concerned.

The committee consisted of Mrs. Edward VanWinkle, chairman, Mrs. Seaman Williams, Mrs. P. M. Demarest, Mrs. F. A. Church, Mrs. J. H. Krymer and Mrs. M. E. Kershaw.

The tables, at which the supper was served, were presided over by other members of the society in charge. They were Mrs. P. A. Emmons, Mrs. J. F. MacDonald, Mrs. H. W. Marshall, Mrs. A. L. Force, Mrs. S. C. Baker and Mrs. J. M. Tier. They were assisted by a small army of waitresses who proved very able allies during the evening.

After the supper was finished many lingered to spend a social evening together, although there was no regular programme arranged for their entertainment. The Schubert Orchestra was present and rendered a number of selections during the evening, which were greatly enjoyed.

The object of the supper was to raise a portion of the $600 which the Ladies' Christian Work Society has pledged for the upholstering of the furniture of the church.

The assistants at the different tables were as follows: Mrs. J. M. Tier's table, Miss Gertrude Tier and Miss Dora Ulrick; Mrs. J. F. MacDonald's table, Miss Jeanette Simpson and Miss Cora Laire; Mrs. P. A. Emmons' table, Miss Grace Emmons and Miss Nettie Young; Mrs. A. L. Force's table, Miss Lillian A. Force and Mrs. Will F. Williams; Mrs. H. W. Marshall's table, Miss Grace Smith and Miss Minnie Arnold; Mrs. S. C. Baker's table, Miss Edith DuBois and Miss Grace Berg.

The carving of the turkeys was done by Freeholder John H. Tier, Sr., and Mrs. Seaman Williams.

Among the tables at the side of the room was one that received much attention. On it was a display of choice cakes. Mrs. H. J. Martin and Mrs. B. D. Newell were in charge.

A coat room was established in one of the small rooms. Here Will F. Williams and William Startup checked hats and wraps, realizing nearly $6.

There were 205 guests served last evening and the supply of turkey was gone when the last one had been served. A new lot is being prepared

MR. M'KINLEY'S SPEECH

At a Banquet Last Night He Declares Solidly for Gold.

FAVORS NICARAGUA CANAL

The President Gives a Patriotic Address Before the National Association of Manufacturers at New York's Swell Hotel, the Waldorf-Astoria.

New York, Jan. 28.—Notable in many ways was the banquet of the National Manufacturers' Association at the Waldorf-Astoria last night. It was the biggest banquet that the big new hotel has seen yet. There were nearly 1,000 guests at the tables, and these tables filled up not only the theatre ballroom, but the Astor Gallery as well.

Warner Miller was toastmaster, and when he proposed the second toast on the list, "The President of the United States," William McKinley responded to the sentiment in person. More than that, President McKinley made a ringing speech, which kept his auditors yelling with enthusiasm.

It was the largest banquet ever given at an American hotel and certainly the richest and most resplendent. Two orchestras furnished music for the diners. President McKinley came from Washington expressly to address this unique gathering, which represents in a general way the manufacturing industry of the greatest manufacturing nation on the globe. The 966 diners at the tables were mostly millionaires.

President McKinley's speech was the most significant declaration on the money question made since he became President. It was received with tremendous cheering.

After the applause had subsided which greeted President McKinley's appearance, he addressed the association as follows:

President McKinley's Speech.

Mr. Toastmaster, members of the National Association of Manufacturers and guests:

For the cordial character of this greeting I return my grateful thanks. The genuineness of your welcome is full compensaton for having left Washington at an unusually busy season in order to participate in this interesting meeting.

I scarcely need remind you that we do not meet as strangers. Neither your business organization nor your social reunions are altogether unfamiliar to me. I have been with you before, not a guest, as now, but rather in the capacity of host. I recall that as Governor of the State of Ohio it was my pleasure to welcome you to the city of Cincinnati on January 22, 1895, at the initial convention of the Manufacturers' Association. I well remember the occasion. It was a cold day. You had lost everything but your pluck, or thought you had.

Courage was the only friend your grief could call its own.

Times Changed Since 1895.

I note with satisfaction your improved appearance now. You are more cheerful in countenance, more buoyant in spirit, more hopeful in manner and more confident in purpose. Then, too, there are more of you here than were at your first meeting Distances are, of course, the same, but traveling has been resumed. Your speeches and resolutions at that first convention were directed mainly to the question of how to regain what you had lost in the previous years, or, if that was found impossible, then how to stop further loss. But your object now, as I gather it, is to go out and possess what you have never had before. You want to extend, not your notes, but your business. I sympathized with your purposes then; I am in full accord with your intentions now.

I ventured to say at the gathering referred to, as reported in your published proceedings, speaking both for your encouragement and from a profound conviction:

"This great country can not be permanently kept in a state of relapse. I believe we will reoccupy the field temporarily lost to us and go out to the peaceful conquest of new and greater fields of trade and commerce. The recovery will come slowly, perhaps, but it will come, and when it does we will be steadier and will better know how to avoid exposure hereafter."

I have abated none of the faith I then expressed and you seem to have regained yours.

National policies can encourage industry and commerce, but it remains for the people to project and carry them out. If these policies stimulate industrial development and energy, the people can be safely trusted to do the rest.

The Government and Business.

The Government, however, is restricted in its power to promote industry. It can aid commerce, but not create it. It can widen and deepen its rivers, improve its harbors and develop its great national waterways; but the ships to sail and the traffic to carry the people must supply. The Government can raise revenues by taxation in such a way as will discriminate in favor of domestic enterprises, but it can not establish them. It can make commercial treaties, opening to our manufacturers and agriculturists the ports of other nations. It can enter into reciprocal arrangements to exchange our products with those of other countries. It can aid our merchant marine by encouraging our people to build ships of commerce It can assist in every lawful manner private enterprise to unite the two oceans with a great canal. It can do all these things and ought to do them; but with all this accomplished the result will still be ineffectual unless supplemented by the energy, enterprise and industry of the people.

The Currency Question.

There is another duty resting upon the National Government—"to coin money and regulate the value thereof." This duty requires that our Government shall regulate the value of its money by the highest standards of commercial honesty and national honor. The money of the United States is and must forever be unquestioned and unassailable. If doubts remain, they must be removed. If weak places are discovered, they must be strengthened. Nothing should ever tempt us—nothing ever will tempt us—to scale down the sacred debt of the nation through a legal technicality. Whatever may be the language of the contract, the United States will discharge all of its obligations in the currency recognized as the best throughout the civilized world at the times of payment. Nor will we ever consent that the wages of labor or its frugal savings shall be scaled down by permitting payment in dollars of less value than the dollars accepted as the best in every enlightened nation of the earth.

Under existing conditions our citizens can not be excused if they do not redouble their efforts to secure such financial legislation as will place their honorable intentions beyond dispute. All those who represent, as you do, the great conservative but progressive business interests of the country, owe it not only to themselves, but to the people to insist upon the settlement of this great question now, or else to face the alternative that it must be again submitted for arbitration at the polls. This is our plain duty to more than seven million voters who fifteen months ago won a great political battle on the issue, among others, that the United States Government would not permit a doubt to exist anywhere concerning the stability and integrity of its currency or the inviolability of its obligations of every kind. That is my interpretation of that victory. Whatever effort, therefore, is required to make the settlement of this vital question clear and conclusive for all time, we are bound in good conscience to undertake and if possible realize. That is our commission—our present charter from the people.

It will not suffice for citizens nowadays to say simply that they are in favor of sound money. That is not enough The people's purpose must be given the vitality of public law. Better an honest effort with failure, than the avoiding of so plain and commanding a duty.

The difficulties in the path of a satisfactory reform are, it must be admitted, neither few in number nor slight in degree; but progress can not fail to be made with a fair and thorough trial. An honest attempt will be the best proof of sincerity of purpose. Discussion can not hurt, it will only help the cause. Let us have full and free discussion. We are the last to avoid or evade it. Intelligent discussion will strengthen the indifferent and encourage the friends of a stable system of finance.

Half-heartedness never won a battle. Nations and parties without abiding principles and stern resolutions to enforce them, even if it costs a continuous struggle to do so, and temporary sacrifice, are never in the highest degree successful leaders in the progress of mankind. For us to attempt nothing in the face of the prevalent fallacies and the constant effort to spread them is to lose valuable ground already won and practically to weaken the forces of sound money for their battles of the future.

Maintain the Gold Standard.

The financial plank of the St. Louis platform is still as commanding upon Republicans and those who served with them in the last campaign, as on the day it was adopted and promulgated. Happily the tariff part of that platform has already been engrafted into public statute. But that other plank, not already builded into our legislation is of binding force upon all of us. What is it?

The Republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then every dollar has been as good as gold.

We are unalterably apposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country We are therefore opposed to the free coinage of silver except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreement can be obtained the existing gold standard must be preserved.

This is in reality a command from the people who gave the administration to the party now in power and who are still anxiously waiting for the execution of their free and omnipotent will by those of us who hold commissions from that supreme tribunal.

The country is now emerging from trying conditions. It is only just beginning to recover from the depression in certain lines of business long continued and altogether unparalleled. Progress, therefore, will naturally be slow, but let us not be impatient. Rather let us exercise a just patience and one which in time will surely bring its own high reward.

The Country Has Nothing to Fear.

I have no fear for the future of our beloved country. While I discern in its present condition the necessity that always exists for the faithful devotion of its citizens, the history of its past is assurance to me that this will be as it always has been through every struggle and emergency, still onward and upward. It has never suffered from any trial or been unequal to any test. Founded upon right principles, we have nothing to fear from the vicissitudes which may lie across our pathway. The nation founded by the fathers upon principles of virtue, education, freedom and human rights; molded by the great discussions which established its sovereignty, tried in the crucible of civil war, its integrity confirmed by the results of reconstruction, with a Union stronger and better than ever before, stands to-day not upon shifting sands but upon immovable foundations. Let us resolve by our laws and by our administration of them to maintain the rights of the citizen, to cement the Union by still closer bonds to exalt the standards of American civilization, encourage the promotion of thrift, industry and economy and the homely virtues which have ennobled our people, uphold the stability of our currency and credit and illustrate the purity of our national and municipal government; and then though the rain descends and the floods come and the winds blow, the nation will stand, for it is founded upon a rock.

January customs receipts were reported as over two millions more than in January, 1897, and Treasury officials anticipated showing a gain of over $1,000,000 for the month.

HE LOVED TO MURDER

"Jack the Ripper" Secured 38 Victims Before Being Captured.

TRIED TO MURDER KEEPER

With a Chair from His Cell He Sought to Beat Out the Brains of a Warden--Apparently Had No Motive for Slaying Men, Women and Children.

Lyon, Jan 28.—Vacher, the French shepherd, under arrest on the charge of having murdered thirty-eight persons within three years, was attacked by one of his periodical fits Wednesday night and tried to kill a prison warden. Vacher had been tractable and apparently of peaceful intent for some time, and vigilance was relaxed. As the guard entered Vacher's cell the insane man leaped from his cot and, picking up the heavy prison chair, whirled it over his head and brought it down with crushing force.

The dazed prison keeper tried to ward off the rain of blows, but was beaten to the floor, when Vacher stood over him, jabbing fiercely at the unconscious man's body. A half dozen wardens sprang upon Vacher and dragged him to the cell floor. He fought with wonderful strength and could only be made powerless by the piling up of the men on top of him.

Vacher, the French "Jack the Ripper," whose crimes have surpassed in number and atrocity those of his Whitechapel prototype, has confessed to twelve murders. He has puzzled every magistrate and scientist before whom he has been examined. He is described as an individual whose ideas are quite lucid.

Since he has made his confession shortly after his arrest he has been constantly proclaiming irresponsibility at once moment, declaring it is not his fault if his blood is vitiated; at another protesting that he is but an instrument of God on earth. He only consented to be photographer on condition that he be allowed to hold the jailer's keys in his hand, saying: "The public will understand these keys represent the keys to paradise."

Vacher was once confined for some months in a madhouse, and once when doing military service he attempted to shoot himself, owing to a love affair. Vacher himself says, which statement has been proved to be true, that in his youth he was bitten by a mad dog and a concoction was given him by the village herbalist, after drinking which he grew strange, irritable and brutal.

HOUSE CIVIL SERVICE HEARING

The Evans Bill Denounced by John W. Ely, of Chicago.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The series of hearing to be given by the House Committee on Civil Service Reform was begun yesterday. John W. Ely, of Chicago, a member of the National Civil Service Reform Association, was the first witness and made numerous suggestions. He said that the worst thing that could happen would be to have the terms of office of government employes expire simultaneously, as was proposed by the Evans bill. He preferred the business principles into operation in the business part of the Government.
merit system, merely because it puts
Considerable discussion followed when the witness advocated espionage on employes and freedom of making charges against them for age or incapacity. The witness made a vigorous protest against the Evans bill.

Representative Evans, of Kentucky, the author of the bill in question, explained the provisions of that measure.

Soldiers for Havana.

Havana, Jan. 28.—The city was entirely quiet last evening. The Maine lies at anchor near the Spanish cruiser Alfonso XII. Many persons believe that the presence of the American warship here is designed to bring about disturbances on the streets of Havana when the American sailors and marines land. Two battalions of infantry and a section of artillery have arrived from the Province of Pinar del Rio.

Alexander VanRenssaler Married.

Philadelphia, Jan. 28.—The marriage of Mrs. Sarah Drexel-Fell to Mr. Alexander Van Renssalaer was celebrated at the bride's country place, Camp Hill, yesterday. Only one hundred invitations had been issued, and this included those sent to the immediate members of both families. Mrs. Sarah Drexel-Fell is a daughter of the late Anthony J. Drexel and is very wealthy.

Expedition to the Gold Fields.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 28.—An expedition composed of Eastern men, headed by Hon. A. T. Connell, of this city, a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and nephew of Congressman Connell, of this district, will start for the Klondike next Wednesday, to be gone three years.

Have you seen it imitated?

Why is it done?

The answer is not far to seek. No one imitates a low standard, and H-O by reason of its reputation, enjoys the distinction of every conceivable sort of imitation.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment, Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Abbott Brainard, of Central avenue, has been promoted to the office of third sergeant in the cadet corps of the New Jersey Military Academy.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. A. D. Pope, of Lincoln place, is being entertained by her sister, Mrs. Frances Clark, of High street, Newark.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T, S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. Cox, of Greater New York, is the guest of Miss May F. Howlett, of Elmwood place.

F. A. Bissell, of Scranton, is visiting former Councilman Seymour G. Smith, of Putnam avenue.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Mrs. James Radin, of North avenue, has recovered from a slight illness.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

SPANISH FLEET FOR HAVANA.

Minister Woodford's House in Madrid Under Constant Surveillance.

London, Jan. 28.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "It has been decided that the whole Spanish fleet shall concentrate at Havana, though not immediately, unless circumstances demand."

Madrid, Jan. 28.—Admiral Bermejo, the Minister of Marine, has ordered the fleet to concentrate at Cadiz. A transatlantic seamer will be chartered to supply the ships with stores and coal.

A local newspaper asserts that measures have been taken to keep United States Minister Woodford's residence "under surveillance." The newspapers here allege that when the United States Minister, General Stewart L. Woodford, advised the Spanish Government of the dispatch of the battleship Maine to Havana the ship was already on her way to that port.

The public prosecutor demands a sentence upon Lieutenant-General Weyler of two months' imprisonment.

United States Minister Woodford's note, announcing the cruise of the Maine, and the reply of the Foreign Minister, Senor Gulion intimating that a Spanish war vessel will visit America, are both couched in markedly polite and friendly terms.

It has been decided to send the first-class cruiser Infanta Maria Teresa to America, instead of the Vizcaya, because the Vizcaya's commanding officer, Captain Concas, in the course of a lecture before the Madrid Geographical Society in 1896, censured the United States in a manner that provoked the American Minister, Hannis Taylor, to demand an explanation.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Considerable importance is attached here to the report that Spain will concentrate a fleet of warships at Havana. Already there is a large number of Spanish vessels doing patrol duty along the coast of Cuba. Any large addition to this force might change the whole situation. It probably is deemed necessary by the Spanish Ministry to make a big demonstration, which will satisfy Spanish pride, now much offended by the appearance of the Maine at Havana, and the wild but unfounded stories in circulation of intended American intervention.

SAILORS MAY CAUSE TROUBLE.

Commander Sigsbee Instructed to be Careful with Shore Leave in Havana.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Reports received by the State Department from Havana denote grave apprehensions of trouble as soon as the marines from the battleship Maine are given shore leave. Commander Sigsbee, of the Maine, was instructed yesterday to be very careful in permitting his men to go ashore. While the message to Captain Sigsbee was not in the form of a command, it was tantamount to an order to keep his men on board.

The officers of the Maine on their visits ashore do not mingle with the populace, but the marines would be embroiled with the Spanish mob in short order if they were allowed the freedom of the city.

State Department officials insist that Havana is quiet, but as the guards about the Governor's palace have been doubled and the troops have been brought in from the country, it is evident that the condition of affairs is still serious.

SHAW JUROR ARRESTED.

Is Believed to Know Who was to Blame For the Recent Mistrial.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 28.—There was an arrest yesterday in connection with the investigation into the causes which led to the mistrial of Eli Shaw. Since the trial for the murder of his mother and grandmother came to an end so suddenly, there have been rumors of jury tampering.

Juror John Meshaw one of the petit jurors drawn in the Shaw case from which the trial jury was secured, was the man arrested. He was taken into custody on a Grand Jury bench warrant and committed to jail in default of $1,000 bail. No one knows why he was locked up. Meshaw says the nature of the charge against him mystifies him.

Meshaw is the man who, after the Shaw trial jury was discharged told a reporter, while the latter was endeavoring to run down bribery charges, that "he did not propose to tell tales out of school." He said both sides knew why the trial was called off, and added that "both sides had their men out for business."

He may be indicted or may be locked up for evading questions while undergoing examination by the Grand Jury. The arrest has caused considerable excitement here and more arrests are expected.

With last night's big banquet ended the third annual gathering of the National Manufacturers' Association. In declaring adjourned the business session in Masonic Temple President Search said:

"I am pleased to say that the convention just closed was the most harmonious and successful in the history of the association."

A THREE-CORNERED FIGHT.

There is a three cornered fight between the Republican leaders of Union and Somerset county to capture the appointment of a member of the State Board of Arbitration, soon to be selected by Acting Governor Voorhees, with the chances in favor of the Union county man. John K. Large, of this city, chief detective of the Central railroad forces, is the candidate of the county and city G. O. P. leaders, as well as many influential Republicans living in other sections of the State. Mr. Large's candidacy for the place was endorsed by the county committee last Saturday. Senator Reed and Chancery Clerk Thompson, whose political friendship is not such that they work in accord, are also pushing a man for the place. Senator Reed's aspirant is William Cauley, of Somerville. Mr. Thompson's candidate is Charles A. Houston, of Somerville, the present member of the Board whose term expires this year. The fact that there are two candidates from Somerset county, and the probable averseness of the Governor to offend one leader by favoring the other, leads to the conclusion that Mr. Large stands a very good show of securing the appointment. He is well qualified to fill the office, as he is a man of fair decision and executive ability that would serve to make him a valuable member of the Board.

DEMAREST TAKEN TO JAIL.

Accused of Paying Bills With Worthless Checks.

Clarence Demarest, of this city, formerly proprietor of the Rutgers pharmacy at New Brunswick, was lodged in the Middlesex county jail yesterday morning by Detective Housewell on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. Two charges are pending against the young man, one by Bernard Marks, manager of Sternberg's clothing store, who alleges that Demarest paid for a suit of clothes with a check that turned out to be worthless. The other is by Thomas Kenney, agent for a New York liquor house. He makes a similar charge. It is said that other men in New Brunswick who cashed Demarest's checks have been unable to collect them.

He was married under romantic circumstances to a pretty girl in New Brunswick about two years ago. Friends are endeavoring to secure his release on bail.

Pythians Entertained Royally.

Goodwill Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Scotch Plains, entertained their friends right royally last evening, Grand Chancellor Rockafellow, of Somerville, was present with several of the other grand officers. A number of visiting Knights were present. A stageload went from this city. There was the usual work to be done. A collation and general good time followed.

Informal Social Affair.

Miss Mary Brown, of East Fourth street, entertained a few friends at her home last evening. The affair was a very informal social one, and all present thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess. At a late hour a delightful supper was served, which was a pleasant feature.

William Runyon, of Bound Brook, is visiting Plainfield relatives for a few days.

Lawyer Isaac Runyon, of North avenue, is in New York today on business.

Mrs. E. D. Moffett, of Orchard place, is able to be about the house again after a short, but severe illness.

—L. E. Hart, of West Front street, has purchased a new horse for family driving.

—Willett & Son are showing the trade an extra nice line of storm and skating boots.

—Have you noticed which way the tide of trade flows? Always coming toward Peck's.

—A meeting of the Kappa Delta Phi of the Plainfield High School will be held this afternoon.

—The ice men about this locality are beginning to feel a little shaky over the crop for this year.

—Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold a meeting tonight and every member is requested to be present.

—The meeting at Warren chapel this evening will be in charge of Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope chapel.

—Miss Curry, of New York, will address the Junior Endeavor Society of the Congregational church this afternoon.

—Early in the spring a stone walk will probably be laid on the west side of Grant avenue between Front street and Fourth street.

—Rev. James I. Murray, Dean of Princeton University, will preach at the Crescent Avenue church Sunday morning and evening.

—John Lindsey has resigned his position with A. M. Runyon & Son, undertakers. He has not yet decided just what he will do at present.

—A supper and entertainment will be held in Vincent chapel this evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church.

—At the next meeting of the City Council the appointments for the ensuing year will be made. At present there is considerable guessing on the subject.

—F. O. Bristol will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday at 4:15 p. m. There will be a vocal solo with autoharp accompaniment; also a violin solo.

—A considerable amount of crushed stone has been spread on West Front street in the vicinity of Rock avenue, and the improvement is much appreciated.

—City steam and hand laundry, 19 Somerset street, say a laundry is a place where carelessness counts fast, but they watch things closely and do not allow it.

—Street Commissioner Gavett is having his men make a ditch on West Front street near the end of the trolley line so that the surplus water can be removed quickly.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will hold an entertainment in the church parlors this evening. It will be called "An Evening on the Plantation."

—If you want shoes of good wearing qualities, and that gives the wearer satisfaction, you can find them at reasonable prices at Flynn Bros., 318 West Front street, Schepflin building.

—Blair, the Park avenue hatter, has a good stock of winter gloves, woolen socks and heavy underwear, which he is selling at popular prices. These goods are just seasonable for this weather. Give him a call.

—The revival meetings of the Fillmore Baptist church are of special interest. The services are well attended, and Rev. J. M. Shirley, of Harrisburg, who is helping Rev. W. D. Johnson, is preaching.

—Alonzo Fostor, manager of the Star Lyceum Bureau, says of Lovett's Boston Stars: "I have booked them in my best courses and the critics are unanimous in their praise." Y. M. C. A. Star Course, Jan. 31st. See advertisement.

On the Old Plantation.

The Endeavor Society of the Congregational church and their friends will enjoy an "evening on the old plantation" tonight in their church parlors. A musical and literary programme has been prepared by the good literature committee, including reading, recitations by pupils of Miss Addie Parker Jackson, piano and mandolin solos, and the singing of plantation melodies, all illustrative of various phases of life in the south. At the close of the programme refreshments will be served. There will be no admission fee.

Money for Duer Street Opening.

John Vetterlein is meeting with good success in collecting the subscriptions necessary to raise the money for the opening of Duer street. He has already secured pledges for $230, besides the subscription of William Stillman for $1,000. The opening of this thoroughfare will be a great improvement and should receive the financial help of all property owners who will be benefited by it.

THEATRICAL.

Big audiences have been the rule at Music Hall this week. Tonight the "Octoroon" will be presented; tomorrow afternoon, "Ten Nights in a Barroom;" tomorrow night, "The Mysterious Mr. Jones."

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles," which is announced at Stillman Music Hall, is one of the great novels of this day, and it grows greater as time goes on, which can be said of few works of fiction. Every one who has read the history of this daughter of the ancient soil of England will wish to see how the dramatizer has treated her, what Mrs. Fiske has done in transplanting her to the stage. There is no doubt but her play of "Tess" will be counted the most important of the season here. Our theatre-goers are prepared to regard with flattering eye an impersonation that promises to be as sincere, as noble in intention as the character which Hardy conceived and immortalized in his tragic story. The play will be presented here Tuesday night.

"The Sporting Duchess" is booked for February 12th.

Will be a Clever Entertainment.

The musical and literary entertainment in the Y. M. C. A. Hall next Thursday evening, February 3d, will be of a first-class order, and the price of tickets has been placed at 35 cents, in order to fill the hall. Mrs. E. V. Waldorf, who has charge of the affair, has given the same entertainment several times in other cities, and always received very flattering press notices. As she is a resident of Plainfield, she will no doubt meet with like success here.

John Mortimer, of Asbury Park, is visiting old acquaintances in Plainfield.

John Beick, an employe at the Scott Press Works, in Plainfield, whose hand was injured while he was at work last week, is still confined to his home by the injury, and it will probably be some time before he will be able to return to work.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Henry Warncke is in Philadelphia on a business trip.

The Westfield Township Committee meets in the town rooms tonight.

The Westfield Club will give a progressive euchre party and dance in the clubhouse this evening.

The Loyal Temperance Legion held a meeting in W. C. T. U. Hall, on Prospect street, this afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Westfield Methodist church will hold a 5 o'clock tea in the church parlors early in February.

The Westfield Junior bowling team will roll a series of three games with the Rahway team on the Gale's clubhouse alleys tomorrow night.

The merchants of Westfield are circulating a petition asking the Township Committee to grant the trolley franchise without incurring the expense of a special election.

Hook and Ladder Company, No. 1, is preparing to give an entertainment in the Westfield Club Hall on Washington's Birthday. An excellent programme is being prepared. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of uniforms.

The Westfield Methodist church held its fourth quarterly conference last evening. Rev. Dr. Smith, the presiding elder of the district, was in the chair, and reports were presented showing the progress made in all departments of the church's work.

The benefit entertainment which was given for William H. Ward and family in the Westfield Club Hall last evening was well attended and proved very successful. Charles Thompson gave a clever exhibition of hypnotism, in which his wife was the subject. She went about among the audience obeying the commands which were whispered to her husband by persons in the audience. George Jenkins, the well known banjoist, gave a selection. W. W. Waters, the humorist, told a number of funny stories, Mrs. S. S. Mapes gave a banjo solo and Herbert Pearsall gave a number of phonograph selections.

The case of Collins against Olmstead was tried on appeal before Judge Bartine in the Somerset county court yesterday, and judgement in full, with costs, was rendered for the plaintiff. The dispute arose over the payment of a note which Olmstead had given to a third party in a horse trade. The note came into Justice Collins' hands, and when payment was demanded, Olmstead refused the demand on the grounds that he held a counter claim against the original holders of the note, arising out of a subsequent transaction. The justice brought suit against Olmstead in East Millstone. The defendant came into court and attempted to file a set-off after the action had come to trial. The plaintiff objected, but the objection was overruled by the Justice before whom the case was being tried. The action was then appealed to the Somerset county court. It was argued Wednesday and yesterday, the whole issue resting upon the question of proceedure in justices' courts. The judgment of Judge Bartine sustained in full the position of Justice Collins.

Lantern Slides Exhibited.

One of the most creditable exhibitions of lantern slides ever seen in this city was given in the rooms of the Plainfield Camera Club last evening. The views were those of the Orange Camera Club and are considered one of the best collections of any club. The tints to some of the pictures were very remarkable and called forth admiration from the audience. The exhibition was not as largely attended as it deserved to be but those who did turn out found themselves well repaid. The views included a number of lanscapes, still-life, and animal studies. There were 150 views in all.

Five Conclude to Stop Drinking Liquor.

Reform Hall was well filled last evening with an appreciative audience that enjoyed the usual weekly programme of recitations, songs and speeches. The programme consisted of remarks by Sylvester Scribner, M. F. Marcley, Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Lloyd, John Sayres, vocal solos by Miss Garretson, cornet solos by Mrs. J. D. Anderson, recitations by Miss Bertha Clum and W. R. Mattox, and a song entitled "Father Drinks Again," by W. C. Smith. President Smith was in charge of the meeting, and at the close there were five signers to the pledge.

Plainfield, Jan. 27th, 1898.

H. O. Newman, Treasurer.

The next business considered was the selection of S. Kimball, H. R Munger, Sr., H. R. Munger, Jr., H. J. Martin, J. A. Robinson and J. W. Gavett as a nominating committee to choose eighteen members of the board of directors for the ensuing year.

While the committee was considering the selection of a board, the members present adopted a new constitution, which is really an amendment to the old one. There are only a few slight changes in the constitution as amended.

A pleasant feature was the presentation to the association by John Dalziel of a portrait of former Mayor Alex. Gilbert, which was the work of Mr. Dalziel. It was very gratefully accepted by the association and both the donor and Mr. Gilbert were heartily thanked.

H. O. Newman, on behalf of the association, offered a motion that the press of Plainfield be thanked for their kindness to the association in publishing items concerning the work from time to time.

Mr. Newman also made a few remarks concerning the retirement of W. D. Murray from the office of president. He expressed his opinion that Mr. Murray had been a faithful officer and member of the association and the members owe him a debt of gratitude for his efficiency and help in guiding the affairs of the association. The members concurred in what Mr. Newman said.

At this time H. R. Munger, for the nominating committee, presented the names of eighteen men whom the committee had chosen for directors. According to the new constitution the directors will elect the officers of the association. The directors chosen are as follows:

E. R. Ackerman, G. H. Batchelor, Stephen Cahoone, G. A. Chapman, G. S. Clay, J. W. Jackson, A. C. LaBoyteaux, H. J. Martin, H. M. Maxson, R. H. Radford, G. M. Rittenhouse, Nelson Runyon, Curtis M. Thorpe, W. D. Murray, E. L. Bonny, A. B. Beers, John Valiant and H. O. Newman.

This finished the business of the evening and the meeting adjourned.

ANNUAL INVENTORY SALE

A Wise Loss Is often proof of good business judgment. We consider it wise at this season of the year to offer you the pick of every dollar's worth of surplus stock without regard to its former value, or regard to its cost. Our inventory is close at hand and there are hundreds of items here that you can use to good advantage; every price quoted is a cold fact, every item advertised is just as represented. This sale will last ten days, that will be long enough to reduce stock and quite as long as we care to do business at a loss.

The Dress Goods

We have gone through it and cut prices right and left, we know there will be some empty shelves ten days from now.

Lot No. 1

About 1,000 yards of patterns suitable for skirts and waists, have been 50c to $1 per yard, all go at 37c the yard.

THE SUNDAY LESSON.

INTERNATIONAL SERIES, WITH COMMENTARY BY DR. STEARNS.

Golden Text—Pray to thy Father which is in secret.—Matt. vi: 6. Jan. 30, 1898.

5. "And when thou prayest shou shalt not be as the hypocrites, for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward." Dr. Weston says concerning this sermon that Christ here draws the picture of the person who is to be the result of His work, the ideal man whom the Savior is to make actual by saving him from sin. The only and indispensable condition of admission to such a life is the consciousness of utter spirtual poverty, absolute destitution, a beggar with no power to alter his condition or make himself better. No man on earth, be he who or what he will, is excluded, and the character described in the beatitudes is within the reach of every man.

6. "But thou when thou prayest enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door pray to thy Father, which is in secret, and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly." All benevolence is not to be hidden, for when our good works glorify Good we are to let our light so shine. No one is forbidden to pray in public nor even to let it be known that we are fasting if God can be glorified thereby. What is forbidden is our own glory or advantage in anything. What is required is the glory of God in all things. See I. Cor. x., 31; I. Pet. iv., 11; John xiv., 13, 14.

7. "But when ye pray use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do, for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking." There is nothing here forbidden us to repeat the same petitions in our prayers, but what is forbidden is vain repetition or thinking that there is any benefit or merit in saying the same words over and over. True prayer is the utterance of heart desires for the glory of God in the name of Jesus Christ.

8. "Be not ye therefore like unto them, for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask Him." We are not forbidden to ask because our Father knows, but we are to ask as children who have confidence in a Father's love and wisdom. Children who tease and torment their parents do no credit either to themselves or to their parents; parents who permit it are not wise, and children who do it do not honor their parents. Confidence in God will meekly ask and be sure that if it is best it shall be given.

9. "After this manner therefore pray ye, Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name." I have met many who use no more this form of words and perhaps they do no sin by this omission; as for myself I never expect to pray better or with more understanding or more in accord with the will of God than when I use these very words. I would not rob Israel, nor put myself under any bondage, but if Israel has a good thing which I, too, can enjoy, surely our Father would like me to enjoy it. How very near Jesus took Mary and us to His heart when He said, "Go to My brethren and say unto them, I ascend unto My Father, and your Father, and to My God and your God" (John xx., 17).

10. "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven." When, after the thousand years, satan shall have been sent to the lake of fire, and all things shall have been subdued unto Christ, then He shall hand over the kingdom unto God the Father that God may be all in all (Rev. xx., 10; I. Cor. xv., 28), and this prayer shall be answered.

11. "Give us this day our daily bread." Our Father knows our need in this matter and will not withhold any good, yet it is His pleasure that we ask Him for all that is included in this phrase "our daily bread," and inasmuch as we have already learned that man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God (chapter iv., 4), the phrase must include a great deal.

12. "And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors." Forgiveness of sins in His name is what we are to preach everywhere (Luke xxiv., 47), and when we receive Him we are assured that our sins are forgiven for His name's sake and shall no more be remembered (I. John ii., 12; Isa. xliii., 25), but while we are in these mortal bodies we shall need constant forgiveness; hence the comfort of the assurance that "If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." It is the sense of the vast forgiveness which we enjoy from Him that enables us to be kind one to another, tender hearted, forgiving one another even as God for Christ's sake has forgiven us (Eph. iv., 32).

13. "And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil, for Thine is the kingdom, and the power and the glory forever. Amen." God never tempts any one to do wrong (Jas. i., 13), but He does try men for their present and eternal good, and for His great glory, and it is blessed to be tried and receive grace to endure (Jas. i., 12). He will never try us above what we are able (I. Cor. x., 13). As to the evil one, He will deliver us from every evil work and preserve us unto his heavenly kingdom (II. Tim. iv., 18). The kingdom is His, the power is His, and the glory. Salvation and service from beginning to end are all His, and of Him, and it becomes us ever to say, "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the majesty, for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is Thine. Thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and Thou art exalted as head above all.

14. "For if ye forgive men their trespasses your Heavenly Father will also forgive you." Fellowship with God depends upon our being one with Him in all things. We may walk with Him, and He will dwell in us and walk in us (II. Cor. vi., 16), but we must be willing to humble ourselves and agree with Him in everything (Micah vi., 8; Amos iii., 3).

15. "But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses." When Peter asked how often he should forgive his brother, and suggested seven times as a possible extreme, our Lord answered, "Until seventy times seven." He then told of one who was forgiven ten thousand talents, but would not forgive his fellow-servant a hundred pence, hence he was severely punished.

AMERICAN BUNTING.

The Requisitions by the Government for It for Navy Flags.

Imperative requisitions by the Government authorities for the production of bunting for navy flags are what insure the superiority so well known to characterize the American article. The regulations prescribe that the fabric be made entirely of wool of the best quality, and show no imperfections, the weight to be five and one-fourth pounds avoridupois per piece of forty yards of 10-inch width, the yarn to be evenly spun, the warp and filling to contain no less than thirty-four threads to the inch, and the warp two-ply with one-ply filling, properly twisted; further, a tensile strength is required of sixty-five pounds for the warp and forty-five pounds for the filling, in test pieces two inches wide. The colors must be as "fast" as it is possible to make them, and not liable to be seriously affected by being soaked continuously for twenty-four hours in fresh water and then thoroughly washed in water with which is combined a good grade of laundry soap. Every stripe and device on the flags made of this superb material are measured with the most perfect geometrical accuracy, and the stars are put on so carefully and evenly that when the flag is held up to the light the stars, which are made of muslin and put on both sides, appear to be a part of the fabric. The stars are cut with chisels out of bleached muslin laid thirty thicknessess together on a large open block.—Boston Transcript.

THE FRENCH PEASANT.

After Harvest All the Fields Become Common Property.

The French peasant has an independent means of existence. He owns the soil he tills. If he employs laborers they, at least, will own a house and garden, and hope to own a plot. The English villager is either a small tradesman or a laborer. A garden which he cultivates but does not own is, as a rule, the extent of his possessions. There are two classes in an English village, and these may be subdivided into various religious sects. There is only one class in our French commune—a fact which has a material bearing upon the social economy of the community. Every inhabitant of the commune is a proprietor of something, and all are bent on saving, yet, with all their individualism, they combine for common and mutual interest. This is illustrated by the organization of the syndicate for buying at wholesale prices. They unite for the cultivation of the soil, lending each other horses and making up teams. Every commune has a field, which is common property, and where, on payment of a trifling fee, animals graze. After the harvest all the fields become common property, and the gros betail and the other betail are allowed to roam at large.—Contemporary Review.

Crazed by Cigarettes.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 28.—James Walsh, twenty-one years old, was sent to jail yesterday to restrain him from smoking cigarettes. He has been in the habit of consuming one hundred a day, and is accused of attacking his mother and sister while apparently insane from smoking.

MONETARY COMMISSION.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 28.—The Executive Committee of the Indianapolis convention will at once begin a comprehensive educational campaign. It is proposed to distribute several million copies of the Monetary Commission's report and a large number of articles to be written by men of national prominence, showing the advantage of banking based on assets, the necessity for the retirement of the greenbacks and in support of the other recommendations embraced in the commissions report. These articles will be written in as bright and attractive a style as the serious character of the subject will permit, and they they will be distributed so intelligently as to reach the great body of the voters.

The speech delivered by Governor Shaw, of Iowa, will also be distributed. Governor Shaw presented the money question in such simple yet forcible language that his speech is regarded as an admirable campaign document, and, in the West particularly, where he is so well and favorably known, it will be very effective. The central thought of the convention was aggressive action.

Mr. J. Harsen Rhoades, of New York, voiced the sentiment of the four hundred delegates when he maintained that the cause of currency reform should not be allowed to slumber, but that the Executive Committee should have full power to effect a thorough organization and to enter at once upon an active propaganda. This, together with the intimation by John C. Bullitt, of Philadelphia, that the Republicans must expect no assistance from the gold Democrats in the elections of this year or of 1900, if they do not bend their energies to the promotion of currency reform, were the striking features of the convention.

Chairman Hanna, of the Executive Committee, is arranging a programme of work which will extend into a score or more of States, and result, he believes, in the creation of such sentiment in favor of reforming the monetary system as to make certain the passage of a bill through the House and prepare the way for similar action in the Senate.

THE TREATY A LEVER.

Cuba's Friends Will Use It to Advantage in the Senate.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Senator White says he is willing that the advocates of the Hawaiian treaty should fix a day for the vote in the Senate, but Senator Davis does not appear anxious to accept the offer. The belief at the Capitol is that a month or six weeks will elapse before the vote is taken. The Republicans among the opposition are keeping quiet in order to avoid perpetual annoyance.

The action of the Administration in sending a ship to Havana has quickened rather than allayed the interest of the friends of Cuba in the Senate, and they now seem anxious to determine what will be the next move. They seem to think that if the Hawaiian treaty should be disposed of they would have no lever by which to secure the co-operation of the President in their efforts to bring about Cuban independence, and if the consideration of the treaty is postponed, it will be by the votes of these Cuban sympathizers.

Ex-Senator Dubois' lecture on Hawaii, printed at Government expense pitches into the Hula Hula dance of the Kanaka girls. Among other remarks on the subject he says: "The dancing is neither graceful nor pleasing, being much on the same order as the Egyptian dancers seen on the Midway Plaisance at the World's Fair in Chicago."

PRESIDENT DOLE'S PLANS.

To Leave Washington on His Return Trip the Last of Next Week.

Washington, Jan. 28.—President Dole, of Hawaii, was kept very busy yesterday receiving callers. Minister Hatch was early on hand and was followed by ex-Minister Thurston, Senator Morgan, of Alabama, and Mr. Crosby S. Noyes, of Washington. In an interview President Dole said:

"I prefer not to discuss annexatoin during the pendency of the question in the Senate. I shall call on the President during my stay here, and, of course, shall give him such information as he may desire respecting questions between the two countries. I expect to stay in Washington until the end of next week, when our trip homeward will begin. We shall go from here drect to San Francisco, taking the steamer there for Honolulu. Certainly I should like to see the annexation treaty ratified by the Senate before we leave, but we will not wait if such is not the case."

The Arms Taken by the British.

London, Jan. 28.—According to a dispatch to the Globe from Birmingham, the capture of the British steamer Baluchistan, off Muscat, Arabia, by the British gunboat Lapwing, and the seizure of her cargo of arms and ammunition, has temporarily paralyzed the trade of the large gunmakers, because London merchants concerned have ordered them to suspend operations Some of the guns seized were from Birmingham, whence there has been an extensive trade in arms to the Persian Gulf.

Fire Caused by Explosion.

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 28.—A can of kerosene oil exploded in the boiler house of the Benneville Cement Mill at Rosedale yesterday, setting fire to the mill and storage house. Both were totally destroyed, together with four thousand bags, six hundred barrels of cement and three hundred tons of coal. The mill was 400 by 800 feet and four stories high. The storehouse was 400 by 40 feet and two stories. The loss is estimated at $100,000, fully insured

Firebug Gets Seven Years.

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 28.—On motion of State Attorney Williams, Fred Cook, the confessed firebug of the Tontine Hotel, was yesterday sentenced to seven years in State prison on one count. The other count in the indictment was nulled.

Want Lindsay to Resign.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 28.—The House of Representatives yesterday passed the Saunders resolution, asking for Senator Lindsay's resignation after a long and heated debated.

SILVER VOTE DELAYED

The Senate Puts It Off Until This Evening.

GAIN FOR REPUBLICANS

Acknowledgement of Their Purpose by the Silver Men Makes the Western Senators Hesitate About Voting for the Resolution.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The Senate yesterday postponed the vote on the Teller-Matthews resolution until 6 o'clock this evening. The acotin is considered by the Republicans a point gained. Although Senator Vest made the motion for postponement, on account of a desire for further debate, the Republicans say that the longer the silver men talk the clearer it becomes that their intention of passing the resolution is for free silver effect. The debate so far has shown that the silver men interpret the resolution to ultimately mean free silver, and the acknowledgement on the floor of the Snate by Senators favoring it that their hopes are the same way, has given the Republicans an opportunity to point out to the Western Senators the exact purpose of the silver democrats in forcing the passing of the resolution at this time The Democrats evidently have seen this, for they were the ones who asked for a longer discussion to correct some of their mistakes.

Several Western Republican Senators have expressed doubt as to their final vote on the resolution, and have stated that they might vote for one of the Republican amendments, especially the one reaffirming the St. Louis platform. The postponement of the vote heretofore gives the Republicans a chance to get together and perhaps agree on a substitute or an amendment, which may be adopted.

Senator Foraker said that there was a chance for the Republicans to get together, and if not to defeat the Teller resolution, at least so reduce the majority of last week as to make it a virtuel victory. Senator Lodge thinks, however, the resolution will be adopted by a reduced vote.

DANGER OVER CUBA.

The Growing Impatience of Members of the House.

Washington, Jan. 28.—There is more than the ordinary disquietude in Congress concerning the Cuban situation. When the announcement was made that the Maine had been ordered to Havana it was construed by many that the President was taking the step referred to by Mr. Hitt, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee. In his speech, looking to the settlement of the Cuban question. It has since developed with sufficient clearness that the sending of the Maine to Havana meant no more than what was conveyed in the orders, and that the President has in contemplation no further steps at this time, unless something should happen to compel action.

The understanding of this situation has made the members of the House impatient to even a greater degree than has heretofore been apparent. This renewed impatience has not yet led to further expression in debate, but it is obviously more dangerous than that which finds expression in the Record It is showing itself now in conferences and private discussions, which look more seriously to action. It had seemed that the wishes of the President would be respected by all Republicans and that they would all restrain their sympathy for Cuba. It appears now however that there is a strong probability that the Cuban sympathizers will insist upon action within a short time and a radical proposition is expected to make its appearance in the House soon, with a prospect of having the support of a majority of the members

It is believed that the situation developing rapidly in Cuba is such as to indicate the failure of autonomy beyond the possibility of a doubt. This anticipation gives rise to the belief that further disorder, growing out of the discontent and anger of the radical Spanish element in Cuba and in Madrid, will follow.

A RACE OF BROWNIES.

Queer Dwarfs with Fat Bodies and Spindle Legs in South America.

Boston, Jan. 28.—A race of pigmies—a whole country populated with beings no higger than children—has been discovered in South America. The Columbus in this case is Eben J. Sullivan, of this city, who has just returned from South America. He has made a report of the curious race of midgetts he found on the banks of the Rio Negro, a tributary of the Amazon, to R. G. Haliburton, Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

The pigmies according to Mr. Sullivan's report, number from 10,000 to 15,000 persons. That they have been preyed upon and decimated by other tribes is shown by their deep-seated terror of man of average size. They cringe on the ground like dogs or skurry to their mud homes at the sight of a stranger

They are very ugly. They seem almost deformed. Their stomachs distend out of all proportion to their little spindling legs and arms. They look like Brownies. This, Mr. Sullivan says is caused by the way the pigmies eat They gorge themselves like anacondas Then they lie in a stupor, often for a day and a half. Their hair is done up in a position which increases the repulsiveness of their appearance. It is stuck together by mud, and the head is covered with horns, made of mud and hair.

Named by the President.

Washington, Jan 28.—The President has sent the following nominations to the Senate: Julius Jacobs, to be assistant treasurer at San Francisco Cal.; Hamilton Glover Edwart, of North Carolina, to be district judge for the Western District of North Carolina. "BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasure?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen"—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads,	Sheridan's Powder.

PASSING COMMENT.

During the recent snowfall in this city Superintendent Adelman, of the street railway, might have been seen making a tour of the route perched upon the fender of one of the cars. His weight bore the fender down close to the track, and it thus answered the purpose of a snowplow, scraping the white crystals from the rails. The incident illustrates a trait in Mr. Adelman's character which is well known among his friends. When there is a task of special severity or danger to be discharged he prepares to do it himself instead of ordering one of the men employed under him to undertake it. Several times when some derangement of the wires or the connections with the cars has made it necessary for someone to handle the machinery and run the risk of receiving a shock of electricity that might mean death, the superintendent has always insisted on doing the work himself.

Rev. Charles Hopkins, of Brooklyn, a noted religious worker, is a particular friend of Rev. E. Payson Hammond, the evangelist, and in a letter to Rev. W. R. Richardson, Tuesday, he had the following to say of the evangelist's methods and results:

I have labored with Rev. E. Payson Hammond in revival work, much of the time during the past three or four weeks in the churches of Brooklyn, New York and South Plainfield.

He comes to your church today with great hope of a glorious work. I have witnessed the most gratifying results. Many conversions were reported yesterday in the small Baptist church, of South Plainfield, as the result of his labors Sunday and Monday last.

His methods are very simple and very natural. He displays great ability and tact and common sense in all his work. He is exceedingly eloquent and argumentative and an orator of the very highest type. He convinces the reason by his arguments, and moves and entertains people by his immense fund of illustrations and reminiscences of travel and revival work in most of the great cities of the world. He holds the audience spellbound from the beginning to the end of his preaching, and the results are that very many are found weeping with conviction of sin, and coming to Christ and finding Him before they leave the meeting. The most obdurate and stubborn infidels have yielded under his preaching, as well as vast multitudes of children and youths.

Mr. Spurgeon, of London, invited him to preach in his great tabernacle and he filled that place each day for six days with 6,000 people. It is believed that from 2,000 to 3,000 were converted during that time. Five thousand joined the churches in the city of St. Louis as the result of his great work there. The same thing can be said of a great many other smaller cities in Europe and America of conversions in the same proportion.

These wonderful results must be attributed entirely to the work of the Holy Spirit, which is poured out in great power on his labors and fills and inspires him constantly in all his work.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

William Howatt, of West Second street, is ill at his home.

Walter Scott, of East Front street, is in Trenton today on business.

George Miller, of Newark, was the guest of Plainfield friends last evening

Mrs. Clarence Burgess, of Providence, R. I., is visiting her sister, Mrs. I. B. Hill, of 35 Westervelt avenue.

Miss Emma Strocham, of I. H. Boehm's dry goods store, has been confined at home for the past ten days with illness.

Miss Mabel Maxson, of West Fourth street, entertained a few friends at her home Wednesday evening. The evening was spent in playing croconole.

Patrolman Freleigh, who has been ill since last October, is much improved and will probably be able to return to duty the first of the month.

E. P. T Smith, of West Fourth street, who has been confined to Muhlenberg Hospital for some time past, expects to be able to leave the above institution at an early date.

Visited St. John's Commandery

About fifteen officers and members of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., went to Elizabeth last evening and visited St. John's Commandery of that place. The Plainfield officers under the direction of Eminent Commander, Jacob Kirkner, worked the Temple Degree and the work was highly praised by those present. A banquet followed the conclave.

THE POLICE WILL BE FED

BUT IT WILL NOT BE FROM A MIDNIGHT LUNCH WAGON.

Police Board Arrange a New Plan for Furnishing Warm Nourishment to the Minions of Law—Officers Reprimanded

The midnight lunch wagon of the police is to have a substitute. There is to be no wagon to make the rounds of the different beats of the policemen of this city at the hour of midnight and furnish them with a steaming cup of hot coffee. Instead a new plan will be substituted that is said to possess all the advantages of the lunch wagon without as great an expense. Such was the decision of the Police Board at a meetig held in the Mayor's office last evening.

The question of the midnight lunch wagon has bothered the board considerably. The board once brought down the wrath of many citizens on their head by experimenting with the lunch wagon. There was much unfavorable comment of the method. There seemed no way of solving the trouble without much expense or a decrease in the efficiency of the force. The matter was talked over last night and a combination of methods was evolved.

The police are to have their warm lunch at midnight. They will not have to leave their posts to get it either. The plan, as adopted by the Board, is to the effect that patrolmen on duty in such portions of the city where there is any suitable establishment at which they can procure a cup of hot coffee, are to stop there and get it at midnight without the loss of but little time from duty. Those of the policemen whose beats are away from any such place are to be supplied by the Roundsman. He will fill a canteen with hot coffee at the station house and then ride on his wheel to the beat of the waiting policeman. The coffee will keep warm for some time. In case of stormy weather a hack will be called into service to convey the Roundsman with the coffee. The other lunch can be carried by the officer or brought by the Roundsman as circumstances dictate.

The Board considered complaints that had been made against three of the patrolmen. Two were for merely nominal offences and were dismissed with a reprimand to be more careful in the future. The other officer was charged with being intoxicated while off duty aad was fined a small amount He pleaded guilty to the charge.

The idea which some people have that members of the legal profession are promoters of strife in the community, is not always borne out in experience. The writer has had personal knowledge of a number of lawsuits in this city within the past year, where one or both attorneys have counseled and urged the parties beforehand to come to an amicable settlement instead of carrying their disputes into the courts. It is seldom, however, that advice of this character coming from the lawyers has any effect, the parties having made up their minds to fight it out on that line if it takes all summer and puts a mortgage on the farm.

1. You can pay cash for it and thus save the slight additional charge made for time payments. The house that says "No extra charge for installments" is insincere. It HAS a lower price for cash or else it doesn't want to sell except on time.

2. Easy time payments; in most instances a first payment of TEN DOLLARS will secure you a piano at once. Later payments according to your ability.

3. You can rent a new upright of your own choosing as low as $4 per month and if you decide to purchase within a reasonable time, we will allow all the rent you have paid.

MORE TROLLEY FIGURES.

FRANK BERGEN ANSWERS THE ATTACK OF L. W. SERRELL, JR.

He Insists That the Comparisons He Makes are Practical and Fair—Cites an Example of How Stock is Increased.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I notice that Mr. Serrell, of Plainfield, has been moved once more to contribute a few remarks to the discussion of the county trolley project.

Mr Serrell tries to think that the use I have made of a few plain figures is misleading. I will restate the figures and show the use I have made of them so that your readers may judge whether the trouble is with the figures, the use I made of them, or with Mr. Serrell's understanding.

In the report made by the State Board of Assessors for the year ending December 31st, 1896, it appears that there are 612.6 miles of street railroad in this State, single track measurement. They are capitalized at $80,011 559. A short exercise in long division will show that these roads are capitalized on the average at $130,630 a mile of single track. I have said, and I now repeat, that these street railroads were probably constructed and certainly could be reconstructed at a cost ranging from $6,000 to $15 000 a mile of single track on the average, depending on the character of the construction and the paving required. A substantial double-track street railroad from Elizabeth to Plainfield, with poles and wires, could be constructed for $16,000 a mile of double track. I have in my possession propositions from perfectly responsible contractors of abundent experience to furnish the material and do the work for that sum. The committee of citizens, after careful investigation, estimated the cost at $196,104 00, and Mr. Dumont, deep in the business and straining to find fault with the committee's conclusions, was constrained to say in his report "the estimated cost of railroad ($196,104 00) may be safe." That amount does not include the cost of paving, which is not considered necessary because there is at present an excellent telford pavement along the proposed route.

The same report I have referred to shows that during the year 1896—a very dull year for all kinds of business, the sum of $5,770,171 was collected in fares on the 612.6 miles of street railroad in this state. Another short exercise in long division will show that the companies collected the sum of $9,420 per mile of street railroad during that year on the average, and I think that sum is probably insufficient to reconstruct the roads, exclusive of pavement, overhead work and equipment. It is hard to see how anyone except Mr. Serrell, with sense enough to know his right hand from his left, could misunderstand these figures or find any just reason to complain of the use I have made of them. I have no doubt that if a company should be required to construct a street railroad and lay a pavement of asphalt from curb to curb at the same time the cost would be much more than the average mentioned above; but no one expects a street railroad from Elizabeth to Plainfield to be constructed in that manner.

It is probably true that the immense sum of $80,011,559 mentioned above includes the cost of the old horse railroads and some of the expense of experiments with electricity; but street railroads were not extensive in this State ten years ago—more than half the present mileage are original constructions. If you assume that every street railroad built more than ten years ago was a total failure, throw out of account all the earnings, deduct the cost of all roads more than ten years old from the $80 011,559 of capital, and the result would still astound every intelligent man except Mr. Serrell.

In my ciphering to ascertain the average income of street railroads in this State per mile of single track I took into account all the street railroads and all the income. Mr. Serrell, in making his caluiation, throws out more than one-third of the milage and more than one-half the revenue, and so works downs the average income on the rest to $5.300 a mile of single track. Suppose Mr. Serrell should estimate the average income on the roads he admits. In my discussion of the subject I have been still more generous. Knowing that the average income per mile of single track street railroad in this State in a dull year was $9,420, I have assumed that the income of a street railroad from Elizabeth to Plainfield would not be more than one-third of the average for the first few years; that is $3,140. This must be considered a liberal concession by everyone familiar with street railroad business

LIFE ON THE PLANTATION.

A NOVEL CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT.

Humor and Pathos of the Colored People Brought Out by an Interesting Programme.

"An Evening on the Plantation" was the title of a literary and musical entertainment that the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church gave to their members and friends in the church last evening. The programme was greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

The entertainment was supposed to consist of readings describing life on the plantation and musical selections from that life. A piano solo, "Old Folks at Home," was given by Miss Alice Morgan. That pathetic story by Thomas Nelson Page, "Marse Chan," was read by Miss Mary E. Robinson and Miss Julia Belknap Miss Charlotte Strong sang "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground." Then followed a recitation by Miss Marie Newman, entitled "Manny's L'il Baby Boy." A reading from Frank Stockton's "The Late Mrs. Null," telling of "Religion in the Old Plantation," was read by Rev. C. L. Goodrich. After a recitation by Miss Katherine Dwight, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," the programme closed with a mandolin solo, "Blue Bells of Scotland," by James Gordon Beekman.

The rest of the evening was spent in a social manner. Cake and chocolate was served to the guests and a pleasant hour passed.

The evening was arranged by the joint efforts of the social and good literature committees. The social committee was composed of Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, chairman, Miss Maude Belknap, Miss Katherine Dwight, Philip Suffren and George Fuller. The good literature committee was composed of Miss Eda Beekman, chairman, Miss Alice Morgan, Miss M. G. Morse and Miss Mary Prescott Chase.

TO ASSIST THE CUBANS.

PLAINFIELD WILL AID THE STRUGGLING PEOPLE FOR LIBERTY.

Local Sympathizers With the Insurgents Will be Asked to Contribute Articles to Relieve the Distress.

A movement to assist the suffering ones in Cuba has been started. While almost every city on or near the Atlantic coast has done something to aid the inhabitants of that little isle who are now struggling against their Spanish rulers to secure independence, Plainfield has done nothing. There are perhaps a dozen Cubans who make Plainfield their home but they have made no effort to stir up any enthusiasm in this city.

There are many organizations now in this country who are doing their best to assist Cuba. The methods are various. One of the best organized is the Cuban-American Patriotic Union. The object is not to furnish aid to the insurgent army by sending them arms, ammunition or funds, but rather to assist the patriotic Cuban women and children, whose fathers, husbands and brothers are fighting for the independence of Cuba while they are left to earn their own livelihood, many being in actual want. It is this organization which has determined to stir up the latent enthusiasm among the citizens of Plainfield and secure aid in the shape of clothing, provisions and money for the sufferers at the seat of war.

A. de Varona y Quesada, president of the Cuban-American Patriotic Union, was in Plainfield yesterday to start the movement and make arrangements for the receiving of donations and for a lecture on Cuba, to be delivered by himself. Twenty-three years ago he visited Plainfield and saw the Netherwood Hotel, which was then in course of erection. He was at that time unable to speak English. He has now learned the language so that he has been able to lecture.

His headquarters are at 729 Montgomery street, Jersey City. He has lectured in twenty-three towns in New Jersey and comes here from Somerville, where he has lectured and secured considerable assistance for the reconcetrados, as the sufferers are called. Somerville donated $120 worth of clothing and $30 worth of groceries.

He plans to lecture in this city Feb. 4th, probably in the Y. M. C. A. Hall or the Crescent Avenue church. J. A. Smith, the well-known grocer on West Front street, has interested himself in the project and will receive all donations of groceries. The other grocers will join in line. Woodhull & Martin, the popular merchants, will look after the gifts of clothing and will give a suitable donation themselves. John H. Doane, of the firm of Doane & Edsall, will receive donations of boots and shoes, having headed that list.

—A meeting of the board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will be held Monday evening.

UNIQUE AND POPULAR CHURCH ENTERTAINMENTS.

METHODISTS CARRY OUT SOCIABLE FEATURES WITH GREAT ORIGINALITY AND SUCCESS.

The Pulpit Platform of Grace Church Utilized in Showing Living Advertisements in an Apt and Effective Way—Vincent Chapel Filled With Tableaux Illustrating the Calendar Months.

An audience that completely filled Grace M. E. church gathered at that place last evening and witnessed one of the most novel and pleasing entertainments ever given in the church. It was entitled "Popular Ads in Tableaux," and the various advertisements were correctly represented by the young people of the church.

The first advertisement was "Brokaw's Sheet Music." To represent it a sheet of muslin was stretched across the platform upon which was painted a bar of music. The notes were represented by Winnifred Carroll, Bessie Carroll, Belle DeMott, Alice DeMott, Grace DeMott, Grace Gaddis, Tillie Uhrhahn and Ethel Noe, and a pleasing ditty was rendered by the little ones. The next number, "The Aluminum Oil Heater," was represented by Mildred Long, who sat in a little rocker alongside of an oil heater. "Pearline" was advertised by Ethel Noe, who pretended to be washing a doll in a small bath tub, while Pear's soap, "He won't be happy till he gets it," was interpreted by Eva Higgins and Willie Higgins The latter made a great effort to kiss his sister, and when he accomplished his purpose he was happy.

"Wagging Tongues" supplied, "Tired Fellows" furnished. "Wheels repaired, at Conroy's," was an amusing number as represented by Tiny Voehl, Addie Carney, Ada VanHorn, Bert Simpson, Wm. Monford and Ben. Schuck. The fellows appeared very tired, while the girls kept their tongues wagging and did not say very much. The old and familar "Quaker Oats" sign was represented by Charley Powell, who was attired in quaker costume, while in one hand he held a package of Quaker oats, and in the other a sign on which was painted the word "Pure." "Packer's Tar Soap" was advertised in a similar way by Mildred Long. Doane's shoes was given prominence through the use of a large shoe in which was seated Edna Sebring, while Willie Woodruff was harnessed to it in horse fashion. The next number was "The Daily Press" a daily occurence, and the representation was secured through the use of a sofa on which were seated Charley Powell and Grace Powell. They were hugging each other. The audience was very quick to see the point and hearty applause followed.

"Why not contrive to spend a five and get a Vive at Doane's," was given by Edna Sebring, who pretended to take a picture of a doll with a camera. The familiar saying, "Stop the car at Leggett's," was quickly recognized by all. A large sign displayed told the audience where the best soda is kept in town, and John Carney, Fred Monford and Willie Woodruff loitered about the sign with a wistful eye on the all-important words.

A very clever advertisement was that of "Pond's Extract." John Carney and Fred Monford took part in this and showed the merits of the article by holding a huge cake of ice.

The advertisement of L. A. Hummer, dealer in meats, was thoroughly explained by Charley Powell and Grace Powell. The latter stated that she preferred to deal at a reliable market instead of purchasing at every new store that came to town.

An amusing advertisement was that of "Sapolio." Harry Schuck appeared with his face blackened, and Arthur Woodruff, with a cake of sapolio in his hand, rubbed the soap over a portion of his friend's face, exclaiming, "Sapolio did it!" "Glasses fitted to all eyes" was represented by Eva Higgins and Harry Schuck, who held in their hands a large pair of eyeglasses. "The '98 Chainless Safety—Our Model," was represented by a large safety pin, which was held by Margaret Darby and Edna Sebring. "Eat George Voehl's New England bread" was a clever advertisement. Arranged about the platform was a quantity of rye and John Valiant was lying down taking things easy, with a large piece of bread in his hand, while Anna Hoagland stood near with an expression of "I wish I had some." The last advertisement was that of "Latest styles in gents' furnishings at Crane & Clark's." This was represented by a large hat, in which were seated Fred Monford, Glover Schuck, George Conover and Percy Gaddis, while on the rim of the hat sat Arthur Woodruff. The tableaux concluded with "Mixed pickles," given by all those who took part in the tableaux.

Interspersing the tableaux there

All the months of the year were present at the birthday sociable held in Vincent chapel last evening by the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E church. The members of the congregation were also well represented. The programme consisted of a series of tableaux representing the different months, and readings and vocal selections. All the members of the congregation had received little invitations accompanied by silk bags in which they were asked to place as many cents as they were years old and bring them. As the different tableaux were shown, the audience was requested to guess the month represented and then those born in that month were asked to drop their bags of pennies in a basket that awaited them. Over a hundred were thus received with a contents amounting to almost $30.

The programme consisted of a vocal duet by the Misses Grace and Alice Carroll, solos by them, solos by Mrs. E. T. Douglass and a reading by Miss Susie Davies. W. E. MacClymont acted as accompanist to Mrs. Douglass.

Father Time, impersonated by Harold Whitney, was a figure in most of the tableaux; so was Hope, Miss Helen Weir. January was a winter scene, with Ray Lyman as the principal character. Miss Frances Weir sang "The Song of the Violets," for April. In July, Miss Rita Pond appeared as the Goddess of Liberty, and Miss Lillian Snodgrass, Walter McNaughton, Roland Horne, Charles Lyman and Albert Coddington as sharers in the Independence Day fun.

A charming little group of reapers, binding up the grain, represented September. They were Miss Rita Pond, Miss Helen Weir, Walter McNaughton and Roland Horne. Miss Helen Whitney carried a large red heart and deposited it at the feet of Hope as symbolic of February and St. Valentine's Day. A sweet little graduate, in cap and gown, Miss Lillian Snodgrass, was the principal figure in the tableau for June.

A scene at an election booth with a "new woman," Miss Rita Pond, as clerk, was the tableau for November. The voters were Miss Helen Weir, Miss Frances Weir, Walter McNaughton, Roland Horne, Charlie Lyman, Ray Lyman and Albert Coddington. March was given in an enigma.

A May pole and the Queen of May, Miss Helen Whitney, were surrounded by the merry-makers, Miss Helen Weir, Miss Frances Weir, Miss Lillian Snodgrass, Walter McNaughton, Roland Horne and Charlie Lyman. That tableau was for May, of course. The "summer girl" for the August tableau, failed to materialize and the tableau was not given.

Three real witch-like hobgoblins grouped together for October. They were Harold Whitney, Roland Horne and Walter McNaughton. December showed Ray Lyman in a nightgown patiently awaiting Santa Claus at the fire-place while that old worthy looked in at the door. A grand tableau, including all the worthy characters, ended the entertainment. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way enjoying the light refreshments that were served.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, chairman, Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, Mrs. C. C. Cokefair, Mrs. J. G. MaNaughton, Mrs. C. E. Horne and Mrs. H. A. McGee, president of the society. H. A. McGee acted as master of ceremonies.

Pythian Officers Elected.

Crescent Division, No. 13, U. R, K. of P., met last evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing term: Captain, J. E. Flannery; first lieutenant, Jacob Blimm, Jr.; second lieutenant, J. C. Higham. The other officers are appointed by the captain, and that will be done in a few days. The new officers will be installed by Sergeant Major John H. Tier, Jr., at the meeting to be held Friday evening, February 11th.

Social Five Danced.

The "Social Five," consisting of Fred Schreiner, Edward Ericksen, Morris Sorenson, Harry Noble and J. Ericksen, gave a dance in Washington Hall last evening to their lady friends who tendered them a dance and reception sometime ago at the Fanwood Clubhouse. Considering the weather the attendance was large, and everyone seemed to have a good time. Music was furnished by Naylor.

Rev. W. C. Snodgrass returned from Baltimore yesterday evening.

POLITE WAY OF SAYING NO.

WESTFIELD TROLLEY FRANCHISE.

Township Committee Want the Private Capitalists to Comply With The Bergen Plan.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company is meeting with many vicissitudes in its efforts to secure a franchise between Elizabeth and this city.

The latest rebuff was administered by the Westfield Township Committee at its meeting last night. The Committee stated that the condition upon which it would be willing to grant a franchise was, that the railway company should widen North avenue, the county road, in exact accordance with the plan suggested by Frank Bergen. This puts upon the company the necessity of doing what Mr. Bergen wants the county to do.

The plan if carried out would leave the present macadam on the county road intact, and would provide a cycle path and other features in addition to the trolley tracks.

The proposition made by the Westfield Committee refers to that part of North avenue which lies within the township. Over the remainder of the company's route it has no jurisdiction. Col. E. W. Hine, secretary of the trolley company, was present, and stated that his company would not accept the proposed terms. He promised to report the matter to the company.

THIS PASTOR WON'T DO.

MT. OLIVE CHURCH PEOPLE IN MORE TROUBLE NOW.

Rev. James Creamer Will Resign Because a Certain Family Will Not be Permitted to Occupy Church Parsonage

It is the opinion of the members of the Mt. Olive Colored Baptist church that their present pastor, Rev. James Creamer, won't fill the bill, and as a result of this sentiment it is rumored that Mr. Creamer will tender his resignation at the monthly business meeting of the congregation to be held Monday evening.

The trouble between the new pastor and his congregation was caused chiefly by the question of the occupancy of the parsonage. When Rev. Philip S. Gibson was peremptorily dismissed from the pastorate a month ago and Mr. Creamer was chosen as his successor, the latter stated that he did not desire to occupy the parsonage, and that the trustees might rent it to whoever they pleased.

They did this, and everything went well until the meeting of the deacons held last Monday night, when Mr. Creamer appeared and stated that he wished a certain family to occupy the parsonage, and he himself would engage apartments in the building from them.

The deacons refused flatly to make the change suggested by the pastor, and the incident was made a subject of general comment among the congregation when it got out. It was an entering wedge for the expression on the part of certain members of their dissatisfaction with the new pastor.

When Mr. Creamer visited this city last evening to attend the weekly church prayer meeting the trouble had gone so far that he was advised by a few of his friends to offer his resignation. After consideration he decided to do so. It is stated that the resignation will be offered Monday evening.

An Advertising Sociable.

A successful sociable was held in All Souls church last night, the first of a series to take place once a month. Mrs. E. H. Mulford, of Belvidere avenue, was at the head of the committee in charge. It was an advertisement party, each of the participants representing some well known advertisement. There were also reading and singing. Refreshments were served. The church was beautifully decorated with orchids and other flowers.

Singing Class.

Tuesday evening, Jan. 25th, being stormy, no singing lesson was given by Miss Anna O. Marsh at Menzel's music studio. The class will meet for the first lesson of the course Monday evening, Jan. 31st, at 8:15, at Menzel's, 322 West Front street. The class is for both men and women. All who wish to study should be present.

Not Enough School Room

In the Washingtonville district school there are now fifty-nine pupils enrolled on the register for the month of January. The regular attendance numbers fifty-three. There is great need for the new school building, with its better and larger accommodations. The present building is entirely too small for the present school.

—Rev. T. B. Chambers, of the Babcock building, will lead the meeting at the East Third Street mission tomorrow evening.

HARD LUCK OF A SPORT.

"KELLY" LYONS, TWIRLER OF BASEBALLS, ARRESTED.

Together With a Friend He Was Replenishing His Coal-Bin When Pounched Upon by a Detective—Fined $10 Apiece.

After a short but brilliant career on the baseball diamond and behind the scenes at Music Hall, Thomas Lyons, better known as "Kelley" Lyons, wound up in the police station last night. It was a case of hard luck rather than poor management on the part of the young man.

Lyons is an old hand at baseball playing. In this city he made his reputation behind the bat, catching the curves of Denny Kane. He played well but baseball has not flourished sufficiently in Plainfield of late to furnish a livelihood to even the best. He also played an important part behind the scenes at Music Hall, serving as assistant stage manager and various other positions. He knew the work well. Somehow Lyons and the theatre fell out and he gave up that kind of work. The pay was not munificent.

Lyons has been turning his hand at a little of everything lately but times were hard and there were none to help.

Last night it was bitterly cold. The mercury fell 13 degrees above zero, the coldest this year. Lyons lives on West Third street, out in the West End. Daniel Kiely lives there too. The fire burned low, the coal bin was empty. So these two young men wrapped their coats about them and ventured out into the fast falling snow.

They visited the tracks of the Jersey Central Railroad, near Grant avenue. A coal train stood there, the cars piled full of the needed black diamonds. It did not take long to reach the top of the car and unload a small portion of the load. Now all might have gone well if Detective Hill, of Elizabeth, had not put in an appearance at this most inopportune time. He found the young men on the coal car and placed both under arrest.

This morning Lyons and Kiely were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza. They pleaded guilty. The Judge delivered a short but forceful lecture on the necessity of teaching some people not to take what did not belong to them. To emphasize his remarks he fined each of the prisoners $10.

At an early hour this morning Detective Dougherty found a man industriously shoveling coal off a loaded car that stood on the Jersey Central tracks between Clinton avenue and Dunellen. It happened to be just inside of the city line. The man allowed no grass to grow under his feet. He was rapidly making a fair-sized heap of coal at the side of the car.

The detective was not seen until he was too near to be left behind. Then the man on the car reluctantly relinquished his shovel and came down. He went to Plainfield with the detective. Later he was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza.

William Madden was the name given by the man. He lived in the Eight Row on West Front street, he said. Hard luck and no work had driven him, he explained, to the cars. That was preferable to freezing to death at home. The Judge delivered a similar lecture to him as he had to the other offenders, and emphasized it with the same punishment, a fine of $10 or thirty days. Madden is seriously thinking of going to jail.

150 WANTED GOBBLER MEAT.

Popularity of Trinity Reformed Church Event Did Not Wane.

The evidence of the popularity of the Women's Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church was continued last night when the second night of their annual turkey supper was held in the lecture rooms of the church. Not only did the good people of the church give strong support to the affair but the friends from all over the city attended in goodly numbers. The supper was excellent and even surpassed the meal of the first night. One hundred and fifty-five suppers were served last night. In the two nights twenty-two gobblers were carved and dispersed among the visitors. The other tables were well patronized and almost everything was sold before the second evening came to an end. The members of the Ladies Christian Work Society feel very grateful to their friends for their liberal patronage during the two evenings that the supper was held.

It is not possible to give the net proceeds exactly, but the members of the society feel confident of realizing at least $180 as the result of their work.

Mrs. James Voorhies, of Clinton avenue, has purchased an Eldridge bicycle.

THE SILVER MEN WIN

Teller Resolution Passes the Senate by a Vote of 47 to 32.

REUNION OF DEMOCRATS

Only One Sound Money Democrat Who Was Not Won Over to the Support of Teller -- Seven Republicans Aligned Against Their Party.

Washington, Jan. 29.—By a vote of 47 yeas to 32 nays or a majority of 15, the United States Senate has declared that the bonds of the United States are payable in standard silver dollars, and that such payment is not in violation of the public faith or in derogation of the public credit.

The result was reached shortly before 7 o'clock last evening after nearly nine hours of steady and exhaustive debate.

The intense interest manifested in the final roll call can best be illustrated by the statement that every Senator of the seventy-nine who voted was in his seat when his name was first uttered by the clerk. The galleries, too, were thronged, as, indeed, they had been all day, and the floor of the Senate was crowded with members of the House who, despite the lateness of the hour, remained until the question at issue was settled.

Of the forty-seven Senators who made up the affirmative column twenty-nine were Democrats, seven were Populists, three were Silver Republicans, seven were Republicans who have hitherto been aligned with the administration and one was an independent, Mr. Kyle of South Dakota. The negative vote was composed exclusively of Republicans, with one exception, Mr. Caffery of Louisiana. Of all the so-called gold Democrats, including Mr. Gray and Mr. Lindsay, Mr. Caffery was the only one to remain faithful to the anti-Silver cause to the end.

Of all the amendments offered that proposed by Senator Lodge, to the effect that the bonds should be paid out in gold or its equivalent, received the least support, only 24 Senators voting for it, while 53 voted against it. It was Senator Hoar who proposed that bonds should not be paid in depreciated currency or in anything save the best money in the world, but this also was voted down by an adverse majority of Ten. In fact, the only amendment which commanded favor was Senator Nelson's, which declared for the maintenance of the parity between the two metals, and as against 42 votes to lay this on the table there were 37 negatives.

It will be seen therefore that the silver majority in the Senate was at all times in a confident position.

The resolution is a practical reaffirmation of that of Stanley Matthews in 1873 and is as follows:

"That all the bonds of the United States issued or authorized to be issued under the said acts of Congress hereinbefore recited are payable, principal and interest, at the option of the Government of the United States, in silver dollars of the coinage of the United States, containing 412 1-2 grains each of standard silver, and that to restore to its coinage such silver coins as a legal tender in payment of said bonds, principal and interest, is not in violation of the public faith, nor in derogation of the rights of the public creditor."

The original Stanley Matthews resolution, of which Mr. Teller's is an exact copy, was passed in the Senate on January 25, 1878 by 43 yeas and 22 nays, with 11 Senators absent. Only seven Senators who were present and then voted upon the resolution are now in office. Those who voted for it were Allison, Jones of Nevada, Morgan and Teller. Senator Morrill voted against it. Cottrell of Missouri was paired in favor of it and Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts was paired against it with the late Senator Harris.

END OF THE DEBATE.

The President's Speech at the New York Banquet Criticized.

Washington, Jan. 29.—In accordance with agreement the Senate convened at 10 a. m. yesterday. The day was devoted chiefly to speeches in favor of the resolution although Senators Burrows and Fairbanks both made clear and able arguments against it. The morning was given up to long speeches.

By unanimous consent the routine business was waived and Mr. Stewart (Nev.) opened the last day's discussion of the Teller resolution. In supporting the resolution Mr. Stewart maintained that money, whether it be silver or gold or paper, was a creature of law, the creation of money being inhrent in all independent nations. He said that this satement had been upheld by the highest of tribunals and cited historical instances of such creation of money.

After a legal discussion of the money question Mr. Stewart said in referring to the speech of President McKinley in New York Thursday night, that he regretted to see that the President had not studied this question more deeply and that he was utterly misguided. He quoted the following sentence from the President's speech:

"Nothing should ever tempt us—nothing ever will tempt us—to scale down the sacred debt of the nation through a legal technicality. Whatever may be the language of the contract, the United States will discharge all of its obligations in the currency recognized as the best throughout the civilized world at the time of payment."

Mr. Stewart thought this was a remarkable statement which meant simply that nothing but gold was good enough for the bondholders. "Mr. McKinley," said Mr. Stewart, "refers to the option of the Government to pay its obligations in either gold or silver as a mere technicality and he did this, too, in the face of his own vote in favor of the resolution we are considering. Now, the President calls this option of the Government—worth thousands of millions—a mere technicality.

"What language for a President to use," exclaimed Mr. Stewart. "We cannot use this money in the Treasury unless it is recognized by other nations of the world as the best money. The despots and gold syndicates of Europe are to name the kind of money, regardless of what the law of the United States may be."

Referring to Secretary Gage, Mr. Stewart said he believed the Secretary to be an honest man—a man who would not rob a bank—but he said, it was difficult for Mr. Gage to look at this question except from the standpoint of a banker. He thought it unfortunate that the President had placed the Treasury Department in charge of bankers, but he was glad the President had thrown off the cloak and made the issue directly with the people.

Mr. Cannon (Utah) followed in support of the resolution. He believed that the only way in which the parity of silver and gold as money could be maintained was to accord equal privileges of both metals with the mints. He held that the only way to maintain the parity was to pile up interest bearing obligations upon the people. He firmly denied that the advocates of free coinage were in favor of anything but a 100-cent dollar.

"We do not believe, however," said Mr. Cannon, "in the deified dollar of Grover Cleveland, which is worshiped by the present administration." He criticised the President for attending banquets of millionaires in New York, where perusing his menu, bound in gold, and then declaring in favor of paying Government obligations in gold in violation of the nation's rights to dictate what money they should be paid in.

Mr. Cannon said that if there was no other reason for his support of the resolution he would vote for it to serve notice upon every creditor of the United States that he should live up to the contract he had entreed into with the Government.

Mr. Jones (Ark.) began his speech in support of the resolution by criticising the position taken by Mr. Allison (Ia.) He thought the resolution would squarely align those who held the various financial beliefs. No absolute believer in the gold standard could, Mr. Jones thought, on principle, do anything but vote against the resolution. On the contrary, he could not understand how any Senator holding different financial views could do anything but support them.

He said the advocates of the resolution proposed to pay the full pound of flesh due but absolutely not a bit more. In the course of his remarks Mr. Jones said, in discussing the work of the Monetary Commission, with special reference to its recommendations concerning banking, that it was the evident purpose of those behind bank legislation to fasten the gold standard upon the country. He then read a communication in a financial newspaper to the effect that there would not be much serious opposition to the proposed legislation from the "recalcitrant silver Senators."

Mr. Jones gave notice that the "recalcitrant silver Senators" would have to be reckoned with pretty seriously before any such legislation as that proposed got through the Senate. Mr. Jones said he made the broad statement that no Democrat, silver Republican or Populist had ever declared in favor of paying Government obligations in a depreciated currency.

The first speech of the day in opposition to the Teller resolution was delivered by Mr. Burrows (Mich.) He said that much had been said about the position of the Republican administration on bimetallism. That, he thought, could not be a subject of doubt. The Republican party was pledged to secure, if possible, international bimetallism, and the President would do everything in his power to carry out that pledge. Meantime the existing gold standard would be maintained. Until the international agreement was securd the purpose of the administration was to continue the kind of bimetallism we have now, whereby 500,000,000 silver dollars were maintained at a parity with gold. Any proposition which looks to the abandonment of this position, which was likely to create a disparity between the coins of the country, was in violation of the public faith and in derogation of the rights of the public creditor.

Senator White, consumed nearly half an hour reading a speech, in which he included extracts from President McKinley's speech Thursday night. The Senator claimed that while the President did not use the word "gold," every one understood his language to mean that, for his surroundings and the rest of his speech closely indicated his intention. Mr. White closed his speech by saying that with the passage of this resolution the line between the single gold standard and bimetallism would be so closely drawn that it would be vain to try to escape. He warned the Western Senators not to trifle further with the question, for if they did it would not be without danger to themselves.

Senator Fairbanks' speech was an able one, and his reading of a telegram from Secretary Gage as to Treasury payments proved how unfounded were the charges of the Democrats that undue discrimination had been used in regard to the "coin" by the department. Senator Fairbanks made it plain that the intention of the Democrats in pressing the resolution was not clearly expressed on its face, and that the real purpose was to obtain an expression of opinion from the Senate in favor of free coinage of silver at 16 to 1. He asked Senator Teller why he did not have the courage to state the true reasons.

It was just this point raised by Senator Fairbanks that caused a good deal of talk on the floor of the Senate. Even the Western Republicans say that if the resolution had been drawn openly and declared what its advocates afterward confessed was their meaning, it would not pass. Some go even so far as to state that an out and out free silver resolution could not now pass the Senate.

Referring to Senator Teller's advocacy of free silver, Mr. Fairbanks said that while he did not question the lofty purposes inspiring the Colorado Senator, yet they had carried him to the point where all else was dependent on this one question of silver. It was an advocacy so ardent that the Senator seemed ready to follow his will-o'-the-wisp even though it plunged the country into the morass of Government dishonor.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

Wheat Makes a Record--Trade Improves, But Prices are Lower.

New York, Jan. 29.—The first month of the new year has brought rather more increase in business but less improvement in prices than was expected. With payments through clearing houses 7.3 per cent. larger than in 1892, and probably the largest ever known in any month, with railroad earnings 11.2 per cent. larger than the best of past years, the fact that prices are very low only shows more clearly the increase in quantities of products sold. Nor is there any disposition to refuse orders, even at present prices; indeed, the competition of manufacturers seeking orders alone prevents a rise. Most of them have all they can manage, many working night and day, and one great steel concern running on Sunday, but the works not yet filled with orders are seeking contracts at as low prices as have ever been made, indicating that even these are not entirely unprofitable. The settlement of wages on a 10 per cent. advance April 1st for 200,000 coal miners of the central region, with other changes, will tend toward a larger demand for products of all kinds, though also toward some increase in cost of manufacture. Political apprehensions have been allayed rather than increased by the presence of the Maine at Havana, and by the course of domestic events.

Wheat has been conspicuous, rising 5 cents for the week with 5 1-8 cents for May options. Western receipts have been 10,009,053 bushels in four weeks against 6,045,712 last year, but Atlantic exports have been 12,003,828 bushels in four weeks against 7,103,674 last year, and Pacific exports, without Tacoma, this week 4,051,583 bushels against 3,484,995 last year. So heavy an outgo with wheat over $1 per bushel, with corn exports for the four weeks equalling the extraordinary movement of last year, discloses the strength of foreign demand even better than current accounts of disappointing shipments from Argentina and poor prospects in Russia.

The cotton manufacturer is in more difficulty than any other not merely because prices do not much improve, nor as yet the demand for goods, though both are helped by the closing of many mills, but largely because the manufacturers and workers have considered too little the rapidly growing production at the South.

Failures for the week have been 342 in the United States against 331 last year, and 34 in Canada against 57 last year.

ALLEGED ELECTION FRAUDS.

Severe Arraignment for Methods Pursued in Alabama.

Washington, Jan. 29.—An unusually severe arraignment of alleged election frauds is made in the report filed by House Committee on Elections No. 1, in the case of William Aldrich against Thomas S. Plowman, from the Fourth District of Alabama. Mr. Plowman is the sitting member, but the committee submits a recount of the vote giving Aldrich, Republican and Populist candidate, the seat. After criticising the Alabama election law as putting the honest vote at the mercy of dishonest markers, the report says:

"When it is known that the condition for such a state of facts exists, it is not strange that illiterate voters should remain away from the polls, in the hope that they would at least not furnish ammunition for their political opponents. But this made little difference to the Democratic managers of Dallas County. They voted the illiterate colored men, present or absent. The machinery was simple and effective. Fortunately it has been discovered and the details of its operations laid bare. Fraud is everywhere; not lurking or secret, but bold and insolent."

After going into much detail on the alleged frauds the committee says it has revised the vote on the most conservative lines, giving Aldrich a plurality of 542 whereas the election of Plowman was claimed by 2,967 plurality.

RAILROAD TO THE YUKON.

Time Between Vancouver and Dawson Will be Reduced to Seven Days.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 29.—H. M. Kersey of New York who organized a company which includes L. Z. Leiter of Chicago, George Gould, John W. Mackay and other American capitalists, made a strong effort to get the contract for the building of the all Canadian route to the Yukon. Kersey was in the city for several days endeavoring to secure the contract and has gone away greatly disappointed.

Mackenzie H. Mann of Toronto who secured the contract, will receive from the Dominion Government 25,000 acres of land per mile in the district of the sixtieth parallel of latitude and west of the Mackenzie and Laird rivers. In addition to this land grant from the Dominion Government the contractors will receive 5,000 acres a mile from the British Columbia Government. The contractors undertake to have the railroad from Glenira to Teslin Lake, a distance of about 150 miles, completed by Sept. 1 next. When the railway is built the time between Vancouver and Dawson City will be reduced to seven days.

Tortured Aged Women.

Monongahela City, Pa., Jan. 29.—Four masked men Thursday night entered the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson and Miss Jane Wilson, aged 69 and 71 respectively and demanded money. The women said they had no money. They were gagged, bound and tortured by the points of knives being prodded into their arms and legs. Fearing for their lives the women told the robbers where they had hidden $100. This the four men secured and escaped.

Shot in His Own Trap.

Shepherdsville, Ky., Jan. 29.—Farmer Jude Willhite Carpenter of Shepherdsville, set a guntrap for thieves in a country store which he owns and was mortally wounded by the device. His right leg was blown off at the knee. He is 81 years old, and his wound will result in his death. He has represented his district many times in the State Senate.

Free Homestead Bill.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The free homestead bill giving 2,000,000 acres of land as free homes for settlers, was ordered to be favorably reported to the House yesterday.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

William Howatt, of West Second street, is detained at home by illness.

Mrs. M. F. Marcley, of New street, seems to be a little improved from her severe illness.

Mothers whose children are troubled with bad colds, croup or whooping-cough will do well to read what Dr. R. R. Robey, of Olney, Mo., says on this subject, He writes: "For years we have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and always keep it in the house. It is regarded in our family as a specific for all kinds of colds and coughs." The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—A special Christian Endeavor Day service will be held in the Congregational church tomorrow evening. The programme will be a novel one.

Persons who are troubled with indigestion will be interested in the experience of Wm. H. Penn, chief clerk, in the railway mail service at Des Moines, Iowa, who writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the merits of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. For two years I have suffered from indigestion, and am subject to frequent severe attacks of pain in the stomach and bowels. One or two doses of this remedy never fails to give perfect relief." Price 25 and 50 cents; sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

—The next University Extension lecture will be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church this evening.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3d, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by T. S. Armstrong apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

Andrew H. Scully has returned to Pennington University, after having spent a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Scully, of Somerville.

"My daughter, when recovering from an attack of fever, was a great sufferer from pain in the back and hips," writes Louden Grover, of Sardis, Ky. "After using quite a number of remedies without any benefit she tried one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and it has given entire relief." Chamberlain's Pain Balm is also a certain cure for rheumatism. Sold by T. S. Armstrong, apothecary, corner Park and North avenues.

OUTRAGES BY CHINESE

Four German Sailors Mudered in a Fight With Natives.

THE LOAN NEGOTIATIONS

Great Britain Offered to Defend China From the Consequences of Russia's Displeasure--The Latter's Course--Germany May Make Further Demands.

London, Jan. 29.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that four German sailors have been murdered by the Chinese.

Details of the Fighting.

Shanghai, China Jan. 29.—A dispatch from Che-Foo to the Shanghai Mercury gives details of the assassination of a German sailor named Schulz, belonging to the cruiser Kaiser, while on outpost duty at Tsimo, the extreme German post in Kiao Chou Bay. The crime, which was committed by a Chinese rabble on Monday night last, was not discovered until three men of the corporal's guard were making the rounds to relieve the sentries. Then Schulz was discevered his head having been severed from his body. The relieving guard was directly afterward attacked by a hundred natives, and, after a stubborn fight, it is reported that all the sailors were killed. Twelve natives were killed during the fighting.

In consequence of the outrage the greatest excitement prvails at Kiao Chou, and it is believed the incident will form the basis of further German demands upon China.

No Official Confirmation.

Berlin, Germany, Jan. 29.—The German Government has no news confirming the details of the assassination of the German sailor Schulz, as announced by the Shanghai Mercury.

Russia Also Offers a Loan.

Pekin, China, Jan. 29.—The report that Russia has offered China a loan on the same terms as Great Britain is confirmed.

Great Britain's Offer.

London, Jan. 29.—A dispatch from Pekin says that after Russia had offered China a loan on the same terms as Great Britain, China invited Russia to guarantee to defend her against the possible displeasure of Great Britain. Russia, it appears, was evasive in her reply, but a similar guarantee asked of Great Britain against Russia was promptly agreed to.

Russian Fleet Helpless.

London, Jan. 29.—The Russian fleet at Port Arthur, according to a dispatch from Shanghai, is helpless for want of coal, being unable to steam even to Vladivostock. The Japanese coal firms which had contracted to supply the Russian fleet have defaulted.

SLAIN BY TREACHERY.

Cuban Leader Betrayed Into the Hands of the Spaniards.

Havana, Jan. 29.—The killing of Gen. Aranguren was due to his betrayal by one of his soldiers who was taken prisoner at one of the encounters near Tapaste early this week. It is said that Aranguren's body will be turned over to his relatives here and that a funeral will be allowed to take place.

During the affray one of the young women in the hut upon whom the Cuban leader was calling was seriously wounded. The Spanish tried to bring her to this city but she died shortly after reaching the railway station at Campo-Florida.

The Spanish cruiser Infanta Maria Teresa has been ordered to New York.

General Nestor Aranguren was the rebel leader who last month put Lieutenant-Colonel Ruiz to death when that officer approached him as an envoy from General Blanco and offered him money to accept autonomy.

General Aranguren was the youngest general in the insurgent forces, being only 23 years old. His death is the second due to a traitor since the Cuban war broke out. General Maceo was betrayed by Dr. Zertucha it is said.

War Department Expedition.

Washington Jan. 29.—A carefully equipped expedition to the Klondike will be dispatched by the War Department within a few days. The party is to proceed by the Copper River route, and maps out the topography of the country to establish the value of this route to the gold fields.

The Copper River region is known to be inhabited by a tribe of fierce Indians, and two or three parties that went into the interior have never returned. The country is also known to be gold producing as these Indians have come to the coast with great nuggets of the precious metal.

Arson After Murder.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 29.—Appearances indicate that Mrs. Michael Reminsky of No. 4 Ohio street Allegheny was murdered before daylight yesterday morning, and her slayer saturated her body and the room with oil, setting both on fire so as to cover the crime. Michael Reminsky, her husband, a Polish mechanic, employed at the Westinghouse Electric & Machine Works, is suspected of the crime, as he has not been seen since he left his home to go to work in the morning.

End of the Great Strike.

London Jan. 29.—At a meeting of the committee representing the Federated Employers and the Allied Trades Unions yesterday the result of the ballot accepting the employers' terms was communicated, a formal agreement, embodying the terms of settlement was duly signed, and arrangements were completed for a simultaneous resumption of work in all the Federated workshops next Monday.

World's Fair in 1901.

Albany, Jan. 29.—Senator McNulty of Brooklyn is preparing a Greater New York World's Fair bill for introduction. His plan is to hold an exposition in 1901 greater than any ever held. The bill will permit the issuing of $1,000,000 in bonds by the city of New York. The fair grounds will be in Brooklyn Borough. State and national financial aid will be invited.

RATIONAL ARGUMENT.

Figures are often times quoted for conclusive argument, and yet how many times they are juggled with by skillful men so as to apparently strengthen a claim either one way or the other. It seems to be thus in the public discussion between Mr. Bergen and Mr. Serrell in the county trolley ownership idea. First, Mr. Bergen quotes a lot of railway statistics, showing that what he argues is quite the truth; and then along comes Mr. Serrell on the opposite side of the fence, who presumes to tear all the former's deductions to pieces with the very same statistics, by applying explanatory remarks in a reverse manner. And between the two the ordinary citizen, who has not given the subject deep thought, is very much puzzled. It is well, however, that as a rule the gentlemen publicly espousing or opposing the plan deal in rational argument rather than in acrimonious references to one another. We have noticed, though, in the last communications received from both Mr. Bergen and Mr. Serrell, that there is a slight tendency to indulge in personalities. If they are sincere and have only the education of the public at heart, they had best stifle such feelings, else their efforts will come to naught.

BE FAIR TO THE RECORDER.

The Bound Brook State Centre is unduly sarcastic and critical towards Recorder Thomas in commenting on the fact that eight of the nine prisoners in the Somerset county jail are from North Plainfield. It infers that Recorder Thomas is utilizing his judicial functions to increase his income when there is no warrant for it. So far as his salary goes it makes no difference to the Recorder how many persons are arraigned before him—he gets a stipulated sum for adjusting borough police court cases, be they more or less. And as for the number of prisoners committed from the borough, it is not claimed that any of those incarcerated by decision of the Recorder do not deserve the punishment. Mr. Thomas may not be possessed of all the judicial acumen that some persons demand, but it is not fair to make him the object of criticism when there is no sincerity or truth in it.

BLOW AT TRADING STAMPS.

A blow has been aimed at trading stamps in the New York Legislature. A member of the Assembly has introduced a bill making it a misdemeanor to issue trading stamps. The author of the measure says that "it is his purpose to abolish the catchpenny devices of the tradesmen to lure the public to the support of the middlemen engaged in various manufacturing schemes."

School Building Nearly Ready.

A meeting of the Board of Education of North Plainfield township was held last evening and the building committee announced that the new school building is nearly completed. The trustees are about ready to make the final payment, which will be in about two weeks time. A resolution was adopted giving the committee authority to advertise the final payment and post notices to that effect under the lien law. The Board will meet again in two weeks when the payment will be made.

No Indictment Returned.

No bill of indictment was found against former Letter-Carrier John Neighbor by the Federal Grand Jury and the case will probably not be brought up again.

WESTFIELD

VARIOUS BITS OF NEWS.

WESTFIELD HAPPENINGS SERVED UP TERSELY FOR THE PRESS.

Many People Go and Come in the Pretty Suburban Town—Items Interesting Because of Their Brevity

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. William A. Rice, of Newark, were in Westfield Thursday.

A. C Tyler, of Princeton College, '97, is visiting Miss Sadie Bartine, of Elm street.

The Congregational church will give a church sociable and musical in the church parlors Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Dudley Clark, who nearly bled to death last week from the severing of an artery in her arm, is now convalescing.

Miss Bartine, of Princeton, and Miss Olive Bartine, of New York city, are the guests of Miss Lulu Bennett, of Elm street.

The Westfield Junior bowling team will roll a series of three games with the Rahway team on the Gale's clubhouse alleys tonight.

The ice on Clark's lake has been in fine condition for skating for several days past, and many young people have taken advantage of the opportunity.

The members of the Westfield Club and their friends enjoyed progressive euchre at the clubhouse last night. After the card playing a dance was held. The attendance was large.

The Westfield Township Committee held a meeting last evening and transacted considerable business. After the consideration of trolley matters, the Committee took up a complaint made concerning the bad condition of sidewalks along the property owned by C F. Oxley, on Park street. Mr. Oxley was notified to repair the sidewalk in question. Communications were also received complaining of the flooding of cellars in houses on Quimby street. The matter is one that has given much trouble before, and the Committee decided that all the houses in the vicinity should be connected with the sewer. A number of property owners sent in agreements to pay their sewer tax in annual installments. A number of bills were ordered paid and the Committee adjourned to meet next Friday evening.

LINCOLN.

Preparations are about complete for the laying of the corner-stone of the Lincoln statue, on February 12th, the birthday anniversary of the rail-splitter president. Howard McSherry, of New Brunswick, will deliver the oration, after which Mayor Drake will entertain his friends at dinner. Covers will be laid for fifty.

The Lincoln Ladies' Social Club held a meeting Wednesday afternoon. It was decided to celebrate Washington's Birthday in a fitting manner and an entertainment will be provided on the afternoon of that day. Songs of a National character will be sung, recitations will be given and S. D. Drake will tell his story of the war.

UNIQUE AND POPULAR.

was an exhibition of the graphophone by George Voehl and recitations by Miss Eva Benton. The selections on the graphophone were thoroughly enjoyed, while Miss Benton's work was one of the enjoyable features. Every number on the programme received a cordial reception and the audience was greatly pleased. Miss May Conroy presided at the piano in her usual efficient manner, and rendered various selections during the intermissions.

The committee in charge deserve great credit for their untiring efforts in arranging the affair and no doubt a very handsome sum will be realized therefrom. Miss Mary Steiner and Miss Marguerite Schuck had the entertainment in charge, and they were assisted by Miss Delia Voehl, Mrs. Elmer Winckler, Miss Tingley, Miss Elizabeth Valiant, Dyckman Winckler, Rev. H. J. Johnston, A. A. Taft, Charles Hummer, Mr. Nelson, Andrew Marsh, W. J. Conroy and E. A. Vermeule.

Shun Narcotic Remedies.

There's one class of cough remedies that seem to relieve quicker than Henry's Honey of Tar and Licorice, but it is only seeming.

They contain so much morphine or other narcotic that they drug the cough into silence, while the real irritation is not fully healed.

Henry's Honey cures as quickly as any harmless remedy can, and when it does cure you are thoroughly cured.

under modern conditions. There would be about 24 miles of single track in the proposed road, and 24 times $3,140 are $75,360. The road could be operated for 60 per cent. of its gross receipts and so would yield a net income of $30,144, which is more than the interest at 4 per cent. on $750,000, and the income in the near future would certainly increase largely. But Mr. Serrell may say that is mere prediction, give me some facts taken from experience to justify your estimates. I will do so.

During the discussion of this matter the experience of the Newark and South Orange Street Railroad Company has been briefly stated. It is worthy of more extended consideration. Between twenty and thirty years ago (authorities differ as to date) a street railroad extending from Newark to South Orange was sold by the sheriff. I believe it was a single track one-horse road, built part of the way at least in the gutter, and extending through a region that was then comparatively barren and desolate. A resident of Newark named Radel, who had accumulated some money in the bakery business, purchased the road for $35,000, subject, it is said, to a mortgage of $50,000. He formed a company, turned over the property, and ran the road until about the year 1891, when the success of electricity as a motor was assured. Then Radel sold his road for $1,500,000. What he sold in fact was the franchise, but, of course, he threw in the old rails, cars and horses. The purchasing company rebuilt the road double track, and equipped it for operation by electricity. The road is nine miles long or eighteen miles of single track. Its financial status, according to an affidavit made by its treasurer on the 1st of February last, is this: Capital stock, $1,500,000; funded debt, $1,508,000; other debts, $225,000; total, $3,233,000;—almost exactly $180,000 of capital for each mile of single track.

But this is not all. During the year 1896 the company collected from passengers the sum of $289,705 02; that is, more than $16,000 a mile of a single track, and not only carried its immense amount of capital and debt, but paid $30,000 to its stockholders in dividends. A movement is now on foot to consolidate the company with the North Jersey Traction Company, so as to furnish a convenient opportunity for issuing another edition of securities.

The locality between Elizabeth and Plainfield is a much more promising site for a street railroad enterprise than the route occupied by Radel's road but a few years ago, and with the experience of that road, sworn to by its treasurer, and the experience of other roads still more successful, if such financial exploits can be called success, it is amazing that any intelligent man can be found willing to argue in public that it would be unwise for Union county to expend about $400,000 in the construction of a street railroad from Elizabeth to Plainfield.

ANNUAL INVENTORY SALE

A Wise Loss Is often proof of good business judgment. We consider it wise at this season of the year to offer you the pick of every dollar's worth of surplus stock without regard to its former value, or regard to its cost. Our inventory is close at hand and there are hundreds of items here that you can use to good advantage; every price quoted is a cold fact, every item advertised is just as represented. This sale will last ten days, that will be long enough to reduce stock and quite as long as we care to do business at a loss.

The Dress Goods
We have gone through it and cut prices right and left, we know there will be some empty shelves ten days from now.

Lot No. 1
About 1,000 yards of patterns suitable for skirts and waists, have been 50c to $1 per yard, all go at 37c the yard.

TWO KINDS OF PEOPLE.

No; the two kinds of people on earth I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.

Wherever you go, you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just these two classes.

And oddly enough, you will find, too I ween,
There is only one lifter to twenty who lean.

In which class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaxed lifters who toil down the road?

Or are you a leaner, who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

A DETECTIVE'S STORY

I had some renown as a successful rogue-catcher, and I had some experience, too. My field of operations, as a usual thing, lay within the confines of the Department of the Lower Alps; and, though I served under the sub-prefect of the third arondisement, yet the Prefect of the Department called upon me whenever he chose. One morning—it was in the latter part of May—I received a note from the prefect, ordering me to come to Digne and see him with all possible haste. The message came through the office of our sub-prefect, so that I had nothing to do but get ready and start. I took an early dinner, assumed the dress of a peasant, browned my face and hands, and set forth. I reached Digne just at nightfall, and as soon as it was dark I waited on the prefect. He seemed relieved when he saw me, and took me to his private closet.

"Now," said I, "have you got work for me?"

"Yes," he replied; "sit down and listen."

We sat down, and he proceeded.

"Within a few months past there have been some of the most mysterious murders committed in this Department and in the Department of War, that have ever come under my notice. They are done mostly on the road from Castellane to Aups. The first victim was a Marseilles merchant, who had come up to Castellane to purchase dried fruit. His body was found by the roadside, near the line between the two Departments, and at first it was supposed that he must have fallen in a fit, as no marks of violence could be found upon him. His pocket book had been rifled, however. The next one was found near Annot, and under the same circumstances. He was a merchant also, and from Nice. Since then five or six more have died on the same road, in the same mysterious way, and no marks of ill-usage have been found upon any of them, but all have been robbed."

"Have most of them stopped in Castellane?"

The prefect told me they had.

I reached Castellane in the morning and went to a woolen factory and saw the business agent. His name was Louis Cazaubon, and he had come to Castellane about a year before. He

"And I suppose they must have put up at the same inn, then?" I remarked.

"Yes," said the prefect.

I then supposed that some of the landlords must be concerned. But my companion informed me that they had been narrowly watched, and that no shadow of evidence rested against them.

"But," said I, "Is there not poison in this matter? Some innkeeper may administer the poison, and then send an accomplice after the victim."

"No," returned the prefect, with a shake of the head. "Experienced physicians have examined the stomachs of the dead men, but without effect; and now we mean to give the whole thing into your hands. You must go to Castellane at once, and there you can get such further information as the sub prefect can give you."

seemed to be a straightforward business man, and yet he was the only man whom I had thought of suspecting. In conversation about the murders he had been a little too free and off-handed treating the subject more coolly than a man with a heart would be apt to do. But still, I had thus far been unable to prove anything against him. On the present occasion I told him, as I had told many others, that I must return to Toulon.

I felt sure that he was not the man who had done the direct work of death. The plot was deeper than that, or he would have been discovered ere this. So I resolved to wait awhile and see if he returned. I would have followed him if I could have done so with safety, when I saw him leave the factory, but he might have detected me, and that would not do. However, in less than fifteen minutes he came back. He walked now with a sober, innocent air.

I saw Cazaubon at his desk, and then I returned to my horse. I knew I had a risk to run now, but I was ready for it. If the factory agent was at the bottom of the crime, and meant to have me robbed, he had already set his machinery in motion, and the next development would be upon the road. I examined my pistols and then left the town, taking the road along the river towards the Alps.

I had crossed the little cascade of St. Esprit, and was descending a short steep hillside, when I saw a young man by the roadside, at the foot of the descent, engaged in whipping a mule. He was a slightly built fellow, and his coarse garments were covered with meal. I knew that there was a mill upon a branch of the Verdon, not far back, and I supposed he might be the miller's boy. As I came nearer, I saw a large sack lying upon the ground close by where the mule stood.

"What's the matter?" I asked, as I went up near him.

This [illegible] and my bag of corn [illegible] answered.

"Are you hurt?" I continued.

"My left shoulder is hurt," he said, and I can't lift this sack again. If monsieur would help me, I would be very grateful."

Until this moment the idea of suspecting the young man had not entered my head; but the suspicion darted upon me now. He was altogether too keen a looking fellow for a miller's apprentice. He gave me a glance from a pair of quick, sharp eyes that meant more than he had spoken. And then, if I had not been very much mistaken, I had seen him holding his mule very firmly with his left hand.

I leaped from my saddle and moved towards him, being very careful to watch his every movement.

"Now," said he, "if you will take hold of that end, we will put it on."

He lifted at the other end, and pretended that it hurt his shoulder, and begged of me to lift it on alone.

I professed to be willing to comply, and stooped down for that purpose, keeping my head in such a position that I could watch him by a sidelong glance. As I bent over and took hold of the sack, I saw him carry his hand to his bosom and draw something out. I saw his dark eye flash, and heard his quick, eager breathing. In an instant I had seized his wrist and bent it upward, and as I did so I heard a sharp report like the explosion of a percussion cap, and saw a tiny wreath of smoke curl up from the hand I held. He struggled to free himself from my grasp, but I held him with a grip of iron, and fixed my gaze upon him.

"I've found you, have I?" I said, drawing my pistol and cocking it. "I will simply inform you that I am an officer of Prefecture, and that I have been hunting for you. Just offer a particle of resistance, and a bullet goes through your brain! Now give me that weapon."

The young man was frightened and trembled violently.

"It is only a tobacco pipe," he said, as he presented it to me.

And certainly it looked like nothing more; but I had seen enough of it to know that evil was in it. It appeared to me to be an ordinary meerschaum pipe, the bowl being colored as though by long use—only the amber mouthpiece was missing. I did not stop to examine it then, but turned my attention to its owner. I saw that he was still trembling with fear, and I knew that now would be the time to work upon him.

"So you are selling your soul to Monsieur Louis Cazaubon?" I remarked, by way of letting him know that I was thoroughly informed.

He started, and I saw very plainly that he knew just what I meant; but he tried to recover himself, and asserted that he knew nothing about the individual I had named.

"You needn't lie to me," I sternly replied, "for I know all about you. Louis Cazaubon has been watched by me when he didn't dream of it. He thought I was a tradesman. But you are young and I would save you. Confess everything to me, and I promise your life shall be spared."

I saw that he wavered, and followed up my advantage, and ere long I had him bent to my wishes. I made him understand that I held his life in my hands; and that I could protect him from the vengeance of any one he might criminate, and that he had everything to gain and nothing to lose by a full confession. He came to it gradually and reluctantly; but my will finally triumphed, and I gained the secret.

His name, he said, was Henry Dupin. He was born in Paris, but never knew who his parents were. He went to live with Cazaubon when quite young, and had been with him ever since. He said Cazaubon used to be a chemist, and did some business in that line; and that it was in Paris he invented the infernal machine which they had used with such fatal effect. About two years previous to the present time they left Paris together, and spent nearly a year in traveling over the kingdom, murdering and robbing for a living. Finally they came to Castellane, where the master got his present situation. Cazaubon marked the victims who were to be robbed, and the young man did the work. He used various artifices to carry out his plans, but the usual one was what he tried on me.

I returned to Castellane with my prisoner; having left him in charge of the sub-prefect, I took a gendarme along with me and went to the factory. Monsieur Cazaubon was surprised to see me back so soon; but he was more surprised when I asked him to take a walk with me; and when I called the officer and bade him put the handcuffs upon the agent, he was ready to sink to the floor. We had him secured before he had sense enough to resist, and he was conveyed to the sub-prefect without any trouble. At first he denied everything; but when he found that this would not avail him any, he swore that he would kill his accomplice.

In due time Monsieur Louis Cazaubon was tried and condemned to death and the Prefect of Dinge took possession of the infernal machine. Before the villain was executed he confessed his crimes—told how many years he had worked to perfect his fatal instrument and produce the poison—and also owned that the young man had been driven to help him through fear of his life.

So the rascal was executed. Henry Dupin, his accomplice, spent two weeks in confinement, and was then set free and commenced an honest life. As for me, I got all the praise I deserved and perhaps more. At all events I had done the country some service, and the people were [illegible] acknowledging it.

WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL.

A Gift Which Was Remembered Through a Busy Life.

A man of sixty who had been most successful in life, at least in what the world calls success, said to me the other day:

"The thing that I remember with the most pleasure happened when I was a boy of ten. I was an orphan at three years of age, and no one wanted me. I grew up in spite of neglect and ill treatment. At six, I was selling papers on the street, earning enough each day to keep me from starving, and sometimes enough to get under cover at night during the very cold weather. I slept generally in a doorway, in a box, in an old barn or out-building. By the time I was ten, I was wise in experience of the hard side of life. I was as tough, dirty, cruel and bad a boy as could be found in a city. My hand was against every man and every man's hand was raised against me. I asked no quarter and gave none.

"One day, several weeks before Christmas, I fell on the pavement, struck my arm on the curbing and broke it. I kept on selling my morning papers, one arm hanging helpless. I was used to discomforts and hardships, but, at last, my arm became so swollen and painful that I believed that I was going to die. I did not propose to fall where all my enemies could see and gloat over me, so I turned my face toward the country. I walked a long distance, goaded on like a wounded dog by the feeling that I must find some hole where I could hide myself and die. At last I fell exhausted. When I regained consciousness, I was lying on a soft, white bed, my arm was in a bandage and a man and a woman were talking in the room. I don't know how long I lay there. It seemed like heaven to me to be nursed so tenderly and to have such a beautiful, gentle woman care for me. When I began to get better, she used to bring her baby, a jolly little fellow of two, and put him on the bed, with his toys, and she would sit beside the bed and sew and talk to us. One day, as she leaned over to kiss him, she turned to me with a smile, and said:

" 'Dan, I believe you have been here long enough to be my boy—and I always have to kiss my boys.'

"And then she kissed me on the mouth and on my forehead.

"That kiss was the beginning of a new life for me. It taught me that in the world was hard and cold and cruel that good women were tender, loving and pure. It dawned upon me in a dim way that she had to give what was best worth having in this world, love and that in order to get it, a boy or man must work for it. That was the gift of the good and pure and loving to the good and pure and loving, and in me awoke, for the first time, the desire to be worthy, to be true and good."

As soon as he was strong enough he went to work again, and to such purpose that to-day he is a man of wealth, honored, not only by the people of his immediate neighborhood, but by his State as a man of sterling integrity and goodness.

He fought his way upward through many vicissitudes and is crowned with honors, but, in spite of the gifts that the world lays at his feet, his sweetest memory to-day is the kiss that came to him when his heart was hard and wretched for the lack of a mother's love. And the strongest influence of his life was the Christmas week spent in a home where love was king.—Aunt Jane in the New York World.

THE FASTIDIOUS CHINESE.

Packages Rejected if Not Presenting a Neat Appearance.

I was coming through Norfolk recently and on one of the wharves saw about three hundred bales of cotton drilling awaiting shipment to China. My attention was called to it because of the neatness of packing and the evident care with which the stuff was being handled, only expert shifters being employed to move it. This is due to the fact that the Chinese will not receive a bale of it that is not in perfect condition. If the covering is soiled or cut, the bale is rejected and held subject to the order of the shipper.

Because of this peculiarity of the Celestials, the cotton is beautifully packed. No other merchandise shipped from the United States equals it in packing or in the care with which it is handled. The bales are wrapped in paper, and then clean, closely-woven burlap cloth is sewed over this covering and tied with a number of clean cords. All of this is done in the neatest and most secure style.

Discreet Accompaniments.

"I don't know much about that politician's abilities as a statesman," remarked the worker, "but I know he's a wonder as the conductor of a campaign."

"Maybe he is," said Senator Sorghum, "but I will state right here that he couldn't be conductor in my campaign unless a bell punch and a fare register went with him.—Washington Star.

Nansen Laughed at Cold.

His Wonderful Vitality—Replenished His Blood with Natural Iron—The Latest Theory of Science Confirmed.

Nansen's experience in the frozen north furnishes many object lessons of the highest value. The strongest of these perhaps is the fact that he and Johansen seemed almost impervious to cold.

The secret of Nansen's fortitude was his great vitality. The fire of health was burning in his veins; in other words iron or Hæmoglobin in his blood was attracting the oxygen he breathed which united with the food he ate and kept the fire of life burning.

If the supply of iron in Nansen's blood had gone below the danger point his story would never have been told. He constantly replenished it by eating meat filled with blood or even blood itself, thus confirming the theory of Dr. Campbell, the English physician, that bullock's blood contained sufficient Hæmoglobin or natural iron to cure disease and renew the waning life of man. After much experimenting Dr Campbell has succeeded in extracting this iron, re-dissolving it and inclosing it in little gelatine globes called Capsuloids. These have been tested in the hospitals of London and by eminent physicians with marvelous results. They are easily swallowed and cause no injury to the teeth, stomach or bowels. The iron passes directly from the stomach to the blood enabling it to carry oxygen and thus kill the germs of disease. Color is quickly restored, chronic diseases are cured all irregularities are corrected, the action of the heart is strengthened and the nervous system reorganized.

Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids are sold by all leading druggists at 50 cents per large box, six boxes for $2.50, or sent direct at the same price from the office of The Capsuloid Company, Downing Building, 108 Fulton Street, New York City.

TWO KLONDIKE SHIPS LOST.

Steamers Corona and Coquittan Wrecked --All the Passengers Saved.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 29.—Intense excitement was caused here yesterday by the news that two steamships which left here about a week ago, laden to the guards with passengers and merchandise, bound for Alaskan ports, had been wrecked and would be total losses.

The first reports were very meagre and gave no particulars as to loss of life and as many of the prospectors who were setting out at the very first of the season had friends in the city, the telegraph and newspaper offices and those of the steamship lines were soon thronged by anxious and eager questioners.

The steamship Danube which arrived in Victoria from Departure Bay: brought the news. She reported that the steamer Corona had been sunk and abandoned and that the Coquittan was stranded and badly damaged. The passengers and crews of both vessels were reported to have escaped in safety.

The Corona left Seattle on Jan 20 with 225 passengers and 700 tons of freight bound for Dyea and Skagua. She arrived from Alaskan ports on the 18th and was loaded and made ready for sea as quickly as she could be, there being a tremendous pressure of gold seekers to get placed as quickly as possible at the gateway of the mountains. The Coquittan also went out without any room to spare.

THE SEMINOLE INDIAN TROUBLE.

Correspondence on the Subject Sent to the Senate.

Washington Jan. 29.—The Attorney-General yesterday sent to the Senate the correspondence bearing upon the killing of Mrs. Laird in Oklahoma, by Seminole Indians and the subsequent burning by whites of two Seminoles supposed to have committed the crime.

The documents consist largely of letters giving the particulars of the two crimes and the efforts of the department to apprehend the perpetrators. On the 23d inst. United States Attorney Brooks, of Oklahoma, wired:

"When we proceed to arrest parties we must take them to Oklahoma City. We cannot try them in the community of the crime. All against us there." And on the 26th "Please authorize the marshal to use all the men and money necessary to make arrests for burning Indian boys. There are about 300 conspirators."

To this the Attorney-General responded by asking the marchal what assistance he needed and with this the correspondence closes.

GETS FEES AND SKIPS.

Organizes Benevolent Union Councils and Then Disappears.

Easton, Pa., Jan. 29.—J. R. King has been here two weeks organizing a council of the National Benevolent Legion, a fraternal life insurance concern which he represented as having a large following in the South.

Chief of Police Wolf received word from the police authorities at Owensboro Ky., asking for the arrest of J. K. Watkins, alias Stone, alias Kyle, on a charge of embezling $412. The description tallied with King's, and he was arrested.

He was bailed, but at once skipped. He was arrested again in Plainfield, N. J., and brought back here yesterday. An officer is on his way from Kentucky for him. King's plan is to organize a council and leave with the initiation fees.

Jerry Simpson Angry.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Jerry Simpson called at the Pension Office yesterday in a nettled frame of mind. "The people of Kansas and the West are getting sick of the way pension claims are being held up," he exclaimed. "Here I've just got a big kick from the Grand Army of the Republic at Topeka. Here in my hand is a letter relating to the claim of a well-known Topeka man named Townsend. Mr. Townsend is a Republican and a past commander of the G. A. R. post there. He filed a claim no less than eighteen years ago. For two years a special examiner has been specially examining into his claim, but does not seem to have worked specially hard on the case. It wouldn't take him more than two days to get to the bottom of it. It makes me tired."

Coal to Cost More.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—The Tribune says that the coal operators will soon advance the price of their product 25 cents a ton as hte result of the recent interstate joint conference of operators and miners which conceded to the latter an advance of 10 cents a ton for mining.

Secretary Alger's Condition.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Secretary Alger is reported to be doing fairly well, although he is still a very sick man. In order to expedite his recovery as much as possible he will be removed to the mountains of South Carolina, probably next week.

Gold is Now a Burden.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The gold reserve has reached $163,670,000 the highest point in about seven years. The accumulation is becoming something of a burden, and the Government is no longer encouraging deposits of gold.

TREATY WITH SPAIN

An Agreement Over Cuba Settled by Minister Wooford.

FOR JOINT PROTECTORATE

Great New York Syndicate is to Have the Monopoly of Selling Cuban Bonds---Filibustering to be Effectually Suppressed.

Washington Jan. 29.—The cablegrams from Madrid yesterday, said to be inspired by the Spanish Government, and indicating the agreement between Spain and the United States to what amounts to a joint protectorate over Cuba, is not denied by the highest authority on such subjects in the State Department.

The dispatch announces, in effect, that Minister Woodford has successfully terminated delicate negotiations with the Castillian Premier by which in return for commercial concessions in Cuba fully equal to those enjoyed by Spain herself, the United States undertakes to guarantee to mainain peace in the island, thereby promoting the investment of American capital there, and advancing the material and social prosperity of this garden spot of the earth.

The details of the arrangement, as far as they can be secured here, show that the proposed reciprocity treaty which will be arranged and signed in Washington perhaps next month, will make trade as free between the United States and Cuba, as it is between Cuba and Spain.

In return for this great concession, the United States is relied upon to suppress the Junta, effectually preventing filibustering and have the right whenever Spain fails to protect American plantations and other enterprises in Cuba to land armed forces from our naval vessels and enforce respect.

A great syndicate formed in New York will also be given the monopoly of selling Cuban bonds.

Maine to Leave Havana.

Washington Jan. 29.—Orders have been prepared at the Navy Department directing the battleship Maine from Havana to New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras celebration on Feb. 22. Admiral Sicard will also detach the battleship Texas from his squadron and assign her to the same duty. The Maine will leave Havana on Feb. 15. She will be succeeded there by one of the other ships under Admiral Sicard, to whom the selection will be left. It is understood here that a small cruiser, probably the Montgomery, will take the place of the Maine.

GEN. BRAGG CREATES A STIR.

He Resents What He Terms Unholy Alliances Between Statesmen.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—The response of General Edward S. Bragg, commander of the Iron Brigade of the Army of the Potomac, to the toast, "The Army of the Potomac," created a stir at the banquet of the Western Society of the Army of the Potomac at the Sherman House, Thursday night.

"I am as thoroughly reconstructed as a man ought to be," said General Bragg, "but it makes my flesh cringe to see recommendations to Federal office based upon the prowess shown in endeavors to tear down the Government. It does not come with a good grace to me in my cynical turn of mind, to be instructed in the construction of the organic law of the nation, the traditions of its people and the proper legislation to be enacted to carry out the doctrine of the Government as it was when our fathers gave it to us, from statesmen inflated with glory from a desperate attempt to destroy the whole nation.

"Sometimes I have almost imagined that there might be re-enacted in the history of America the old wooden horse fable of the plains of Troy. When I see a statesman from the South and a statesman from the North in unholy alliance—and from entirely different motives—to break through the traditions of government, it would almost seem to me that one was actuated by a desire to load the national stomach with a quantity of food it could not assimilate with cutthroats and robbers, negroes and Indians, half blood, quarter blood, full blood and some Spanish, and thereby weaken and destroy what powder and bullet failed to do."

FITZ AND CORBETT MUST SPEAK

Or McCoy Will Claim the Championship and Meet All Comers.

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 29.—In a letter to the Courier, Norman Selby (Kid McCoy) says that unless Fitsimmons and Corbett cover his money within six weeks from Jan. 25 he will claim the heavy-weight championship and defend it against all comers as fast as they come. This will mean that McCoy will have to battle with Maher, Choynski and a host of other shining lights.

It is known that Maher is ready at any time to cover any money of McCoy's and is very anxious to show the public that he is still in fighting trim. Choynski is also desirous of a battle with the Kid and will not let a chance slip by what would place an opportunity in his hands.

Whether Fitzsimmons and Corbett will notice the challenge is doubtful, as they already have decided to deal only with themselves and thence through the medium of the press.

Dora Clay Home for Good.

Valley View, Ky., Jan. 29.—Once more all is happiness at the home of Gen. Cassius M. Clay in the famous Whitehall homstead. Dora Richardson Clay the child-wife of the aged abolitionist is reported to have moved her belongings to her husband's home and announced her intention of never wandering again from her own fireside. She was installed as mistress of Whitehall by the happy General, who welcomed her back with open arms.

Trial for Flirting.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 29.—The Knox County Grand Jury has indicted the first victim of the "Johnny law," enacted by the Tennessee Legislature last year, making it a misdemeanor to flirt with school girls. The case may go to the Supreme Court to test the constitutionality of the law.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Phillip Zimmer, of Exchange alley, has taken the agency for the Andrae wheel.

Chauncey F. Stout, manager of the circulation department of The Daily Press, has received his new Eldridge racer.

Manager Thomas A. Cuming, of the Eldridge Bicycle Company, has already received forty new Eldridges and has sent in an order for a hundred more.

The F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company has received their samples of the 1898 line of Cleveland wheels. The wheels are of three grades, $75, $65 and $50, all of which are now on exhibition at the salesrooms of the company. They have several new features that make them an improvement over last years wheel.

Another bicycle store is to be opened on North avenue during the middle of next month. Charles C. Lister & Brothers will be the name of the new firm. The establishment will be located in one of Woolston & Buckle's new stores, No. 129. The Hunter, Apollo and Eclipse wheels will be represented.

STANLEY A NAUGHTY BOY.

His Parents Have Exhausted Efforts to Reform Him.

County Detective Keron came to Netherwood Thursday afternoon and visited Florist Childs, whose son Stanley is in the county jail on a charge of being incorrigible. It was stated that there were circumstances that led the authorities to believe the parents were endeavoring to get rid of their son for some ulterior purpose, and it was to verify or disprove this belief that County Detective Keron made the investigation.

He says that he found the Childs' home to be a veay pleasant one, and from sources that are reliable learned that Stanley was not so good as the lad had represented himself to be. The lad had a good home and all the comforts he could wish. Being an only child he was petted and become "spoiled." The parents told Chief Keron that they could do nothing with Stanley. Whenever he was sent to the store he either appropriated the money given him for goods to his own use, or did something else that was wrong. He would not stay at home, and persisted in stealing rides on railroad trains. After doing all that they could to reform the lad, Mr. and Mrs. Childs decided that they would turn him over to the law, and so had begun an effort to have him sent to the Reform School. Chief Keron said he was satisfied that the boy ought to be sent to the Reform School.

THEATRICAL.

"Tess of the D'Urbevilles," in which Mrs Fiske will appear at Stillman Music Hall next Tuesday, is said to be one of the strongest dramas produced in many years. "Tess" is one of the finest and truest studies of woman's character under certain conditions ever described, and its appeal to the interest of womankind is universal. "Tess" will long be one of the most interesting of the women of fiction, and the peculiar pleasure of the reader of the book will be enhanced, it is quite certain, by the stage picture that Mrs. Fiske offers of the story and her own incarnation of the heroine.

Pleased With the New Game Law

The Union, Middlesex and Somerset Counties Protective and Propogative Game Association met last evening in regular session and elected three new members. A copy of the new game bill that has been introduced into the Legislature was read by the members, and with the exception of a few slight points they expressed themselves as being very well pleased. The members decided to secure a small number of ring-neck pheasants, which will be put on the preserve. The other business transacted was of a routine character.

Slipped and Fell.

Mrs. Lemuel Cole, of Duer street, met with a painful accident early this morning. She was about to go to the basement of the house from the outside when her feet slipped on some ice and she fell to the bottom of the steps. Her groans attracted the attention of her neighbors, who ran to her assistance. She was assisted in the house and an examination showed that no bones were broken, although she received a number of bruises.

Attended a Red Men's Event.

Justice William Newcorn went to Point Pleasant last night to attend the annual visitation of the board of great chiefs of the I. O. R. M. on the tribe in that city. It proved to be a big affair. The past sachem's degree was conferred on seventeen candidates. After the meeting a banquet was given to the visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Jenkins, of Central avenue, gave a dinner party last evening. There were twenty five present. It was a family affair.

COMMON SENSE EXPEDITION.

A Party to go to the Klondyke Region Under Direction of Conductor Haynes.

Conductor Wm. E. Haynes of Somerville has been managing the details of a common-sense expidition to the Alaskan gold fields. It is called the New Jersey Transporation and Trading Co., and articles of incorporation will soon be taken out in this State. A sailing vessel has been purchased, and this will be under the charge of Capt. Geo. W. Pearce, an experienced navigator who at present lives at Point Pleasant. The Captain will go on immediately and will make as many trips as possible, carrying passengers and freight to points on Cooper River and Cook's Inlet, till the arrival of the members of the company. These will leave here about April 1st. A physician will be one of the party, as will also Edward Dunn, a mining expert who has had a number of years' experience in the placer and quartz mines in Colorado. The capital was largely made up in Somerville, and several of the town's people will accompany the expedition. J. H. B. Speer is secretary and treasurer.

Miss M. W. Board, of Metuchen, is also organizing a company on somewhat different lines, but it will have virtually the same objective points as the above.

MAD COW KILLED.

Farmer Blackwood Shot the Frantic Brute—Two Dogs Also Mad.

The mad cow belonging to farmer David Blackwood, of Samptown, was dispatched with a rifle bullet yesterday. The animal grew more violent every hour, and the farmer decided at last to put an end to her sufferings.

The rabit dog whose bite was the cause of the cows sufferings also bit two dogs belonging to Blackwood and one belonging to a neighboring farmer named Kelly. All three dogs were securely chained and after a time began to show signs of rabies. They were then shot.

The owners of the cow and the dogs will look to the county for the payment of damages involved in the loss of the animals. An animal dog tax is levied for the purpose of paying such claims as may arise in this way.

THE YOUNG WOMEN'S CLUB.

Rooms to be Formally Opened to the Public Next Tuesday.

The Young Women's Club, which is being organized in this city under the management of the King's Daughters, will formally open its rooms in the brick building, at Fifth street and Watchung avenue, next Tuesday evening by a social, to which all the young women of the city are invited.

The committee on organization will hold a meeting Monday afternoon to elect permanent officers and complete the details of organization. The young women are making an effort to collect furniture for the rooms, and donations of tables and chairs are especially needed, as well as subscriptions to periodicals.

A Ladies' Sewing Circle.

The ladies of the Calvary Colored Baptist church held a meeting at the residence of Rev. Philip S. Gibson, West Third street, last evening, and organized a Ladies' Sewing Society, as an auxiliary to the church. The name Anchor Society was adopted, and the details of organization were completed. The society will be interested in the raising of money for the building of a new church edifice.

Engagement Announced

Albert Price Simmonds, formerly of the News reportorial staff, and now solicitor for the Surveyor, of New York, was in Plainfield yesterday. Simmonds is now making his home in Bridgeport, Conn., where he is engaged to one of the belles of that city. They will be married in April.

—Lawyer Marsh and the law firm of McNabb & Clark have jointly had a handsome sign made which will be placed in a prominent place at the building on Park avenue.

in which you can get a piano from us:

1. You can pay cash for it and thus save the slight additional charge made for time payments. The house that says "No extra charge for installments" is insincere. It HAS a lower price for cash or else it doesn't want to sell except on time.

2. Easy time payments; in most instances a first payment of TEN DOLLARS will secure you a piano at once. Later payments according to your ability.

3. You can rent a new upright of your own choosing as low as $4 per month and if you decide to purchase within a reasonable time, we will allow all the rent you have paid.

SIPPED BEER TO GET MAD

"PAWNEE BILL'S" HOSPITALITY WAS NOT APPRECIATED BY STRANGERS.

Paul Reiker, the Man of the Wild West Sobriquet, Pummelled by Two Young Men Who Had Been Invited.

"Pawnee Bill" is the sobriquet by which Paul Reiker, a little old peddler living on Liberty street, is known. He has two brothers who sometimes assist him. He also has a pony that wearily drags his cart about the country. Last night "Pawnee Bill" celebrated. What event the celebration was in honor of, it is impossible to say. The jovial good fellowship that was supposed to reign was lacking. A fight brought the party to a close and two of the participants landed in jail.

"Pawnee Bill" lives in one of Finton Hibbitts' houses on Liberty street, next door to Hibbitts' own residence. That was where the trouble occurred "Bill" went over to the home of Chas. Frey, the tailor, on Plainfield avenue and there met several men. They were invited to take part in the general jollification. It was promised that beer should flow like water.

The party went to "Bill's" house and the fun began. Although it was Sunday night the occupants of the house sang and shouted as they partook more and more freely of the "Jersey lightning" that was provided. The noise grew louder and the neighbors were kept awake.

At 2 o'clock in the morning, the friends of several hours ago were at odds. Blows were struck and then "Pawnee Bill" and two of the party continued their quarrel in the back yard. The noise had attracted the attention of the police. Patrolmen Saffron and Saunders were in the neighborhood. When the combatants were shouting all sorts of epithets at each other in the yard, the policemen arrived on the scene. It is alleged that when they arrived, the two visitors had "Pawnee Bill" on the ground and were belaboring him in an energetic fashion to the great detriment of his face.

The visitors were arrested and locked up. They remained in the station house over night. This morning they were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza in the city court. The prisoners gave their names as Frederick Coddington and Edward Jacott, both of the borough. They were both twenty-two years old.

Their story was that they went to Frey's last evening and were subsequently invited to the home of one of his friends. They admitted that they both drank more than they should have. Jacott told how Coddington had lost his temper and wanted to fight his friend. They both pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk and disorderly. They were fined $5 each.

DON'T CARE FOR LUNCH.

Policemen Not in Favor of Being Served With a Midnight Repast.

Recently the Police Board ordered a vote taken among the members of the department for the purpose of ascertaining whether they desired that coffee and lunch be served to them during the night in the winter months. The vote resulted in every man recording himself as against the plan. Not one of the men voted for it. There does not seem to be any great desire on the part of the policemen to have such a plan put in execution.

A Farewell Reception.

Next Thursday, Robert F. Randolph, of Park avenue, will leave for Chicago, where he has secured a lucrative position with a chemical works. Last evening a farewell reception was tendered to him at his home by the young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The evening was passed in playing games and in having a good time socially, after which refreshments were served, and the guests left in time to walk home in the moonlight and escape the snow storm which came later in the morning.

A New Industry.

John Herman, the well known stair-builder, has purchased the old Coddington mill, on Somerset street, of the Plainfield Ice and Cold Storage Company. It is his intention to convert the old mill into a sash and stair-building factory, and he will also have a kindling wood department. The old dam, which was washed away by the freshet of several years ago, will be rebuilt and a new raceway made. The power will be secured from a turbine wheel.

George Thatcher's House Warming.

George Thatcher, the merry minstrel man for many years, and now the mine host of "Maples on the Hill," has just got nicely settled in his new road house, and tonight he will have a house warming. He invites all his friends to attend the affair.

TRINITY'S DEDICATORY SERVICES.

An Effort Being Made to Get Rev. A. V. V. Raymond to Preach the Sermon.

At a meeting of the consistory of Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning it was decided to hold the dedicatory services for the remodeled edifice Sunday, February 20th, unless something unforseen happens. The officials of the church are in correspondence with Rev. A. V. V. Raymond, D. D., president of Union College, and formerly pastor of the church, with a view of securing him to deliver the dedicatory sermon. It is being planned to hold several other interesting meetings on different days in connection with the reopening of the church, which will be addressed by talented and prominent clergymen whose acceptances for the occasion have not yet been received.

NEW CATHOLIC MISSION.

HOUSE OF WORSHIP TO BE ESTABLISHED ON BERCKMAN STREET.

The Distance of St. Mary's Church Acts Often as a Deterrent for Attendance of the Catholics Living in the East End.

Since the growth of the city has extended towards Netherwood with such rapid strides, those in charge of St. Mary's R. C. church have recognized the need of owning a house of worship in the eastern end of the city where the members of their denomination could go for worship, the distance of St. Mary's church from that section being a deterrent ofttimes for members to attend service. There now seems every probability that St. Mary's society will build a small church and establish a mission in the other end of the town. The subject was referred to by Rev. P. H. Symth yesterday, in his morning remarks.

It is planned to utilize a portion of the land acquired for cemetery purposes on Berckman street some years ago from the Central railroad to locate the structure on. The Central made a donation of property to the church society, and at the time the understanding was that in the course of time a church or mission should be established. It is now considered that there are a sufficient number of Catholics in the eastern end of the city to warrant the location of a mission there.

William Collins, who once lived in Scotch Plains and was an attendant at St. Mary's church, bequeathed $1,000 to the society at the time of his death, and it is intended to use this sum as a neuclus for the fund to be raised to erect the building. It is thought that the remainder of the money necessary for the construction of the edifice can be easily raised.

Another important point concerning the spiritual welfare of the church, referred to by Father Smyth yesterday morning in his sermon, was the demoralizing influence which the Saturday night dances, now in popular vogue in town, wield upon the young people. Father Smyth referred in a vigorous manner to the bad effect that the dances had with the young and deplored their existence.

At the morning service, Rev. Father Smyth presented the annual financial statement of the church for the past year. The statement showed the receipts to be $9,800, and the expenditures about the same. During the year there were 99 baptisms, 22 marriages and 45 deaths. Of the latter there were 23 children, 14 of which were females.

ANOTHER SALOON, MAYBE?

A Drinking Place Likely to be Established on Watchung Avenue.

It is reported that Charles Hand, of Watchung avenue, has an opportunity to lease his store on Watchung avenue, now occupied by the W. C. T. U., for saloon purposes. It is understood that a man has offered to take the place for five years, upon the condition that he can get a license for a saloon. This, it is said, will be promised him if he takes the store.

To Help a Worthy Institution

A union public meeting in the interest of the Hampton, Va., Normal and Agricultural Institute, will be held in the Crescent Avenue church next Thursday evening. The principal, Dr. H. B. Frissell, will speak of the Institute and a Negro graduate, and will show pictures of southern life. An Indian will also speak and the Hamton quartette will sing plantation songs. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

New Captain to Be Selected.

Tomorrow evening there will be a meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 28, S. of V., at which time some arrangements will be made to fill the chair of captain owing to the fact that Captain Thatcher is about to leave the city. Every member is urged to be present.

THE UNUSUAL IN THE NEWS OF TODAY.

A HORSE TRADE THAT WAS ALL ONESIDED.

A man, of foreign birth, who is a resident of Plainfield, went to Hoff's livery stable this morning for the purpose of trading his horse, which he had with him, for one owned by Hoff. The Plainfield man tried Hoff's horse with the understanding that if the animal suited him he would trade. He was out some little time with Hoff's horse. When he returned and drove in the yard, the horse fell down. After much difficulty the men were unable to get the horse on his feet again.

The man from this city at once claimed that there was something the matter with the horse and he did not want to trade. Huff claimed that the horse was all right when he was taken out, and he refused to let the man have the horse he brought with him.

The stranger tried his best to get his own horse back but was unsuccessful, so he called on Chief Marshal Wilson for advice. The latter stated that the case was out of his jurisdiction, and the best thing to be done was to secure the services of a lawyer. The man was accompanied by a friend, and the two consulted about the case for some time, but the latest report is that they have done nothing so far.

Y. M. C. A. FINANCES.

The Managers Are Anxious to Lift the Debt on the Building.

The following is the annual report of the finance committee of the Young Men's Christian Association:

Your committee respectfully report that in addition to its other duties considerable attention has been given to the matter of liquidating the debt now resting on our association. This action was taken with the approval of the directors, and at the present time subscriptions have been secured amounting to $5,170. The total indebtedness Dec. 31st, 1897, was $8,335, leaving a balance of $2,165 yet to be raised.

This debt has been a great burden for several years to those actively engaged in our work. In common with the large majority of all Young Men's Christian Associations, our revenues do not cover our running expenses; we are obliged to ask our friends each year to make good this deficiency, and the interest on the debt adds very materially to the sum which we are annually obliged to solicit. If, therefore, we would conduct the affairs of our association on sound business principles, economically and wisely, we should rid ourselves of this annual drain of interest. Moreover, the debt was not incurred through any unwise measures or injudicious management, but was rather the result of circumstances beyond our control and which could not be foreseen. Our building is not only used by the association for its own specific work, but many religious and charitable societies and committees meet for conference in our rooms. Our friends in Plainfield by their generous contributions in the past have enabled us to erect and equip this building, which is now recognized as the centre of religious and philanthropic work in our city. We therefore appeal to those who have not already given to aid us in liquidating this balance of $2,165. We have accomplished so much in securing what has been subscribed, and as the greater part of the subscriptions are conditional upon raising the entire amount, we believe our friends and the public also will appreciate the necessity of speedily extinguishing the balance of this debt, and thereby secure the advantage already gained by the work of your committee.

Stephen Cahoone, chairman.

THE MAN WAS EXCITED.

He Took Off His Coat in a Barroom—His Friend Wasn't Persuasive.

When the barkeeper in the saloon at the City Hotel saw Frank White take off his coat he decided that the time for action had come. He ordered White to put on his coat again. White refused. High words followed. The result was that Patrolman Watson locked White up. En route to the station house a friend thought that White ought not to be locked up and remonstrated with the policeman. He put himself between the jail and the policeman and wanted to stop and discuss the matter. He, too, was drunk. So Watson took him along.

This morning White and the other man were arraigned before City Judge DeMeza. They both pleaded guilty. The friend was fined $3 and White $5.

OLD NAVAL OFFICER DEAD.

Rear Admiral Braine Had Seen Forty-five Years of Service.

Rear Admiral Daniel Lawrence Braine, U. S. N., of Brooklyn, who died yesterday afternoon, was an uncle of S. Seabury Guion, of Carlton avenue, Mr. Guion's mother having been before her marriage Miss Elizabeth Braine.

Admiral Braine had a long and honored record and was retired in 1891, having reached the age limit of sixty-two years, after forty-five years of service in the navy. He leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter. Miss Braine had often visited Plainfield.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Among the Plainfielders who will speak at the State Y. M. C. A. convent on to be held in Orange February 10th to 13th, are Rev. William R. Richards, D. D., Stephen Cahoone and F. H. Andrews.

Rev. D. M. Stearns will meet his Bible class in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian church instead of in the Y. M. C. A. building, this evening.

Christened Privately.

Willard Earl, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Bach, of Summit avenue, was christened privately yesterday by Rev. Geo. Hauser, of the German Reformed church.

Justice Mosher rendered judgment this morning in the case of Probasco against Crane, in favor of the plaintiff for the full amount and costs.

FUNERAL OF A. R. DYETT.

Episcopal Service Conducted—Beautiful Floral Tributes.

The funeral of the late Anthony R. Dyett was held yesterday afternoon from his residence, 473 Belvidere avenue. The regular Episcopal service was conducted by Rev. S. P. Simpson. The floral tributes were arranged about the casket and were very beautiful. The house was filled with the friends of the late Mr. Dyett, and included many well-known residents of Netherwood and Plainfield. There was a large representation of Mr. Dyett's associates in the legal profession from New York.

Among them were Jonathan Marshall, David Levy, John Lynes and Solomon Swartz, of the New York Bar. President Perkins and Cashier Townsend, of the Importers and Traders National Bank, New York, were also present. Among the delegation from New York were the following prominent merchants: W. H. Handford, John C Juhring, Charles Knapp, Charles Osbourne, Arthur J. Ridley, Walter Sinclair and G. W. Falk.

The remains were taken to Brooklyn this morning, where the interment will take place at Greenwood cemetery.

THE LINCOLN DINNER.

Arrangements for the Best Lincoln Celebration Yet Held.

The Lincoln Association of Union county have made preparations to celebrate Lincoln's Birthday in a way to surpass any of their previous celebrations.

A dinner is to be given, as usual, on the night of February 12th, and in view of the very large attendance anticipated, the Star Theatre has been engaged for the occasion.

The speakers who have thus far consented to deliver addresses are Hon. Mahlon Pitney, member of Congress from the Fourth New Jersey District; Hon. William McAdoo, former assistant secretary of the Navy, and Hon Foster M. Voorhees, Acting Governor of New Jersey. Others have been invited.

The Lincoln Association will hold a business meeting at 6 o'clock, and the banquet will be served at 6:30 sharp. This is essential, as the night is Saturday, and it will be necessary to get through with the whole programme by midnight.

Twelfth Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Boehm celebrated their twelfth wedding anniversary in their pretty home on Somerset street yesterday and last evening. Among the friends who were present from New York to offer their congratulations were Mr. and Mrs. A. Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Armand Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Levy, Miss Alice Goldsmith, Miss Emma Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Baumgarten, Jacob Levy and Louis Levy.

Dr. J. Clement French Coming.

Every Christian Endeavorer who reads the above announcement will at once say when and where. Through the efforts of E. E. Anthony he has consented to be present and speak at the Endeavor Day meeting of the Trinity Reformed church society next Monday evening, February 7th, at 8 o'clock. The simple announcement will be sufficient for a large attendance of Endeavorers and others.

Installed in His New Pastorate.

The Rev. Daniel Munro Wilson was installed as pastor of the Third Unitarian church, Gates avenue and Irving place, Brooklyn, last night. He succeeds the late Rev. Stephen H. Camp. The Rev. Alfred C. Nickerson, of Plainfield, delivered the invocation.

HORSE THIEF GETS TWO YEARS.

Sentence Imposed in County Court Saturday by Judge McCormick.

In Union County Court Saturday morning a large number of prisoners were arraigned on various charges and sentence imposed on them by Judge McCormick.

John Murray, a self-confessed horse thief, who stole A. D. Dixon's rig at Westfield, was sentenced to State prison for two years.

Eva Jackson, a young colored woman, who assaulted another colored girl in Plainfield, striking her with an axe, was sentenced to the county jail for six months, less one day.

Stanley Childs, the eleven year-old boy, of Plainfield, who is in jail on application of his parents for an order to send him to the Reform School, was examined by Judge McCormick and remanded again, the court directing that the mother be subpœnaed to give testimony next week.

Y. M. C. A. TIE THAT BINDS

WONDERFUL WORK OF THE ASSOCIATION AMONG YOUNG MEN.

W. D Murray's Interesting Address Last Evening—He Says 185 Young Men Entered Three Local Saloons in One Hour.

W. D. Murray, president of the Young Men's Christian Association of this city, spoke last evening at the First Presbyterian church on Y. M. C. A. work. He said in part as follows:

"The high-water mark of Y. M. C. A. work was reached last July when twenty-seven men from thirteen countries, representing ten National college Y. M. C. A. movements, met at Williamstown, Mass. They closed their conference by a meeting at the Haystack monument. Each repeated in his own language the words of S. J. Mills: 'We can do it if we will.' Each prayed in his own language and and they parted singing 'Blest Be the Tie That Binds.'

"There are 1,500 Y. M. C. A.'s in in America, with $2,500,000 members, owning $19,000,000 worth of property, and spending $2,500,000 for current expenses last year. They held 66,000 meetings for men only in 1896, with an attendance of 3,000,000.

"But the great question is not Y. M. C. A.'s, but young men. The avaricious, dishonest, careless, unbelieving, impure, weak bodied, lonesome, uneducated and lazy. We must reach them; what agency shall we use? The church, that Jesus loved so much that he gave himself for it? But the men don't go to church. I counted 185 on the streets here in half an hour between 11 and 11:30 today. This morning in three of our largest churches there were 247 men, 160 of whom were over thirty. Saturday night, between 8 and 9 o'clock, 185 men, mostly young, entered three of the saloons in this city. There are certain limitations to the church. It can do little to help the ignorant, the lonesome, the weak bodied, the impure, the untrained. The Association is composed of delegates from the church engaging in this special work. It is always open; it has its gymnasium and evening classes. It can deal with the impure."

BY TROLLEY TO PHILADELPHIA.

New Jersey Electric Railway Companies Effect a Combination.

It is announced that the consolidation of all the trolley roads of New Jersey under the name of the Union Traction Company will take place shortly. Various sums ranging between $50 000 000 and $100,000,000 have been mentioned as the capitalization of the combination. The last step taken was the cessation of hostilities between the New York and Philadelphia and Brunswick Traction Companies last week. These two companies have been at loggerheads for some time over securing a right of way through the town of Bound Brook. Another gap in through lines recently filled was at Millburn, through which the North Jersey Company has at last secured a right of way. Franchises are now held by various companies for through lines between New York, Greenwood Lake, Easton and Philadelphia.

Free Lecture on Arabia.

Rev. S. M. Zwemer, a missionary of Bahrein, Arabia, is on a furlough to this country for a few weeks, and as he is a friend of Rev. Dr. Schenck, he has kindly consented to be present at the Trinity Reformed church Wednesday evening and make an address on Arabia.

Help for the Hospital.

The secretary of the Board of Governors of the hospital acknowledges the receipt of $35 from St. Mary's church, which amount was collected on Hospital Sunday.

ARMOR PLATE FACTORY

THE GOVERNMENT MAY ESTABLISH ONE AT LINCOLN.

Real Estate Syndicate Will Give Fifty Acres of Land for the Plant—The Location Has Many Desirable Advantages.

If the claims and efforts of Silas D. Drake, at the head of the Lincoln Real Estate Syndicate, are recognized by the United States Navy Department and Congress, the vicinity of Plainfield will become the location of one of the biggest industries in the United States—the factory for the manufacture of steel plate armor used in the coustruction of Uncle Sam's war vessels.

Negotiations are now pending for the Government to manufacture its own armor plate instead of using the output of the Carnegie factory at Homestead, Pa. It is planned for the Government to equip a factory of its own at a cost of somewhere near a million dollars, and the officials are looking about for a suitable location. Numerous towns and cities in the east and central west are striving to have the plant located in their midst, and among them is Lincoln.

Mr. Drake told a Press reporter this morning that the company of which he is the head has purchased 100 acres of land opposite the site of Lincoln, and will give the government fifty acres free of cost for the location of the plant, besides offering other inducements.

The real estate man thinks that the land is especially adapted for the purposes of an armor plate factory, inasmuch as it is on the line of two important railways, in the heart of the metropolitan district, and sixty miles from the Cramp ship building yard, near Philadelphia, and thirty miles from the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where most of the armor is used.

The establishment of such a factory at Lincoln would be of inestimable benefit to Plainfield.

SWALLOWED A LAMP BURNER.

A Precocious Two Year Old Defies His Mother's Attempt to Take it From Him.

The two year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hayes, of 404 West Third street, gave his parents a severe fright Saturday afternoon by swallowing the burner of a small lamp.

The child in some way got possession of the burner without the knowledge of Mrs. Hayes. She saw it and fearing that it might injure the child in some way she started to take it from him. He deliberately placed the article in his mouth. There was a gulp from the youngster and the burned disappeared.

Fearing that her child would choke to death the mother ran hurridly to the office of Dr. Probasco, and secured his advice.

The child is still alive an is apparently not inconvenienced by the presence of the burner in his stomach.

He will probably be taken to Muhlenberg Hospital and a consultation will be held on the case.

An Athletic Honor.

New Jersey and incidentally Plainfield was highly honored at the meeting of the National Interscholastic Athletic Association, at New York, Saturday evening. George Proctor Smith, of the New Jersey Military Academy, of this city, and president of the New Jersey I. A. A., was chosen chairman of the board of delegates that will represent the National Interscholastic A. A. in the A. A. U., in governing amateur sport in the United States. Smith is a member of the executive committee of the National Association and was therefore present at the meeting Saturday. He was put on a committee to revise and rearrange the constitution of the association.

Game Arrived Before Hunter.

J. A. Smith, the grocer, returned from the south last Saturday. While on his way home he had an amusing experience. He came to Baltimore from the south by boat, and when he arrived at the B. and O. Railroad station he stopped to have his shoes polished after placing his game, fourteen ducks, on the train. He was sure he had sufficient time, but he misjudged and he soon awoke to a realization that the train had disappeared and taken his game. He was obliged to telegraph ahead and have the ducks put off at Plainfield. Hence the game arrived ahead of the hunter. When Mr. Smith reached Plainfield he found his ducks safe and sound.

Christian Endeavor Locomotive.

"The Christian Endeavor Locomotive" was the title of a service held in the Congregational church last evening, in honor of the seventeenth anniversary of the formation of the Christian Endeavor Society in this country. The meeting was led by J. A. Robinson. Most of the members took part. There were solos by Miss Elizabeth Allis, of this city, and Miss Dunham, of New York.

MANY MUST STARVE

Official News Reaches Washington From the Klondike.

THE SITUATION IS GRAVE

Department of Labor's Expert Writes to Commissioner Wright Telling of Conditions as They Actually Exist--Flour in Dawson Sells for $150 a Hundred.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The expert of the Department of Labor recently sent to Alaska, S. C. Dunham, has made a preliminary and informal report of his work in a personal letter to Commissioner Wright. Mr. Dunham writes from CCity under date of Nov. 13 from Circle City under date of Nov. 13:

"It is exceedingly difficult to get information here, on account of the great distances and the unsettled condition of the public mind on the food question. It is hard to work when one hears constantly on every hand stories of starvation and death from exposure. I consider the situation grave, but not desperate. There is food at Fort Yukon for 600 more men than are wintering there, and this can be freighted to Dawson or part of Dawson can go to it. It may be that the transportation companies can feed the population next year, but it is doubted here.

"I have secured an accurate statement of the amount of freight landed at Dawson by the steamers during the season made up from the agents of the company. Less than 2,700 tons reached there, and between 700 and 800 tons of this consisted of furniture, whisky, hardware, etc. Less than 2,000 tons for 5,000 men, and much of it was consumed during the summer. Prices are increasing in Dawson, flour seeling for $150 a hudred and many other staples in proportion. Luxuries are not quoted, simply commanding what a man feels disposed to pay for them. Dogs have sold as high as $500 apiece there, and $300 has been offered and refused here.

"Our mail carrier is still here stranded, without dogs or provisions to get out. The Government pays $600 for a trip that costs $2,500. Nobody blames the poor carrier, but everybody damns the Government and the contractors. I send this out by private parties. The weather is fine, the coldest to date being 25 degrees below. Two feet of snow is on the ground. The sun rises at 10 and sets at 2, giving us seven or eights hours' daylight. The moon swings in the heavens all night, giving a light by which one could read a newspaper if it were to be had. The trails are open, and men are starting out in every direction with their dog teams to Fort Yukon for freight, to the Birch Creek mines to drift and to Dawson and thence to Juneau."

Seven Days to Dawson.

Ottawa Jan. 31.—The railroad which is to be built from the Stickeen River in British Columbia to Teslin Lake, 150 miles, is expected to cost $5,000,000. It it stipulated that the contractors shall open a good trail from the month of the Stickeen River to Teslin Lake, providing stopping places at intervals of twenty-five miles, this road to be ready for use within six weeks, while the railroad is to be in operation by September next. The contractors will begin work within a few weeks, getting in supplies by sledges. The right of way will be cleared as soon as the snow disappears, and a wagon trail will be fixed up to facilitate the work of contsruction. A daily service will be put on if necessary, and passengers when everything is well under way, are to be put into Dawson City in seven days from Vancouver.

Food for the Yukon.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Sencretary Alger estimates that, if he can procure the 600 trained reindeer that he wants from Norway he will be able to forward by their means the equivalent of over 900,000 pounds, or 450 tons, of provisions to Klondike. This seems an enormous quantity but the result is to be accomplished by concentrating the food, so as to reduce the bulk and weight to a small fraction of what they would be normally. Figures carefully put together, show that a single reindeer can draw on a sled, in such condensed shape, what is equal to 500 pounds of beef, 900 pounds of fresh vegetables, 50 pounds of flour, 40 pounds of bacon, 40 pounds of tea, and 40 dozen eggs—a total of nearly 1,600 pounds, though in actual weight the animal is able to transport only 300 pounds.

Weather Bureau for Klondike.

New Haven, Con. Jan. 31.—The United States is to start a weather bureau in the Klondike, the first ever established there. The information came to this city in the shape of an order to Ulysses Grant Myers, weather observer for Connecticut with offices here, to vacate his post and take charge of the responsible Klondike position.

Mr. Myers is delighted with the prospect. He came here in 1894 from Pike's Peak, and has been very successful here. Myers will take with him Arthur G. Ward a Yale senior, who has thrown up his chance of being graduated next June for the opportunity to study the Klondike weather. Ward has already left college and gone to Seattle, where he will meet Myers.

Aerial Railway Over Chilkoot.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 31.—Hugh C. Wallace, president of the Chilkoot Railroad and Transportation Company, has advices of the completion of the company's aerial railway over the Chilkoot Pass to Lake Lindermann. This marks a new era for Klondike travel, as the time between tidewater and the headwaters of the Yukon River is shortened from a month to one day, besides removing the peril and hardships. The company made a contract with the Canadian government at 15 cents per pound for transportion of all its freight for the mounted police from Dyea to Lake Lindermann.

Alaska Steamboat Traffic.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Secretary Cage has sent to the House a recommendation for a steamboat inspection service in Alaska. He says suitable protection resulting from the inspection of steamers should be given to the traveling public visiting the Klondike region and he submits a bill to accomplish that end.

DEAD MAN PAID PREMIUMS.

Creditors Kept Up Major Hean's Insurance for a Year After His Death.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 31.—An unusual life insurance case has been adjusted in this city by the payment of a policy that was kept in force for more than a year after the death of the insured. He died under such mysterious circumstances that a positive identification of the body was demanded.

Major B. F. Hean, Treasurer of Lebanon County, was insured. In October, 1895, he disappeared from Lebanon, and investigation showed that he was a defaulter.

On Jan. 2, 1896, the body of a man was found in an open field near Osborn, Australia. It was evidently a suicide, for by the side of the body was a pistol with one chamber empty. On an arm were the initials "B. F. H." and an American flag tatooed.

These facts were forwarded to the United States and the friends of the dead man at once made an effort to recover the insurance, as did the creditors of the missing major. The latter seized the insurance policy, which they kept paid up until the insurance company, at a big expense, established the identity of the suicide. The insurance money was paid to the creditors.

RETIRE ALL THE CURRENCY.

Representative Howard, of Alabama, Has a Novel Monetary Scheme.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Representative Howard, of Alabama, author of "If Christ Came to Congress," has introduced a novel bill providing for a change in the national currency. Its terms authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to retire all outstanding currency, replacing it with a new currency, not exchangeable in any other country. It also provides that the money account shall be in mills, cents, dimes, dollars, eagles, condors and talents. The condors shall be tenfold the value of the eagle, and the talent tenfold the condor, or $1,000.

All currency shall be in ones, twos, threes and, fives, and shall vary in length according to value, from five inches for mills to eight inches for talents. No other currency shall be circulated in the country, and the Secretary shall distribute to each city and State $40 per capita to pay expenses without local taxation. Each citizen over 21 years of age shall receive one talent on making application.

Rear Admiral Braino Dead.

New York, Jan. 31.—Daniel Lawrence Braino, Rear Admiral of the United States Navy, retired, died at his home, No. 67 First place, Brooklyn, last night, from heart failure, following an attack of rheumatism. Rear-Admiral Braino was born in New York city May 18, 1829. He was appointed to the navy from Texas as a midshipman May 30, 1846, and during the Mexican war was engaged in most of the important actions. At the beginning of the civil war he was selected by the Union Defense Company to command the steamer Monticello, fitted out in forty-eight hours to provision Fortress Montroe. The Monticello was afterwards attached to the North Atlantic blockading squadron.

Island Born of an Earthquake.

Oaxaca, Mexico, Jan. 31.—Advices received here show that severe earthquake shocks in the southern part of this State, on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec caused considerable damage. It is reported that several lives were lost in the mountain towns. Reports say that the ocean is still greatly disturbed all the way from Acapuco to Calina Cruz and there, are indications that a new island is being formed near Salina Cruz by volcanic eruptions.

Honors for Commissioner Wright.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Hon. Carroll D. Wright, United States Commissioner of Labor, is in receipt of a cablegram announcing his election as a members of the Institute of France. He has also been informed that he has been elected an honary member of the Imperial Academy of Science of Russia, the highest scientific distinction that can be awarded in that country.

Four Indicted for Embracery.

Camden, N. J., Jan. 31.—Henry S. Scovel, a lawyer; John Meshaw, a colored juror; George W. Mills, former Recorder, and Samuel N. Johnson, Chief of Police of Stockton, have been indicted by the Grand Jury for embracery in the Shaw mistrial inquiry, and the end is not yet. More indictments may be found to-day, when the Grand Jury again meets.

Senator Quay's Party for Florida.

Washington, Jan. 31.—The party with which Senator Quay will go to Florida to-day will consist of Frank Reeder, of Easton; Secretary of Internal Affairs James W. Latta, Dr. I. Webster Fox, of Philadelphia; John H. Wise, of Harrisburg, and the Senator's brother, Jerome Quay, superintendent of the State Reform School at Morganza.

England and Russia.

Berlin, Jan. 31.—The Tageblatt reports that according to the terms of an agreement that has been concluded between Great Britain and Russia the former withdraws her demand that Talienwan be made a free port, and Russia ceases her opposition to British control over the customs collected by China on sea-borne imports.

His Conscience Won.

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 31.—Jesse C. McIlhaney, who absconded with $1,400 belonging to Sheridan Council, Junior Order of Mechanics, of which he was treasurer, three weeks ago, has returned and gives himself up. He said he walked four hundred miles during his exile, and was heart-sore and foot-sore. He was held for trial.

Respite Granted to Train Wrecker.

San Francisco, Jan. 31.—Train Wrecker Worden will not be hanged on February 11. Governor Budd has announced that he will grant the condemned man another respite. The reprieve will be granted to permit the commission appointed to inquire as to Worden's sanity to finish its work.

Another Pension Ruling.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Assistant Secretary of the Interior Davis holds that a soldier's widow who is worth $9,900 is not dependent upon her own labor for daily bread, and, therefore, is not entitled to a pension under the law that provides for such cases.

Open Saturday evenings.

Three Ways

in which you can get a piano from us:

1. You can pay cash for it and thus save the slight additional charge made for time payments. The house that says "No extra charge for installments" is insincere. It HAS a lower price for cash or else it doesn't want to sell except on time.

2. Easy time payments; in most instances a first payment of TEN DOLLARS will secure you a piano at once. Later payments according to your ability.

3. You can rent a new upright of your own choosing as low as $4 per month and if you decide to purchase within a reasonable time, we will allow all the rent you have paid.

All three ways are good ways.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

PLANS FOR THE NORTH POLE.

Captain Bernier Gives His Ideas to the Quebec Geographical Society.

Quebec, Jan. 31.—Captain Bernier explained before the Quebec Geographical Society his proposal for the discovery of the North Pole. Captain Bernier's idea is to go by ship to some point north of Siberia as near as possible to where the unfortunate Jeannette was wrecked, and to where Nansen's vessel, the Fram, crossed the 80th parallel of latitude. There he intends to leave the vessel and take to the ice with eight men, 50 dogs and 50 reindeer, as well as 36,000 pounds of provisions. He will also have sleds and a portable boat. By crossing the floe ice, he expects to reach the pole from his vessel in a little over 100 days, afterward making for Spitzbergen or Franz Josef Land.

The Geographical Society passed a resolution strongly in favor of the captain's enterprise.

Submarine Route Proposed.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 31.—Alfred Riedel, a journalist and scientist of this city, has conceived an idea of reaching the North Pole, which meets the approval of Daniel C. Gilman, president of the Johns Hopkins University and a number of other learned men who have heard his plans. It is Riedel's idea to utilize a submarine boat, constructed by Simon Lake, the inventor of the now famous Argonaut, in his search for the pole.

If a number of scientists will volunteer to make the trip Lake will construct a boat for sub-glacial work on the same lines as those of the Argonaut, and Riedel will head the expedition. Riedel thinks that the boat can travel to the iceberg region and then submerge, and when beneath the location of the pole, break through the ice with dynamite.

Sheriff Martin to Be Tried.

Wilkesbarre, Jan. 31.—The case of Sheriff James Martin and his eighty deputies, charged with murder and felonious wounding of a score of striking miners at Latimer, this county, on September 10 last, will be called for trial in the Criminal Court to-morrow.

It is expected that the trial will last a week, and it may be longer before a verdict is reached. Able counsel have been employed on both sides. District Attorney Martin will be assisted in the prosecution by John M. Garman, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, and John McGahrin. They are employed by the relatives of the men who were killed. John T. Lenahan, one of the leading criminal lawyers of this section of the State, will be the senior counsel for the defense.

Battleship Indiana Helpless at Sea.

Washington, Jan. 31.—While the North Atlantic Squadron was on the way from Hampton Roads to Key West recently the boilers in use on the $5,000,000 battle-ship Indiana began to leak. The trouble became so serious that the Indiana could not steam more than six knots an hour, whereas she should have travelled at a speed of ten knots. As a consequence, the other vessels of the fleet had to slow down in order to be in readiness to render any assistance that the crippled war ship might require. It was found necessary for the flag-ship New York to take the Indiana in tow.

An Effort to Break the Strike.

Fall River, Jan. 31.—An effort will be made to-day to break the strike of spinners at the King Philip Mills. The No. 3 mill will be opened and all the operatives will be invited to go to work at the old rates. The mule spinners will probably stay out and can well afford to do so, as they have a strong backing in their local union. Some of their number said last night that they will pay the striking ring spinners who have no union to-day at 10 A. M., and will continue to make collections to keep them supported as long as the good people of the city will sustain them.

Ninth Annual Poultry Show.

New York, Jan. 31.—The ninth annual exhibition of the New York Poultry and Pigeon Association will begin in Madison Square Garden to-day, and continue through the week. Competition is open to the world in all except a few special classes, given by clubs of fanciers, and the entries received number well up in the thousands, while exhibitors represent every part of the country. A total of more than $7,000 in prizes will be distributed and the exhibition will be by far the most comprehensive ever given by the association.

No Governor for Eleven Hours.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 31.—For the first eleven hours of to-morrow, New Jersey will be without a Governor or Acting Governor, between midnight today and 11 a. m. to-morrow there will be no one to legally administer the State. While this fact is of no especial concern at this time, there may come a period when it would have been better for the framers of our Constitution to have provided against this break in the continuous service of an Executive or his representatives.

Buried Alive in Malt.

Leroy, N. Y., Jan. 31.—While John Walch and two other men named Miggins and Dowling were shoveling malt away from the mouths of several chutes in a malt-house yesterday, a huge pile of malt, upon which Walch was standing, slid to the bottom of the bin, a distance of about fifty feet. Walch was carried down with it and buried beneath 4,000 bushels of malt. It took six hours to dig out his body.

LIBERAL POLICY PROMISED.

While there is no authentic information as to what course the present Common Council is to pursue in relation to the granting of liquor licenses, it is the general talk about town that the policy will be a very liberal one as compared with that of recent years. Dame rumor—always a deceitful medium—has it that every application that is made for a saloon license this year will be granted—that is, if the drinking place does not purpose to invade the residential sections. In the news columns of today's Press is mentioned one new saloon that may possibly be established; and in the west end of the city a good deal of talk prevails that a license will be granted there. The latter section has always been a prolific territory for illegal liquor traffic and many argue that it would be better for the city to grant a license to some reputable dealer there, and thus acquire the income of an additional license fee, than to have the present condition of affairs exist.

THE GOOD OF THE CITY.

Plainfield is giving Brooklyn a close chase for the title of "City of Churches." In proportion to the size of the town, it is doubtful if there is another community in the country that has a greater number of religious societies than Plainfield. The announcement that a Catholic chapel is to be built in the east end of the city is an important addition to the list.

NEW LOCAL PAGE.

The pressure of advertising on the pages of The Press usually devoted to local reading matter has necessitated the running of a large amount of interesting local reading matter on the third page. Local news, the little bits of town talk that fall from the lips of people here and there, always proves interesting.

A Delightful Entertainer.

Charles L. Lewis, of the choir of the Crescent Avenue church, writes as follows of two of the artists to appear in the Y. M. C. A. entertainment this evening: "I have known Frank G. Reynolds for many years and have heard him often. He is a humorist of marked ability, refined in method and finished in style. He is a delightful entertainer. Miss Brewer's work commends itself to the finest sensibility, and she is held in very high regard wherever she appears."

Mrs. J. E. Beerbower, of Park avenue, is entertaining out-of-town friends.

Peter Neuman, of LaGrande avenue, is out again after an illness of several days.

Hiram Humes and William Swick, of this city, were the guests of friends in Greater New York yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Roberts, of Tobyhanna, Pa. are guests of "Uncle" Dan Roberts and wife, of North avenue.

—Warren Engine Company will hold their regular meeting tomorrow evening.

—There will be a business meeting of the Warren chapel Christian Endeavor Society tomorrow evening.

A number of young people from Plainfield came to town last Saturday for some ice upon which to skate. They were disappointed, however, and returned home without being able to find any ice.

Last evening in the Presbyterian church Christian Endeavor Day was appropriately celebrated. An address was made by Rev. Mr. Cotter, of Brooklyn, and other exercises of an interesting nature were held.

One week from tonight the Borough Council will meet and take up the trolley and water ordinances. It is confidently believed that both ordinances will pass without a dissenting vote. The North avenue grade ordinance will be taken up also for final adoption.

SCOTCH PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Ernest Humes, of New York, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clark spent Sunday with friends out of town.

George L. Dunn led the C. E. meeting in the Baptist church last evening.

Judge Cleaver, of Newark, was the guest yesterday of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Parks.

Dwight Spencer, secretary of the Baptist Home Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit in the Scotch Plains Baptist church yesterday morning. Mr. Spencer was at one time a missionary among the Mormans of Utah.

The Methodist, Baptist and Episcopal Sunday-schools, of Scotch Plains, held a union Sunday-school service in the Methodist church yesterday afternoon. Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, D. D., of the First Methodist church, of Plainfield, gave an interesting address.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Eliza Mooney, who died at her home on the Valley road Saturday afternoon, will be held from the Scotch Plains M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in the Baptist cemetery. The deceased was an old resident of the village. She is survived by a son, George, who is now traveling in Brazil, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry Hand.

A Club for Young Women.

The Young Women's Club will formally open its rooms, corner of Watchung avenue and Fifth street, tomorrow evening, with a social to which all the young women of the city are invited. The club will organize classes in sewing, cooking and other practical branches.

A musicale for the benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal church will be held at the home of Mrs. H. E. Naething Wednesday evening.

The vaudeville entertainment which was to be given in the Westfield Club meeting next Thursday evening has been postponed one week.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Westfield Presbyterian church celebrated its eighth anniversary with appropriate ceremonies in the church last evening.

The Westfield Board of Education will hold its meeting Tuesday evening, February 8th, and not tomorrow evening. The rule is to hold a meeting the first Tuesday after the first Monday in each month.

The Westfield Hook and Ladder Company held a meeting last Friday evening at which the nominations were made for officers of the fire department as follows: John English, chief; William H. Chamberlain, first assistant chief.

The bowling match which took place on the alleys of Gale's clubhouse Saturday evening between the Rahway team and the Westfield Juniors resulted in a victory for the latter team. Three games were rolled and the Westfield players succeeded in winning two. The scores were 719-629, 694-640, 650-739.

At the meeting of the Westfield Township Committee held last Friday evening the property owners on the extension of Kimball avenue to the east of Mountain avenue sent in a request that a sewer be laid along that portion of the street. The petitioners were notified by the committee that the land included in the street was private property and that the township has no power to lay sewer pipes there until the land has been deeded to the township.

THEATRICAL.

Mrs. Fiske's engagement here in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles" tomorrow at Stillman Music Hall will be one of the notable theatrical events of the season. In all of the cities where Mrs. Fiske has appeared this season, crowded houses have greeted her at every performance, and the critics have devoted column after column to the play and actress. "Genius triumphant" and "phenomenal success" are the keynotes of every critic.

One of the greatest scenes in "The Tornado," Lincoln J. Carter's second great scenic play to be performed at Stillman Music Hall Thursday, is the one in which six old tars are shown clinging to the yardarm of a ship and shortening sail, while the mast sways from side to side with the roll of the vessel, vivid flashes of lightning illuminate the scene, and one is in constant fear of seeing a sailor either blown away or fall to the deck forty feet below. One forgets they are in a theatre and for the instant all is reality.

At the Eden Musee in New York commencing this afternoon, the world-famed Passion Play will be reproduced by the cinematograph. One hour is required to present the play, during the play, during which a mile of photographic film, upon which are nearly 100,000 separate pictures, is used.

A Chimney Fire.

A small chimney fire occurred Saturday night at 11:15 in the house occupied by Arthur Venable, of 614 West Third street. Box 43, corner of Front street and Plainfield avenue, was pulled by Patrolman McCarthy, and the department made a quick response. It required two extinguishers to put the fire out and the damage was very slight. The recall sounded in about fifteen minutes after the alarm was given.

His Seventy-fourth Birthday.

"Uncle" Dan Roberts, of North avenue, is celebrating the anniversary of his seventy fourth birthday today, and this evening he will entertain a few friends at his home.

Shun Narcotic Remedies.

There's one class of cough remedies that seem to relieve quicker than Henry's Honey of Tar and Licorice, but it is only seeming.

They contain so much morphine or other narcotic that they drug the cough into silence, while the real irritation is not fully healed.

Henry's Honey cures as quickly as any harmless remedy can, and when it does cure you are thoroughly cured.

WAR MAY SOON END

Prospects of Peace Between Spain and Cuba Very Bright.

AN ABSURD RUMOR SPREAD

Report That General Woodford Was Sending His Family Home, Considering His Position Unsafe--Talk of the Brooklyn Going to Havana.

Madrid, Jan. 31.—General Blanco's statement at Manzanillo that war would be over by the end of February, coupled with the fuller assurances of good will from Washington leave the Government in high good spirits.

The Minister of Marine states that the reports about ships going to Cuba hitherto given are premature. At the present time efforts are being made to concentrate the necessary ships which General Blanco called for at Cadiz, including six new torpedo destroyers, the last five of which are daily expected from England. The Chritoforo Colombo has been ordered from Genoa to Cadiz in order to be at hand in case it is needed.

The talk of the Brooklyn going to Havana caused bad feeling on the Bourse to-day, added to the reports of claims being made for compensation. Both ideas meet with serious hostility.

The Impartial regrets that Aranguren met with a death worthy of a soldier whereas his crime deserved a disgraceful end.

An absurd rumor has been spread about to-night that General Woodford is going to send his family home, it being inferred that he considered his position unsafe. This, the exact opposite of the truth, calls forth from the Heraldo the following:

"The American Minister at Madrid is not only under the protection of our laws, but under the safeguard of our honor. No sane Spaniard in the world is capable of a lack of that respect for General Woodford which our traditions for hostilities exact."

BLANCO WILL HAVE TO RESIGN.

Fails in His Attempt to See General Gomez and Offer Terms of Peace.

Havana, via Key West, Jan. 31.—There is growing indignation here at the policy pursued by Gen. Blanco, and it is thought likely he will be forced to resign.

Blanco went to Jucaro with the intention of seeing Gomez, who, wishing to avoid the interview left the neighborhood. Owing to his failure Blanco has now gone to Manzanillo, and attempted to communicate with Rabi. The Spaniards here, who were convinced that this chief was going to surrender are growing discontented over the delay and say that if Blanco does not obtain the surrender of the principal chiefs he had better not return to Havana.

The Spanish papers print reports from Madrid saying that England, France and Germany will have their ships in the bay of Havana to give a moral support to the cause of Spain, with which all these nations sympathize. The Spaniards have distributed to-day a proclamation exciting the Spanish element not to stand any more humiliation from the Americans. The proclamation ends saying death to the Yankees, death to autonomy, viva Espana, viva Weyler.

The history of Spanish warfare in Cuba is a long chapter of cruelties, cowardly revenge and savage warfare; but none of its pages shows so vividly all these phases of Spanish bloodthirstiness as does the death of Aranguren.

Cubans Are Still Confident.

New York, Jan. 31.—Captain-General Blanco's assertion that the war in Cuba will be ended by the latter part of February is believed by many of the best-informed persons of the Cuban colony in New York—but not in the way he puts it. "The war may be ended then," they say, "and if it is, it will be ended by the independence of the island."

A private dispatch in cipher to a Cuban in this city who has large property interests in the island was received last night from Key West, to which point it had been smuggled on Saturday night on the steamer from Havana. It stated that General Blanco probably would be back in Havana to-morrow or Wednesday, and that his supporters fear that his failure to bribe Gomez, or to accomplish anything at all, will have a distastrous effect, and may result in his being forcibly compelled to return to Spain.

Aranguren Rode in Ruiz's Saddle.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Secretary-General of Cuba Congosto cables to Minister De Lome that the saddle that Aranguren used belonged to Ruiz, Blanco's envoy, whom he executed. The correspondents of certain papers, says Congosto, are already starting forth a series of horrors in connection with the killing of Aranguren. None of them have been out of Havana, and are writing wild tales of rebel agents.

Weyler's Punishment.

Madrid, Jan. 31.—It is understood that the supreme war council will sentence Lieutenant-General Weyler to two months' imprisonement, but that the Government will grant him a pardon.

Spanish Cruiser Coming Here.

Cartagena, Jan. 31.—The first-class armored cruiser Vizcaya is starting for America. The rest of the Spanish squadron is preparing to sail for Havana.

Secretary Alger Improving.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Secretary Alger's condition last night was reported better. His fever which had been decidedly higher in the last few days, has subsided, and yesterday he was cheerful and apparently stronger. He is not yet well enough to be moved, so that his departure for the South is a matter of conjecture. He will not leave here for at least a week.

Gladstone Had a Bad Night.

Cannes, Jan. 31.—Mr. Gladstone kept his bed the entire day yesterday. He passed a restless night, and there was a return of his neuralgia. His physician called in the night and again yesterday morning. When the latest dispatch was sent last evening, Mr. Gladstone was reported as feeling much relieved.

A WOMAN WHO LOVES BRIEFS.

Her Present Position Never Before Held by a Woman.

One of the assistant corporation counsels of Chicago is a woman, Miss Cora B. Hirtzel. Her superior, Mr. Thornton, is being warmly commended for this recognition of the legal talent of women. Miss Hirtzel was not appointed because of her sex, but because she was an able lawyer. Indeed, she has a reputation equal to that of any member of her profession in Chicago in the special work of preparing a case for court and in making briefs. Before her appointment she had been employed by many well known legal firms in a work of that nature.

Miss Hirtzel was born in Ottawa, Illinois, and read law at Oakland, Wisconsin, in the offices of Jackson & Thompson and of ex-Judge George Gary. She went to Chicago ten years ago, and entered the office of the late W. C. Goudy, at the same time taking the regular course at the Chicago College of Law, where she graduated in 1890. Five years ago she left Mr. Goudy's employ. Some practice came to her, but she preferred the working out of legal professions to appearing in court. Her present position has never before been held by a woman.

Union County Circuit Court.

Robert W. Barnes and Norman K. Barnes Partners in Trade as Barnes Brothers, Plaintiffs, vs. Catherine W. Runyon, Defendant. } In Attachment Upon Contract.

By virtue of an order made in the above stated cause by the said Court, on the twenty-second day of December, 1897, the subscriber, auditor appointed by the said Court in the said cause, will sell and make assurance at public vendue, at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, on Monday, the twenty-first day of February next, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all those certain tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the City of Plainfield, Union County, New Jersey. Beginning at a point where the Northwesterly side line of South avenue is intersected by the Northeasterly side line of Rock avenue; thence Northeasterly along the Northwesterly side line of South avenue 468.1 feet more or less to a point; thence Northwesterly 153 feet more or less to a point in line of lands of Central Railroad of N. J.; thence Southwesterly along line of lands of Central Railroad of N. In Chancery of New Jersey.

To Mary E. Smith

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the Eleventh day of January, Eighteen Hundred and Ninety Eight, in a cause wherein Ruth H. Rice is complainant, and you and Ariadna Bicknell et als., are defendants, you are required to appear, plead, answer or demur to the bill of said complainant, on or before the Twelfth day of March next or that in default thereof such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by the said Ariadna Bicknell and John G. Bicknell her husband to said Ruth H. Rice, dated September 25, 1896, and recorded in Book 136 of Mortgages for Union County of page 568, etc., on lands in the City of Plainfield, in Union County, New Jersey, and you Mary E. Smith are made a defendant because you have a mortgage on said lands and by virtue of said mortgage you may claim to have some right or interest in said mortgaged lands.

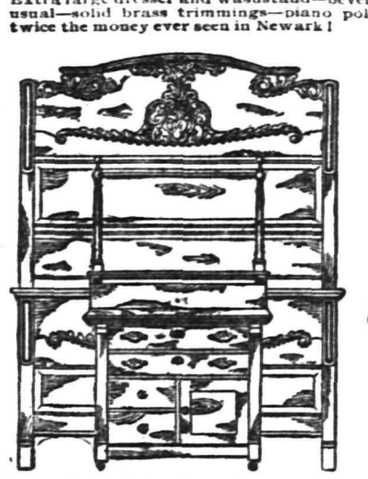
Some of These Elegant Suits Left

—the superbly built bedroom suits in newest woods, put on sale Tuesday last, have dwindled down to less than a dozen. To get these few out quick we're willing to increase the price reductions still more. We beg you to see them. They're uncommonly beautiful and sturdy.

Extra large dresser and washstand—bevel French plate mirror a third bigger than usual—solid brass trimmings—piano polish on every piece—no finer display at twice the money ever seen in Newark!



One birch suit, was $35 now $24.85.

Several of birch & oak, were $60 now $40.

One birch suit, instead of $50 now $35.

An elegant mahogany suit, $75, was $125.

Copy of one of these fine suits—same degree of elegance in ALL of them—$10 to $20 less than old small prices.

$3.95 for this couch—covered in a late style material strong and effective. 50 other sorts of couches here. An inviting display.

CARPETS—at "Littlest Prices" Known

—this ad can only state FACTS—you're URGED to prove 'em if you DOUBT their reality. To instance:

Good Ingrains at 29c yd; Extra Heavy Ingrains, 39c yd; a fine Tapestry Brussels, 50c yd; Rich Velvets, 75c yd. A lot of brand new beautiful Mattings, 10c yd. up.

Here's an item—read it—act quick! 10 or 12 patterns in white enameled beds at COST FIGURES—$3.95, $5, $6.45 to $15.

Our Stove Stock—Know It?

—January's the time when we put prices at lowest ebb—yet you're still the greatest of New Jersey's stove stocks to pick from—a range for $5.95—a cylinder stove for $1.73—a parlor stove, $5.85—it's a self-feeder, too!

M'KINLEY'S CUBAN POLICY.

Congress Waiting Impatiently for the Next Promised Step.

Washington, Jan. 31.—Fortunately for the interests an American battleship reached Havana before any outbreak threatening our consular office or citizens occurred. It was the perfectly justifiable visit that took the Maine to Havana. The extreme awkwardness of having such an occurrence when Gen Lee was without the slightest means of independent communication with the United States needed no second thought from any one, and the proper orders went in haste.

The visit was very far from one of courtesy. All the talk about renewing friendly relations with Spain, calling according to usual customs at Cuban ports, and so on, was simply diplomatic veneering. That the despatching of a man-of-war had been delayed until the margin of safety seemed too narrow for comfortable consideration, and even until haste seemed necessary, probably called for the fullest use of diplomatic fictions in order to get our ship into the harbor of Havana without trouble. But now that the Maine is over there, and our fleet close at hand and ready for any emergency, it may be said that this battleship is there for business.

Doubtless this move of the fleet is one step forward along the lines of the President's policy as pointed out by Mr. Hitt. First, Weyler's recall and the cessation of inhuman methods of waging war; next, insisting upon steps toward securing peace, to which Spain responded with her plan of self-government; then requesting in diplomatic language, but really demanding permission to assist in relieving the general starvation; and now the dispatching of a war vessel to protect American interests, and holding a fleet close at hand for the next step in the President's plan—whatever that may be, but which is expected to be fully developed whenever the fact that autonomy has failed is generally recognized.

As Mr. Hitt's exposition of the subject of intervention is studied, it is interpreted as a method of slow approaches by parallels and the other covered accessories of a siege. It is quite apparent that at present the works have reached the immediate vicinity of the Spanish parapets, and there can now be very little advance without full revelation of plans which all the world will understand.

Congress is waiting with much impatience and ill-concealed excitement for the next promised step. While the dominating feeling still is that the President should have full opportunity to carry out his own measures, the Cuban cause is rapidly strengthening in both houses, and if a free vote could now be taken on the direct question of intervention in some unmistakable and decided form it would undoubtedly carry by a a large majority.

The dispatching of the Maine would have acted to cause general contentment in Congress but for the various forms of virtual apology which gained currency, some of which were probably unauthorized. The belief is strong, however, that when it shall be made clear to the world that autonomy has failed, the President will feel called upon to act in accordance with the declarations of his message. But in any event it does not now seem possible that a crisis in Cuban affairs can be long delayed. It must come, either through vigorous action on the part of the President or an uprising in Congress which will force an issue upon the country. The Congressional situation is strained to the last degree. As to affair in Cuba, it is now known that the half has not been told regarding the horrors of starvation, and that there has been no appreciable amelioration.

Don Cameron's Niece Divorced.

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 31.—Judge McClure has granted an absolute divorce to Mrs. Edwards from her husband, Tryon Hughes Edwards, a member of the bar of this county and a well-known Democratic politician. Mrs. Edwards is a granddaughter of the late General Simon Cameron, a niece of former United States Senator Don Cameron and is very popular in Harrisburg society. Tryon Edwards is an eccentric character. One of his fads is to occasionally enter an asylum for mental treatment. He does not do this because he is insane, but to guard against being on the way. He is a grandson of the famous minister Jonothan Edwards.

Ohio Furnishes the Smallest Baby.

Columbus, Jan. 31.—To Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop, of Salem, O., was born a week ago a baby which at birth weighed only one pound and measured seven inches in height. His palms are the size of silver quarters, his wrists no larger than a lady's little finger, and his fingers no thicker than a ten-penny nail. A small teacup will cover his entire head. He seems healthy. On account of his diminutive size it was not expected that the child would live, and his advent into the world was kept a secret until now.

Hanna Family to Move to Washington.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 31.—The family of Senator Hanna, with all the servants, will leave this city on Wednesday for Washington, where they will remain until the Summer months. A special car will be attached to a Pennsylvania train, and the family, with its luggage, will be taken to the national capital. Miss Ruth, the second daughter of Senator and Mrs. Hanna, who is now at Farmingdale, will join the family in the Spring. The Hanna family will have apartments at a hotel at present.

Whole Town Starving.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 31.—Almost half the people in the little town of New Castle are on the brink of starvation. New Castle has 6,000 inhabitants, nearly three-fourths of whom depend on the Deleware Iron Mills for a living. Two weeks previous to Christmas the works shut down, leaving the families of 800 men without employment. The situation is becoming alarming, as the idle men are becoming desperate.

The Dingley Tariff Abroad.

Berlin, Jan. 31.—It is learned at the Foreign Office that, owing to the sugar bounty conference at Brussels, the reciprocity negotiations between Germany and the United States are at a standstill, and it is doubtful whether they will be resumed, as Germany has about concluded that nothing tangible will come out of them. It is understood that the sugar conference will informally discuss the Dingley Tariff law.

ENGLAND IS READY

Though Victor in the East She Prepares for Emergencies.

WON HER POINT IN CHINA

Apparent Success of Her Demand for Open Markets--But the Struggle for Supremacy of Pekin Goes On--China May Profit by the Rivalry.

London Jan. 31.—It is now pretty generally recognized that the Eastern crisis, as suggested in these dispatches a week ago had passed beyond the point of immediate danger before the public was informed of its acute phase. There is no longer much doubt that England's peremtory demand for open Chinese markets has received what may be described as a tacit and temporary recognition from the powers, including Russia. The struggle for paramount influence at Pekin still goes on, and upon the issue of that contest much depends.

China, if she exercises her usual Oriental shrewdness, ought to profit much at the expense of British and Russian rivalry, and there is already evidence that she is fully alive to the possibilities of the situation. The game of the division of the Chinese Empire has been checked for the time being, but if Lord Salisbury succeeds in regaining the ascendancy at Pekin which he allowed to slip away to Russia three years ago, it will be only at enormous cost. Meantime more complete details of the vast preparations for war undertaken by the British Government are now available. Inasmuch as the crisis is only postponed, and at any moment may become acute, it will be interesting to indicate some of the measures recently undertaken.

First, there were the preparations for calling out the Naval Reserve; second, mobilization orders were sent to the commanders of the home naval stations, followed by similar orders to commanders of stations abroad; third, the completion of plans for the prompt organization of a flying squadron, which was consist of not less than ten warships; fourth the decision to increase the personnel of the navy by more than 7,000 men, which is now being carried out by the quiet enlistment of stokers and other classes of men; fifth, the increase of the army of 15,000 men; sixth, enormous purchases of steam coal and a general replenishment of stocks at all stations at home and abroad; seventh, the elaboration of a plan for an emergency squadron composed mainly of battleships more or less obsolete and old-fashioned, but effective for home defense.

The last measure, decided upon last week, attracted little attention here, although it is not the least significant of the series, because it indicates the probability that England's foes, in the event of war, will include France. Of the seventeen battleships included in the emergency squadron, not a half dozen could safely be sent far from the home base, and, as a matter of fact, most of them would be assigned to specific positions in the waters separating England from the continent.

The British fleet in Chinese waters has been augmented since the trouble began by two powerful cruisers and two torpedo boat destroyers. Other steps have been taken, one of which escapes notice, even by rumor, namely, the dispatch of orders to the commander of the Australian squadron to hold in readiness for China the four cruisers Mohawk, Orlando, Pylades and Royalist. The defense of Australia was to be undertaken by a half dozen small vessels, together with five small cruisers, a part of the cost of which is defrayed by the colonial Governments on condition that they shall always be kept in colonial waters. This arrangement was considered safe, because it was not thought that France, for instance, would be able to spare a single ship for those remote waters, and if any were sent, they would not be able to keep the sea any length of time, owing to the impossibility of getting coal.

The report that the Pacific fleet was ordered to China was only partly true. The whole fleet was not, of course, to be spared, but the second-class cruisers Amphion, Leander and Phaeton are now under orders to be ready to start. Further enormous contracts for supplies of steam coal have been placed in the past fortnight at Cardiff and other South Wales ports. There has also been a large amount of speculative buying in connection with the possibilities of war.

It is believed by some optimistic diplomatist that the easing of the crisis in the far East between Great Britain and Russia will have a favorable effect upon the near Eastern deadlock and perhaps make it possible to settle the interminable Cretan question. These persons are not hopeless that Prince George will soon be established in the Governship of the unhappy island, despite the Sultan's protests.

England Accused of Backing Down.

London, Jan. 31.—The Daily Mail this morning says it learns from a source "hitherto accurate" that China is inclined to make the best possible bargain with Russia, whose diplomacy appears to have triumphed at Pekin, England having resolved not to force a conflict by further opposing Russia's claims at Port Arthur and in the Liao-Tung Peninsula. Japan, says the Daily Mail's authority, has been thrown into a state of consternation by the British backdown, and has adopted a more friendly attitude toward Russia. This statement, however, the Daily Mail admits, is "incredible and probably a bluff, with a view of forcing England to take decided steps."

Berlin, Jan. 31.—Newspaper comment here is all to the text of England's alleged inglorious retreat, as indicated by the announcement of the Berliner Tageblatt, that Russia and England have arrived at an agreement whereby England has consented to drop her demand for the opening of Ta-Lien-Wan as a free port, and Russia waives further opposition to British control of the Chinese sea customs.

England's Great Battleship.

London, Jan. 31.—The new battleship Implacable is to cost over $5,000,000, the largest sum ever spent on the building of a man-of-war. The armor plates alone will cost $750,000, and the guns nearly as much.

"BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW."

Do you ever ask yourself why you keep chickens?

Is it for pleasure? If so, would not a little profit add to the pride and pleasu e?

Possibly it is because you wish to be sure of absolutely fresh eggs on your table. If so, would you not prefer to get the eggs during the winter rather than in the spring, "when everybody's eggs are fresh?"

We can make bricks in these days without straw, but no one can make hens lay eggs in the winter months unless he supplies special foods and care.

We aim to carry in our different stores everything that is necessary for the "Business Hen'—that is, the hen that pays for her board—and we would be pleased to hear from either large or small poultry raisers.

Among other things we would suggest:

Granulated Charcoal,	Poultry Feed,
Ground Oyster Shells,	Buckwheat Grain,
Chicken & Pigeon Grit,	Barley,
Granulated Bone,	Hemp Seed,
Meat Meal,	Millet Seed,
Clover Heads.	Sheridan's Powder.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—There is a possibility that the W. C. T. U. will move this week to their new quarters on East Front street.

—The quarantine for diphtheria has been removed from the house occupied by Adelbert Vail, of 315 Madison avenue.

—The Thursday Night Euchre Club will meet this week at the home of Miss May McLoughlin, of Somerset street, Friday evening.

—The Gesang and Turn Verein masquerade ball committee met yesterday and completed all arrangements for the ball to be held February 7th.

—A G. A. R. service will be held next Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., and it may be held in the new rooms on East Front street that were formerly occupied by J. A. Gavett.

—A horse owned by Fred Harris, of New Market, ran away in the borough last evening. The horse was in front of a residence on Summit avenue, and broke the tiestrap. The horse was caught on Watchung avenue, near Summit avenue, by Marshal Schenck, and was returned to the owner later.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mayor Wilson, of the borough, is in Chester, Pa., today on business.

Rev. Father Smyth, pastor of St. Mary's church, is in Philadelphia today on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hastings Flannery have returned from their wedding trip, and for the present will reside in this city.

The President has signed the urgent deficiency appropriation bill.

France is intensely excited over the Dreyfus case, according to a cable dispatch from Paris.

Twenty-three men were saved from the foundering steamer Dago by the North German Lloyd liner Aller and brought to New York port.

Edna Chase a public school teacher and church worker in Plymouth Church, cut her throat with a razor while suffering from melancholia.

Through the vagaries of a negro the Erie Railroad Company and Wells-Fargo Express Company were sued for $10,000 by Hugh McCabe for personal injuries.

Mexican cable advises state that the British Atlas Company, in Nicaragua, has bid $5,000,000 for Government railroads and steamers, and if it gets these England will practically control the commerce of the country.

PASSING COMMENT.

The successful business men of today do not adhere to a certain defined set of rules in the conduct of their business, for if they did they would soon learn—and it would be costly, too—that the public is a customer that shifts in its tastes and desires like the wind turns to all points of the compass in a few hours. Woodhull & Martin realized the force of this condition when they came to Plainfield a year ago. They were strangers to the community, and though experienced men in their trade, and rewarded with success in their former fields of endeavor, they realized that the policy of Morristown might and probably would not be that of Plainfield. So they rested content with filling their store with a stock of reliable and stylish goods and marked them at attractive prices. The first twelve months they made no extraordinary splurge in local mercantile circles, maintaining, however, a good and growing custom. During the period they have observed and studied the wants of Plainfield shoppers and the best methods for reaching them. A year's touch with the people of this vicinity and their patronizing predilections has taught them the right avenue through which to attain success. Their second year in Plainfield will be more aggressive than their first, and the first step they have taken in this direction is through the most important medium of business-making—advertising! The two full columns on the fourth page of today's Press, filled with straightforward publicity of their business, tells the story forcibly. Every day for the next twelve months Woodhull & Martin will tell Plainfielders of their bargains by this method. To housewives the advertisement will become an interesting feature in the same sense that the Wall street reports are to the stockbroker.

W. H. Cole, the Dunellen coal dealer, has in his possession two curiosities which are attracting considerable attention. One is a copy of the first paper ever published in the borough. It was called The Dunellen Journal, and was published in 1875 by James Phillips. It was a monthly paper and was a trifle smaller than the present size of The Dunellen Call. It sold for 1 cent a copy and contained much reading matter of a miscellaneous character. The other curiosity is a copy of a paper published in the borough in 1878, called The Dunellen Herald, by F. W. Onderdonk and B. F. Onderdonk, Jr. This paper was very small and sold for a penny also. At the top of the paper are printed the words: "The only paper actually printed in this town." This paper contained much spicy news and showed that a large number of correspondents were employed, as the territory covered included every place within a radius of twenty-five miles. Of course, the items were very brief and some consisted of one line. The owner of the two papers prizes these curiosities very highly.

Mrs. John A. Hull, of Putnam avenue, lost a pocket-book containing a large amount of money in one of the trolley cars Thursday. She remembered having the pocket book while in the car but when she had left the car and reached her home, it was gone. When the car returned from its trip to Netherwood, she stopped it and inquired of the conductor and motorman if they had seen it. The conductor had not seen it. The motorman claims that he did not hear her question. Mrs. Hull then made a complaint to Superintendent Adelmann and he started an investigation. In the meantime, the motorman turned over the pocket book to the Superintendent who returned it to its owner. Nothing was missing.

Hicks, the weather prophet, predicts as follows for February: From the 6th to 9th storm conditions of marked energy may be expected. These storms will bring rain, turning to heavy snow, and be followed by a general cold wave. Very sharp cold will prevail from about the 9th to 12th, followed by rain and snow. Between the 18th and the 22d snow and blizzards will prevail. Warm rains and thawing weather will prevail from about the 23d until the end of the month.

BIGGEST WINE TANK IN THE WORLD.

Half a Million Gallons of Wine Pumped Into It by Steam in California.

Half a million gallons of wine, all in one still, deep, red lake, are the feature of this year's wine industry in California. The lake is the biggest vat in all the history of wine making. The famous great tun at Heidelberg held only 50,000 gallons. London boasted tanks twice as large as Heidelberg, and in San Francisco is one which holds 150,000 gallons. Before this huge underground cavern at Asti, in Sonoma, where 500,000 gallons of grape juice are to take on sweetness and flavor, all former feats in storing vast quantities of wine are insignificant.

For one solid week two steam pumps forced into this reservoir four-inch streams of grape juice before it was filled and corked. For this huge storage tank is in reality a sort of Brobdignagian bottle, buried well underground to preserve it from changes of temperature and the heat of the sun's rays. Its construction was a matter of sudden necessity. It unexpectedly became known that there was more grape juice in Sonoma vineyards than there was room in which to put it. The idea of a big concrete cistern was broached and quickly adopted, and in forty-five days from the time the first shovelful of earth was thrown out the steam pumps began their task of filling it.—New York Sun.

A Change.

"What's the matter wid Briggers?" asked the gentleman with the red shirt. "I thought he was always so radical in his beliefs and wanted the money of the country divided up evenly. Now he doesn't say a word." "Because," remarked the man with the whiskers, "his uncle has just left him $10,000."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Had No Vacancy.

Mr. Dunham—"I have called, sir, to tell you that your daughter, Miss Fannie, and I love each other very dearly. I wan to ask you for her."

Old Millyuns—"Well, you'll have to wait awhile. There's no vacancy in the store now that I could put you into."—Cleveland Leader.

UNCLE HENRY'S FAD IS TOMBSTONES

He Has Fondly Remembered Horses, Dogs Kinsfolk and Girl Friends.

The flourishing little city of Mayfield is in the Pennyroyal district of Kentucky, and in it lives one of the most interesting characters in the state. He has a passion for tombstones.

Seventy-five years old and well preserved, Henry G. Wooldridge, has only begun the task of fitting up his last resting place.

"Uncle Henry," as he is familiarly known, was born in Middle Tennessee, November 29, 1822. His four brothers and three sisters are dead, leaving him the last of his race.

Five years ago he bought a lot in the Mayfield cemetery, and had a marble shaft erected to mark his grave. On the shaft he had the date of his birth, a Masonic emblem and a horse shoe in bas-relief, leaving a space for the date of his death. Not entirely satisfied with a single monument, he began his interesting collection of statues. He ordered a fine marble statue of himself made in Italy, and this he erected with the shaft.

In his younger days he owned a fine hunting horse, "Fop," to which he was attached, and next he ordered a life size statue of himself, mounted on the thoroughbred, which he placed in the group.

He next gave orders for a marble sarcophagus, and on this he had chiselled the image of his trusty gun.

Two statues, one of his large deerhound, Toe Head, an especial favorite, and another of his foxhound, Bob, have been erected in front of the mounted statue, a deer in the act of running being placed in front of one and a fox before the other.

He had a dear little girl friend, Minnie, who attended his bedside while he was sick at one time, and he has caused to be erected a granite statue of her on his lot to show his devotion.

He next turned his attention to his family, and his mother was the first to be remembered. Her statue is to the right of him, and that of his father in front of her. Then his favorite niece, Maude Reid, was remembered with a statue in the rear of his girl friend.

The statues of his three brothers—John H., William F. and Alfred N. Wooldridge—were next on the list, and are the last works of the sculptors, having just been erected. All these monuments and statues are placed on a lot 16x30 feet.

The old man is not satisfied, and will enlarge his lot to have the statues of his three sisters and remaining brother erected.—New York Journal.
